COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1959. 143rd of the General Assembly.

Vol. 36. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, MAY 11, 1959. No. 43.

SENATE

MONDAY, MAY 11, 1959

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ELLIS J. BAYNE, Pastor of Bower Memorial Evangelical United Brethren Church, Berwick, offered the following prayer:

Lord Jesus, as we pray for the Members of this Body, its Officers and all who share in its labors, we remember that Thou wert never in a hurry and always had a source of inner strength and peace for the moment of need. Even when the pressure became great, there was that higher goal and light always shining to guide Thee to a wise decision.

We are all so human; we chafe under the frustrations of everyday labors. We need Thy guiding spirit and Thy light of clear understanding to face the problems of our people and of this great State. Calm us with the confidence that Thou art here. Refresh us with the promise Thou hast given: "I will be with you."

In Thy strength, we try to do our best. Help us to have faith in our fellowmen, in our leaders and in Thee. Make us strong when we are weak and we shall always give Thee thanks that we are Thy children; Thou art our Father.

For all of this we praise Thy Holy Name. Amen.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 27, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled "The Vehicle Code" further regulating markings in "No Passing Zones."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I do not wish to debate this bill at any length, but I think I should point out here, in order for the record to be clear, that I think the expense to carry out the provisions of this bill might be a little bit more than we are interested in in this type of an area. We are asking for a great deal of paint; we are asking for plaques to be put down every two hundred yards on the highways. I think these are all things which might entail some difficulty and some expense.

Mr. President, if this bill does pass the Senate, I would suggest that the Members of the House, in committee, go into this matter in great detail before they finally act on it, because of the money involved.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I agree that probably the cost of the paint will have to be added to the cost of maintaining the highway. However, as this is a bill which is intended to increase the safety on the highways, I am sure the expenditure would be justified. I believe that would be taken into consideration by the Department in carrying out the provisions of this bill.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I want to draw to the attention of this Body that this bill is, again, doing what has been condemned. We do not have the money yet and we are spending it. The provision for this measure is not within the budget. The budget has not been arrived at. Again, we are spending money before we have it.

There is no question about the merits of the bill; I am not talking about that. I am talking about the practice of getting up and saying that the head of a department must keep within his budget and, at the same time, the Legislature coming around, even before that budget has been arrived at, and starting to spend the money.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—48

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 116, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 24, 1951 (P. L. 1304) entitled "Local Health Administration Law" limiting the powers of the county departments of health and conferring powers on the Department of Agriculture and further regulating the sale of milk.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, after serious consideration and in all fairness to everybody, I take the following position on Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117, on both of which I am a co-sponsor.

While it is desirable to have uniform regulations applicable throughout the State, this uniformity does not necessarily have to apply to an area which already has smoothly functioning and satisfactory control. At present, Allegheny County, for instance, which maintains its own Health Department, is included in these bills.

These bills would give the State Department of Agriculture the right to pass on rules and regulations adopted by all local health departments throughout the Commonwealth. The fact that Allegheny County is included has brought tremendous resistance to these bills from people and organizations within Allengheny County, and, of course, from some of the other counties which have their own health units, including many Members of the Legislature from Allegheny County.

This opposition is based upon the contention that the Allegheny County people, who are served by the Allegheny County Health Department, appear to be generally satisfied with present conditions. They want the home rule they now have and do not want any outside interference. As long as the health of the people of these counties is being protected,—and they should be the judges of whether or not this is true—there seems to me to be no valid reason for superimposing any additional controls, such as are proposed in Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to suggest that these bills be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare for the purpose of necessary amendment in order that counties, having their own health departments, will not be affected by these bills.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 116, on third reading, be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare for the purpose of amendment.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 456, entitled:

An Act repealing the act of March 12, 1873 (P. L. 271) entitled "An act to prohibit the keeping of billiard rooms bowling saloons and ten-pin alleys within two miles of the State Normal School at Mansfield in the county of Tioga."

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, this is not a significant bill, but it affects one of the greatest chain of colleges in Pennsylvania, which happens to be the alma mater of one of the most distinguished members of this group. I call your attention to the fact that I think he went to this school when this two mile limitation of no billiard rooms, no bowling saloons and no ten-pin alleys was enforced around Mansfield State Teachers' College. With this kind of a mold, I am a little concerned about changing the mold when the old mold brought such an illustrious man as our Senator from Allegheny County, Senator McGinnis.

However, since Senator McGinnis is a sponsor of this bill, if he votes for it, I will vote for the bill also. If he should not vote for it, I will ask permission to change my vote.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, this bill, Senate Bill No. 456, which deals with a situation existing at the Mansfield State Teachers' College in Mansfield, Pennsylvania —and which college, as the Senator just stated, was attended by our distinguished colleague from Allegheny County—was intended to clarify a situation which has long existed, but which has been winked at, let us say, more or less.

Before I went to Senator McGinnis with the suggestion of this bill, he assured me that during his attendance he was able to locate, even though it might have been two miles away, a billiard room, a bowling saloon and a ten-pin alley whereby he became very proficient in those sports.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, it is true that I was graduated from Mansfield State Teachers' College sixty years ago this year. That was in the horse and buggy age. A lot of changes have occurred in this State in the last sixty years.

We are getting more modern and we are making an attempt to correct some of the horse and buggy laws which were on the statute books in those days.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 495, on third reading, entitled:

Mr. MADIGAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 510, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 7, 1901 (P. L. 493) entitled as amended "An act providing for the examination licensure and registration of persons firms or corporations engaged or engaging in the business or work of plumbing or house drainage and prescribing certain rules regulations and requirements for the construction of plumbing house drainage and cesspools in cities of the second class second class A and third class and imposing fines penalties and forfeiture for violation thereof" permitting the use of rigid polyvinyl chloride pipe and providing for the joining of pipes.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to bring to the attention of the Members of the Senate, as I did last week, —and I do not want to lengthen the record or belabor the Members of this Body with the discussion we had here last week—the fact that the department is against this bill and has given as its reason that they do not think this type of plastic substance will be the type of item they would like to have in this Commonwealth to do the work this bill indicates it should do.

For that reason, I would like to be recorded as voting "no" on the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 613, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 2, 1956 (P. L. 1211), entitled "Practical Nurse Law," providing for examinations for licensure to be given at State teachers colleges and State-aided universities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, regarding Senate Bill No. 613 and also Senate Bill No. 614, one applies to practical nurses and the other one applies to registered nurses. The peculiar problem in these bills would be setting up fourteen centers across this State where nurses would take their examinations.

I am for nurses. I think they are wonderful. They do wonderful service and our duty is not to impose a hardship on anyone. However, I think if we set up three centers, one in Philadelphia, one in Pittsburgh, one in Harrisburg, and if necessary one in that glorious area of Erie, perhaps we will have covered the entire project of the problem involved here.

I think all of us can very readily see that if we must have fourteen different centers open for these examinations, this duplication of proctors and duplication of examinations means setting up enough papers for the people who arrive at these centers to take the examinations.

No matter how far ahead you plan and no matter how many people write and say they are coming to these areas, there is always a change of plans and perhaps some person cannot get there. If we have three or four areas, I think none of them would be too far distant for anyone to travel to them and, thereby, save the State some money in keeping these centers open. This does not involve a great deal of money. However, I think if we can save in any little way or at any turn, we should do it. This is one way to do that very effectively.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, again I draw the attention of this Body to the fact that you are spending money without having provided it to spend. Again, you are going beyond even the estimated budget.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I sympathize deeply with the sentiments of economy just expressed by the two gentlemen on the other side. However, it occurs to me that in a matter such as this, where we are asking young women who have just finished their nurses' training course to travel to Harrisburg or even to Pittsburgh or Philadelphia, the cost and expense to them should be considered, as well as the cost and expense to the Commonwealth. I am quite certain that with the funds in the Department of Public Instruction, where in this examination board is located, they would be able to peel off sufficient money without doing violence to their budget to pay for the expense of these examinations.

I am, however, impressed with the suggestion that perhaps the number of areas or centers where these examinations might be given need not be as great as fourteen. I suggest that we pass this bill and then the sponsors can get in touch with the appropriate committee in the House and suggest amendments if they think it would be better to have fewer than fourteen centers for the giving of these examinations.

As the bill now stands, it does a good thing. It helps the young people who have completed their nurses' training and want to take their examination. If it is to be modified, I am sure the sponsors would be sensible in discussing modifictions with the committee in the House.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am very hesitant to correct the two leaders of the Senate, but I would call your attention to the fact that this bill says the State Teachers Colleges and State-aided Universities, which increases the number not to fourteen, but somewhere around eighteen, nineteen, or twenty. This would mean that in the city of Philadelphia instead of one center, there would be two, three and perhaps four, depending on how you define a State-aided University.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, even though the bill also says State-aided Universities, I think the suggestion made might well be followed in connection with reducing the number of areas.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, country boys and girls are bashful and timid. They hesitate to go far from their homes because they want to come back home and kiss their mothers and fathers good night, and get up in the morning and go out to the barn and pet the cows and horses.

There is a danger here of having everyone come to Harrisburg. It seems there are some people who want other people to come down here if they want to turn around or get a license or to get permission.

These teachers Colleges are well-known all over this State and they are very convenient for the farmer boys and girls to reach and return home the same day. To come to Harrisburg would cost them money, and I think it is a fine thing to accommodate the people back home and make things as convenient for them as they are possible to be made.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, a fact has just been pointed out to me and I recall that it is correct. I do not remember whether it was two or four years ago, but up until that time there were other centers in which these examinations could be taken, and it was changed for reasons that I know not in order to concentrate the examinations in Harrisburg. I agree very deeply with the Senator from Allegheny that these people should be given the opportunity to take the examinations in more convenient places.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in listening to the debate here today, I think I should call to the attention of the Members of the Senate that the Department of Public Instruction, Bureau of Professional Licensing, operates right today on a self-sustaining basis. Generaly speaking, the Bureau has a surplus which is paid into the General Fund. I do not think it is going to cost too much money to take care of these young boys and girls who might secure a professional license. I believe it is not going to cost the Commonwealth a great amount of money.

The Insurance Department holds insurance examinations all over Pennsylvania, and an applicant for a real estate license can do likewise. It is my understanding that many members of the medical profession have the right to take their examination either at Pittsburgh or Philadelphia. Why would it be impossible to help these people by providing additional centers? There is nothing wrong with that. I do not believe they should be held all over Pennsylvania. However, I do believe that they should be convenient to the areas where these young ladies are taking their training because, in most cases, as Senator McGinnis has said, these young ladies come from families of moderate means and they cannot afford to come to Harrisburg for several days to take their examination.

I think it is only proper that we should carry this bill over in order and place some amendments in the bill to make certain that they have this convenience, because it is not going to cost the Commonwealth any money at all.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Lane. In fact, I talked to someone last week and said that I was going to have such amendments prepared.

One of the reasons why we used the State Teachers Colleges and gave that latitude was because someone in the department advanced the excuse that they had to come to Harrisburg because it was the only place in the Commonwealth that was big enough to house these girls at one time while taking their examination. However, this bill needs other amendments. One amendment, for instance, should provide that the examination shall be given in these various areas at the same time so that the girls could not get the examination questions the day before others take the examination.

I agree with Senator Lane. The reason I drew this bill up was because so many of these girls, when they are graduated from school, do not have $100 to come all the way from Washington County, or Erie County, or from my county, for instance, to Harrisburg and stay at a hotel for three days. It would cost them about $100. Those girls are just finishing school and they do not have the money.

If the Senate will agree to put these bils over until I get proper amendments, we will have two very fine bills.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I want to thank Senator Pechan very kindly for agreeing with me once. I think this is about the first time in all my fourteen years that this has occurred.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That shows what patience will do, Senator Lane.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

SENATE RESOLUTION SERIAL No. 27 REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. CONFAIR, from the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, to which was referred resolution offered by Mr. KOPRIVER, JR., on May 4, 1959, reported the same without amendment as follows:

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE THE RATE-MAKING POLICY AND THE PROPOSED EXPENDITURES OF THE ALLEGHENY COUNTY SANITARY AUTHORITY

In the Senate, May 4, 1959.

When completed and in operation, the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority will provide a large part of the sewage service in Allegheny County.

It has been claimed that work on this Authority is progressing slowly in an inefficient and careless manner with the resulting excessive expenditures and waste.

The charge has been made that organized groups of Allegheny County citizens, who will be affected by this new service, have received discourteous and arrogant treatment from personnel of the Authority. These citizens have been given no indication of the purpose for which undetermined sums of money have been spent nor is there any indication of the amounts to be spent in the future. Certain communities in the Allegheny Valley have complained that the proposed rates are unjust, unfair and excessive, and that the Authority has acted in a discriminatory manner as to the rates for these communities.

If any of these allegations are true, it is the duty of the Senate to take swift remedial action to prevent continued abuse of the extraordinary powers entrusted to the Authority, curb unnecessary spending, supply property owners with necessary information that would allow them to be fully prepared for the added expense entailed in joining the new system and prevent unjust rates from being imposed on the citizens of Allegheny County; therefore be it

Resolved, That the President pro Tempore of the Senate appoint five members of the Senate who shall constitute a committee to investigate the rate-making policy and the past and proposed expenditures of the Allegheny County Sanitary Authority; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall have the power to issue subpoenas under its hand requiring and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and answer questions touching matter properly being inquired into and to produce such books, papers and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. The committee shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before them. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before the committee or to produce books, papers, records or documents shall be subjects to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings and recommendations to the Senate at the earliest possible date before the adjournment of this Session of the General Assembly.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

These bills, if enacted into law, would regulate and recognize this industry in our Vehicle Code.

SENATE RESOLUTION

"OIL CENTENNIAL YEAR"

Mr. SHAFER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

Messrs. SHAFER, BERGER and CHAPMAN offered the following resolution (Serial No. 30), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 11, 1959.

1959 is a year of special significance in that it marks the centennial anniversary of the birth of the oil industry. On August 27, 1859, "Colonel" Edwin L. Drake completed the drilling of the first commercial oil well at Titusville, Pennsylvania, which act marked the beginning of a world revolution in transportation and industry. More progress has been witnessed by the utilization of this black gold—fuel and lubricants for motor vehicles, ships, planes and rockets; raw material for insecticides and disinfectants, for paints; cosmetics and numerous chemical products; substances which produce everything from sheer synthetic fabrics to sturdy highway paving—than had been registered during thousands of years before. This benefactor, with all its marvelous properties, came into being through that same enterprise, imagination and initiative which persuaded "Col." Drake to drill the first oil well and which has become the hallmark of the industry he founded.

The oil industry was born in Pennsylvania, and has contributed in large measure to the position of pre-eminence which our State enjoys.

It is fitting, therefore, that we do particular honor to the oil industry during this centennial year, and acknowledge our debt of gratitude to "Col." Drake and his successors; therefore be it

Resolved, That this year of 1959 shall be known throughout the Commonwealth as "Oil Centennial Year" and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania urge all of the citizens of the Commonwealth to schedule and take part in commemorative observances and exercises during Oil Centennial Year, and further urge them, while showing to our visitors that great hospitality for which Pennsylvanians are so justly famous, to display also the great pride we take in the oil industry and its close association with the progress of our State.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

We pause, O God, in the midst of a busy life to reflect on the blessings which are ours. In quiet meditation we give Thee thanks as we contemplate the gifts of Thy bounty, for we know that without Thee our lives are empty and void, it is only with Thee as our guide that we are enabled to accomplish that for which man has been created. So, O God, we look to Thee for the guidance and strength which Thou hast to give, recognizing fully Thy power in our world, and praying Thou wilt grant such power to us, so that Thy Kingdom may come and Thy Will may be done in and through that which we do as true servants of Thine. In the name and for the sake of Jesus Christ, we humbly pray. Amen.

In the House of Representatives, May 6, 1959.

Serious traffic problems which now exist in the Borough of Quakertown, Bucks County, can be greatly alleviated if a portion of South Ninth Street in said Borough, between Route 309 (known as West End Boulevard) and Legislative Route 656 (known as West Broad Street) is incorporated into the highway system of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Section 217 of the act of June 1, 1945 (P. L. 1242), known as the "State Highway Law," vests the Secretary of Highways with authority to take over such roads less than one mile in length whenever such connecting roads would lessen the distance between two points on separate routes; therefore be it

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

Senate Bill No. 182, Printer's No. 284 and

Senate Bill No. 183, Printer's No. 285

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Wednesday, April 29, the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, the Minority Leader, interrogated me and asked for certain information as to the cost of mailing letters that were sent out by some of the departments enlisting support for the Governor's tax measures. We have checked this matter and found that the total cost is approximately $106.88.

Now, Mr. Speaker, on Monday, April 27, in interrogation, the Minority Leader, Mr. Johnson, in discussing certain budget items for the Department of Public Instruction, asked me if I were going to call in any of the fourth class school districts to find out whether the $58 million increase in the budget for the support of public schools would be adequate or not and what is the increase.

At that time I replied it was not our intention to call in any of the fourth class school districts because the present increase is based upon a formula of a maximum base of $5800 and the school districts themselves would not have any factual information as to whether or not that increase was correct. Mr. Johnson then asked me on the extra $58 million, which is supposed to go towards the support of the public schools, if I would get a statement from a responsible person from the Department of Public Instruction as to how far this extra $58 million is supposed to go.

I do not identify the $58 million dollars that he was referring to. The amount in the budget for support of the public schools generally known as instruction has an increase of approximately $80 million. I believe that the gentleman was probably referring to the subsidy per teaching uit, which amounted to an increase of $54,571,791.

We have checked this matter with the Department of Public Instruction and Dr. Swan has advised me that is the corect amount that will be necessary to pay the subsidies for teaching units based upon the best estimate that is obtainable for the next biennium.

Now as to the amount being adequate in the opinion of the fourth class school districts, I have, I suppose, approximately one thousand letters from school districts all over the Commonwealth stating that the present subsidy base is not sufficient and they are asking support for House Bill No. 1108 which would increase the subsidy and would cost approxmately $197 million for the next biennium.

If the gentleman has any further inquiries, I would attempt to answer him at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, desire to be recognized?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to yield to the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from McKean yields to the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

Mr. STROUP asked and obtained unanimous consent to interogate Mr. Polen.

Mr. STROUP. Will the gentleman from Washington advise the House if the $58,471,791, I believe, which is stated by them to be subsidy for teaching units is a subsidy for teaching units by reason of increase of school population?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the $54 million plus that I mentioned is the increase in the subsidy for teaching units.

Mr. STROUP. That is not an increase then in the amount of subsidy but an increase in school population which is anticipated, is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. It would be based upon the estimate of the number of teaching units that the Commonwealth will be reimbursed for in the coming biennium. It does take into account and anticipate certain increases in school population.

Mr. STROUP. Now, further, Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman can supply us with this information directly in question, is the $54 million dollars plus an estimated increased subsidy for increased teaching units in the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. POLEN. No, I would say it was not based entirely upon that factor though that is taken into consideration.

Mr. STROUP. Well then, Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman advise the House upon what other factors the $54 million plus is based?

Mr. POLEN. The reimbursement fraction would have some bearing upon it. It is a very involved formula. I would not attempt to debate how it is arrived at here, but I will get the gentleman any information he would request.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman from Washington, if it is based upon the reimbursement factor, is it based upon an increase in the reimbursement factor or change in that factor in this coming biennium?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, the increase of $54 million plus is based upon the maximum subsidy base of $5,800 per teaching unit.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman, may I ask him further, is it the $5,800 per teaching unit maximum subsidy at 4% local effort, as the present law requires?

Mr. POLEN. It is based upon that, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Then would it be a fair assumption, Mr. Speaker, to ask the gentleman whether the $54 million plus is an allocation of subsidy in the Governor's budget to take care of increased teaching units based entirely upon the present subsidy formula, reimbursement formula?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, that is correct. It is based upon the present formula and also anticipates a certain number of increased teaching units.

Mr. STROUP. Then, Mr. Speaker, it would be a fair further analysis of the problem to arrive at the conclusion that the Governor's budget does not make any provision whatsoever for an increased subsidy by reason of increased cost of education to local school districts throughout the state?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his answers.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman consent to be further interogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the figure that the gentleman gave us of $106.88 for portage in mailing out these pleas from the Department to various people in the state of Pennsylvania to bring pressure on the Legislature to pass taxes, that is for postage only, $106.88? Is that right?

Mr. POLEN. No, Mr. Speaker, that is not for postage only. In the case of the Department of Labor and Industry, Mr. Batt personally paid for the postage, and the paper involved amounted to a cost of approximately one dollar. In the case of the Department of Welfare, the postage was approximately $100 and the paper in that operation amounted to $5.88.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Does the gentleman have any statement of the labor involved in mailing out these letters?

Mr. POLEN. I do not have a statement of the labor involved, but the regular office force was used and there was no additional cost.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I have a copy of the mimeographed letter that the Secretary of Labor and Industry sent out asking that we pass immediately the tax program and so forth. Is the cost of mimeographing that letter included?

Mr. POLEN. The cost of ninety-eight cents to one dollar would cover the paper. The postage was paid personally by Secretary Batt. As to the labor involved, that would be by the regular employees and no additional expense would be involved.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I notice another publication by the Department of Labor and Industry called "Older Workers" came out last week and practically duplicated the plea that those interested in things for the older person also contact their legislators to vote for the tax program. Is the cost of mailing that out included?

Mr. POLEN. I have not seen the publication but I would make the observation it was not included in this cost.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What other departments have mailed out circulars to your knowledge?

Mr. POLEN. The Departments of Public Instruction and Health sent out no letters and, so far as any of the other departments are concerned, I have no knowledge of their having sent any letters. Some of them I believe did make phone calls.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, while we are on the subject of schools, I would like unanimous consent of the House to make a brief statement about the problem.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair hears no objection and the gentleman may proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Practically every Member of this General Assembly has had the occasion to meet with their school boards back home in the last two or three weeks. Mr. Polen says he has received about a thousand letters about the plight of the school districts in trying to balance their budgets.

The School Boards point out that they cannot balance their 1959-1960 budgets because of mandated programs by existing law, new requirements of the Department of Public Instruction, regulations issued by the Department of Health and Labor and Industry, all of which have increased costs which cannot be met out of current and prospective state aid and local revenue sources.

We have all been contacted to try to give an answer to the problem. It just seems to me that on that vital issue at this point, under this bill, there is not any effective leadership at all on the subject. The school districts back home are permitted to flounder around and worry about where they go from here. They received the orders from the Department of Labor and Industry to make these panic repairs and no money has been given to them.

I, therefore, call upon the House of Representatives to do something effective about the problem. I believe that a committe of educators and persons who understand the problem, from both sides of this aisle should be appointed. I believe they should meet and study the problem which has been presented by House Bill 1108, with a view of doing something to help our schools within the framework of existing revenue, or taxes that might be passed without some new and different and burdensome tax.

For instance, we should study the budget of the Department of Public Instruction. Maybe we can cut out 25 or 30 or 40 million dollars for other things that are in existence so as to give that money to the schools back home.

The schools criticize the two year lag between the assessments as computed by the Tax Equalization Board and their actual appropriation. They claim that that is an inequality. They claim that tax equalization has not worked out like it should, that some study should be made of that, and some amendments made to the tax equalization law. They feel that there are a lot of fringe requirements put upon them that could be safely eliminated to save money to the school boards back home.

They want us to study the closed school issue to determine whether it is right now to take away from them the $200 that we are giving them by reason of closed schools. That will make a big gap in the appropriation of some school districts. Many of them say we should make a study of the whole reimbursement fraction problem with a view of making more equitable the whole science of computing the reimbursement fractions.

Then they think we should study the revenue sources. They hear a lot about the federal government perhaps passing a bill this session in Washington which will give money for the schools back home, either for new construction or expenses or teachers' salaries.

They want us to study our state subsidy and see what is wrong with the way it is computed. And on the local basis they want a study made of the local effort. Are they provided with enough taxing power on a local basis? Is the per capita tax properly computed and high enough? Should there be a revision of Act 481? Should there be an increase in the local millage? They feel we should study all these things, not saying that we should raise taxes back home or taxes here, but they feel that this session of the General Assembly should give some type of very intelligent re-appraisal of the whole problem so that the schools back home, not only from the state standpoint but from the standpoint of money put forth by local people will be enough to run our school systems.

One person in a meeting I attended said, "I am wondering if we are trying to operate an educational system that we cannot afford." I think we should look into it very, very carefully and therefore I believe that we in this House should take the lead.

It is not for us on the Republican side to appoint a commission to cope with these answers. I think we should appoint a joint Democratic-Republican committee, not necessarily the Education Committee, but put people on it who know the job and know what they are talking about, to report back very soon as to what we can do in order to solve the problems of the schools back home.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I desire unanimous consent of the House to reply to the gentleman.

I think most of the people in this House, and I think most Pennsylvanians, know that we are deeply interested in the education problem of the public school system of Pennsylvania. I of course sit here and listen with amazement as one week the people of Pennsylvania are up in arms as to the cost of government, then we meet with our school boards, who I think are people of Pennsylvania, and they want to talk to us about more money. We want to provide them with the money they need to operate a sound school system.

I believe we have to face this realisticaly, and not approach the subject from both ends, but meet it head on. If you want to talk about more money for schools, you have to talk about taxes to raise the money, and we want to talk about them. We want to provide for them, we want to pass them, and we want to give the school districts the money they need to operate with.

Now I realize it is easy to discuss the Department of Public Instruction's budget, and I welcome the opportunity for all the Members of this House to recommend to the Appropriations Chairman those items which could be cut or taken out of the budget. It would not equal $25 million or even ten or fifteen million perhaps, or, perhaps, as the gentleman from McKean stated, $25 to $30 million. We are deeply interested in which phase of the program you would like to eliminate at this point.

Let us take this situation about local effort. I think if you are well acquainted with the operation of schools—I know you are—and you know that the local effort is met by taxation on the part of the local school districts; therefore, they must have the right to provide the necessary taxes to meet the local effort as required by the school law. If we have failed to give to our school districts the necessary legislation in the field of taxation we must certainly provide that answer very, very soon.

I certainly favor, and I know that many of us do in in this House, trying to solve this educational problem of Pennsylvania in regard to financing our local school district. I believe you will agree that House Bill 1108 presents a new approach in reimbursement to school districts, since it was mentioned here. I believe you will agree that we can sit down as two parties and provide additional monies to our school districts, provide the money for those districts that need the money and need it very badly for they are actually going to be bankrupt in another year. When we do this, ladies and gentlemen, it is time that you and I stopped talking about politics and taxation and vote for the tax revenues to provide the money and earmark it in the budget.

I realize this is not easy, and I realize this will not come by some discussion here on the floor, but I believe that you have the interests at heart of the school districts of Pennsylvania the same as we do in this party, and we are willing to provide the leaedership, if that is what you are seeking, to solve this problem. No matter what solution you or I may present, we have got to be willing to vote for the taxes that will pay for what we say we are willing to do. We are now ready and we are willing to do that very thing. Will you not join us in the proposition you presented?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman, Mr. McCann, missed my point. I was not talking about raising taxes, either here or on the local level. I said that what we should do is completely reappraise our whole school system.

Our school boards back home say, if we were not mandated to do so many things on the local level for which we are not getting any money we could probably get along. I think we ought to look into it and see how many things like that we are forcing on our local school boards for which we are not giving them any money, and let it be discriminatory with our local boards whether they carry out the programs or not. There is a feeling among the boards back home that with some economies within the Department of Public Instruction, and also with giving them a little more to, say back home on what kind of a school program they are going to run, that, with what subsidies you are going to give them, they could probably make out. But there needs to be some leadership here that is not coming from the front office, it is not coming from this section of the General Assembly, and it is time we got down to business, reappraised the whole situation, and came up with an intelligent answer, not necessarily raising taxes. That is the easy way out. It seems to me we ought to be able to approach it from a different angle, and maybe come up with an answer that will make everybody happy, and will be a solution other than the one you suggest.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am speaking under unanimous consent. Any member who gets tired of hearing me talk can revoke the unanimous consent by simply rising in his place and saying, Mr. Speaker, I call for the order of the day. When the Member makes that call I will have to sit down, quit speaking, and whatever happens to be the order of the day is what the Chair will proceed to place before the House.

Now, I fear that I will, in a measure, have to referee this apparent difference in opinion between the Majority Leader and the Minority Leader. The Minority Leader closed on a happy note that some way or other we were going to create a happy, happy situation in which everybody would be satisfied, dwell in some sort of a paradise, and that is not on the book.

I call upon the old timers in this House to remember as to whether or not in years gone by I argued that the time had come when we could no longer endure our educational system on the basis of a series of repeated patches—a patch here this year, a patch some other place the next year. I think the Minority Leader will recall that we had not had in 20 years a really basic study of our educational problems.

The Majority Leader neglected to say that the Minority Leader must have access to our inner councils, because the Majority Leader knows, the Governor knows, and the Minority Leader would certainly have been informed that it was our intention to study the problems as soon as we could devise what would be the most intelligent approach to a basic consideration at the legislative level of our educational problem.

I have long been dissatisfied with the leadership that we have had in the Department of Public Instruction and I have long been dissatisfied with the leadership that we had during past administrations. We have not had, within recent years, a Governor whose primary interest was in education. We have had our Governors interested in roads; we have had our Governors interested in clear streams; we have had our Governors interested in all sorts of specialties but not since the days of Governor Brumbaugh have we had a Governor fitted by his background and his inclinations to grapple with the educational problems in basic fashion.

The foundation upon which our system is based has not produced a system. We have lots of educational facilities in Pennsylvania, but we do not have a system. We do not have the universities doing what they should do, the State Teachers' Colleges doing what they should do. We do not have the junior colleges doing what they should do, and we are not certain that we have the secondary and the elementary schools doing what they should do. We have to proceed de novo. We have a system that calls for reconstruction at every level. Sooner or later there must be a reconstruction in a different view in our Department of Education, and we must reconcile the conflicting opinions of educators quarreling among themselves concerning curriculum, quarreling among themselves as to educational objectives. We must determine what the economy of Pennsylvania will stand. We know what Pennsylvania's joint income is, and taxes should be approached from the point of view of what the economy can stand.

At a certain level taxes maintain value; without them values would decline. If we neglected our schools and the schools deteriorated, values would decline. There is a certain level at which taxes maintain values, and then there is a certain level at which taxes causes values to deteriorate. The first thing that we should do is determine what will be a profitablbe tax investment which will actually encourage and incerase our economic values, and in that we have the educational picture.

If schools decline, values decline and we have then to find out what fringes should be elective on the part of the district. I believe that there are many things, many features, in our public school system which the Department of Education insists on because it creates the necessity of having an additional bureau to supervise that particular activity. I am for a basic, a basic, system of elementary and secondary education on basic education. Then I say, that is the basic, the educational facilities that are the minimum to which every child in this state of Pennsylvania is entitled.

Then we have, in the school districts just as we have in the homes, the ability upon the part of some districts to inludge in fringes, the fine things, but they should not be compulsary. The sooner we realize that if we put half the money into improving our system of education that we have unnecessarily put in temples of education, if we had fostered the teacher more and the architects and the contractors less, we would be in a better situation.

I assure you in conclusion that upon my part and the Majority Leader's part we have been fumbling with the approach. We must have continuity in planning. We have never had it. Now will we get continuity in planning purely through a committee on the part of the House? A committee upon the part of the House and the Senate? A committee confined entirely to Members of the General Assembly? Or should we have a commission composed of Members of the House. Members of the Senate, and educators? We have to figure out the approach. We cannot go into this thing blind. We need a legislative forum of some kind that will enable us to plan and give continuity to our plan. We will welcome the leadership which the gentleman from McKean exemplifies, when the time comes for action and we will seek his advice as to the course we should pursue.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STROUP asked and received unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, if the Speaker please, the memory of man, it seems to me, is very short. Not many months ago, throughout this Commonwtalth, indeed throughout the United States, we were impelled to do everything in our power to improve the educational system of this nation, and that has been forgotten today as a flower is forgotten or a hushed footfall on the newly fallen snow.

It is indeed very evident that either the Governor was ill advised in the drafting of this budget, or he is one of those Governors who does not have a primary interest in education, or he would not bring out a budget of not more than $80 million of new money in order to take care of the educational system and the public instruction for this Commonwealth.

One must remember that our budget throughout this state is about 52 to 53 percent of our total cost for education and we have $80 million out of $400 million new money which is 20 percent consideration, and I maintain that education for this state, in that budget, is not receiving adequate consideration.

We have learned further today that there is no provision whatsoever in this budget to take care of increased costs mandated, as has been stated, by the Department of Public Instruction and by this Legislature upon our local school districts. To the contrary, we throw that terrific burden back upon those local school districts and we have, as stated upon the floor of this House just today, those districts facing bankruptcy. Then what are we going to do about that problem while we sit here for days and weeks on end with a budget of $80 million for Public Instruction. It does not make any sense nor is it adequate whatsoever.

It is high time, and I am in firm agreement with the Speaker of this House, that we take steps to do something about this budget so far as public education is concerned. It is not a question, at this time, of taxes; it is a question of the allocation of that budget to the primay concerns of this Commonwealth. Constitutionally, the education of the children of this Comonwealth is upon the state and not upon the local school boards nor upon the local level. We must take some of that burden, some of that responsibility, and I ask the leadership of this House to look at it from that standpoint.

Yes, it is very true, we might face bankruptcy; it is very true that we have but $80 million for increased costs, yet the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee tells us that he has not asked the fourth class districts to the hearings and he has not intended to do so. So by what reason and by what method whatsoever are we going to arrive at any successful conclusion of what this very serious problem is?

Laying over presently and I speak of the unanimous consent, in the Legislative Reference Bureau concerning which I spoke just a few moments ago, is a resolution for a commission or an act for a commission to appoint five Members of this House and five Members of the other body and five distinguished educators as a continuing body to consider the problem of education in this state at its conference. Now is not the time to do that, the time to do that is when we have completed that survey and that study. Now our school districts are in dire distress, while we in the House stand here helpless. Gentlemen of this House and ladies of this House I call upon you for action upon this very important problem, Under the budget as it is presently considered and presented to us by our Governor I maintain that there is allocation in that budget of no money which would give adequate solution to the educational problem. I could even suggest, and you asked for suggestions—I'll make this suggestion though I know it will not meet with much approval that I am well advised, I believe, that since 1955 we have increased the employes on the state payroll by 12,500 at an average cost of $3,600 a year, and that if we economize upon the state payroll, and probably we could, and it should be inspected very thoroughly, we could find $40 or $50 million for increases in the cost of education.

Mr. BOIES asked and obtained unanimous consent for the following bill to be read for the first time.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 256, entitled:

An Act amending "The Game Law" approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1225) designating magistrates aldermen or justices of the peace before whom information charging summary offenses may be brought.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman explain the term "available" in this bill as it applies to a magistrate, alderman or justice of the peace?

Mr. GOODRICH. Mr. Speaker, the bill provides that a man is available if he is in his office. If he is not in his office he is not available. It also provides that between the hours of 9 and 5 the magistrate, alderman or justice of the peace does not have to post hours but he may post hours other than that, and it is assumed that he is available during those posted hours if he is in his office. If he is not in his office then it means he is not available.

Mr. ISAAC. Am I correct in stating, if a magistrate, alderman or justice of the peace is not in his office between the hours of 9 and 5 under this bill, but has posted on his office door, the hours at which he will be available, he will be considered available for the purposes of this bill, am I correct in that?

Mr. GOODRICH. If he is in his office.

Mr. ISAACS. If he is in his office at the time he has posted on the office door?

Mr. GOODRICH. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I will assume that the result of this interrogation is the intent of this bill and it will be so constructed by the House. With his explanation I have no objections to this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and wer eas follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

(The following announcement was made following the calling of the roll and during the time the result was tallied.)

ANNOUNCEMENT

In reference to the Federated Legislative Field Day, Tuesday, May 12—12:00 noon in the Zembo Mosque, all Members of the House are guests of the church forces of Pennsylvania.

Transportation is available to all who desire it. Buses will leave the Third Street entrance to the main capitol building at 11:30 a.m.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair wishes to call to the attention of the House in conjunction with the last announcement, that the letter sent to the Members was in error in stating 12:15, the correct time, to repeat, is 11:30 a.m. tomorrow morning.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as we violated the Rule of the House with respect to the roll call, nothing being in order other than the calling of the roll and inasmuch as that announcement that was just read by the Clerk pertaining to the Federated Legislative Field Day, I would like permission of the House to make a brief statement. If the Chair suggests that I do it after the roll has been announced that is perfectly alright with me.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would suggest that be done, the announcement was made to conserve the time of the House. The gentleman is correct in stating that it was not done at the proper time but since the hour is getting late, we thought we would try to save time.

Mr. McCORMACK. I would like also to say to you that Rule 73, says that no Members or other person is allowed at the Clerk's desk during the calling of the roll, or while the vote is being counted, was not enforced.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair did not observe that violation, if there was one.

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, the Reverend Forney was up at the Clerk's desk.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman's point is not well taken. He will be recognized following the tabulation of the roll call. The Chair has been informed that Reverend Forney was not at the desk, he was at the rostrum.

Mr. McCORMACK. May I answer that, Mr. Speaker, by rising a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state his point of order after the roll call is completed.

(The result of the roll was announced.)

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. McCORMACK. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. McCORMACK. I would like a ruling from the Chair as to whether or not it is a violation of Rule 73 of this House for a person to appear behind the Clerk's desk during the calling of the roll.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For the information of the gentleman, the Chair will read Rule 73 of the House. Rule 73 states:

> "No Member or other person shall be allowed at the Clerk's desk while the yeas and nays are being recorded or the vote counted."

The Clerk's desk, for the information of the Member, means the Clerk's desk, not the rostrum.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCORMACK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, when we received the announcement last week, and I unfortunately do not have that announcement here, extending an invitation to the Members of the Legislature to attend the Federated Legislative Field Day, somewhere in that announcement was a statement that no Member would be embarrassed by attending that Field Day, nor would legislation be discussed, or some words that had that intent. In the mail this morning Mr. Speaker, I received, and I am referring to it now, a long dissertation by the Pennsylvania Temperance League, which devotes itself almost exclusively to a bill which I happened to sponsor, the bill for the sale of beer in Connie Mack Stadium which is on the calendar.

It discusses who votes for it and who votes against it, and one paragraph there says, and I quote: "Consult the tally sheet to see how your legislator voted. If he voted no, give him a pat on the back, he will really appreciate it. If he voted aye, tell him you expect a higher standard of citizenship from your Representative and do it fast."

Now Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether that is embarrassing to anybody else or not, but it certainly would be extremely embarrassing to me if I were to go to that affair and have some one of these lobbyists pat me on the back because I voted aye when I changed my vote, and it would also be embarrassing to me if he told me that because I voted no he expected a higher standard. I think that they ought to be a little bit more careful in their announcements.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I just want to say, Mr. Speaker, with respect to Reverend Forney coming up to the desk, because of the confusion in the two announcements and because we wanted the announcement to be made early in the session so that there would not be any confusion tomorrow about buses, we invited him up to the rostrum to have him explain the confusion between the two announcements and he properly said that it would be the better for the 11:30 buses.

I want to just reply briefly to Representative McCormack, there are a lot of very fine people in Pennsylvania, folks who believe in the Golden Rule, who are good Christian people, who have their views on matters pertaining to the sale of beer in ball parks, keeping the Sabbath holy, and all of the other things that they stand for that has made Pennsylvania the great state it is today. I think that when people do that, well meaning, and send out brochures about what they think is going on under this dome here, what is good for the people of this state, I do not believe they should be held up to ridicule because they are fine people. They are the backbone of Pennsylvania and they have made Pennsylvania the state it is today. This meeting tomorrow, this Legislative Field Day, is being conducted by these people in all sincerity and all good will for the best interests of this our great State. I think it is a marvelous thing.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a former Member, the gentleman from Butler County, Mr. Wendell Miller.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1341, entitled as follows:

An Act lapsing the unexpended and unencumbered balance of a certain appropriation from the General Fund to the Department of Property and Supplies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker and Members of this House, I rise to my feet to strongly support this bill to repeal the $250,000 appropriation for a new Governor's mansion made fourteen years ago and as embodied at that time in Senate bill No. 31 of the 1945 regular Session of the General Assembly.

The vote was 206 to 1 in 1945; 206 for it and only one vote against this appropriation in 1945. That record appears on pages 4131 and 4132 of the May 4, 1945 Legislative Journal. I have that Legislative Journal here in my possession tonight for anyone to observe. Who was that one and only vote in 1945 against this $250,000 for a new Governor's mansion, which we are now about to repeal?

Yes, I was laughed at, yelled at and told to sit down in my seat by many of my colleagues at that time, but I stood alone and unafraid on the floor of this House to place that one and only vote in either the House or the Senate in opposition to this wasteful spending of the people's money for a third Governor's mansion.

Today, fourteen years later, you are about to say I was right, and the Governor of this Commonwealth has already admitted that I was right by offering this bill through his leaders in this House. Sometimes it takes years and generations to see who was right for the public's interests, and it is not always the 206 who were for the best interests of the people of Pennsylvania. Many of the 206 are no longer walking on the surface of this earth, but God has left a few of us still living to recall the record for the people.

Yes, this was a terrible appropriation against the interests of the taxpayers, and it should never have been enacted into law. But although this bill before us is a good bill, by repealing this attempted waste of public funds, this bill still does not go nearly far enough in the right direction. We do not need even two executive mansions, one at Indiantown Gap and the other on Front Street. One of these is enough. Let us sell the one and save still more money for the taxpayers of Pennsylvania. Let us stop building more executive mansions, and in addition sell one of the two that the Governor is now splashing around in in luxury.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. McCANN. I appeal to the Chair. Is the gentleman speaking on House Bill 1341 at this point in his discussion?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair the gentleman is not confining his remarks to the bill before the House. The Chair would request the gentleman to properly confine his remarks to House Bill 1341, Printer's No. 490.

The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. WORLEY. Why should a Governor have two luxurious homes at state tax expense?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would remind the gentleman that he is out of order. The remarks are not appropriate to the bill being considered by the House at this time. The gentleman will please confine his remarks to House Bill 1341.

Mr. WORLEY. I will try to do that.

Mr. Speaker, in relation to that bill, I would like to state the following: Here is a place to save some state taxes. We do not want to make kings out of our Governors anyhow. I say to you the Governor should want to be a man of the people and act like the people, not sit above the realm of the people. He should want to live in one home like the rest of us in a Commonwealth—

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is out of order. If the gentleman cares to submit his remarks for insertion in the journal if they are proper, he may do so. But the gentleman is out of order in his present remarks. They are not appropriate to this bill. The gentleman will please confine his remarks to the subject matter being considered.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have to tried to say in relation to this bill let us really stop wasting public funds around this place, and we would not be wanting tax, tax, tax and more tax. The people want a little common sense used in this state government of theirs. So let us vote to repeal this appropriation now, and then offer a bill to sell one of the two existing mansions. This is only common sense.

As I said before, Mr. Speaker, let us vote to repeal this appropriation now, and then offer a bill to sell one of the two existing mansions. This is only common sense and it is truly in the interests of the people and taxpayers of this Commonwealth.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is not in order and will confine himself to the bill being considered before this House.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that the gentleman ask for recognition later on and ask unanimous consent of the House to offer a speech.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The point is well taken. I believe the gentleman can ask at any time to be heard by unanimous consent. Should the gentleman desire to ask for unanimous consent to make a statement he should wait until this bill has been voted upon and then he will be recognized to that purpose.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would calmly suggest that the gentleman give up for the day and write a new speech.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman's remarks are not in order. The gentleman from Adams will proceed.

The Chair suggests that if the gentleman wishes to speak on a subject not properly before the House in the consideration of this bill, he will be recognized following the roll call for the purpose of making a statement.

POINT OF ORDER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. For what purpose does the gentleman rise.

Mr. WORLEY. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, when I am speaking in relation to executive mansions which this bill deals with, am I not within the realm of general debate? After all, I heard a great deal of leeway earlier in this session tonight and nobody objected to it. I can not see why I can not speak on the general field before this body on this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would inform the gentleman that it is not proper to consider the number of personal remarks the gentleman made in connection with this particular bill.

The gentleman is also not in order in referring to what happened back in 1945, as he previously did. The gentleman will please confine his remarks to this bill.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would then conclude that this is a very good bill and should never have been enacted in the first place, I hope you all vote for it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE

TUESDAY, MAY 12, 1959.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ELLIS J. BAYNE, Pastor of the Bower Memorial Evangelical United Brithren Church, Berwick, offered the following prayer:

Forgive us, Lord Jesus, for the things we say and do that make us feel uncomfortable when we stand in Thy presence. Forgive us for the front which so often we polish so carefully so that men may see us, but Thou dost look upon our hearts. Thou knowest every thought of our minds. Thou knowest how the fine things in us frequently are destroyed by the littleness of our spirits.

Dear Father, remind us again that Thou has said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Help us to believe this. May we give of every talent and every gift so completely that Thou canst make our cup to be full and run over. Make our people everywhere in our land willing to share the good things given to us, lest in our selfishness our food should choke us and our indifference turn our great blessings to ashes. Help us to give according to our incomes, lest Thou, O God, make our incomes according to our gifts.

May every Member of this Senate be blessed with the mind and the spirit of Jesus Christ in all that we say and do.

All of this we ask in the Name of Jesus, our Savior. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

URGING THE FAVORABLE CONSIDERATION BY CONGRESS OF LEGISLATION TO EQUALIZE THE PAY OF RETIRED MEMBERS OF THE UNIFORMED SERVICES

Messrs. SILVERT, KELLER and VAN SANT offered the following resolution (Serial No. 111), which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 12, 1959.

The Congress of the United States, by Public Law 85-422, enacted a new military pay law, designed to increase the incentive for making careers in the uniformed forces, and to compensate for the shrunken dollar value.

This law created in effect an "Elite List," consisting of persons who retired after June 1, 1958, and an "Inferior List," consisting of persons who retired prior to June 1, 1958.

The persons on the "Elite List" were authorized to have their retired pay computed at the increased rate, while those on the "Inferior List" were denied the right to have their retired pay computed at the increased rate.

Although Public Law 85-422 recognizes the right of the widows of officers retired prior to June 1, 1958 to have their pensions based on the higher pay scales, it nevertheless denies to members retired before June 1, 1958, including those retired because of disability incurred in the line of duty, to have their retired pay computed at the increased rate.

It has been a time honored national policy that the retired pay of its National defenders be geared to that of active duty personnel. The precedent established by creation of the "Elite" and "Inferior" lists of Public Law 85-422 not only defeats a basic principle of National policy, but also has an adverse effect upon the retention rates of personnel currently serving on active duty, thereby destroying a principal objective of the law.

A number of bills to correct the inequity and restore the National policy on uniformity of pay for its retired personnel have been introduced in the House and Senate of the Congress of the United States and referred to the respective Armed Services Committees for report and recommendation; therefore, be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania strongly urge the favorable consideration of legislation to equalize the pay of retired members of the uniformed services; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Presiding Officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 12, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled "The Vehicle Code" requiring that flashing emergency lamps on snow plows and cinder trucks be amber in color.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to bring to the attention of the Members of the Senate a communique that I received from the department in regard to this bill. I also had a delegation call upon me from the Pennsylvania League of Cities. Their particular objection to this bill is the tremendous cost that it would run into. One of the questions which was brought up, and one which came to my mind, is that I do not see what the particular problem is in having a truck now have a red light.

The only argument I have heard, or only objection, is that you might begin to think that this is a fire truck or fire engine. That argument might have merit, but I do not think that would cause any consternation because it might mean that the people driving behind it would be a little more cautious. I think if we do have caution, which is the primary reason for these lights, nothing is lost. If someone is caused to slow up because of a red light, I do not think anything is really lost by that, unless they have an emergency. In this event, I think they would have somebody accompanying the car or riding ahead of it to give it a fast through way on the particular highway they are riding.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this particular bill.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 12 is a bill advocated by the Volunteer Firemen of Pennsylvania.

We passed this bill during the last Session of the Legislature and it was vetoed by the Governor. The Governor said it would be an expensive bill. The only expense involved in this bill, Mr. President, would be the cost of putting a plexiglass cover over the present glass, which is red.

From time immemorial, we have recognized amber as the color of caution, as it should be. When we come to a stop light, all of us are familiar with the fact that an amber light is a caution light; that a red light means stop. If you are traveling on the highways in the winter, in an area of a storm, and you see a red light ahead, you stop. You find out later that instead of it being a fire truck, it is an ash truck, wending its way up the hill. You pass it and when you get to the next hill, you see the same thing. When you get to the third hill, you find that it was not an ash truck, but an ambulance. Somebody had been hurt and was lying on the highway, and you ran over him. Or, possibly, a fire truck was there and, the fire was across the road, and the fire hose was laying across the road. They have yelled "wolf, wolf" so often that you pay no attention to it. You run over the hose and it breaks, and the fire truck might just as well be back in the fire house.

Mr. President, I think this is a very good bill and I think it is a bill which serves the people of Pennsylvania very well. I hope this bill will gain the approval of the Members from both sides of the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, some question on the wording of the bill has arisen in this corner. Therefore, I am going to request that the bill go over in its order, on final passage.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

GUESTS OF SENATOR WILLIAM Z. SCOTT PRESENTED TO SENATE

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair has the very pleasant duty of introducing to his fellow Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania a group from my home community of Lansford, in Carbon County. This is a group of young men annd women who have been elected by their fellow classmates to hold the offices of the town council, the burgess and the other borough offices of Lansford for a week during Youth Week ceremonies in that community.

As a reward for their election, these young men and women are bing honored by visiting here in our State Capitol today. They are in the Senate Chamber, and I would like to extend to them, on behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania and myself, a most cordial welcome. Will this group please rise?

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, we are all delighted to have these young citizens of Lansford, which I understand you said was your home town. Is that correct, sir?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct, Senator Elliott.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Is there anyone up there representing the State Senator from Lansford? Was anyone elected to take his place?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Elliott, in reply to your interrogation, may I say that up until the present time, I have been able to ward off the election of a State Senator in my town because I am afriad that the young man who might be elected might get some ideas.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Very good, very good.

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a fifteen minute recess of the Senate for the purpose of holding a meeting of the Committee on Finance to be held in the Finance Committee Room, and also a Republican Caucus, to be held in the Senate Caucus Room.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any objections?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, before acting upon the request for recess, will you also announce to the Republican Members that the Republican Caucus will take place immediately in the Caucus Room, and we will only await the Republican Members of the Finance Committee? It is most important that the Republican Members attend this Caucus.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to impress upon the Republican Members the importance of this Caucus.

There being no objection, the Chair declares a fifteen minute recess of the Senate.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 221, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" authorizing school directors to charge tuition fees for adult extension education.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the question that this bill proposes to the Members of the Senate and, I think, to the people of Pennsylvania is a matter of philosophy of whether we believe that we should give the people in our communities, who would like to better themselves either in or out of their jobs, the opportunity of going to school in the evenings or other times when they are available. If you charge them a tuition fee, you are going to eliminate a certain group of people immediately who cannot afford to pay this kind of money to go to school. You are also going to delimit the number of people who will be able to take advantage of this adult education.

One of the inherent things which is wrong with this bill is that you are setting up a tuition fee which necessarily must be high. As I read the bill,—and if I am incorrect, I am sure someone here will correct me—I find that you are setting the basis for the fee on the provision that it be commensurate in amount with the net cost of the program for administration, supervision, instruction and capital outlay. Is capital outlay the capital outlay on the building? Is capital outlay the capital improvements which have been made to the structure? When you take that amount, in order to arrive at a figure, you must take that total sum and divide it by the number of people who are going to attend in order to arrive at a figure which is the cost you must charge the adults coming to attend these different schools. This amount might become quite prohibitive. There is no limitation in this bill as to what the maximum amount would be, and there is no limitation in this bill as to what the minimum amount would be.

One of the things which I think has made our Country and our Commonwealth great is that people have had an opportunity, while working at some job, either during the day or at night, to better themselves in school either for lack of education, for lack of opportunity or even for lack of desire which they may have had at an earlier stage in their careers.

For that reason, Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, as I understand it, the school districts are not reimbursed or subsidized by the Commonwealth for most of these extension courses. Nevertheless, they must institute them upon the written application of twenty or more persons. I have long thought, and I think others have, that for certain of these courses, if the people want them, they would be willing to pay a nominal tuition fee. I am sure that the school districts, being local districts, are not going to load on the tuition freight very heavily. The tuition would be commensurate, as the bill says, with the net cost of the course offered.

It was explained to me, and I so understand, that it was put in that form so that they would not charge for the lighting and that sort of thing which goes into the cost of maintaining the plant for the operation of these extension courses.

For that reason, Mr. President, I believe it is perfectly fair that the districts should be allowed to offer these courses. It is a "may" bill. If they feel that the district needs money and cannot afford to offer these courses but, nevertheless, they would like to offer them, they may charge a tuition fee for such courses.

Therefore, Mr. President, I believe it is a good bill and should be supported.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I would object to this bill on two grounds. First, in Philadelphia, for which I speak, these courses are already given without charge. With the passage of this bill, it is more than likely that they will now charge people for this type of instruction. I would object to the bill on that ground.

On the other hand, I also want to say that we have a big system of private schools which has been in existence for seventy-five to one hundred years, which teach these vocational subjects. I understand that they were never once consulted. They have a State organization of private School Directors, and they were never once consulted about this bill and what impact it would have on their existence.

I think we are now getting into a competitive field in this type of instruction. These schools are pioneers in education. I think for the State to go into competition with them, at this time was certainly never intended by our system of free public schools.

In addition to that, with the school budgets going up and up and up, you can expect from this source that they are going to go up and up and up even more. Even though there are some people who are willing to pay for it, they will not pay the full amount of the cost of operating these schools. They are very expensive to operate.

For that reason, I would move that this bill be, at least, recommitted for further study or that it be placed on some postponed calender list or go over in order until the subject is studied further and, particularly, until there has been consultation with the system of private schools in Pennsylvania to see what impact it will have on their operations.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Mullin, desire to make a motion at this time?

MOTION THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MULLIN. I will make a motion that the bill go over in its order, on Final Passage.

Mr. SILVERT. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, is it in order to debate a motion to put a bill over in order? I wish to offer a reason why, perhaps, it should be passed over in order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The reason for the motion is debatable.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I think one reason why we should pass this bill over in order—I admit it has been on the Calendar for a long time—is because there is one question which has not been settled to my satisfaction and one on which I need information.

A nominal cost is one thing; a real cost which will prevent people from availing themselves of instruction is another thing. I am not debating the merits of the bill. I am just trying to show you my need for information.

The bill says that the tuition fee shall be commensurate in amount with the net cost of the prgram for administration, supervision instrutction and capital outlay. Mr. President, that constitutes most of the cost which is included in figuring the tuition cost for regular instruction in school. It does not include all the costs. However, with the inclusion of capital outlay, in addition to instruction, administration and supervision, it includes most.

I would like to say to the Members of the Senate that the monthly cost of tuition in most of our secondary schools in the Commonwealth runs about forty dollars a month. Assuming that this would be a little bit less, that would be about $300 a year. Of course, they may not attend each day, but this is a signficant amount. What I would like to know—and unless someone is prepared in this Senate today to tell us, that seems to me a compelling reason for having this bill go over in order until the information is found—is just how much, in a typical school situation, would the net cost of the program for administration, supervision and capital outlay be, figured on the basis of an individual student. Remember that the classes in an ordinary secondary program run around thirty. As a matter of fact, twenty-two is the figure given in the law. However, the classes in this type of instruction typically number much lower than that.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY

Therefore, this would argue that the cost would increase because it would be divided, pro rata, among less people.

The second thing I would like to know—and another reason why I think, unless someone is prepared to answer this question, this bill should go over in order—is just what is meant by the words "commensurate in amount with." Does that mean it shall cover the net cost or does "in commensurate with" mean it shall be in some relationship or ratio to the total cost? I notice that the words "and shall not exceed" the total cost have been cut out. In other words, there is no prohibition in this bill that this cannot exceed the net cost. I would like to know what "shall be commensurate in amount with" means in connection with this cost at stake. I am not familiar with the use of those words in regard to school costs.

If anyone is able to answer that question or if anyone is able to give me statistical data to indicate what the cost is likely to be in a given school situation, a typical school situation, then I am ready to vote. If not, Mr. President, then I think that is a compelling reason why we should put the bill over in order until the proponents of the bill can furnish us with this kind of information.

Therefore, Mr. President, I urge that the Members do vote to pass this bill over in order until such time as this information is supplied.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, am I in order? Is this bill still debatable? I judge that the vote will be on the motion to carry this bill over in its order. This gentleman has followed up the motion by making a speech. I would like to take a few minutes to discuss Senate Bill No. 221.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman must speak on the motion, as a whether or not this bill should go over in order. The debate must be restricted to that.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, the reason that I feel this bill should not go over in order is that Senate Bill No. 221 has been on the Calendar long enough for people to look at it. I am not arguing about how much money this bill is going to cost. I am talking more about the principle of the bill, the whole structure of the bill. If we are to continue with our school system, I am told that we must pass House Bill No. 1108, which will cost some $200,000,000 more than the Governor has considered in his budget. The Governor has shown no cause at all why this should be paid by the school districts, from his standpoint, because he has not set up any money for it.

Why should we, in the city of Philadelphia, and in the County of Delaware or anywhere in the State of Pennsylvania, continue to educate adults, people who are able and healthy, certainly, to work and pay if they want further education? Why should we subsidize people who can work? If this were a program for sick people or people who could not afford to pay, perhaps there could be some merit to the bill.

We are having enough trouble now, Mr. President, trying to raise the revenue to educate the children in the State of Pennsylvania without stretching it to adults and every other avenuue we can find to spend the money in the school system.

The next thing we know, we will be teaching crocheting and including it in some bill here to take care of the cost.

I am opposed to this thinking. I feel that the principle alone is enough to allow this bill to pass, and I see no reason to carry it over. If we do not begin to think about where we are going on these school costs, we are going to have no schools, so I am told. They will break down and we will have so system, or the taxes at home will be so high that we will not be able to afford to own a home.

I think it is time that the gentlemen on the other side start thinking a little bit about saving money in our school system and giving us more money to educate our children instead of adults.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I understand that the debate here is only on the motion to put the bill over in order and not upon the merits of the bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICE. That is correct.

Mr. BERGER. I will reserve my remarks until the Chair puts the motion.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?
(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Senator from Delaware County that one of the great men of this Commonwealth and one of the people who built one of the great fortunes in this Country was a gentleman by the name of Mr. Carnegie. I believe if we will look into his background and his biography, we will find that he went to school at night and it was by that means that he was able to do many of the wonderful things which we have associated with Mr. Carnegie. His activities have provided many jobs in this Commonwealth and in this Country for many, many people.

The basic philosophy that I would like to get across to the gentleman who last spoke is that adult education should never be at an end and should always be available to everyone in this Commonwealth. The amount of money involved is so infinitesimal that I think it ill behooves us to cut down on this type of activity if we are going to save any kind of money.

I would also like to point out one other things to the gentleman who spoke last. This tuition charge would retard adult education from another point of view. Where you have industry changing, where you have industry growing and people must be taught new skills or prepare themselves for a new trade, you will be removing this type of education from them. You will also be placing the school districts in the same category as a private school. I do not think that you basically believe in that, because I know you better than that and I have heard you express yourself otherwise. I think, perhaps, that you see this bill through a jaundiced eye. You should reconsider this matter so that perhaps amendments could be put into the bill.

There is no suggestion in this bill of what the minimum tuition should be or what the maximum tuition should be. I believe that is one of the inherent errors in this bill, if these people are to be charged tuition.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have heard quite a lot of discussion on this bill. I would like to mention some of the remarks made by Senator Mullin in connectin with the competition which this bill would raise with private schools. At the present time, none of these courses charge tuition. Therefore, the charging of tuition certainly will not increase competition with private schools. I do not believe there can be any justification in the statement that the courses will do violence to the private schools.

I do not question at all the desirability of adult education in certain fields. I again point out that this is a "may" bill; that there is no tuition being charged at the present time and the school directors do not have to charge any tuition of the bill is passed. I have no doubt that in most cases—in fact, I would venture to say in all cases—where the courses desired are such fundamentals as English. mathematics and things of that sort, the school districts will continue to offer those courses without tuition for adult education. However, when it comes to some of the things that are on the curriculum which may be offered by the district and must be offered by the district if enough people ask for it in writing, then a tuition fee should be charged for such things. I have nothing against fly-tying—I like to tie flies myself —or folk dancing. It is a nice thing. But to require a school district to put in a folk dancing extension course or a fly-tying course or a finger painting course and do it free, Mr. President, does not seem reasonable. If the people want it, they certainly would be willing and able to pay for it. That is what this bill allows the school districts to do, charge tuition for such courses as they think tuition should be charged.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I just want to say to the gentleman who spoke last, the Majority Leader, for whom I have great regard, that we might be able to save the money we are spending for finger painting courses in some other institutions. I think we should think about that as well. It might be cheaper all the way around.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, the present system of free schools in Philadelphia is limited to certain types of instruction, which are partially subsidized, and others which are used in conjunction mostly with improving the training in the subjects which are part of the labor union apprentice system. If we pass this bill, we will extend such training to practically every type of subject that any twenty people want. This will hurt private schools. As I say, that type of schooling would put the whole system into competition and tend to eliminate or make inoperative many of our private schools which are in operation. I do not think that is intended by either the principle of our public school system or by our system of private industry. That is the reason why I think this bill is uncalled for.

In addition to that, it is going to cost the State more money because the tuition which is charged will never amount to the cost, and it will necessarily increase the cost of public schools in the State.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, when the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Watkins, speaks on an issue, he has a certain charm over me which usually wins me over. His method of persuasion and his sincerity is generally such that I find myself agreeing with him, although I am on the Democratic side of the aisle.

Unfortunately and apologetically, today, I cannot agree with Senator Watkins because one issue involved in this bill which has not come out on the floor is one which disturbs me greatly. One of the big issues facing Pennsylvania today, as well as every other State in the United States, is the aged worker. We continue hearing the mounting problems we are having with our elder citizen who loses his job and cannot find opportunity for employment anywhere. We find that this is the big problem. We find that there are seminars and conferences on how to aid our aged worker.

In New York, they have found that the answer lies in re-education. They have found that when an aged worker loses his job, it is helpful for him to return to school to learn a new trade and to increase his educational capacity, so that he may have other opportunities along other lines.

We find a number of our elder citizens who are today on Social Security, and are spending their last days by going to classes and taking subjects. Otherwise, we would find them at home with nothing to do and, therefore, shorten their lives.

Mr. President, I think this bill deprives the opportunity to that class of persons, to that aged citizen, who finds it important for re-education in order to get an opportunity economically to live and increase his standard of living. This bill takes away the opportunity for that aged worker, or that aged citizen, who is on Social Security and wants to spend his remaining days by occupying his mind with something to do.

I think by charging tuition we are depriving those people of that opportunity. I think in this Country, where public education was the backbone of the growth of the Nation, we should not deprive those persons of that opportunity in this great State.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. At this time, the Chair relinquishes the gavel to the Lieutenant-Governor of the Commonwealth, who has returned to the rostrum.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. Thank you, Senator Scott.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, under the provisions of this bill, in answer to Senator Mullin, this is a "may" bill. The school districts which are wealthy enough to afford this type of education can do it.

We, in Pennsylvania, have been trying over the years to spread this thing in such a way so that those districts which do not have the financial ability to raise the revenue can offer this education, in order that we give people an educational opportunity evenly throughout the Commonwealth. If, in Philadelphia, they are giving courses and they do not charge for them, that is perfectly all right.

I think it was two or four years ago when the subsidy for this type of education was taken away. Every school district is bearing its own expense for these various classes. The present law says that if there are, at any time, fifteen citizens who sign a petition and petition the school district to be given a course in any given subject, the school district is obligated to do so. As I brought out a minute ago, some districts are able to do it financially and other districts are unable to do it.

I think in Pittsburgh, during the Christmas season, they hold special courses to teach women how to wrap their Christmas packages. They have fly-casting classes, and somebody mentioned crocheting and somebody mentioned golf. We now have driver training classes. We had an awful time getting driver training in our public school system. If fifteen adults in any community sign a petition, they can get driver training and learn to drive an automobile, under this program, for free. I do not think that is the purpose of the educational system of Pennsylvania.

My distinguished colleague, Senator Weiner, awhile ago, mentioned a very distinguished Pennsylvanian, Andrew Carnegie, who went to school at night. I agree with Senator Weiner, but I want him to understand that at that time the school system was not even subsidized as a public school system. We have a living example right here. Senator Taylor went to public school until he was twelve years of age. He had to go into the steel mills and went to night school at his father's expense, and he is a living example of success. However, it does not mean that the Commonwealth has to subsidize these courses.

Those of us who serve on school boards know that our school districts are almost broke. We are raising the taxes and they are down here asking for more subsidies. In many districts, the adults are able to pay and they want to pay. However, somebody will say "they are working up a program and you can get this free of charge, so you might as well take it." Many of these adults are more than able to pay for this education.

Mr. President, I would urge that we eventually vote favorably for the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I now request that this bill go over in its order, on final passage.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I just talked with one of the experts here and, as far as the budget is concerned, I think all of us should bear in mind that as far as this legislation is concerned, there is a Federal subsidy which we are going to have to look into, I am afraid you cannot charge tuition when you have a Federal subsidy on adult education.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, while it is timely, I might say that this is the reason for the amendment in the bill. You cannot use tuition fees to match Federal subsidy funds. Therefore, it is paid into the general fund of the school districts, it is all right.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think this is probably the nicest political bill that has ever been presented for the Democratic Party.If you fellows want to support a bill like this, I think you are making a great error. Here we are, in a great State like this, where we have a land grant college. If you live in the vicinity of the State University you can go to college for a full year for less than you can take an English course for one semester, under a bill such as this one. I think your trouble is that you have the cart before the horse.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order, on final passage.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 233, Printer's No. 733, on third reading, go over in its order.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 429, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624) entitled as amended "Banking Code" further providing for the making of loans on the security of real property by savings banks and authorizing savings banks to invest to a limited extent in banker's acceptances and bills of exchange

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, the bill which we are considering is fundamental in the history of banking in this Commonwealth.

Back in the depression, we supposedly took the action that was necessary to guarantee a sound banking system. In doing that, they set up two types of institutions. I say this question divides itself, one, into portfolio and, two, into the type of banking which is to be done in connection with portfolio. The two types of banking which we set up were that you either joined your insurance corporation, known as the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, or you joined what was known as the Home Loan Banking Insurance Corporation. The reason you made an election was that it gave to you the right to choose the type of portfolio or investment that was to lie behind the type of banking which you were to do.

Of course, they permitted a greater loan latitude to those people who had a restricted portfolio and they allowed them to go to eighty per cent. For those who had a lower rate of loan, they gave wider portfolio and they left them invest in municipals and in all the other things in which a National Bank and a State Bank could invest.

Here you have mutual savings associations which elected to go under the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, thereby securing, by their own act and their own asking for it, the right to invest in a wide latitude of securities. Of course, having that wider latitude, they were restricted in the percentage which they could loan. On top of that, add the fact that the whole history of banking, as far as portfolio is concerned, is restricted to the fact that where you have savings institutions—that is, deposits which are not payable on demand—you can take a greater length of time to tie up your assets. You must have a repayment monthly plan in connection with it. The third thing you must do is watch your liquidity. Here, they want their cake at the same time that they want to eat it.

The second phase of that which goes into banking is that the bankers throughout the world, and not restricted to this Country, have gradually been establishing separate savings institutions from commercial banks. The Mellon Banks, normally and usually, were commercial banks. It was only with merging that they took on any savings accounts.

The Presidents of the Banking Associations, nationally and state-wide in Pennsylvania, for the past eight years, have all said that in twenty years, we will separate the functions between commercial banks and savings institutions. In a commercial bank today, the biggest objection, which is agreed to by all authorities, is the fact that you have to keep two sets of books and two sets of reserves, as it now exists. They say we must run two banks in one.

Here we are today, saying to a group of savings institutions that the rules of soundness of yesterday are not the rules of today. You are saying that this is a time of prosperity and there will never be a time of adversity. You are saying to them that the commercial banks are complaining; that they must divorce themselves of the commercial factor and the savings factor. Yet, you are turning around, in this Senate, and asking us to vote to join those two factors for another group of institutions.

One by one, we are removing the safeguards on the soundness of institutions. This bill is the foremost and the leader of them. I, therefore, want you to know that I will vote "no" on this bill.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 588, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519) entitled "The Borough Code" authorizing boroughs to construct storm sewer and other drainage facilities.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, since the sponsor of this bill, Senator Ehrgood, is not present, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, a question arose in the Democratic Caucus about this bill. It is concerned with part of the amendment in the bill which occurs on page 2, lines seventeen and eighteen, and reads as follows:

"Within or without the limits of the borough."

The purpose of the bill, apparently, is to give the boroughs the power to construct storm sewers and other drainage facilities adjacent to, under or related to certain streets.

Our question is: Why is it necessary to give the boroughs the right to construct such storm sewers and other drainage facilities outside the limits of the borough? In other words, Mr. President, I would ask the Senator, does this mean that the boroughs can go into a township or an adjoining city and make such construction? If so, why in this necessary?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am not asserting myself as an expert on Senator Ehrgood's bill. However, apparently, they do not have the right to construct these storm sewers at the present time outside the borough limits and this is permitting them to do so.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I wonder why a borough should need the right to go outside borough limits into a township, let us say, or even into a city which is adjoining, and construct storm sewers and other drainage facilities. I also would ask, at the same time, whether the Senator thinks that such authority given to one municipality to enter other municipalities is desirable.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would assume that the outlet of the storm sewer has to reach some convenient drainage point,—that would be the only explanation I would have for it—and such drainage might not be located within the borough limits. I may be far afield on that, but it seems to me that is the obvious reason.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, that seems fairly logical to me and it is a solution I had not thought of.

Now I would raise the question whether, if such construction is necessary, the right should be given to one type of municipality unilaterally to go into another type of municipality and do this in their own manner, without the consent of the other municipality. It seems to me this might raise problems of jurisdiction. The people of the township might object, for example, to the emptying of a sanitary drainage system into a stream which ran through their township.

Does the Senator believe this is desirable legislation?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would assume, even without having the right to assume, that probably some compact or agreement would be entered into. I also would suggest that the boroughs probably do not have the right to spend borough money outside borough limits under the present law. Even so, we want to give the boroughs the right to do this. I think they are creatures of the Legislature, as all municipalities are, and we can do it.

Mr. SEYLER. I think that is true, Mr. President. However, I am just wondering what would be the opinion of townships and cities if we give this right to the boroughs because I read in the act, Mr. President, no restriction on the right of the boroughs; no necessity for them to make a contract with the township or with the city which might be adjoining. For that reason, I suggest it might be a good idea to put this bill over until we can get Senator Ehrgood to give us a more concrete picture of just what is involved.

Mr. BERGER. I certainly have no objection to that, Mr. President.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I will ask that this bill go over in its order, on final passage, if that is satisfactory to the Majority Leader.

Mr. BERGER. That is perfectly satisfactory, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order, on final passage.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 644, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10 1949 (P L 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing representation on the board of directors of union and merged school districts

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, as I understand this bill, it has one feauture in it which I think should, at least, be called to the attention of the Members. It provides that in union and merged districts, the board shall be composed of members of which one director shall be elected by and from each city, borough, town and township included in the union or merged district. There is nothing revolutionary in the idea that there should be representation from these different constituent parts. Previous legislation provided that. However, this has a new feature. This adds the word "by" each of these municipalities. In other words, there is not only to be representation, there is not only to be an assurance that the members of this board will be elected from these different districts, but as I read it, I may be wrong, and if I am, I hope Senator Fleming will correct me—it would mean that each of these directors has to be elected by the city, or the borough, or town or township from which he comes.

If that is correct, there are two things I would like to say. In the first place, unless further provision is made, I think this is impractical in our present method of electing the directors of union and merged districts. Secondly, I think it would represent a step backward in trying to make a union districit which is supposed to represent all of the people of that district.

I have no objection to seeing to it that each district is represented. However, I do have considerable objection to having each district elect its own representative. This goes back to the type of government we had when we had the type of city council where each ward elected its own representative, rather than electing representatives at large. In other words, I think two ideas are confused here. I think one of them makes it an impractical bill and, also, an undesirable bill. I am not sure that this was intended.

I would like to be advised by Senator Fleming if I am incorrect in my interpretation of the language of the bill.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I hope that Senator Seyler is wrong in his interpretation. The intent was not to do as he interpreted it. Certainly, the intent was only to have representation from these various municipalities involved.

If there is any question on Senator Seyler's part and he wishes to take this up with the department to be sure that the proposed legislation is in proper form, I have no objection at all to carrying it over in order to give Senator Seyler an opportunity to check on this.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I will be very happy to accept Senator Fleming's invitation to check this matter.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 644, Printer's No. 698, on final passage, go over in its order.

Gracious Father, in true repentance we turn to Thee this afternoon with the recognition that many times we have failed to do that which Thou has expected of us and have done those things which are not pleasing to Thee. So, in the forgiveness wrought through the sacrifice of Jesus Christ, our Lord, we look to Thee this day; we pray that as Thou dost forgive, Thou wilt also bless and grant to us that power which will lighten our pathway as well as the pathway of our fellowmen. Keep us steadfastly walking in Thy way of truth, and help us to exemplify that way by the deeds we bring to maturity. Use our talents, we humbly pray, in Thy service; and grant us Thy peace: through Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Lord. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. JUMP, WALSH, McLAUGHLIN and VARNER. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 68.

In the House of Representatives, May 11, 1959.

The National policy of the United States of America has been to honor the veterans of the wars of the United States by granting assistance to them in their declining years, by pensions, all in consideration of their military services in defense of our country.

The veterans of World War I of the United States have attained an average age of approximately sixty-five years.

There has been no general pension granted to veterans of World War I by the United States.

The United States has been and is aiding many foreign countries in restoring their economy and otherwise.

Such aid has not only been and is being extended to our former co-belligerents, but also to nations with which we formerly were at war.

A grateful nation should reward as heretofore, its defenders who served here and abroad for a mere pittance of pay, and lost the opportunity to profit by the expanded economy due to war, and sacrificed their professions and jobs; therefore, be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact legislation granting pensions to World War I Veterans as heretofore for the Spanish-American Veterans and the veterans of other prior wars of the United States; and, be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. BUCHANAN. RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House of Representatives, May 11, 1959.

Raymond W. Munnell, Principal of the Marion Center High School, passed away after a short illness on April 13, 1959, at the age of 47.

Mr. Munnel spent all of this professional education career, spanning twenty-six years, in the Marion Center School in which he served first as English and Language Teacher, then as Assistant High School Principal and finally advanced to the position of High School Principal in 1954.

Mr. Munnell was a member of the local, State and national education associations, served as President of the Indiana County Education Association and was an active member of Zion Lutheran Church, Indiana, Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives express their sincere and personal sympathy to the surviving members of the family of Raymond W. Munnell upon his untimely death; and be it further

STATEMENT BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Madam Speaker, there are a number of bills that have been introduced into the hoppers of this House that we on the Republican side are particularly interested in. I want very briefly to point them out at this time so that the Committee Chairmen can be thinking about them and so that we will be able to do what we feel will be a good legislative program to be passed before this Session is over.

This is a series of requests that I am going to make from time to time and will point out to you briefly the reasons why.

The first bill we are interested in is House Bill No. 1569 which would set up a Pennsylvania higher education assistance authority which would have the power to issue bonds or accept private gifts, and to lend money to deserving young men and women desiring a college education. I realize this bill has just been put in, but it is the Massachusetts plan and deserves the earnest attention of the committee in question.

The next bill is House Bill 866 which would change our 14 State Teachers' Colleges into State Colleges, paving the way to broader curricula for a practical means of expanding Pennsylvania's college facilities to take care of increased college population in the next few years.

House Bill 1159 would set up a reimbursement formula for state aid to local municipalities that must build sewage disposal plants under the clean streams program. The reimbursement formula will be based on public school capital construction fractions which reflect the community's ability to pay, and would not cost any more money than is in the budget for that purpose now, only it would be a different allocation.

House Bill 311 would require the budget secretary to submit departmental budget requests to the legislature at the same time they are submitted to the Governor. This is in connection with our legislative watch-dog bill.

House Bill 10 would require immediate payment for property condemned by the Commonwealth or other condemnors. A similar bill was vetoed by the Governor in 1957 and would prevent the Governor or the Department of Highways from delaying payments for property taken for the new highway program.

House Bill 5 would give the Liquor Board power to refuse the granting of new and transferred liquor licenses where bars are in highly concentrated or in residential areas.

House Bill 929 would prohibit the Department of Public Assistance from raising relief payments without the consent of the Legislature. Since the General Assembly must appropriate the money for public assistance it should retain at all times the right to approve or disapprove increases in costs.

House Bill 921 would limit the indebtedness authorities may incur to 10 per cent of the taxable property in the community unless consent of the electors is given for a higher amount. This would give a degree of local control over authorities.

House Resolution 63 would create a joint legislative committee to investigate voting frauds in big cities. We should all be inteersted in this worthy project.

House Resolution 29 would direct the Joint State Government Commission to study duplication and overlapping of state government so the taxpayers' money can be saved.

We feel that action on these bills would be in the best interests of the people and would give us something really tangible to work on on our calendar.

I appreciate your permitting me under unanimous consent to point out these bills for your perusal.

Mr. McCANN. Madame Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSTON. I shall, Madame Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Madame Speaker, would Mr. Johnson be kind enough to send us a copy of the list of those bills that he enumerated, including the resolutions?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I certainly will.

Mr. McCANN. Madame Speaker, then if these bills will certainly be considered by the proper committee that have them now in their possession, does the gentleman feel that we can then sit down and discuss other important matters?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. McCann, the only thing I can say in answer is that I have had an admonition from the House Republican caucus not to engage in any so-called dealing. Really, it is not dignified and is not in the best interests of parliamentary procedure.

Mr. McCANN. I do not care who knows publicly that I must receive and am asking for votes from the Republican side of the House to pass all of the items that pertain to good government and to financing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I ask you for your support. If that is dealing, mister, I am now dealing. I would like to have the list and I would appreciate very highly your offering them.

Madam Speaker, I thank the gentleman very kindly for the list which we requested of the House bills and resolutions and which he so graciously consented to send over to us.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Madam Speaker, may I reply to the gentleman, to his query?

I would just like to say that I will be pleased to furnish Mr. McCann with a list of these bills.

I realize this is the first use that we have made of the ruling with respect to commenting on bills which are not on the calendar, and I can see where it will provide the minority with an avenue to bring to the majority its wishes. It is probably a polite way of putting through a discharge resolution—a thing which we do not believe in on this side of the House—but it is perfectly proper under the ruling to mention bills that we feel should be moved.

With respect to our giving votes, nobody has ever said the Republican side here was not ready and willing to do what we think best for Pennsylvania. I believe, so that our position again will be made clear, we know that money will have to be provided, and that is what Mr. McCann is alluding to, to run our state. It is just a question of just how much money. I think the people in this state are looking to the Republicans in this House to make sure the money requested is a sane, sensible, necessary amount. To repeat, the deficit has already been cut down to $152 million.

If you read U. S. News and World Report this week with a statement that profits are up 47 percent this year over 1958, perhaps we will have to re-examine the take from existing taxes because if what the forecasters say is true we are going to receive some outstanding taxes from existing taxes in this state in the next two years.

Also the Appropriations Committee is at work. I am sorry that I am so busy in my own office that I can not attend these hearings, although the Republicans are trying to attend them and keep up with what is going on. It will not be very long before we will be able to sit down and ascertain how much money we feel is needed. Then of course there will be a gap in the revenues available after making an honest reappraisal of everything, the deficit and the taxes, the take from 665, and when that time comes, this side of the House will be glad to sit down with the majority and discuss what we think is best for Pennsylvania.

We are not irresponsible. We are not obstructionists. We think that we are doing the right thing. As our Members have gone back home they have been patted on the shoulders for what they have done so far this session. An enlightened populace is a good populace and the people feel that only by what has taken place here are they being told what is going on, and when taxes are finally voted they will know that it was something that had to be done for the good of the State.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Madam Speaker, yesterday the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, in addressing the House and also on interrogation, raised several questions in connection with the need of financing the public schools and the consideration of the budget for the Department of Public Instruction.

We have carefully gone over the various maters that he raised, particularly his statement that maybe we can cut $25 or $30 or $40 million from this budget. We have decided, Madam Speaker, that in order to bring these matters to light and try and arrive at a conclusion as to what is needed and what the facts are, we are going to recall the Department of Public Instruction and have a public hearing at 8:00 p.m. eastern daylight saving time, tomorrow, Wednesday. I invite the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, at attend this meeting. I invite any of the Members of the House on either side to attend this meeting. I have arranged to have the Department of Public Instruction present and we are definitely going to take up every single item that the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, raised, and also those matters that were raised by the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup.

I repeat this hearing will be held at 8:00 p.m., tomorrow, Wednesday, in Room 245, the House Appropriations Committee Meeting Room.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKKER. The Chair thanks the lady from Philadelphia for the very efficient job she did as speaker.

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. McCann.

Mr. Speaker, am I correct in interpreting Mr. McCann's remarks at the opening of this session today to include three words "bi-partisanship, taxes and cooperation"? Is that about the sum and substance of what the gentleman requested?

Mr. McCANN. I believe that would be pretty correct except it is not quite complete. The gentleman can add something else to that.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. I am sure the gentleman will get his chance.

Mr. McCANN. I have already been given the chance and have fulfiled part of it.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, when I as a freshman came into these hallowed halls I think I can safely say that I came in with 99 percent idealism and one percent practicality In the last four or four and a half months those ratios have changed; they have not completely reversed themselves yet, and I hope they never do.

However, Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Majority Leader whether this bi-partisanship, this cooperation which is requested on taxes should extend to other programs or endeavors, and should it include other Members of this House besides, Mr. McCann, and besides the Members on the right side of this House, and should it also extend to the leaders in the various counties, the 67 counties of Pennsylvania?

Mr. McCANN. I will be able to answer the gentleman very clearly. You and I are a part of the legislative branch, a separate, coherent part of government. I cannot speak for the executive branch in that field which you want to question me about except to say where I have some jurisdiction in the legislative branch, I have already fulfilled the request.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, first, may I thank Mr. McCann, the Majority Leader, for permitting me to interrogate him?

I am sure that Bucks County, although perhaps the fastest growing county in Pennsylvania, is not alone in having a program, a problem which I as a lawyer am pehaps more familiar with than those of you who are laymen. But in Bucks County we have a very pressing need for additional judges. I know that this is also true in Philadelphia County, Montgomery County, Lehigh County, York County, and I am sure many other counties in this Commonwealth.

We in Bucks County have attempted to get bi-partisanship and cooperation. We have been told quite bluntly that this state is being run by Democrats. So long as we have a Governor of one party, a Senate of another party, and a House, as Mr. McCann has described it, so equally divided that we need votes from both sides to do many things, I can understand Mr. McCann's plea for bi-partisanship and cooperation. I for one would like to be able to some day reciprocate, perhaps be bi-partisan and afford him the cooperation he asks. However, so long as I am at home four days out of the week and usually here three, so long as I have met with no cooperation and no bi-partisanship I am afraid that the Irish elequence of the Majority Leader will fall on these deaf ears.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I certainly want to clear a point very definitely. Bucks County has requested an additional judicial post. So have other counties. Those counties I believe need these judicial positions that they have requested. I know that in the past we have had many problems regarding such requests. But I believe before this Session ends we will try to find a decision regarding all of the requests for judicial positions that have been requested—Philadelphia County, Dauphin County, Bucks County, Allegheny County. I do not know whether or not I am correct in one or two other counties if there are requests for judicial legislation, but all of those must be considered.

I would like to say to you very sincerely that it is not our intention to engage in politics trying to find that solution, I think I have spoken enough here that you can firmly understand that each judicial post must have the necessary money, I think no one can deny that the appointments would first be made and an election would follow if it fell in that category and the will of the people be carried out as to who would serve in any of those new judicial posts after they were once created.

I hope we can solve your problem, and even if for some reason we could not solve your problem it is not because we did it politically. I still will ask you to consider your position and help me with those votes that I need.

FORMER MEMBER WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair has been informed of the presence in the House of a former Member and a very dear personal friend of the Chair. I think he had 18 or 20 years of service in this House, and I never knew him to take a position that was influenced by any personal concern. My friend is Edward Kline of Lehigh County, and I am glad to welcome him to the floor of this House. He belongs to the Chair's generation and is a grand old man.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lamb.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LAMB. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was originally before the House it applied to every community in the Commonwealth, did it not?

Mr. LAMB. It did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. It has now been amended to cover only the county of Allegheny, a second-class county, is that correct, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LAMB. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Now, Mr. Speaker, is it not true under this bill that if the individual, Mr. Jones, owns real estate and takes an appeal and thereafter sells the real estate he never can get his money back from the county of Allegheny?

Mr. LAMB. I do not think that is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I call the attention of the sponsor of this bill to the language at the bottom of page 4, and the language on the top of page 5 which reads as follows:

> Provided further that upon final disposition of the appeal the amount found due the appellant as a refund shall be a legal set-off or credit against and taxes assessed against any appellant by the same taxing body district.

Mr. Speaker, does not that show that the language clearly states the person only has a set-off against taxes assessed against the appellant.

Mr. LAMB. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say in answer to the gentleman's question that the amendment in no way changes the existing law.

If the gentleman says that that is the existing law, I might say that this amendment has nothing whatever to do with that, but I can also point out to the gentleman that inasmuch as this bill affects Allegheny County and the city of Pittsburgh, no resident of Allegheny County or the city of Pittsburgh need be alarmed by this provision if this means what he thinks it means. I might say that I have been assured where anyone takes an appeal from an assessment in Allegheny County, or in the city of Pittsburgh, once that appeal has been determined, if it is determined in favor of the appellant the amount is automatically paid forthwith from the treasury by the treasurer of the city or by the treasurer of Allegheny County. I understand that the bill provides alternatives, but in Allegheny County and the city of Pittsburgh only the first alternative is applied and that is an immediate payment of the amount due.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

The bill as I analyze it clearly prevents a person who has sold his property from getting a refund. If the Allegheny County tax authorities do that they do it without consent of the law.

This particular bill was debated at great length by the gentleman from Delaware County, Mr. Lippincott, and we feel that the citizens of Allegheny County should have the same privileges as the citizens of the rest of the state insofar as tax refunds are concerned, and insofar as getting interest is concerned. We should not be second class citizens just because we are classified as a second class county.

Mr. LAMB. Several weeks ago I was on the floor of this House and I attempted to explain the provisions of this bill. I only wish to add to what I said today by saying that because of some opposition to the bill it was amended to cover only Allegheny County and the city of Pittsburgh.

There was also some opposition to the fact that the bill as originally written did not provide for the payment of interest. That provision has now been deleted. I can assure this House that any resident of the city of Pittsburgh or of Allegheny County if they are successful in maintaining an appeal, will be paid the interest for the time their money has been withheld.

I would like to bring to the attention of this House a problem that exists in the city of Pittsburgh and in the couny of Allegheny which makes this bill absolutely unnecessary.

In the city of Pittsburgh the city council every year sets aside a certain amount. This year they have set aside $100,000 to cover any amount which may be due to any resident who takes an appeal. In discussing this matter with the City Treasurer I learned that in 1957 $300,000 was set aside under the provisions of this bill. This was absolutely unnecessary. The city of Pittsburgh is a $27 million corporation. There is no reason why they would not and could not honor any claim for taxes.

Under the provisions of this bill the treasurer has to keep two separate accounts—one account for an escrow fund as required by this bill, and second, as I say, an amount already set aside by city council to take care of any amount found due on an appeal. It is unnecessary bookkeeping. It creates unnecessary accounts, and for this reason, I would ask the House to support it. I feel that everyone should be certainly assured that the taxpayers of the city of Pittsburgh are very well protected.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. HEFFNER, BORIS, A. W. JOHNSON, McCANN and LOPRESTI offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 12, 1959.

Whereas, On Monday, May 11, 1959, the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia and Reading Corporation and General Dynamics Corporation at their annual meeting agreed to form a new jointly owned corporation to be known as Dynamics Reading Chemicals, Inc., and

Whereas, Dynamics Reading Chemicals, Inc. will engage in the business of producing hydrogen, ammonia, ammonium nitrate, urea and nitrogen solutions, methanol, calcium carbide, acetylene and vinyl chlorides primarily for bulk sales to chemical and allied industries, and

Whereas, The aforementioned gases and chemicals will be produced as a by-product of one of Pennsylvania's great natural resources, anthracite coal and its wastes, and

Whereas, The aforementioned great American corporations have spent considerable sums of money and will expend approximately $100,000,000 on plant construction and other capital expenditures in developing and producing the aforementioned products from anthracite coal and its wastes, and

Whereas, Upon completion of the new plant facilities to manufacture the aforementioned products, it is expected to give employment to approximately 1400 males in an area which has long been classified as "a distressed area with employment surpluses," and

Whereas, The new development of gases and chemicals from anthracite coal and its wastes will result in new sales sources and uses for anthracite coal and waste which most certainly will be a powerful impetus to the industrial revival of Pennsylvania's anthracite region and will give to its courageous, hard-working and wonderful people new hope and confidence in the region and the Commonwealth they love so well; therefore be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly commend and congratulate the President and the Boards of Directors of the Philadelphia and Reading Corporation and the General Dynamics Corporation for their combined wisdom, foresight and confidence they have shown in further developing one of Pennsylvania's greatest natural resources and for pledging their continual cooperation toward a healthy industrial climate for the Commonwealth; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend their personal appreciation to Howard A. Newman, President and the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia and Reading Corporation and Frank Pace, Jr., Chairman, and the Board of Directors of Central Dynamics Corporation for their own wisdom and foresight which they evidenced in developing a new use for anthracite coal and its wastes; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its most sincere gratitude to Philadelphia and Reading Corporation and General Dynamics Corporation for their momentous decision in being the first American corporation to engage in the development, production and manufacture of gases and chemicals from anthracite coal and its wastes and for being pioneers in the true American spirit and in further exploiting the natural resource of anthracite coal and creating a new American industry; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives wish a great deal of good luck and much success to the two corporations as they enter on the threshold of a new venture which involves a large capital investment but which will bring a new industry to the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Repreesntative pledge its most sincere cooperation to the companies for trying to help and keep the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania a healthy industrial climate for Pennsylvania industry and new industries desiring to locate in our State; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Commerce be urged to aid in the development of this new industry by extending to the corporations all its facilities and knowledge; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Howard A. Newman, President of Philadelphia and Reading Corporation; to Frank Pace, Jr., Chairman of General Dynamics Corporation and to George Clark, President of the Reading Anthracite Company.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mrs. PASHLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by her.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. PASHLEY, Mrs. MUNLEY, Mrs. REIBMAN, Mrs. HENZEL, Mrs. KERNAGHAN and Mrs. B. Z. MILLER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 12, 1959.

Colin P. Kelly, III, a war hero's son, who has had a Presidential appointment to West Point waiting for him since he was sixteen months old recently was congratulated by President Eisenhower for obtaining entry to the academy on his own.

The nineteen year old's father, Captain Colin P. Kelly, Jr. was killed three days after Pearl Harbor on a ship bombing mission in the B-17 he piloted. A week later President Roosevelt wrote a letter addressed to the "President of the United States in 1956" requesting him to consider Captain Kelly's son, whom President Roosevelt described as a "young American of goodly heritage" for appointment to the military academy. The letter was kept in the National Archives until 1956 when it was turned over to President Eisenhower. "Corky" as Colin P. Kelly, III is known to his classmates at Dickinson College, where he is spending a preparatory year prior to his entrance at the academy, made the President's intervention unnecessary by taking the competitive examination and winning his appointment to the academy on his own merit. In refusing to take the easy way to West Point, Colin has already distinguished himself.

The people of the Commonwealth have reason to be proud of this fine son of a heroic father upon the way he has demonstrated the spirit of achievement which is the backbone and strength of the democratic ideals for which his father so courageously fought. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extend their congratulations to young Colin P. Kelly, III, upon his appointment to the West Point Academy and further wish him the best of luck upon his entering upon what surely will be a splendid career of service to his country, and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Colin P. Kelley, III, at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, and a copy to his mother, Mrs. Marion W. Pedlow at her home in Media, Pennsylvania.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE AMENDMENT OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 655, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the act of December 27 1951 (P L 1742) entitled as amended "The Realty Transfer Tax Act" extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time and excluding certain documents from the tax.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 1 (Section 2), page 4, lines 12 to 17, by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this amendment would remove from the bill the amendment put in by the Senate, and would allow trade-in housing to be taxed, which is now an exemption under the present bill. I am informed by the Department of Revenue that this would cost the Commonwealth a loss of funds.

I do not have the exact figure, because it is a little difficult to ascertain. This is due to the fact that there are a number of Recorders in the different sixty-seven counties in Pennsylvania and, therefore, it is impossible to get an exact figure.

I have been advised by one of the Members of the Senate that the revenue this amendment would provide would be infinitesimal. I cannot debate that issue because I do not have the figures here. I do not want to give you figures unless I can absolutely give you the authentic figures.

It is for this reason, Mr. President, that we are asking for this amendment to be adopted. We feel that any loss of revenue should not be done in this manner, in a bill which is to provide tax money for the Commonwealth. We have had this type of legislation for a number of years and now, for the first time, we are exempting this trade-in housing. We feel this would cause a loss. Due to the financial straits of the Commonwealth, we feel this is the wrong thing to do at this time.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am informed that the amendment put in by the Senate would affect merely about one-fifth of one per cent of the transactions involved in this type of dealing. It would have the effect of stimulating the purchase of new homes by people who are unable to dispose of their old homes until they can raise enough money to buy a new home. This would help them to buy homes, and I think the loss of revenue would be nominal.

Consequently, Mr. President, I feel that I should object to the amendment.

And the question recurring.

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I am going to vote "aye" on this bill, but I draw this Body's attention to the fact that a realistic study of the fees paid, not only in this office, but in other offices, should be a project for the Joint State Government Commission.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. LANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, this bill, which I am about to introduce on behalf of Senator Ehrgood and myself, we feel will cover all of the objections which were voiced by various groups in regard to the point system.

We sincerly hope, too, that Senator Wade will be gracious enough to consider this legislation and, at least, report it out on the Calendar. Then, we can look over the other bill which is now on the Calendar, together with this one, and we might be able to arrive at some definite conclusion.

This highway safety program has more or less bogged down, and we would like to get something through the Senate and send it over to the House of Representatives.

Therefore, at Senator Wade's convenience, I will be available to work with him, at any time, to bring about better safety conditions upon our public highways.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. LANE and EHRGOOD read in place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 762, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32), entitled "The Vehicle Code," further providing for the revocation and suspension of operators' licenses and operating privileges on the basis of a point system.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WADE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I noted by the remarks made by the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, that he has introduced a new point system bill. I might say, for his information, that such a bill is currently on our Calendar, Senate Bill No. 351. It is the result of a study made by the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators and was prepared by the Institute of Government.

I think the process Senator Lane is taking is a rather roundabout way. I think his ideas, which may be laudable and all right, might well have been carried out by amendments to the bill which is currently on the Calendar. The process which Senator Lane follows is a very expensive one. The bill is not a small one and involves a considerable cost in printing.

I think we are all working for the same purpose. As Senator Lane said, we are all extremely interested in safety on our highways. However, certainly, the introduction of a new bill, rather than amendments to the bill which is now on our Calendar, is a long, roundabout process and is likely to lead to confusion rather than to solidifying our thinking and accomplishing our purpose.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Wade, in regard to your recent statement here, I am wondering whether you are saying, by inference, that you will probably consider the bill on the Calendar and, of course, give this bill, which was just introduced, a quiet death in the Committee on Highways. Is that true?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, my answer to the gentleman is that certainly we do not want to pass two point systems.

We all appreciate the laudable efforts of Senator Lane and the special committee appointed by the Governor. We all appreciate their efforts toward safety on the highways. However, Senator Lane is doing nothing except confusing the issue. The matter of the point system was discussed at length—I realize I am taking too long to answer the gentleman from Washington—four years ago and, again, two years ago. It is not a "Johnnie-come-lately" proposition with the Committee on Highways nor with the Chairman of the Committee on Highways.

Mr. LANE. I wish to thank the gentleman, Mr. President.

Mr. President, the longer Senator Wade talks, the more convinced I am that the only way we are going to pass a safety program here in Pennsylvania will be by a Wade Bill.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I say to the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, that that certainly is not correct.

I have no pride of ownership of this bill. The matter was studied four years ago. It was the subject of a public hearing four years ago. The then Secretary of Revenue, Mr. Gleason, pled at the hearing of the Highways Committee that if the point system were not enacted into law, they would adopt a point system and put it into effect and find out the results and the workings of a point system without having it enacted into law. Two years followed, and they thought there was not sufficient time in order to give it a good try. Currently, they are using a point system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and, I think, with pretty fair results.

For someone to just get a new idea, and to want to introduce bills when we already have a bill on the Calendar, is not the proper legislative process in my judgment. I think it only confuses the issue.

May I say again to Senator Lane that we appreciate his laudable efforts. We are all working toward the same purpose. However, after a two-year study by such a National organization as the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, certainly the benefit of their experience and wealth of information which they have gathered over the period should be of some value to us.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May the Chair draw to the attention of both gentleman that we are slightly out of order? This discussion certainly should be under Petitions and Remonstrances. We are now on the Calendar.

I first recognized Senator Lane for the purpose of introducing a bill, to which there was no objection. We have now gone far afield.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I agree; the Chair is entirely right. However, since this matter was brought up here today, we must more or less clarify things.

I hope that my last statement was wrong. I really mean that. However, Senator Wade has not seen fit to sit down with me and discuss this matter. I talked with him several times. I asked him whether we could get together this week.

I have no pride of authorship on this legislation. As a matter of fact, I would prefer to not even sponsor it, but I want to help in getting it through. Senator Wade, however, has not seen fit to give me any time at all. I think, in view of the importance of this program, he should, at least, hold a special meeting and call the Highways Committee together. We should all sit down and Senator Wade should let us have his ideas and we could exchange our ideas. I do not believes that is going to be the case.

We must introduce this legislation because I am quite convinced, Mr. President, that there is not going to be any legislation passed here on the point system unless it is specifically explained or unless it is brought out in detail. It is going to have to be that way. Under the provisions of this bill, it even provides that in certain unyielding, extenuating cases, a limited license may be given by the Secretary of Revenue. Of course, it will not be the Bureau of Highway Safety.

Therefore, Mr. President, I would prevail upon Senator Wade that if he really is sincere in his efforts—and I hope he is—let us get together immediately after the recess and try to work something out for the best interest of all the people of Pennsylvania who drive upon our public highways.

INTERROGATION

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I now desire to interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LANE. With the greatest of pleasure, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Senator Lane, do you recall a conversation we had within the past twenty-four hours regarding amendments to the bill which we have on the Calendar?

Mr. LANE. I recall that I walked over and talked with you, I believe, yesterday. In my conversation, I said: "Now, George, we have an amended bill which we must have rewritten. I am waiting for Senator Ehrgood to show up here and we are going to put the bill in." I said: "I would like you to give us some time." You said: "I cannot do it this week." I said: "When can you do it?" You said: "I do not know. I am tied up this week and have an appointment on Wednesday." I said: "How about Thursday?" You said: "I think I will be busy on Thursday." This has been going on and on and on. Is my statement correct?

Mr. WADE. That is correct.

Mr. President, I submit to you, and to Senator Lane, that I am interrogating him, rather than he interrogating me.

Mr. LANE. All right. However, let us get the facts on the record.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair wishes to draw to the attention of both gentlemen that any interrogation must be directed to the Chair and the answers must be directed to the Chair.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I call to the attention of the Chair that this bill is currently on our Calendar. It is Senate Bill No. 351, which we are discussing.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is it on the Calendar?

Mr. WADE. It is, Mr. President.

May I further interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Lane, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. LANE. I certainly will, Mr. President.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, may I ask Senator Lane, briefly, whether he has read the bill on our Calendar, as it was amended yesterday?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not have the amendments yet. I have read a portion of Senator Wade's other bill. I am waiting to get together this afternoon to go into detail on Senator Wade's bill, as amended.

Mr. WADE. Senator Lane, you referred a little while ago to the fact that you would like to have a conference immediately after today's Session. Are you aware of the announcement, made by the Secretary of the Senate, that we will hold a hearing on the Highway Budget at 10:30 o'clock? Certainly, that precludes any discussion between you and I today on this point system bill.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I submit that the gentleman from Washington, Senator Lane, has not answered my interrogation yet.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, it is perfectly obvious, of course. I have to attend the hearing today on the Highway Budget, also. However, I would like to interrogate Senator Wade now.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am still interrogating the gentleman from Washington, under his permission. However, I will conclude that interrogation now by asking for permission to make a short statement.

Mr. LANE. Just a moment, Mr. President. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, before he starts making long speeches.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair has no recourse except to remind both gentlemen that they are out of order. This discussion should not be taking place at the present time. We certainly want to display all the latitude we can to both of you.

Senator Lane, you permitted yourself to be interrogated by Senator Wade. That interrogation is now concluded. It is now Senator Lane's desire to interrogate Senator Wade.

Will the gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WADE. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Could you tell me, and the Members of this Senate, when you will be available for a conference with this Special Committee on Highway Safety?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I am delighted to tell the gentleman that I will be available any time after Saturday noon until Sunday evening of this coming week end.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I believe unanimous consent for this debate was granted. I wish to make objection to the debate continuing and, therefore, remove the unanimous consent.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, very briefly, I apologize to the Chair for taking part in this debate. I think it is very pertinent to the legislation on our calendar, however. On behalf of Senator Lane and myself, who are both rather new Members of the Senate, I will conclude the debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair recognized the gentleman from York, Mr. Seyler, who raised a point of order. The point of order is well taken. The interrogation and the debate are out of order.

Senator Lane asked for permission to address the Senate when he presented a bill and permission was granted. Senator Seyler's point of order is well taken. I would suggest to both gentlemen, Senator Wade and Senator Lane, who are not new Members but are two of the best versed gentlemen on the rules of the Senate in the Senate, that if you wish to continue, please do so under Petitions and Remonstrances. Or, I would suggest that you please wait until Senate Bill No. 351 is under discussion.

At this time, the Chair relinquishes the gavel to the President, Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis, for the purpose of signing bills.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the Chair.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

House Bill No. 313, Printer's No. 538; and
House Bill No. 1332, Printer's No. 470.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Robert D. Fleming) in the Chair.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I assume that the Chair has ruled on the point of order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Seyler raised a point of order that the discussion was out of order. Am I correct on that, Senator Seyler?

Mr. SEYLER. It was my understanding, Mr. President, that debate on both sides was being tolerated under unanimous consent. I rose to say that I objected to its continuation and that, as I understood it, removed the unanimous consent. Therefore, the debate would be out of order.

If I am wrong, the Chair will so instruct me.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, following this request, I have no objection to the Chair again continuing his consideration of the point of order. However, I would like the indulgence of the Senators, and the Chair, to at this time call up a bill for amendment so that I can attend a meeting of the General State Authority. Would that be agreeable?

Mr. LANE. Far be it for me, Mr. President, to interfere with the progress of government. I will yield temporarily, but I am curious about the Chair's decision on the point of order. I do not think it is in order, myself.

SENATE BILL No. 644 CALLED UP

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I now call up, from page 1 of today's Final Passage Calendar, Senate Bill No. 644, Printer's No. 698.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the gentleman will proceed.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 644

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now consider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 644, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing representation on the board of directors of union and merged school districts.

passed third reading on May 12, 1959.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WHALLEY. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator Fleming, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 312), page 2, line 10, by inserting after the word "and" where it appears the first time in said line: "by and"

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BARR read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 763, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," increasing the salaries of the members of the Pennsylvania Securities Commission.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not want to carry this issue through this afternoon. However, I do want to clarify one thing.

When I was given unanimous consent to make a short statement and we got into interrogations, I do not agree that there is any point of order which will apply to the withdrawal of that unanimous consent, because it was already given. Therefore, if that would be the case, when we receive unanimous consent, at the whim of any Member they could take the floor and say, "I withdraw unanimous consent," and that would put us all out of order.

I do not think it is proper. What is the opinion of the Chair on this?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I would say that if you had kept, Senator Lane, to a statement on the bill that you were presenting, anything that you might have said in connection with the presentation of that bill would have been in order. However, you then, if I may, veered off into an interrogation of Senator Wade, which the Chair did not feel was a proper part of making a statement concerning the bill you were introducing.

I believe Senator Seyler then raised the point of order that we had gone afield. I think that was his intention. I am not putting words into his mouth. However, I ruled that you had gone beyond the point of a statement.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I wish to inform you that I might have been interrogating Senator Wade and he might have been interrogating me. We were still on the same subject, the bill on highway safety. We were talking about a particular piece of legislation, the legislation which Senator Ehrgood and I sponsored. Therefore, in my opinion, it was germane to the subject.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I wish to make it clear that unanimous consent, in my opinion, was given for a statement by Senator Lane. Then, subsequently, a request was made by Senator Wade to interrogate Senator Lane, and at that point no request was made for unanimous consent. I am not criticizing the Chair, because I think this is a customary procedure in the usual tolerance which is allowed for free discussion.

However, my point is that at that point, it seems to me, it would have been proper to ask for unanimous consent for an interrogation. On that point, I rose. My objection is to the continuation of the discussion in the form of an interrogation by Senator Wade. I did not object to the original statement by Senator Lane, and I wish to make it clear that I had no objection to Senator Wade making a statement. I understood he completed the statement, and it was at that point that I wished to make an objection to the continuation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this discussion. However, I want to reiterate that this was an argument between Senator Wade and myself. It was on highway safety and we had unanimous consent. Senator Wade interrogated me and I interrogated him. You said we were out of order several times on our interrogations, but I still do not believe you can withdraw unanimous consent once we have it on the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I would state for the benefit of the gentleman that it is not the desire of the Chair to prolong this. However, any Senator would be out of order in discussing a bill which is on the Calendar and which was not under discussion in the proper order of business of the Senate.

The Chair would so have to rule at all times. The Chair has tried to be tolerant, and tried to give wide latitude to any Senator, on either side, who wants to speak at any time. Many times I have felt that we should keep our speeches for that particular order of business of Petitions and Remonstrances when we can take hours for it, if we care to do so.

STUDENTS FROM COLLEGE AREA SCHOOLS PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I have the honor to present a part of the Penn State Class of 1966. They happen to be members, at the present time, of the ninth grade of the Junior High School of the College Area Schools. There are about sixty-five students present under the leadership of their teacher, Mr. Krause, with Mrs. DeLacey and Mrs. Rigley as chaperones. The committee, which arranged this trip, consisted of Stan Parkin, Cathy Rigley and Leonard Rockey.

You might explain, Mr. President, that there are more Senators at work than you and I, and Senator Berger and Senator Barr.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair, on behalf of the Senate of Pennsylvania, is certainly very happy to welcome the visitors from the State College Area Schools, who are prospective members of the Class of 1966 at Penn State University. May I, on behalf of Senator Barr and myself, suggest to you that you look over the very, very great possibilities at the University of Pittsburgh before you matriculate, and possibly some of you will come down there.

I do want to explain to you, if I may, that the Senate started very early this morning. We have not much more in the way of work to do today. We had a full complement of Senators here. Most of them have now started for their homes. We hope that you will enjoy your visit here.

We usually ask the Senators to welcome the student groups, and I am sure that the four of us who are here will be very happy to welcome you.

BIRTHDAY FELICITATIONS EXTENDED TO MAJORITY WHIP

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like this to appear on the record.

I wish to call to the attention of the Senate, and have the record show, that we commemorated this day, the birthday of the Majority Whip, the Honorable Albert R. Pechan, and that appropriate remarks were made commending him on having reached the advanced age which he has attained without mishap and probably under Divine Guidance.

O Thou great God of love and righteousness, Thou who hast ordained governments and called men to serve Thee in that capacity, we look to Thee this day praying that Thou wilt bless this solemn assembly. Endow them with the competency of Thy divine grace that they may know and see their dependency upon Thee. Quicken their hearts and minds to call upon Thee for the help and strength which Thou hast to give. Enlighten their spirits that they may see in Thy divine guidance the way of truth. And inspire them with the superiority of Thy way that they may follow therein; with the definite understanding that by following they are not alone, but are walking with Thee toward the fulfillment of Thy truth for the greatest good of all. In the name and for the sake of Jesus Christ Thy dear Son, our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. DENNISON and VARNER.
RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, May 12, 1959.

From beautiful Jefferson County, with its forests of laurel and pine, comes Roto's Sunday Supplement Campus Cover Girl for 1959.

She is Lucy Park, 19-year old sophomore of Clarion State Teachers' College in Clarion, sixth winner of the annual honor sought by thirty universities and colleges of the Tri-State district. She is the youngest daughter of Ralph and Martha Park who reside in Stanton, a small village near Brookville.

Lucy was selected to represent Clarion State Teachers' College in the contest by winning an election over three other candidates. The first candidates were first selected by class, with freshmen, sopohomores, juniors and seniors each voting for the girl of their choice. Then the entire student body voted on the one most eligible of the four to represent the college. Lucy won this election, then went on to be named the top choice of Roto's judges in the Sherwin Hotel in Pittsburgh.

On campus, Lucy is known for her ambition. She is packing a four-year course as an English major into three years. She does this by sacrificing summer vacations to attend school and she hopes to be graduated when she is twenty. At that age, the Clarion girl will be one of the yongest teachers of high school English; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives send its hearty congratulations to Miss Lucy Park, the sixth annual winner of Roto's Campus Cover Girl contest; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Miss Lucy Park, Clarion State Teachers' College, Clarion, Pennsylvania.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 655.

An Act reenacting and amending the act of December 27, 1951 (P. L. 1742), entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue by imposing a State tax relating to certain documents and transactions prescribing and regulating the method and manner of evidencing the payment of such tax conferring powers and imposing duties upon certain persons partnerships associations and corporations sheriffs recorders of deeds and the Department of Revenue saving certain State and local taxes and authorizing amendments extensions and supplements to the ordinances and resolutions relating thereto and providing penalties" extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time and excluding certain documents from the tax.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, Page 2, line 1, by striking out the words "imposing the tax permanently" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time and excluding certain documents from the tax"; Section 1, Page 4, Line 12, by inserting the words "or transfers of previously occupied residential premises to a builder of new residential premises when such previously occupied residential premises have been taken in trade by such builder as part of the consideration from the purchaser of new residential premises"; Section 3, Page 12, Line 19, by striking out the words "fifty-nine" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "sixty-one."

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of House Bill No. 655.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House nonconcur in the amendments made by the Senate.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McCann. Mr. Speaker, the amendments placed in House Bill 655, Printer's No. 531 by the Senate, deal with the section of the bill on the Realty Transfer Tax in which builders of new residential properties have some feature of trade-in.

The reason we are asking for a nonconcurrence today is that House Bill 655, a revenue-raising measure as passed by the House, had a stipulated amount of estimated revenue that this bill would produce in the 1959-1961 biennium period. It is our belief that a conference must be held in which the revenues must carefully be estimated. If these Senate amendments that are inserted in the bill were to become law, will they reduce the amount of revenue as estimated, and if they reduce such revenue, how much will they reduce the estimated revenue for the next two year period?

Therefore, we believe that the proper agencies and proper people who have been working on tax revenues and estimates should present to us their estimate as to these amendments, and the amount that these amendments may change in the estimated revenue. For that reason we request non-concurrence in these amendments so that we may come to the position of a conference committee on House Bill 655, Printer's No. 531.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

HOUSE BILL No. 40 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 40, Printer's No. 529, on page 22 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 40.

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Military Affairs for certain expenses in connection with the Korean Conflict Veterans Compensation Act.

With the information that the Senate had passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Amendmnts.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 1, by striking out after the word "of" the following: "two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000) five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000)" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "two hundred thousand dollars ($200,000)"; line 6, by inserting after the word "General" the words "and the State Treasurer"; line 9, by inserting after the figures "(P. L. 569)" the following: "1957 (P. L. 569) the amount that shall be necessarily expended from said appropriation for the purposes stated shall be repaid from the Korean Conflict Veterans' Compensation Fund into the General Fund from the receipts of the sale of said bonds."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 40, Printer's No. 529, the Korean bond bill, the appropriation for the handling of the Korean Veterans' Compensation or bonus, when this bill passed the House we had appropriated the sum of $500,000 and stated that this was the amount that we were appropriating to be paid to the Department of Military Affairs for the purpose of paying the salaries and other necessary expenses incurred by the Adjutant General in handling the Korean Veterans' Compensation.

The amendments placed in this bill by the Senate reduce this amount from $500,000 to $200,000 and stipulates, of course, that the amount shall be returned to the General Fund when the Korean bonds are placed on the market and sold. We believe that this should be concurred in, and we have been waiting patiently for this particular bill so that the Department of Military Affairs could proceed with all haste in completing the necessary action required by that Department to institute the proceedings that are necessary to handle the Korean Veterans' Compensation.

Therefore, it is our intention that we ask the House to concur in these amendments here today as placed in House Bill No. 40, Printer's No. 529, by the Senate.

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday this House passed House Bill 1491 which has as its intent the use of coal for the making of roads. I want to take this opportunity today to congratulate the House for the speed with which it passed 1491.

As most of you know, about four years ago the Curtis-Wright Corporation came to Pennsylvania and it was through the action of the Legislature that a site was located in the mountain areas for a vast industrial enterprise. That enterprise is now employing hundreds of people and has brought a great measure of economic prosperity to the central Pennsylvania section.

However, it was agreed at that time that part of its effort through its research department would be devoted to coal and alternate usages for coal which would help alleviate the job depression in our bituminous areas and also our anthracite areas. That is now beginning to bear fruit and the bill that we passed yesterday will help the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to utilize coal at the rate of 2200 tons per mile in the building of highways. It will also mean that our regular industries engaged in supplying highway material will not be harmed because the new process will utilize the very industries that have been built up in making road building materials.

I want to say that I believe that 1491 will help open a great new economic horizon which will benefit all the citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, and again I want to thank the Members of this House for unanimously passing yesterday the new coal act, 1491.

REVENUE BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE AND THIRD READING

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, all revenue bills on final passage and third reading will be passed over.

The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the statement has been asked on the floor of the House whether or not the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations intends to call in the fourth class school districts.

I have answered that I had not considered that, but there seems to be some criticism. Some statements have been made about our not calling in the fourth class school districts.

At this time I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. POLEN. Mr Speaker, I would like to ask the Minority Leader, Mr. Johnson, if to his knowledge the fourth class school districts, or any class of school districts, have ever been called before the House Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, during my career here the only school districts that I know that have been called in have been distressed school districts that have come before our committee.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, if he thinks we should call in the fourth class school districts.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I have this to say, with respect to what you are trying to accomplish, I think it is fine that you are having this meeting tonight. Unfortunately I have another engagement that I could not seem to break. I wanted to be there. We will have, of course, educators on our side of the House who will be present.

The speech that I made when we discussed the entire education problem the other day contemplated that we would study the various phases that were mentioned in my remarks. I realize that tonight you are going to hear from the Department, what they have to say about it. I think it would be well to call in a few people from some of these school districts, fourth class districts, and get a first hand opinion and a first hand story of just what their problems are. I am sure that some of the school masters from my county, from one or two of the districts affected, would be glad to come down here and give the Committee the problem that they face.

I cannot say we ever did call them in except when they were distressed school districts, and when we studied the reason for their being distressed, a few sessions ago. I think it would be very smart and commendable to get a few of those school men in here and find out just what the situation is back home.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, there are 1,968 fourth class school districts in Pennsylvania. I do not know how I would pick out some of them to call in, but I am going to ask the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, if he would approve of our asking the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association who represent over 95 percent of the fourth class school districts in Pennsylvania, if he would approve of our calling in the State School Directors Association.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, what I think might be a little better. I think that their representatives should be present and I believe you might suggest to them to bring in a few representative school men to be heard. McKean County is a northern tier county and we could have one or two from there, maybe get one from Greene County, Mr. McCann's county. You would not need over three or four or five, I would say. You would get the whole story, I am sure, from about that many because the problem is common to all.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he thinks the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee has any power or authority to require any of the fourth class school districts to come to Harrisburg.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Oh, no, Mr. Speaker, I am not saying that. It would be entirely on a goodwill basis as far as these gentlemen are concerned. I am sure that a number of them would be delighted to come down here to tell their story.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, a number of the fourth class school districts and other school districts have been to see the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee and we have discussed their problems.

The gentleman mentioned McKean County and we have had considerable correspondence from McKean County, but I recall the gentleman's statement on April 27th when he said that over the weekend I am sure that all of you were meeting your constituents. They do not want any new taxes, they want us to hold the line on spending.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if his constituents in McKean County have told him that they would like to hold the line on spending?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, that is true. Back in the hinterlands the average person that you meet wants us to hold the line on spending and hold the line on taxes. I know the average legislator here cannot walk down the street in these three days that he is home, without being buttonholed on every corner, and if they will be truthful to you they will all give you the same answer. The people back home have not been cushioned for the shock that is about to be given to them.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he has discussed the matter with any of the hospitals in McKean County, as to whether they want to hold the line on spending?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well now, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's line of questioning reminds me of the letter sent out by Mr. Batt. You are now pulling at the heart-strings of the people around the hospitals. Of course, the average hospital administrator wants more money, that goes without saying. Everybody who is the object of our bounty down here wants the money and they say, you worry about raising the taxes. That is true. Sure, you walk into any hospital, walk into any mental institution, or walk into the teaching of mentally retarded children, they want expanded programs, that is correct.

Mr. POLEN. Well, Mr. Speaker, if the people of McKean County or other counties want to hold the line on spending, I do not see how they can take that position when they make the request they do.

I do not know whether the gentleman is familiar with what the hospitals in McKean County are asking for. But one of these hospitals is asking for an increase of 233 percent in their appropriation. Another one of the hospitals in McKean County is asking for 217 percent increase in their appropriation. Another is asking for 73 percent, the largest hospital is only asking for 15 percent.

I thank the gentleman for the interrogation.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I have not thoroughly answered the question about calling in fourth class school districts, if you do not mind, Mr. Speaker. We digressed a little on extraneous matter.

Here is what should be done. Everyone of the folks on this side has been called in by our school districts and have been given their story. They would like to tell their story. I cannot see anything wrong in some day, when we get back here, calling a public hearing down in the new House Caucus Room, and let your Committee sit, and let it be known statewide that you are willing to hear fourth class school districts. In a few hours time you can hear a lot of people and get a lot of valuable information. I think it would be that simple. They would come down here at their own expense, and I think it would be good for Pennsylvania, good for our educational system and good for this House if you did that very thing. It would be simple to do it. You would not have to send out letters, just announce it in the Press that on such-and-such an afternoon we are going to hold a public hearing to hear what the fourth class school districts have to say. You would have to limit them as to time, and hear as many of them as you could. I think that is probably the best way for you to do it.

To repeat, I think your meeting tonight is a good idea, I think a lot of good will come out of that, but I think you should also hear from the folks back home.

Mr. POLEN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, and I assure him that the matter being brought to my attention will be given due consideration.

For the information of the House I would like to make this further statement. The amount budgeted for the state-aided hospitals of Pennsylvania is $28.5 million, not all of the hospital requests are in, through the Members or through the hospitals, but the requests that we have reecived up to date total $52,490,386.38. In other words, they are asking for $23,990,386.38 in excess of the amount that is contained in the budget.

I am not going to take up any more time, but I am going to say that if we are going to meet the needs of the people, and I certainly think that the hospital needs are certainly something that is needed in every county, and the educational needs, which from all of these letters I have received from the fourth class school districts, they are asking for legislation that will cost $197 million estimated for this next biennium. I think if we are going to do those things, we are going to have to think a little about taxes to pay the bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in connection with the public hearing on fourth-class school districts I have attended many public hearings in the course of my tenure here in this House. Announcements are made in the paper that a public hearing is going to be held on a certain date. I cannot see any reason why we should sit here in this House and shut off the voice of the people if they want to be heard. I say to you that we should announce a public hearing for the fourth class school districts, let those who want to voluntarily come in to be heard come, sit down and discuss this problem with them for once directly face to face across the board. When we are heading into a crisis such as we are heading into on our school program I think they are entitled to be heard.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I have not had one single request from any fourth class district to be heard. If I had received any such requests we certainly should have given consideration to them and would have had the hearing. I am perfectly willing to have a hearing if we feel it is necessary.

I believe that the point at issue is that they require new legislation for what they want to do and I doubt that not having the bills in our committee—Appropriations—whether we should consider those matters, but I will say I will take the matter under advisement and discuss the matter with the State School Directors Association, and also contact a number of the boards that have written me in connection with their problems and if a public hearing is desired we certainly will have one.

INTERROGATION

Mr. GOLDSTEIN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. Polen.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, I received numerous requests from school teachers asking me the status of the School Employes' Retirement Fund. I believe that by diverse bills we transferred $26 million odd from this fund to the general fund. Can Mr. Polen tell me whether or not this $26 million can be picked up in the next biennial budget and in what mannere?

Mr. POLEN. It will, Mr. Speaker. It will be picked up in the appropriation bill—the general appropriation bill.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Will that be in addition to the appropriation as set forth by the Governor some weeks ago?

Mr. POLEN. It will, Mr. Speaker, and also on top of that will be the deficiencies for this biennium.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I was also asked to inquire into this matter. Apparently there are $22 million odd in addition which has not been paid into the Retirement Fund. Is that figure correct, Mr. Polen?

Mr. POLEN. No, I believe the correct figure is $60 million.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. In other words, approximately $60 million was appropriated for the biennium 1957-59 for the purpose of depositing this into the teachers' retirement fund and none of this money actually has ever been deposited in that fund. Is that correct?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe I was in error in my statement, the total for the retirement funds would by $60 million and that includes both the state employes retirement fund and the public school employes retirement fund.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. To clarify the situation the figures given to me by certain people familiar with the school teachers' retirement fund indicate that $48 million was the amount to be placed in this fund. Is it correct that not a cent of this money was ever deposited in the fund?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to say that I certainly like the idea of hearing the fourth class school districts. They are by far the greatest in number in the Commonwealth. Of course we have problems in other class school districts.

I have many third class school districts that are faced with some serious problems in financing their public education system that they are responsible for in their school districts.

Then, of course, we do have the problem of our major cities' school districts financial problems, namely, the city of Philadelphia school district and the city of Pittsburgh school district which we must face in this session and try to find the financial solution in enabling legislation that they may seek, as well as the money they are asking from the Commonwealth for their educational system in their respective cities.

This in conjunction with all the others must be taken into consideration and we must try to do what we think is best for all of our school districts in Pennsylvania, when we take into consideration this picture.

I believe that you feel as we do that this is a serious problem, a serious financial problem that we must face such issues for districts that are now third class and fourth class districts, or rather fourth merging into third, or going into union districts and going into second, where they do not have transportation reimbursement but they have the transportation problem that exists there now. This in turn is holding back the proper merger of these school districts. To do this we certainly must give them the right to receive state money that it takes to operate the transportation system, and that I personally believe we should give to them, that which they already have in their individual districts when they go into a second class district.

These in addition to many other problems are legislative problems which in turn must be handled by the Appropriations Committee in the amount of money that we would then allocate to do this particular job.

I ame pleased that beginning tonight we will start and really question seriously many items at the hearing beginning at 8 o'clock, on many points that have been discussed in the hall of this House just a few days ago. I hope that everything that we discussed will enlighten us as to the decisions we should make in this field of education.

I for one believe very strongly as I am sure you do that we must do everything we can for public education in Pennsylvania, to find the revenue, to enact the necessary legislation, to assist the school districts to perhaps change the reimbursement formula to those who need the aid, and of course that does not only apply to fourth class districts.

There are certainly cases in the third class districts. There is legislation on the calendar here now which will give to fourth class districts taxing rights that do not exist in other types of districts. I believe we should give them all the help we can give them in every piece of lgislation that we can agree will help our school directors responsible for public education in their school districts, whether it is second class, third class, or fourth class school districts of Pennsylvania.

When we come back here following this short recess next week, we will return here on Monday, May 25, and I hope that we will start to work to find the solutions to many of these problems, sit down and discuss the needs for which we think we can possibly make the commitments, and abide by those decisions to raise the necessary revenue to guarantee to our school districts, to our hospitals and to those programs that we honestly believe we—the Pennsylvania economy can stand for in the 1959-61 biennial period.

Public hearings should be held. We have held two or three now on various important subjects. I think there should be other important pieces of legislation which should have the necessary public hearings, and then either amend, change, repeal, or enact new legislation that is needed, that we believe we can agree will help make each of these a little better. If we could possibly do it we could do it all at one time, but I know that this problem can not be solved as easily as we would like to solve it.

With that, I hope, Mr. Speaker, those of us who will now go home for a period of 11 days, I believe, will enjoy the much needed rest and the rest of us on the various staffs and offices both Republican and Democrat in the House, we will continue to work following the Primary, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday. Even though there will be no sessions of the House scheduled we will move into a position where we hope we can accomplish some of these items in June, and I hope that we certainly can agree on those major decisions.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, the discussion that we have had today and that we have had this week points up one very vital thing. We want to get some information here on where we are going.

When we were in power we always said that nothing was ever accomplished by a recess. People pack up and go home. Committee Chairmen lock up their desks. We get back here and try to pick up the loose ends where we left off.

Now here is what the Majority should do during these eleven days. It should take the House and Senate Histories, go over each bill that is in the hopper, make up your program on education. Let us see that. What are you going to do about unemployment compensation? You just borrowed $96 million from the federal government. Where is this program that you promised? Give us a list of the bills for that program.

We have had many reports on higher education. We have a scholarship loan program and we have various things in that which will not cost money. Let us have a list of that and let us see what we are going to do as far as that situation is concerned.

How about the field of highway safety? What is that highway safety program? What bills are they? Let us get them out on the calendar. We have a prodigious amount of work in order to get through this session. You know it will take us two or three weeks to debate the general appropriation bill when it hits the calendar. That was true in 1957.

But unless you people get down to work, these eleven days, and decide where you are going, get your program out here, this session is going to go on interminably. So with that admonition, as we leave to go home, you folks stay here who are in charge of the Committees and your program, meet with the Governor and give us something tangible that we can put our teeth in.

Our caucus is amazed at the stuff that has been on this calendar. I grant you there has been some pretty good stuff, but, by and large, it hardly merits the time of the House. We want a program here so that we can get this session over with and get about our other business.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, one thing has been proven to us without a bit of doubt, that no matter what we plan and send out to our Members regarding any schedule, the Minority, of course, has access to everything that we discuss.

In case you are interested, Wednesday following the Primary, Wednesday afternoon, Wednesday night, Thursday morning, Thursday afternoon, Thursday night, Friday morning, Friday afternoon, already the schedule has been announced to the respective Chairmen. They have it in their possession in writing. They will be here. They will be working here. The programs will be here. The timings will be set up as to each of those programs. I believe it would be well to say, Mr. Johnson, perhaps you got a copy, too, I do not know. I know I did not send you any.

I am sure you must have been looking into that crystal ball that you have that leads downstairs to our offices, which would have enabled you to know, because it was dictated and completed, and such letters are in the possession of all the Chairmen, the time schedule, the dates, the programs that we intend to discuss, and the schedule that we intend to set up here following this recess.

It is not a recess in respect to no work being done. The plans have been formulated. It is in writing. And we will have an opportunity to talk about that highway safety program. You know as well as I do why it was held up. House Bill 500 is now law. The first of the Motor Vehicle Code changes have come from that Committee under the new law, which changed it from a 1929 law to the 1959 law. The highway safety program will be here, which may be in its entirety or some of the bills maybe which the Committees will not approve. I cannot say. They have a series of bills on highway safety. They will all be considered.

The unemployment package will certainly be a part of that.

Education and higher education. The bills that have come out of that Committee will be on the calendar dealing with the fire-safety problem, the fire regulations; the amount of appropriations to the Department of Public Instruction for distressed school districts, I believe, the figure is $800,000, to find a way so that they would be able to receive some money when they have to make some of these changes.

Yes, Mr. Speaker, we would like to say to the gentleman that somehow that man who looks across to us, has somehow been able to gaze into this crystal ball and know every single thing we have been doing. Well, we would like to say that we do not give a darn about whether you do or do not because we want you to know.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. IRVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until Monday, May 25, 1959 at 3:30 p.m. EST.

GENERAL COMMUNICATION

STATE OF WISCONSIN

A JOINT RESOLUTION

The PRESIDENT laid before the Senate the following communication, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

STATE OF WISCONSIN

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Memorializing Congress to reduce age requirements for eligibility for old-age and survivors insurance.

Whereas, there is a serious shortage of jobs across the nation; and

Whereas, automation or the use of modernized machinery has enabled industry to boost production while the job market sags further; and

Whereas, unemployment in Wisconsin is still widespread; and

Whereas, people over 60 years of age with no special skills find it almost impossible to obtain jobs; and

Whereas, the employment outlook for young people is considerably dimmed because older workers with seniority rights are continued at arduous tasks which tax their strength and vitality in order to meet requirements under present retirement plans; now, therefore, be it

Rsolved by the assembly, the senate concurring, That the legislature urge the Congress of the United States to re-evaluate the age requirements for eligibility for old-age and survivors insurance in an effort to provide social security for unemployed older workers at an earlier age; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the Honorable Dwight D. Eisenhower, to each member of the House of Representatives from Wisconsin, to Senators Proxmire and Wiley and to the Governor and legislative body of each state.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, in the Fifth Senatorial District, which I have the honor to represent in the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, lies Temple University, the university built on acres of diamonds.

Temple University is now launching a new graduate school, to be known as the Graduate School for Leadership. This is one great event. Secondly, President Johnson has been elevated to the position of Chancellor of Temple University. Thirdly and finally, the prominent, well-known educator, hailing from York County, President-Provost Millard E. Gladfelter was elevated to the position of fourth President of Temple University.

In connection with these events, I am offering this resolution, Mr. President.

SENATE RESOLUTION

BEST WISHES OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO CHANCELLOR-ELECT DOCTOR ROBERT L. JOHNSON AND PRESIDENT-ELECT DOCTOR MILLARD E. GLADFELTER OF TEMPLE UNIVERSITY

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 25, 1959.

"Per Aspera ad Astra!"—"Through pangs and tribulations of Growth to the Stars!" This Roman adage adequately depicts and epitomizes the fascinating rise, phenomenal expansion and dedicated leadership of Temple University, one of America's towering colossi of higher education, reared on "Acres of Diamonds" and faithfully implementing and adhering to the Conwellian concepts of a "Poor Man's University."

Despite its limited and antiquated building facilities, bordering on adversity, Temple practiced and still practices a Conwellian dictum that, "Greatnes really consists of doing some great deed with little means." Thus, for many years, it utilized a compound of small buildings along Broad Street (for which it became known as a "University of the Sidewalks") and only recently it initiated a building program that will eventually create a campus commensurate with the greatness and constant expansion of Temple University.

From its earliest days, Temple has kept itself alive and growing through masterful improvisation. It got its start, in embryo, late in the nineteenth century, from the determination of Dr. Russel H. Conwell, the pastor of a church in North Philadelphia, to see that higher education —then mostly a privilege of the well-to-do—was made available to any young person of good character and intelligence who was willing to work for it.

From Beaver County in the west to Wayne in the east, from Warren County in the north to York County in the South, all Pennsylvania citizenry hails Temple University for its massive contributions to the scientific and cultural progress of Pennsylvania, and yet steadfastly keeping, in the face of a hydra-like inflation, its tuition fees at tenable minima and thus within the reach of the sons and daughters of families with moderate or limited means.

Temperamentally, Temple's great President, Robert Livingston Johnson, and Temple University have many affinities. With his anchorage in the loftiest ideals of Americanism, with his impeccable adherence to egalitarian principles of true Democracy as the mainspring of his philosophy of leadership, President Johnson admirably succeeded in forging new and inspiring links in the golden chain of Temple creativeness, true to the spirit and teachings of Temple's immortal founder, Dr. Russell A. Conwell.

It was the vision, dedication and the adroit leadership of Dr. Robert Livingston Johnson that led Temple University since 1941 from one pinnacle of attainment to another, each time setting new heights to scale, and then successfully reaching them.

As President Johnson was being honored and felicitated on March 23, 1959, at a birthday celebration dinner on the occasion of his 65th birthday, he was acclaimed as the President of Temple University and First Chancellor-Elect thereof. It was on this occasion that President Johnson made a keynote announcement of epoch-making magnitude, the launching of Temple's "Education for Leadership" program, "to develop the minds of young people for uncommon achievement."

Citing a continual struggle for superiority, President Johnson said, inter alia:

"Each generation has its own role to play in the quest for national security. A free society must continually re-win, re-establish and redeserve its freedom.

"Science and mathematics, rockets and missiles, will not save us. We are dealing with inner man as well as outer space. If I have learned anything in my career, it is that there is nothing more important in our democracy than an adequate supply of leadership talent.

"Warning that threats from outside our country as well as internal divisiveness constitute important problems today," he added:

"Americans cannot stand against each other in organized camps, behind the ramparts of misunderstanding and doubt . . . we should educate our young people with this in mind."

This momentous announcement was met with an accolade of approval and support from leaders in industry, commerce and education. Of the various statements hailing President Johnson's leadership and plans for the future of Temple University, the statement of Henry R. Luce, publisher of Life and Time magazines, contains a masterful summation of America's reaction to Dr. Johnson's announcement:

"Experience and observation have led you to question, as I do, the 'over-specialization' by which too many graduate schools require commitments, too early and too specific, as to what a man will be. Not only does this drive men into specialties they may later abandon, but also it produces the 'lop-sided man' who may know everything about reverse particles and anti-matter matter, but next to nothing about the 'Song of Beowulf,' Xenophon's 'Anabasis,' or even the Battle of Ticonderoga. Specialities themselves grow so complex that Robert Oppenheimer observed that where mathematics and physics used to be like adjoining fingers on the same hand, they are no longer even on the same hand. Before plunging a student into such isolation from other knowledge, should we seek to give him a more rounded education to produce a more rounded man?

"Surely the proper business of getting an education is to grow up. The proper business of growing up is to become an adult, to reach maturity, to gain a philosophy to guide one's life, to find a lasting purpose toward which to direct it."

As Dr. Robert Livingston Johnson is about to assume his new duties as the First Chancellor of Temple University and Dr. Millard E. Gladfelter, a noted Pennsylvania educator and leader par-excellence (now Provost of Temple University), is about to assume his duties as the fourth President of Temple University, this great Seat of Learning with so experienced and dedicated leaders at its helm is about to write another glorious chapter of service to the entire Nation generally and to the State of Pennsylvania, in particular, on the threshold of a Golden Era of further phenomenal growth and expansion.

Now Be it Therefore Resolved, That the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania in the name of the people of Pennsylvania extends its congratulations to Temple University upon the felicitous choice of its leadership and expresses its fervent wishes for Temple's continuous upward and forward march to evenhigher pinnacles of sustained growth and attainment.

And Be it Further Resolved, That the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania extends its best wishes to Chancellor-elect Dr. Robert L. Johnson, together with the profound gratitude of all Pennsylvania, for eighteen years of selfless and dedicated service to the people of Pennsylvania, as President of Temple University.

And Be it Further Resolved, That the Senate of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania extends its best wishes to President-elect Dr. Millard E. Gladfelter for the continued success of his leadership as well as profound gratitude for the services heretofore rendered to Temple University in his capacity of Provost thereof.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BERGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, yesterday, the United States, and the whole world, lost a great man. John Foster Dulles served his Country with patriotism and zeal, to the end that we might continue in peace with the rest of the world. I am sure, Mr. President, that there is no one in this room who does not recognize the tremendous qualities which John Foster Dulles devoted to his Country during his lifetime, in many administrations. This is true in not only the Eisenhower Administration, but in all of those preceding this one.

Mr. President, it is with the greatest pride and sorrow that I offer, on behalf of all of the Members of the Senate, both Democratic and Republican, this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

EXPRESSING THE ETERNAL GRATITUDE OF THE SENATE FOR THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF JOHN FOSTER DULLES, AND EXTENDING DEEPEST SYMPATHY TO HIS LOVED ONES

Mr. BERGER, on behalf of the entire Senate Membership, offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 25, 1959.

Seldom has the death of one person touched the hearts of so many people of the world as has the passing of John Foster Dulles. To freedom loving persons everywhere, John Foster Dulles stood as the champion of their policies and ideals.

Knowing well that to maintain his arduous schedule was at the risk of his life, Mr. Dulles steadfastly continued to fight for the well-being of our nation. He most certainly gave his life for his country as valiantly as did any man who ever died on the field of battle. His sacrifice, however, was not in vain, for we have enjoyed, during his period of service as Secretary of State, a period of relative peace and tranquility, in an era of never-ending crisis. A man of lesser talents and principle might easily have plunged our nation into war, or appeased the enemies of freedom with concessions; but through the courage and perserverance of John Foster Dulles those tragedies have been averted.

Though there is sadness in our hearts, it is shared with a feeling of deep pride in having been so fortunate as to have John Foster Dulles as a fellow American. Though most of us never had the privilege of knowing him personally, his endeavors on our behalf made him a part of us. The personal integrity, patriotism and stern resolution of this outstanding American, so completely dedicated to the cause of peace with justice, will long live in our memories and in the annals of history, and will serve as an inspiration and guide to those who carry on his endeavors; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expresses its eternal gratitude for the accomplishments of John Foster Dulles, and extends its deepest sympathy to his loved ones upon his death; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. John Foster Dulles.

As we pray, may we be ever mindful of our departed brother who always carried out his duties and obligations in accordance with Thy Holy Will. Let this Memorial Service be a prayerful tribute to him and may we express our prayers and supplications to Thee, Almighty God. We pray thus, O God, rest with the Saints the soul of Thy departed son, Joseph, where there is no pain, care, nor anxiety, but eternal life.

Bless, O God, all those here present today. May the spirit of love and honor to Thee, our Country and this Commonwealth always abide with us. Keep us steadfast in the cause of human rights and liberties, of law and order and true Americanism. Enlighten all of us, that we may all work for Thy greater glory and for the welfare of our neighbors so that we are our brother's keepers. Grant that we all fulfill the great mission of charity, mercy and leadership which Tho hast entrusted to us.

May the soul of the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace. Amen.

IN MEMORIAM—JOSEPH J. YOSKO

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Northampton, Mr. Rooney.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, on behalf of my colleague, Senator Van Sant and myself, I offer the following resolution and move its immediate adoption.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, May 25, 1959.

As we, the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, struggle through our work fulfilling the tasks which the people of this great Commonwealth have imposed upon us we should pause a moment and direct our thoughts to that former Member of the Senate who is not with us this year because the great beyond has called him.

About this same time two years ago, in the 142nd Session of the Assembly convened, our halls rang loud with the cheerful and ever pleasant voice of the Honorable Joseph J. Yosko but since September 19, 1958, his wise wisdom and dedicated thoughts are no longer heard for it was on that day that Joe passed away. All of us who had the opportunity, and indeed we should say pleasure, of meeting the Senator from Northampton County deeply miss him.

Mr. Yosko devoted his life to the Democratic Party and the people he represented. He was a graduate of National University Law School, Washington, D. C. and he conducted a real estate and insurance business in Bethlehem when he was not "on the Hill" serving his constituents. He was elected to the Senate in 1948 and again in 1950 and 1954. His untimely death was the only thing that prevented Mr. Yosko from being re-elected in 1958.

The people of Northampton County realized what a wonderful representative they had in Harrisburg, as evidenced by his numerous election victories and when the news of Joe's death reached their ears, many stopped what they were doing and paused so that their thoughts could reflect upon his great achievements, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extend its deepest sympathy to Mrs. Gertrude Yosko on the passing of her husband. Joseph J. Yosko, a former member of our body, and be it further

Resolved, That the Senate now pause for a moment so that we can justly memorialize the gentleman from Northampton County, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Yosko at her home, 943 E. Sixth St., Bethlehem.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I rise to speak for a moment on this resolution. I rise as a young Senator, a man who has represented his constituency for only a short time. I rise to eulogize my predecessor, the late Senator Joseph J. Yosko.

The resolution to the Senate mentions Senator Yosko's political history and I will not repeat it. However, that resolution does not mention that Joe Yosko was a politician whose only motto was, "Nothing is politically wrong if it is morally right." Above all, Joe Yosko was a moral man whose inherent respect of his fellow man, whose love for his neighbor and whose brotherhood to all men, regardless of faith or race, made him beloved by his fellow men.

They loved him best for his charity. There was not a person in Northampton County who rubbed against Joe Yosko, during his lifetime of service, for whom he did not work from the moment of their calling. There are few people in Northampton County to whom he did not give something—his time, his funds, his energies and his very heart's blood.

The body politic was his sphere of action, and humanity the recipient of his political activity. He believed, as St. Paul said, "If I can move mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing." Because of Senator Yosko's charity, because of his devotion to his fellow men, Joe Yosko, in Northampton County, was everything.

Before this Senate, Joe Yosko fought for those things in which he believed and every man in this Body will agree that no man was more frank and no man was more honest. He was a man of truth. You can fear such a man and all men did fear him at one time or another. However, the same men respected him because they knew that truth, and only truth, was Senator Yosko's ultimate search. In his search for truth was his goodness.

Mr. President, there are laws today which benefit 11,000,000 Pennsylvanians because Senator Yosko looked for truth. There are children who look forward to a greater future in Pennsylvania; elderly folks in the twilight of their years who live better because Joe Yosko cared for them as if they were his own.

In his death, on September 19, 1958, we were saddened. I am sure that Joe Yosko would have us remember, as he certainly did in his lifetime, that the measure of a man's life is the well spending of it and not its length. I am sure that were he standing here in eulogy to another Senator, he would remind us that a life spent worthily should be measured by deeds, not by years.

In the measuring of Joe Yosko's life, we remember the deeds, the actions, the charities, the humanities and the love which was inherent in him.

In the measuring Joe Yosko's life, we remember the deeds, the actions, the charities, the humanities and the love which was inherent in him.

Senator Yosko was my mentor and my partner. I could not have had a finer teacher nor known a man of more integrity. Above all else, he was a moral man. He was a family man and his family was not only his own, but every single individual in his constituency. He was a church man who loved his God and worshiped him in humility. He was a man who so lived his life that when he left this mortal coil to enter into the eternity of eternities, his preceptor before the bar of heaven might say, "Here, Lord God, is Joseph Yosko who was a Member of the Senate of Pennsylvania and whom we recommend to live again because he lived his first life so well."

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, Members of the Senate

and Guests, I rise on this occasion as a member of the opposite political faith and as a man who, because of the proximities of our respective Senatorial Districts, worked with, co-operated with, admired and respected the late Joseph J. Yosko.

From the time of his beginning, in Jeanesville, Pennsylvania, in Luzerne County, until the time when he rejoined his Creator, he was one of the most energetic men it has ever been my privilege to know or to be affiliated with.

Joe, as most of his colleagues knew him, was loyal to those who sanctioned his political career and faithful to them from the time of his small beginning to his great finale. He was a human dynamo in doing his work on behalf of his constituents and all of the people of Pennsylvania from the time when he arose early in the morning, until he retired very late at night. His love for work, his enthusiasm for his fellow man, his respect of others, of either political faith, and his dedicated service to the people led to many local, State and National honors which were most duly deserved.

Senator Yosko's record in the Senate, his attendance at committee meetings, his fervor in conducting special assignments which were handed to him by his colleagues in the Senate found him giving an astute analysis of bills and of issues and gained for him the respect of his fellow Legislators in both the Senate and in the House of Representatives.

Joe's experience and his uncany ability to seek out information and present it on the floor of this Senate, or to these committees, reflected his sincerity and devotion to the people who saw fit to repeatedly send him here as their representative from 1948 until the time of his passing, last year. In his home district, he was revered as a representative of the little fellow.

Because of Senator Yosko's athletic background, he was a true sport among people. He was kindly to our youth; he was kindly to all. Joe was a politician's politician. He fought hard; he fought fair. However, in defeat, he was willing to admit it if he lost to a better man. He was a man among men and champion of all. He was a Senator who will be remembered forever. His great energies on behalf of others, led to his failure in health and his most untimely resignation from this Senate.

The Senate of Pennsylvania, the people of Northampton County and the people of Pennsylvania are richer for the services rendered by the late Senator from Northampton, Joseph J. Yosko.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I had the honor and the pleasure of serving with Senator Yosko in this Senate. He was a tireless worker, a person who spoke for those people he thought were being oppressed or being denied something that was due them, and a man who put in long hours on the job. I believe it was known to many of the Members of this Body that when he was suffering his last illness, a fatal illness and one which caused him great pain, Senator Yosko continued to work for the people of his District. He made many phone calls on their behalf and made as many trips as he possibly could, and as his health would allow, on their behalf and for their benefit.

Joe Yosko's voice in this Body may be still, but his memory, his good work, his desire to seek the truth and to help the people that make up this great Commonwealth of ours and the people of his District will never be silent.

The record of the Senate is replete with his remarks, with his many debates and with his great work on behalf of all the people of Pennsylvania.

Senator Yosko is sadly missed on our side, and I know he is missed as a Member of this Body.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, as the State Chairman of the Democratic Party, I would like to talk about Joe Yosko as a Democratic politician.

I learned to know Joe Yosko in the early part of the George Earle Administration. He came to Harrisburg as a protege of Warren Roberts, who was then a Member of the Senate and who later became Auditor General of the State. Later I got to know him quite intimately in the young Democratic movement. When I ran for the State President of the Young Democrats in 1938, he and some of his friends, who are in the audience today, were out in Erie, Pennsylvania, doing all they could to see that I was elected. Two years later, I returned the same compliment to Joe by doing the same thing for him in Wilkes-Barre.

Joe Yosko was a tireless, tireless worker as chairman of the city in which he lived. If any of you on this side were ever asked to go down there to campaign, you really had a workout that night. The county is comprised of a lot of Democratic Clubs, and Senator Yosko made sure that you got into each and every one of those clubs and there had you make a speech.

The present Governor was a great griend of the late lamented Joe Yosko. Anytime Senator Yosko had any trouble, he would call Governor Lawrence in Pittsburgh, and Governor Lawrence would say that he had to go because Joe Yosko was a fellow who would not take no for an answer. Senator Yosko was the same way here in the Senate.

Those of us who knew him well knew of the pain he suffered long before his death. I remember one night in Chicago, at the time of the Democratic National Convention in 1952. It was about 4:00 a.m. in the morning when my phone rang. I had only been in bed a short time because the session had lasted until about 1:30 or 2:00 a.m. that morning, in the Cow Palace at the Stock Yards. Senator Yosko called me because he knew I was a victim of migraine sinus, and he asked if I had any medicine for migraine headaches. I said, "Yes, Joe, I have some empirin compound." He said, "I have been taking them all night." I replied, "More than two will kill you. I will be right down." I never saw a man in more agony. We got a doctor to his room right away and the doctor gave him a shot to control the pain. However, when the session opened at 11:00 a.m. the next day at the Stock Yards in Chicago, Senator Yosko was on hand.

As Chairman of the Democratic Party of Pennsylvania, I say we have lost a tireless worker and a true and loyal friend.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

GUESTS FROM NORTHAMPTON COUNTY WELCOMED

The PRESIDENT. I wonder whether the distinguished group from Bethlehem and Northampton County will please rise at this time for recognition by the Senate?

IN MEMORIAM—GEORGE L. REED

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I rise on this occasion to honor the memory of a former Member of this Senate who represented the county which I now have the privilege of serving. George L. Reed, who served in this Body from 1932 to 1936, died on October 8, 1958, after a full life as a practicing attorney and public servant.

He was born February 4, 1885, in Brooklyn, New York, and was a graduate of Dickinson College in 1940 and the Dickinson School of Law in 1907. He was admitted to the bars of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court and of Dauphin County in 1908, and continued in active practice until his last illness.

George L. Reed is remembered as a brilliant orator who had the ability to captivate an audience as well as to be most effective before a jury or court. He came by this ability naturally; his father, George E. Reed, having been a prominent public speaker, active in the affairs of the Methodist Church, and President of Dickinson College.

George Reed became interested in political affairs early in his career, and was most active in the 1912 Presidential Campaign when he ardently supported the candidacy of Theodore Roosevelt on the Bull Moose Ticket. Prior to his election to the Senate in 1932, he served two terms in the House of Representatives, from 1929 to 1932.

After his service in the Senate, he became Counsel for the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board and was a recognized expert on labor laws, writing "The Law of Labor Relations," which was published in 1942.

He was a Past Master of Euclid Lodge No. 698, F. & A. M., a past Commander-in-Chief of Harrisburg Consistory of Scottish Rite Masons, and was a Thirty-third Degree Mason. He is survived by his widow Helen Roberta Moorhead Reed and a son, George E. Reed, II.

George Reed was an excellent attorney, a good trial lawyer, and served as a representative and Senator with distinction. He was an orator of the "old school" and, throughout his entire life in his conduct and bearing, was an example of the dedicated public citizen and attorney.

IN MEMORIAM—JOHN C. MORLOCK

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Silvert.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, on behalf of all of the members of the Senate from Philadelphia and myself I offer the following resolution and move its immediate adoption.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The resolution was read as follows:

In the Senate, May 25, 1959.

John C. Morlock, a former Secretary of this body and a member of Philadelphia's minor judiciary since 1941, is no longer here with us today for he has passed to the great beyond. Magistrate Morlock was 67 years old when he died at the Chestnut Hill Hospital two weeks ago. The last 28 years of his life were devoted to serving the people of Philadelphia and the Commonwealth.

Mr. Morlock was born on December 15, 1891 in Philadelphia. He attended the local schools and was graduated from Roman Catholic High School. After graduation, he attended Banks Business College. He was married to the former, Helen Hayes.

In 1931, John Morlock became active in the Democratic Party. He was the treasurer of Michael Molody & Son Co., a construction firm, when he was appointed Secretary of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission. In 1935, he was appointed Chief of Stamp and Amusement Taxes for the State. When Gov. George H. Earle took office in 1937, John Morlock was appointed Secretary of the State Senate. In 1939, he was re-elected to the post. In 1941, Gov. Arthur H. James appointed John as a magistrate in Philadelphia. His renowned ability as a magistrate was evident as he was reelected each term and at the time of his last election in 1953, John C. Morlock led the Democratic magistrates' slate. He was up for nomination last Tuesday, but his untimely death will require the naming of a new candidate by the Democratic City Committee.

Mr. Morlock is survived by his wife, Helen, and two daughters, Mrs. Edward Flanigan and Mrs. John McLaughlin. They are deeply mourning his death so we, the Members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, now want to take this opportunity to extend to them our deepest sympathy and heartfelt condolences upon the passing of their beloved husband and father, John C. Morlock. His loss will be felt not only by his family, but also by his party and the people of Philadelphia whom he served so well; therefore be it Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to each of the above-named members of the family of John C. Morlock as a token of sympathy extended to them in their hour of grief by this Senate of Pennsylvania.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I am about to introduce a resolution, on behalf of a gentleman who passed away in Philadelphia last week; a man whom you and a good many in this Senate knew very well. I refer to Magistrate John C. Morlock.

Magistrate Morlock was Secretary of this Senate back in 1941, and I am sure there are Members here today who still remember him. As a magistrate he was fair and he was beloved by the people of Philadelphia. He was fair, as I stated, and very unassuming.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I came to know John Morlock as a Magistrate in the city of Philadelphia. He was impartial and he was available to all the people in the city regardless of their political leanings. He never asked which party a person belonged to. He only asked how he could help; how he could be of service.

John Morlock was quite a man in his own community, was well-known throughout the entire city, and well-known in other parts of the State. He has been sadly missed by all of us. As a Member of the Democratic Party in Philadelphia, I say the Democratic Party will sorely miss a man who has been as tireless a worker as he, and a man who was a man of good will among all men.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, Magistrate Morlock's office was in my District and I had many occasions to make use of his services there. He would never take a case which would injure a person or extend any kind of trouble. He was a peacemaker all of his life, and that evidenced itself both in his conduct on the minor judiciary, also in his services to the Commonwealth, and also in his services as an active member of the Democratic Party.

We honored him and respected him both for his integrity and his love of his fellow man. I believe I speak for everyone who knew him when I say that we honor and revere his memory.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

BENEDICTION

The PRESIDENT. The Memorial Services being completed, I will request Senator Ruth to offer the Benediction.

Mr. RUTH. Our Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast permitted us to know and work with these our former colleagues, who labored here with us and finished their work. We pray that Thou will help us to understand what life really is, and as little boys who play a whole day and then at eventide nestle down in the arms of a loving mother and fall peacefully to sleep, so we, when we come to the end of our day, may nestle in the arms of our Heavenly Father and sleep the eternal sleep of peace.

We pray that Thy blessing, Thy love and Thy benediction rest upon us until we see Thee and our former colleagues face to face again.

We ask it in Thy Holy Name, Amen.

CALENDAR

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 12, as follows:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) entitled "The Vehicle Code" requiring that flashing emergency lamps on snow plows and cinder trucks be amber in color.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 12 has been before this Body previously and we discussed it at some length, and I do not want to repeat that lengthy discussion. However, I would like to point out to the Members of this Body that the changing of these lights on these trucks from red to amber in color is a costly process. It will not serve any purpose that I can ascertain other than one that will cause people riding along the highway, who now slow down when they see a flashing red light, to continue on at a faster rate of speed when they see an amber light. If this will prevent anyone from being injured—in other words, if it will cause anyone to reduce his rate of speed—I will be very happy to hear about it. Barring that type of eventuality, I would like to impress upon my colleagues that this is a waste of money, and ask that they vote "no" on this piece of legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, it might at first glance appear that this bill would entail considerable expense but, you will note, the effective date has been amended to 1961. It is quite likely that during that interval there will be plenty of opportunity to change the lenses or the attachments that may be necessary on these flashing lights.

I believe the reason for the bill is that the traditional warning of an ambulance or fire truck is red. Of course, that has been adopted by other types of vehicles, road machinery and so fourth. The sponsors of this bill believe that the change from red to amber on that type of equipment would serve to impress upon the people on the highway that when they see a red light, there is a very definite danger; that the fire truck or ambulance has the right of way and, therefore, they should draw off to the side of the road and stop. Presently, when a driver sees a flashing red light along the road, he does not know whether it is a cinder truck, a snow truck, an ambulance or a fire truck.

I believe that the purpose of the bill is salutary and should receive the support of the Senate.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, in closing, I would just like to point out one other factor. A yellow light, or amber light, has taken on the meaning for we who live in the United States of caution; whereas, the red light signifies danger.

I believe that if we give this some thought and think about the cost involved, I think all of us would stick with the danger and not be so concerned about being cautious. I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no."

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 588, as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 4, 1927 (P. L. 519) entitled "The Borough Code" authorizing boroughs to construct storm sewers and other drainage facilities.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the Senator from Lebanon, whom I respect as a legal authority on this matter and on many matters, as a matter of fact, assures me that the question which I raised the other day is satisfactorily settled by present provisions in the Borough Code. Therefore, Mr. President, I intend to support the bill.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to commend the sponsor of this bill as this is really progressive legislation. This is the type of thing we have been talking about in Philadelphia for years. However, I guess one must come from Lebanon in order to get this legislation enacted.

This bill would give the boroughs the opportunity to get the necessary things which they need done regardless of where it impinges. If it goes beyond the borough and into a township, it would be perfectly all right because all the people would benefit.

I think the Senator might have to sit on this side to vote for this bill. However, we are for it, and I believe all of us are going to support this measure.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I am getting suspicious. I think perhaps I should look this bill over much more carefully.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am very happy to have the brethren on the other side convinced on this bill. I tried awfully hard to convince them a week or so ago. However, it required the additional support of the Senator from Lebanon to show them that the bill is an excellent piece of legislation, which I rather wondered about myself at the time.

This is my wife sitting in the back of the Chamber, Mrs. Weiner.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 25, Printer's No. 25, on third reading, go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 61, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 25 1947 (P L 951) entitled as amended "An act defining and providing for the licensing and regulation of private academic schools . . ." exempting natural persons or families providing physical care to children under six years of age from provisions of the act.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I feel it incumbent upon myself to give the benefit of the views of the department on this bill. The bill's purpose is not a bad one.

At this stage of the game, the schools or institutions which are set up here and are taken out from under the Department of Public Instruction are now left without any means of being inspected. I had hoped to have the bill come over from the House which would put these units under the Department of Public Welfare. That bill has not arrived here, as yet.

I am fully cognizant that Senate Bill No. 61 has been on the Calendar for a long time and there is a desire to move it. I am hopeful that when it gets to the House, they will hold it until we pass the House Bill which would place these institutions or units under the Department of Public Welfare. As it stands now, the State would have no right to inspect the sanitary conditions, or inspect the people who are running the institutions. This applies to pre-school children as well as children who might be six years of age and are not able to get into kindergarten.

I do not think the State should have some sort of hold, whether it be in the form of inspection, whether it be in the form of regulation or some other form. I think we all agree that we should keep some sort of a safeguard so that no children will ever have any problems as far as these schools are concerned.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the gentleman is perfectly correct. The bill he refers to is desirable and we hope that it will come over from the House, or that this bill may be amended in the House. However, this bill, Senate Bill No. 61, has been on the Calendar since April 7, 1959, and we feel that it should be passed and allow the other bill to catch up with it and take care of the situation described.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I call to the attention of this Body that we do not vote in the House. I have heard it stated quite often that we will put it over to the House and let them amend it.

The Members of this Body have a responsibility to those who elected them which they do not shift to the House. We are the people who are responsible for the type of bill we put out and the climate in which we put it out. If there is to be a companion bill, which switches this to the Department of Public Welfare, it should be done here and we should not avoid our duty.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I was about to make a similar remark. I would only expand it to this extent; that I think this bill will transfer the function to the Department of Public Welfare.

I agree with this bill. I think it is a sound one. However, I share with Senator Mahady a reluctance to vote on a matter and to pass it over to the House where it is beyond the control of this Senate because, unfortunately, we cannot vote in the House.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, this bill tends to reduce some regulation. It is my opinion that there is too much regulation of this type going on, and here we have regulation of places where small children are taken in for day care.

I think this is a good bill and I intend to vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 232, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682), entitled "The Insurance Company Law of 1921," providing for guaranteed arrest bond certificates issued by insurance companies and by automobile clubs or associations and for sureties thereon and defining the use and effect thereof.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the sponsor of this bill has received some comment from the department, which he wishes to clear with the department prior to its passage.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Therefore, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 232, Printer's No. 249, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 233, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 5, 1933 (P. L. 364), entitled "Business Corporation Law," changing the law as to amendment of articles of incorporation in their entirety the acquisition and cancellation of treasury shares, the reduction of authorized shares, the reporting of changes in stated capital, the characterization of earned surplus after quasi-reorganizations, the payment of dividends in certain cases, the effect of distributions of shares financial reports to shareholders, the fixing of the date of shareholders' meetings, the production of lists of shareholders, the extension of voting trusts, the acquisition or transfer of corporate asset, the rights of dissenting shareholders sinking funds for preferred or special shares issued in series exchanges of shares, the merger or consolidation of parent and wholly-owned subsidiary corporations service of process on foreign corporations abolishing the doctrine of de facto mergers of consolidation and reversing the rules laid down by Block v Baldwin Locomotive Works, 75 D. & C. 24 and Marks v. The Autocar Co., 153 F. Supp. 768, eliminating the requirements that certain documents be acknowledged or verified and repealing certain acts and parts of acts relating to corporations.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, this bill is ninety-six pages in length. It is quite voluminous and it has taken me a little while to read it.

Unfortunately, or fortunately as the case might be, there is a bill on our calendar today, on page four, Senate Bill No. 568, which is in exact, direct conflict with Senate Bill No. 233. Senate Bill No. 233 is specific legislation to overrule two cases that went before our Supreme Court, and one of them went before the Federal Court. It primarily rules out the minority stockholder. It prevents him from taking certain actions. It also delimits his ability to handle certain problems that may come up that he, is a minority stockholder, cannot handle.

Senate Bill No. 568, on the other hand, further widens the ability of a minority stockholder to handle some of the problems in which he may find himself involved due to the operation of the majority.

It is inconceivable for us to pass both bills, because we are doing inconsistent things here and I am sure none of us want to do that. Therefor, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no" on Senate Bill No. 233, Printer's No. 733, as I do not feel that we should ever bear the onus of having passed a bill which hurts minority rights, or hurts people who may belong to a corporation when the corporation decides it is going to do certain things and leave these small people out without a voice to be heard, either at the board of directors meetings, at the stockholders meetings or within the courts.

I, therefore, ask my colleages to vote "no" on this piece of legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Weiner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Weiner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WEINER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I inquire of the Minority Leader whether the section that he refers to, relating to the minority stockholders, is the only section to which he finds objection in Senate Bill No. 233?

Mr. WEINER. No sir, Mr. President. There are other sections which I could fully elucidate upon, if the gentleman would like to hear from me.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman?

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman may proceed.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, would the Minority Leader feel that the incorporation of the provisions of Senate Bill No. 568 into Senate Bill No. 233 be a desirable feature?

Mr. WEINER. Yes sir, Mr. President. I would feel that Senate Bill No. 568, if incorporated into Senate Bill No. 233, would be a desirable feature.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may I inquire of the Chair whether this bill has passed third reading?

The PRESIDENT. It has passed third reading.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that this bill go over in its order, on final passage.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chairs hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 305, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177), entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929," requiring the Department of Property and Supplies to install and maintain markers on all State-owned buildings.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I know I promised not to be difficult today, and I do not really mean to be. However, I cannot see, when we are trying to save money in this Commonwealth, why we should invest money in plaques on buildings not only naming the building, but also naming the departments and other things which might be in that building. I believe every building has a directory in it, as all public buildings do. If we start putting on markers, I think we may have to take care of those people in this Commonwealth who cannot read very well. Therefore, we will have to get guides. Once we start getting guides, we may get guides who cannot see too well and, therefore, we will have to get seeing-eye dogs to lead the guides, to lead the people who cannot read the markers and so on, ad infinitum.

I am not objecting to anyone getting a job and I am not objecting to anyone selling markers to the State. However, I do think it is a uselss thing, and I think it is a waste of money. I think we are doing a needless act here.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, in regard to Senate Bill No. 305, of which I am one of the sponsors, I am quite sure there is not a Member of the Senate nor a member of the audience in the Senate Chamber who has not had the same difficulty I have had and I have been coming to Harrisburg for better than forty years. People in the buildings can be asked what is in the building and they do not even know.

I am not asking for any large, ornate sign. I am only asking that the building not only be known as a State building, but that there be some indication of what is in the building. It will not involve the expenditure of a lot of money. It is merely a service to the people who come to Harrisburg.

I think it is a very important piece of legislation, and I would like to ask all Members of the Senate to give it their support.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I am afraid the Senator is going to eliminate our usefulness here. It is part of our job to be messengers and also not only find the building, but lead some of these people to it; and not only to lead the people to it, but to some of the people in the building who might even be helpful to help the people be led out of the miasma they find themselves in when they get to Harrisburg. Not being anxious to eliminate any Legislator, I ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I certainly am surprised and happy to see my friend, Senator Weiner—whom I respect very much and whose wife I think is most beautiful—take the floor and talk about saving money. Many, many times I have driven down the road during the Administration of Governor Leader and seen new plaques and new signboards which were erected in the name of George Leader and the head of the Highways Department at a tremendous cost, signs which could have been there for a long time with the name of former Governor Fine on them.

Now to my amazement, I see that with my good friend, Dave Lawrence, as Governor, and a new head of the Highways Department, there are new plaques and new signs.

I want to compliment the Senator on his change of heart in economy. I wish that the sponsors of this bill would add a couple of names onto it, as sponsored by or authorized by certain people and perhaps the Senator would agree with this bill. I think if we are going to ask for economy, we should have economy all over the State. If these buildings are not known by people, I think we can spend a few dollars to put names on them.

I believe in advertising, as I see the former Governors have, and I think we should at least respect these million dollar buildings by putting signs on them to let us know what the buildings really are.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I wish to advise the gentleman that flattery will get him everywhere with me. However, unfortunately with this bill, if we put up a sign that it is "Building X" and for some reason or other the department is abolished—for example, if we were to put a sign on the Highways Department and we were to pass Senate Bill No. 25, abolishing the Highways Department, we might have some difficulty. We would have to put up a new sign, reading "Highways Commission." That would also entail further money and I am sure my good friend, Senator Watkins, would again rise and say that we are wasting money and that the present Governor, whoever he might be—especially if he were Democratic—would be doing this wasteful thing. I am sure he would not want that to happen.

In order to save Senator Watkins the time and trouble of making speeches, I think we should vote "no" on Senate Bill No. 305.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I would like to draw attention once again, as I have on several other occasions, to the fact that you are spending money that is not included in the budget and before you have approved the budget.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 351, Printer's No. 853, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection- The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 353, on third reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 9 1929 (P L 177) entitled "The Administrative Code of 1929" further regulating compulsory resignation for members of the Pennsylvania State Police.

be recommitted to the Committe on State Government.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

(A voice vote was then taken.)

The PRESIDENT. The "ayes" have it, and the motion is agreed to.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I would like to know how I was recorded as having voted on Senate Bill No. 353.

The PRESIDENT. It was a voice vote and, therefore, was not recorded.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "no" on recommitting this bill.

The PRESIDENT. We will call the roll in order for the question to be decided.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise to a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, what is the question on which the roll call is being taken?

The PRESIDENT. This roll call is being taken on a motion by Senator Berger, seconded by Senator Pechan, that Senate Bill No. 353, Printer's No. 380, be recommitted to the Committe on State Government.

Mr. SEYLER. Thank you, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to call the Chair's attention to the fact that he has announced a decision upon the motion, and the roll call was not requested until after the decision of the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. My recollection, Senator Berger, is that on a voice vote, if there is any question which has been brought up by a Member of the Senate, a roll call vote may be requested. It was on the basis of the request made by Senator Watkins that the Chair ruled that the regular roll call vote be taken.

Mr. BERGER. The Chair's decision is acceptable, Mr. President.

INTERROGATION

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, before the Chair asks for a roll call, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentlman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Berger, do you have any specific reason why Senate Bill No. 353, Printer's No. 380, should be recommitted to the Committee on State Government?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have a very specific reason why I believe this bill should be recommitted. It is not that I have any interest whatsoever in the bill, except that I might say that I introduced such a bill either two or four years ago, myself. Probably I introduced it on behalf of the same person and, at that time, I understood from Members on both sides of the Senate that it was rather undesirable to pass a piece of legislation which would benefit but one person. I believe this bill would do just that.

My cogent reason, however, for making the motion is that I was instructed by the Caucus to have this bill recommitted.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I recall when the bill was introduced several years ago and, at that time, I believe I was in favor of this legislation. I think this is good legislation and we should have a vote on the recommmittal here. I know very well that once the bill is recommitted, it is going to be dead.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will call the roll.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to change by vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "no" to "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, how is the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, recorded as voting?

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade, is not recored as voting.

The roll was called by the Clerk and was as follows:

YEAS—26

Berger,	Fleming,	Mallery,	Taylor,
Blass,	Harney,	Pechan,	Van Sant,
Chapman,	Keller,	Propert,	Wagner,
Confair,	Kessler	Scott,	Walker,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 380, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624), entitled, as amended, "Banking Code," further regulating the making of installment loans.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, we were promised some information on this bill which we do not have.

Therefore, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 380, Printer's No. 472, on third reading, go over in its order for another day.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, may be we be at ease for a moment?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Mahady.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Mahady, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHADY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would like to inquire of the gentleman whether the information which he is awaiting would take the form of amendments to the bill?

Mr. MAHADY. No, it is just enough information to find out what other groups already possess this power, which are in competition with them.

Mr. BERGER. Did you say you will have this information tomorrow?

Mr. MAHADY. It was promised to me for today.

Mr. BERGER. I have no objection to the bill going over in order, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on third reading, go over in their order:

Senate Bill No. 392, Printer's No. 867; and

Senate Bill No. 424, Printer's No. 456.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 512, entitled:

An Act amending the act of December 27, 1951 (P. L. 1742), entitled, as amended, "The Realty Transfer Tax Act," providing that certain transfers which are not subject to the tax need not be accompanied by affidavits.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I realize Senate Bill No. 512, Printer's No. 547, has been on the Calendar for some time. However, there has been a very good reason for it.

The Attorney General has been asked for an opinion in this matter and the sponsors of the bill, Senator Kalman, Senator Scott, Senator Walker, Senator Ripp and Senator Mullin, have been so advised. Unfortunately, the Attorney General has been unable to give us an opinion which would fit the problem presented in this piece of legislation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I request that this bill be passed over in order and ask that we dispose of this matter one way or another tomorrow.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 568, Printer's No. 604, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 613, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 2, 1956 (P. L. 1211) entitled "Practical Nurse Law" providing for examinations for licensure to be given at certain places.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the remarks I am going to make on behalf of Senate Bill No. 613 are also applicable to Senate Bill No. 614. One deals with Practical Nurses and the other one deals with Registered Nurses.

Senate Bill No. 613 sets up examination centers in Pennsylvania. There is only one center today and that is in Harrisburg. We have gone over this discussion for quite some time. However, I would like to point out that if we do this act,—I do not know what is magic about Williamsport, and I hope the Senator from that area will please forgive me—holding the examinations in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and Williamsport will cost the department money. That money comes out of the General Fund.

I think in order to accomplish what we want this legislation to do, and in order that the department does not end up with a deficit or where it is in a situation whereby it cannot afford to give these examinations, we should raise the fees commensurate with what they are doing. In other words, if these people want this convenience, I think they should pay for it. I do not think the fee should be of such a nature that it would be a hardship or a detriment for anyone taking this examination.

However, Mr. President, I do think you are placing a hardship and a detriment on the department when you are asking it to give examinations in a number of places at the same time. You will always have the problem of security, you will have the problem of proctors, and you will also have the problem of having the right people go to the right place and the attendant details which go with that.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to ask that Senate Bill No. 613, Printer's No. 857, and Senate Bill No. 614, Printer's No. 858, go over in order until such amendments can be placed in the bills which would alleviate these problems. If there is a desire on the other side of the Senate not to pass these bills over in order, I think the same sponsors, who I am sure are civic-minded, who are interested in the Commonwealth, who are interested in the money to be obtained and who are also interested in saving money, should bring in new legislation which will provide the necessary fees to take care of this situation.

Lacking that, Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this piece of legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, simply to keep in proper sequence, I first object to Senate Bill No. 613 going over in its order.

In passing on the remarks made by Senator Weiner, I believe this target was pretty well covered at our last Session, when the bills were put over in order at that time. I think it was well explained that the present system requires a lot of cost and expense upon the nurse graduates who have to come and take their examinations to get their State licenses.

While I am prepared, as well as anybody, to bleed for the General Fund, I hope that the gentleman's information is correct and that the payment of the expense of this does come out of the General Fund. It was my understanding that the fees from these various license bureaus were devoted to the maintenance and expense of these various bureaus. If I am wrong, I hope I will be corrected.

Whether or not, Mr. President, I feel that the good which may be done for these people, who are required to travel long distances to take these examinations, might better be considered than the comparatively slight cost which might be incurred to either the department in question or to the General Fund.

Mr. DONOLOW. Mr. President, I would like to submit this thought to the Senate on both of these bills.

I think it is about time that these departments up here in Harrisburg start realizing that we are a government for the people. It is about time they start doing things to make it more convenient for the citizens of Pennsylvania. I feel it is about time that we start giving the people more service.

Mr. President, I certainly am in favor of both of these bills on that account.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—41

Barr,	Harney,	Mallery,	Shafer,
Berger,	Hays,	McCreesh,	Stevenson,

NAYS—5

Ruth,	Silvert,	Stiefel,	Weiner,
Seyler,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 614, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 22, 1951 (P. L. 317) entitled "The Professional Nursing Law" providing for examinations for licensure to be given at certain places.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am informed, if we pass Senate Bill No. 614, the licenses which are granted to the Registered Nurses of Pennsylvania will not be acceptable to any other State in the Union. The National Board of Registered Nurses will not tolerate any licenses which are not granted in one separate place.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to vote "no" on this bill because you are doing no favor for the Registered Nurses by voting in favor of it.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, for years, I have been working in this field. I have been chairman of the training school for thirty-one years. We tried for a long time to get it so that when our girls graduate and are licensed in Pennsylvania, they could work in other States. However, up until the time when the Board made the contract with the National Test School Examination, every Pennsylvania licensed nurse had to take an examination in another State. If we break this contract, we may do the girls a nice favor by making those who want to work in any neighboring State take an examination there before they can get a job. For years we tried to get this and now with one stroke, we are destroying it. I think we should be sure of what we are doing.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—29

Berger,	Harney,	Mallery,	Taylor,

An Act amending the act of March 10 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" providing representation on the board of directors of union and merged school districts.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I have heard several versions in regard to just what this bill will accomplish. I would like to hear the sentiments of the sponsor, Senator Fleming, as to what he is attempting to accomplish with this legislation.

Therefore, Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Fleming.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. Senator Fleming, I do not intend to interrogate you on this bill. However, I would like you to explain to the Members of the Senate what this bill actually does.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, this bill is for the purpose of giving to any municipality, city, borough, town or township in a union district, a school director in the part of the union district.

Senator Seyler questioned part of the bill last week. Senator Seyler and I, together, talked with a representative from the Department of Public Instruction, and he thought the bill was good legislation and would accomplish just that purpose.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, the bill was passed at the last Session, to accomplish the purpose of seeing to it that in the case of a merger or a union district, each of the constituent communities were represented, was defective. This bill corrects the defect in the law and makes it practically possible to carry out the intent of the Act which was passed at the last Session of the Legislature.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Will the Senate agree to the section?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 383, Printer's No. 415, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object to Senate Bill No. 383 going over in order at this time. I believe it should be moved up to where it can be discussed. For that reason only, I object to it going over in order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it is true that Senate Bill No. 383 has been on the calendar for some time. On the other hand—I better make a motion here before anything else happens.

Mr. PRESIDENT, I move that Senate Bill No. 383, Printer's No. 415, be recommitted to the committee from whence it came for the purpose of a public hearing. In the event of a second to this motion, and when it is in proper order, I desire to be recognized to speak on the motion.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I had asked to be recognized to speak on the motion.

The PRESIDENT. My apologies, Senator Seyler. You may speak on the motion now and we will hold the vote.

Mr. SEYLER. Thank you, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. My recollection, however, was that the motion it not debatable except as to its passage, alone. I think it would be out of order to discuss the merits of the bill at this time.

Mr. SEYLER. I intend to speak on the merits of the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. I thought that you would, Senator Seyler. That is why I am raising the question at this point.

Mr. SEYLER. A discussion on the merits of the motion is in order. Is that correct, Mr. President?

The PRESIDENT. Yes, on the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, without going into the merits of the bill in question, I would like to say that this bill has been a subject of considerable controversy which makes me believe that in order to have a satisfactory solution of the problem here presented, a public hearing would be in order. I believe that this bill, together with Senate Bill. 688, which is also on the Calendar, and together with Senate Bill No. 760, which presents an approach to the same problem, should be the subject of more discussion for more sources of information and experience than will be possible to this Senate just from the debate which we will hear from the floor of the Senate.

The problem which is attempted to be met by the two bills on the calendar, and the other bill I mentioned, is one which has been an important one in this Commonwealth for some time. The problem is one in which many people of good will have played a large part in attempting to find a solution. These people know what the story is. They know what has been attempted. They know what measures have failed. They know what measures have been found necessary in order to control the situation in question.

For that reason, Mr. President, it seems to me that in oder to make a judicious decision on this problem, before we do anything which would tear aside the fabric which has been built up and which would injure the situation which has been progressively improved, we should have the benefit of that experience and of that information from all these sources.

I may say also, Mr. President, that over the past few weeks I have had, and I am sure other Members of the Senate have had—particularly members of the committee, probably, and probably also the sponsors of the bill—a large number of requests from organizations which have been involved in this problem, asking for a public hearing. I have a total of twenty-two organizations listed here which have requested such public hearings. The Pennsylvania Council of Churches, The Roman Catholic Apostolate for Migrants, the N.A.A.C.P., the Pennsylvania Citizens Committee on Migrant Labor, the Pennsylvania Citizens Association for Health and Welfare, the Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, the Pennsylvania Congress of Industrial Organizations, the National Consumers League, Philadelphia Area Committee; the American Association of University Women, Pennsylvania Division; the American Association of University Women, Harrisburg Branch; the National Council of Jewish Women, the Department of the United Church Women of Pennsylvania, the Womens' Missionary Society of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia Conference Branch; The A.M.E. Preachers Meeting of Philadelphia and Vicinity, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, the Y.W.C.A., Pittsburgh Branch; the Urban League of Philadelphia, B'Nai Brith, the American Legion Child Welfare Committee and the Social Order Committee of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends are all listed among those which favor a public hearing.

Mr. President, I submit that this is a list of organizations in this Commonwealth which have deep interest in this problem. Many of them have had considerable experience in this problem. Moreover, Mr. President, these are not groups which represent a few members. These organizations which I have listed, all of which are asking for a public hearing, represent millions of people in this Commonwealth. This is a request which covers the entire Commonwealth and which includes millions of Pennsylvanians.

For the reasons I previosuly cited as to the fact that we have not had the benefit of the experience of these people who have worked in this field, I do not feel that the Senate is ready to take action on these bills. I do not feel that the information which can be offered to the Members on these bills is adequate to make a wise decision.

Therefore, Mr. President, I urge the Members of the Senate to vote "aye" on this motion so that it will be possible for the Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry to hold a public hearing, at which time all interested persons can be heard.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, on the motion only, of course, I had a request also for a public hearing. I am sure that the impressive list of organizations, just read by Senator Seyler, wrote or communicated with him in some way. However, I am inclined to think that the reason they directed their requests may have come from the person who suggested that we hold a public hearing on this matter and who was none other than the Secretary of Labor and Industry. As a result, I think probably these organizations were alerted to the fact that they should ask for a public hearing, too. I am quite certain that no good purpose would be served by holding a hearing on this bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, I request my colleagues to vote "no" on the motion to recommit.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I seconded the motion to recommit. Seldom have we heard such an impressive list of organizations in the State of Pennsylvania requesting a hearing on a bill. I think to deny them the opportunity to be heard is something which we should not countenance in this Senate.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to vote "aye" on this motion.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, that was a very imposing list which Senator Seyler read here. When it comes to farms in Pennsylvania, the people who have experience on the farms are the fathers and mothers who run the farms.

If the Department of Labor and Industry wants to butt in and control domestics and laborers on the farms, they are butting in too far, so far as I am concerned. I am telling you that the most experienced is the farmer who has to keep his home together and keep his laborers working.

I think there is a bill in the Senate or House now, in which the Department of Labor and Industry wants to provide a minimum wage for farmer boys working on the farms. My heavens, if we can butt in that far, so that farmers who raise their boys and girls cannot let them work on their own farms without interference from outside, it is time to wake up here.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, everyone knows that this bill is not to regulate the labor of farmers' children. It is to regulate the importation and the exploitation of Puerto Ricans who come to Pennsylvania and upset our society and also exploit it. That is the reason there is opposition to this bill. That is the reason you need public hearings on the bill.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I direct your attention to the fact that we are not debating the merits of this bill, but the merits of whether or not the right to petition exists in this land or whether it is going to be ignored.

The PRESIDENT. So far, Senator Mahady, our extensive speeches have stayed very much on the motion, not on the merits of the bill itself.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I think the merits of the motion are based upon the right of petition. These people have petitioned; they have a right to be heard. That is basic and fundamental in our Constitution, the right to be heard before you are affected by legislation.

Therefore, for that reason alone, I shall vote "aye" without going into the merits of it. The merits of the right to be heard are what we are voting on.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, speaking on the motion, acknowledging the fact as Senator Seyler pointed out that this is a most impressive list of organizations in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it is, nevertheless, true that those organizations which have wished to get in touch personally with any of the sponsors of the bill have already done so. Most of the sponsors of the bill have received requests for public hearings from perhaps one or two of these organizations which comprise the list that Senator Seyler read. I do not know how many of these organizations have gotten intouch directly with the Chairman of the Committee involved. No one denies the right of any organization or individual to petition. They have petitioned and they have been heard, many of them or several of them, at least, in person. Also, others who are involved in this particular question on the other side of it, the farmer, who has been mentioned here briefly, has been heard, too.

This bill has been on the Calendar for nearly thirty days. During that time, we have all had opportunities to meet with these groups at home in our counties. We have had opportunities to meet with them here and their sides have been heard. Much of the opposition side has been heard through the public press. I think that all of us have a very good knowledge of what the pros and cons are on these two bills. Therefore, I am going to vote "no" on the motion.

Mr. HARNEY. Mr. President, I, being Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry, have received no requests for a public hearing.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in the first place, I do not know how many of these organizations asked the sponsors for a public hearing and I do not know how many asked the chairman. However, you must recall, Mr. President, that the bills were on the Calendar before there was any awareness that there was any action likely to be taken and the petitions for a public hearing, therefore, could hardly go to the chairman because the bills were no longer in control of his committee.

I have given you a bona fide list, which I am willing to back up, of groups who are asking for a public hearing. The sponsors may have listened to some of these people, and I do not doubt it. However, I would remind the sponsors, although they are a distinguished and very influential group of Senators, that all of the Senators have to vote on this measure and the fact that the sponsors have had the benefit of hearing from some of these interested groups is hardly adequate, it seems to me, to provide a basis for the voting of the entire membership of fifty Senators.

Senator Elliott has mentioned the press. I did not mention the press before, but it is quite true that editorially many of the outstanding newspapers of the Commonwealth, in Philadelphia, in Pittsburgh and in Harrisburg, particularly, have suggested that a public hearing be held.

I would like to say a word about Senator Berger's point, that somehow a Cabinet Member dragooned or persuaded these groups to do something about which they apparently did not know what they were doing. I would like to point out to the Senate that these groups include the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, the Pennsylvania Congress of Industrial Organizations, the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, the Roman Catholic Apostolate for Migrants and the American Legion Child Welfare Committee. Mr. President, I doubt that the Cabinet Member in question or any other Cabinet Member is able to dragoon, or to cajole, or to force or to persuade these organizations to ask for something against their will or something about which they know nothing.

Therefore, Mr. President, I submit that this is an impressive list of petitioners, and I believe that they are entitled to be heard on this bill before the Senate takes action on it.

Mr. President, I should like to ask for a roll call.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and Mr. SILVERT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Barr,	Mahady,	Murray,	Silvert,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Ruth,	Stiefel,

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third and fourth sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to have a roll call on the question of passing this bill on second reading, and I am willing to take the same vote if there is no change in the position of the opposition.

The PRESIDENT. Does Senator Berger wish to be heard on this matter?

Mr. BERGER. No, Mr. President, I agree that this roll call may be taken.

The PRESIDENT. The clerk will now call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and Mr. SILVERT, and were as follows, viz:

The first section was read,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to read from the Harrisburg Patriot, dated Monday, May 11, 1959. The editorial was written by a fellow by the name of George Draut, Chief Editorial Writer of the Patriot. The article is entitled: "Farm Migrants Can't Vote, But—It's an Explosive Political Issue." He asks why these bills are being pushed so heavily.

> "The seven sponsoring Senators probably are paying off a political debt to the farm lobbyists. All of 'em come from districts where the farm vote is something to reckon with, and at least two of them are ambitious beyond mere re-election to the Senate."

I do not say that. I do not even subscribe to that. I think that is too vicious to say about anyone who is a Member of this Body.

Let me go on to just one other piece that is mentioned here:

> "It is worthy of mention that, so far, no Republican senator has gone to bat for Batt by pointing at the Republican Eisenhower Administration's stand on migrant labor regulations. Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell calls farm migrant labor conditions 'an affront to the conscience of the American people.' Mitchell even demands federal minimum wage and maximum hour protection for agricultural workers and says it's only a matter of time before this comes about.
> "Of course, there are no Republicans like Secretary Mitchell speaking up in the Pennsylvania Senate."

He goes on at some length castigating the Members of this Body, to which I do not subscribe.

However, I do think every consideration should be given on an issue as important as this and one that affects people who come into our State to try to earn a livelihood and who must live. If the pictures I have seen are even partially true, it is shocking, not only to our conscience but to us, as people; as human beings who believe in the dignity of man. People who have been reduced to this situation to earn a livelihood are certainly entitled to some consideration.

I do not say this legislation is a cure-all to this problem. I do not even say that this is the way we should attack this issue. However, I do say on something that is as important as this,—dealing with human beings and human misery, as these people find themselves going from farm to farm trying to eke out an existence and taking their children with them, and living through all kinds of weather and all kinds of hardships and not knowing when they are going to work again—it is worthy of committee study; worthy of a study perhaps by the Joint State Government Commission, because this is the type of thing we are doing to human beings and we do not want to be criticized or castigated on that point.

I, therefore, ask in order to take this completely out of the realm of politics that we, as Senators and Members of the Board of Directors of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, take up this problem either in committee or leave this bill stay on the Calendar and let us study the problem as a whole and take whatever action is indicated by the results of the study.

I do not believe there is any one in this Body who knows all the answers to all the problems that were presented here. I, therefore, respectfully ask my colleagues to join me and ask that this bill either be recommitted to committee for further study or, if they feel that is too harsh, I would ask that the bill go over in order until we make a further study of this problem and report back to this Body.

The PRESIDENT. May I ask whether the Senator is moving to recommit or to have the bill go over?

Mr. WEINER. My first motion, Mr. President, is that Senate Bill No. 688 be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry for further study. If that motion is defeated, I then will ask that the bill go over in order.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, the discussion on the previous motion relating to Senate Bill No. 383 is pertinent to this bill, and we would naturally not want to pass Senate Bill No. 383 unless Senate Bill No. 688 also passed. Therefore, at this time, I think it would be very ill-advised to attempt to recommit Senate Bill No. 688 for the purpose of a public hearing or study, either one, because I am sure that practically every Member of this Senate had a great deal of information given to him individually and collectively, through the press, on the intent of these bills. Without going into the merits of the bills, I cannot say anything more concerning the bills themselves.

I, therefore, oppose this motion to recommit and ask my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would just like to add to this discussion that if there was no reason for having further discussion and further information on Senate Bill No. 383, certainly there is on this bill, because this bill sets up a very complex situation to replace the present situation. It has been amended extensively. There is a question of whether it is internally consistent. I will not develop that because I do not want to get into the merits of the bill. However, certainly, if there were any reason for any bill having a hearing at this Session to date, this would be the bill because of its extremely complicated nature.

Therefore, Mr. President, I wish to ask the Members to vote "aye" on Senator Weiner's motion and ask for a roll call. If there is no change in the front, I would be quite willing to take the previously recorded vote. If any Member has had a change of mind, though, I would be very happy to have him announce it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and Mr. SILVERT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Barr,	Mahady,	Murray,	Silvert,
Donolow,	McCreesh,	Ruth,	Stiefel,
Hays,	McMenamin,	Sarraf,	Walker,
Kalman,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Weiner,

Ehrgood,	Kopriver, Jr.,	Scott,	Whalley,
Elliott,	Kromer,	Shafer,	Wolfe,
Flack,	Madigan,	Stevenson,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 688, Printer's No. 851, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I object to this bill going over in order.

The PRESIDENT. There has been an objection to your request, Senator.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second, third and fourth sections and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would ask for a roll call on the question of passing this bill on second reading. If there are no changes from the vote on the motion to recommit, I will accept the same roll call.

The PRESIDENT. The Clerk will now call the roll.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SEYLER and Mr. SILVERT, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—27

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Executive Nominations:

JUDGE OF THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF THE FOURTEENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF PENNSYLVANIA, COMPOSED OF THE COUNTY OF FAYETTE

May 25, 1959.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, due to the lateness of the hour, I am going to defer what I was about to say. However, I do plan on taking the floor tomorrow and informing the Senate of Pennsylvania as to the shabby treatment some of our Pennsylvania citizens are receiving in surrounding States, especially when it comes to the operation of motor vehicles.

In some surrounding States, they have not honored the Pennsylvania operator's licenses due to the fact that they were not signed by the Secretary of Revenue. I will have more to say about this tomorrow, and it will take quite some time.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, May 26, 1959, at 9:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 5:30 o'clock, p. m., Eastern Standard Time, until Tuesday, May 26, 1959, at 9:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Ttime.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, May 25, 1959.

The House met at 3:30 p.m. EST.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Everlstaing God, Thou Who dost give life and possesses the power over death and the grave, we come to Thee this day with the realization that a great statesman, John Foster Dulles, was called from this life yesterday morning, Help us, we pray Thee, not to mourn his passing; but in the spirit by which he lived, help us to set ourselves to the accomplishment of that great unfinished task by maintaining and preserving the peace throughout the world. Inspire us to exemplify statesmanship in that which we do, and especially we pray that Thou wilt inspire this Assembly in the discharge of its opportunities and responsibilities. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord, we humbly pray. Amen.

JOURNALS APPROVED

The SPEAKER. Are there any corrections to the Journals of Monday, May 4, Tuesday, May 5, Wednesday, May 6, Monday, May 11, Tuesday, May 12, and Wednesday, May 13, 1959? If not, and without objection, the Journals are approved.

STUDENTS OF DELAWARE MENNONITE SCHOOL WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. The Chair welcomes to the Hall of the House a delegation from the Delaware Mennonite School of Juniata County and their teacher, Mr. Roy Pellman. They are the guests of the gentleman from Juniata County, Mr. Lester H. Zimmerman.

MEMBERS OF PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT WELCOMED

The SPEAKER. We are signally honored today to have with us as our guests a distinguished delegation. There are four gentlemen here who are participants under the Point Four Technical Assistance Program, administered by the International Cooperation Administration.

They are here to observe and study the fields of accounting, auditing, budgeting and governmental organization.

They are experts in their line and I hope that we stand up well here in Pennsylvania under their scrutiny. Our guests are Jose C. Adriano, Supervising Analyst of the Budget Commission in the Philippines, he is also a professor in accounting at the University of the East at Manila.

Cicilio L. Dizon, Supervising Auditor of the Philippine Government.

Nestor Agoncillo, Chief Supervising Auditor in the General Auditing Office of the Philippine Government.

Saturinino Villaranda, Auditor in the General Auditing Office of the Philppine Government.

Will the delegation please rise?

The Chair welcomes to the rostrum Jose C. Adriano, who I hope will make a few remarks.

These young men are in charge of the finances of the Philippine Government. Take a look at them and at what the young men of the East are doing. If we had enough young men like them I would not be up here speaking.

JOSE C. ADRIANO. Mr. Speaker, distinguished members of this august group, ladies and gentlemen.

It is indeed a great honor and rare privilege not only to my companions and myself but also to our country and our people for having been given this opportunity to be with you this afternoon.

We are here in your beloved city on a tour of observation in and study of, (1) governmental organization and (2) new ideas and techniques in budgeting, accounting and auditing. Our Government embarked on this program in cooperation with the Federal Government of the United States of America under the Point Four Program or the Technical Assistance Program, administered by the International Cooperation Administration. There is indeed no doubt in the mind of any man that this benevolent act of the people of the United States of America shall redound to the benefits of our country and people.

Our stay in the different parts of this God Loving country has been, and is, a very happy one. In every place that we have visited, each and every person, whether he is in the government service or private enterprise, whether he holds a high position or a minor one, has manifested the glow of desire to help, cooperate, and be friendly. Such is the people of this great and benevolent country.

It would be quite amiss not to mention at this moment the many good things that your country has done, and is still doing for our country and our people. Although it would appear like lighting a small candle to see the sun, still I would say and repeat that the Filipino people shall always take pride in speaking of the American people to anybody, anywhere and anytime.

In closing, it is therefore fitting and proper for us to take this opportunity to express our profound gratitude for the many benefits that your people have generously endowed upon us which we have accepted with wide open arms and joy in our hearts.

I thank you.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. FRANK and STIMMEL.

RESOLUTION No. 69.

In the House of Representatives, May 13, 1959.

There has been an alarming decrease in the abundance of certain types of wild game available for the hunters of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In particular, there is a sore need for the stocking of rabbits. The attempts to meet this problem by the stocking of Kansas rabbits have met with objections from certain persons because of the difference of opinion heretofore unresolved as to whether or not there exists in this type of rabbit certain communicable diseases.

Because of the great source of enjoyment hunting affords to a large segment of the citizens of the Commonwealth, this is a problem worthy of final determination; as long as the problem remains unresolved, nothing constructive is being accomplished; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint a committee of four members of the House to investigate this problem and to ascertain the true facts concerning the prevalence or absence of communicable diseases in Kansas rabbits from the Department of Health of the Commonwealth and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations to this House of Representatives at this session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 111.

In the Senate, May 12, 1959.

The Congress of the United States, by Public Law 85-422, enacted a new military pay law, designed to increase the incentive for making careers in the uniformed forces, and to compensate for the shrunken dollar value.

This law created in effect an "Elite List" consisting of persons who retired after June 1, 1958, and an "Inferior List" consisting of persons who retired prior to June 1, 1958.

The persons on the "Elite List" were authorized to have their retired pay computed at the increased rate, while those on the "Inferior List" were denied the right to have their retired pay computed at the increased rate.

Although Public Law 85-422 recognizes the right of the widows of officers retired prior to June 1, 1958 to have their pensions based on the higher pay scales, it nevertheless denies to members retired before June 1, 1958, including those retired because of disability incurred in the line of duty, to have their retire pay computed at the increased rate.

It has been a time honored national policy that the retired pay of its National defenders be geared to that of active duty personnel. The precedent established by creation of the "Elite" and "inferior" lists of Public Law 85-422 not only defeats a basic principle of National policy but also has an adverse effect upon the retention rates of personnel currently serving on active duty, thereby destroying a principal objective of the law.

A number of bills to correct the inequity and restore the National policy on uniformity of pay for its retired personnel have been introduced in the House and Senate of the Congress of the United States and referred to the respective Armed Services Committees for report and recommendation; therefore, be it

Resolved, (the House of Representatives concurring) That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania strongly urge the favorable consideration of legislation to equalize the pay of retired members of the uniformed services; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States, and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 3, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate in regard to horse racing with legal wagering within the State with the moneys derived therefrom by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be deposited in the General Fund.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. MAXWELL offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by inserting after "Municipal" "primary"

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 2, by striking out "1959" and inserting "1961"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker I have before me a copy of the amendment to House Bill No. 3, which is the referendum bill on pari-mutuel betting on horse racing.

Our caucus has given the question of these amendments considerable discussion without indicating whether any of our Members are for or against the idea of a referendum, and we will confine the discussion here to whether, if there is a referendum, it should be at a primary, or whether it should be at a general election.

The effect of these amendments would be that we would defer until the primary election 1961—two years hence—before the subject would come up for a vote. Our caucus feels with respect to the question whether it should be at a general election or a primary election, that they would favor at a general election for this reason. At a primary election you vote for men and women who are candidates. In other words you are voting for candidates, whereas at a general election you vote on principles and issues—what a party stands for. With issues being brought up at the general election and with a good representative vote of the citizenry, any question which is as important as whether we shall have pari-mutuel betting in Pennsylvania we feel should certainly be at a general election.

Likewise of course the reason that this amendment would postpone the vote until the primary of 1961, it is obvious we will be nominating an entire new House of Representatives and half of the Pennsylvania state Senate together with delegates to the National Convention, and candidates for the fiscal offices of the state.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield?

The Chair is requesting the gentleman from Armstrong, the former Speaker, Mr. Helm to preside temporarily

Mr. HELM IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I was stating the reasons why the amendment apparently does not fix it for a primary next year, which will be the year of nominating an entire House and Senate and the various offices that I mentioned, and of course there would be an issue raised as to how the candidates stood on this very important issue, and would bring a matter into the primary election which has no reasonable relation to legislation to be passed here in this General Assembly.

Looking forward to the primary in 1961, there is not a state-wide office coming up at that time. We thought perhaps we would be nominating a state-wide judicial candidate, but that will be done in 1960. Therefore the primary election will be wholly local in nature in 1961 and there will not be many of the row offices up because this year we have the county commissioners and most of the row offices and mayors of third class cities, so that the primary election where you would bring out a reasonably large number of people is now.

For reasons which I have given we are against these amendments and ask the House to vote them down. We favor, if there is going to be a referendum—there again without indicating how we stand one way or the other on the bill in any form—it should be at a general election when we vote on principles, and issues, and matters of profound interest to the citizens of Pennsylvania. Therefore I am asking the Members to vote "No" on the amendments.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, the gentleman from McKean has just given some excellent reasons why we should vote on a referendum in the 1961 elections. He definitely stated that there were no important offices at stake, so therefore the referendum would be decided strictly on its merits. No candidates would be involved.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. A. M. JOHNSON, AUKER and EWING and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. PETROSKY offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 4, by striking out "by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 7, by striking out "with moneys" and inserting: "operated by a nonprofit commission with all net income"

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 8, by striking out "by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, just a brief explanation of the import of the amendments I have submitted to House Bill No. 3, Printer's No. 496.

The amendments primarily deal with the question that shall be placed before the electorate in the event that House Bill No. 3 would pass and become law. The question before the electorate would read in such a manner, in its entirety, in the event that these amendments would prevail: Do you favor horse racing with legal wagering within the Commonwealth, operated by a nonprofit commission with all net income derived therefrom to be deposited in the General Fund?

Now, Mr. Speaker, it is the experience of dealings with this type of operation that a much more feasible setup can be gained by having a nonprofit commission operating, and I can point as an example to the flat racing in New York State which in the past several years changed over from the private operation of its tracks to a nonprofit commission operation. We find the quality of racing has improved for the sports enthusiasts who like it, and also that the net income has gone up and, of course, helped to enhance the treasury of the State of New York to the tune of about $140 million every two years.

The voters, by voting on the fully qualified question in this manner, will designate whether or not they want to have incomes derived from this entirely placed into the state Treasury so that they can be used to defer expenses of the state government. I believe it is a good amendment. It is in the right direction, and if we are to have wagering we should have it where it redounds to the benefit of the Commonwealth. We should have it on a high basis and high caliber, and this will bring it about.

I believe the electorate would be more susceptible to voting for this type of legislation. I personally would like to see the membership of the House accept this amendment to House Bill No. 3.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that we have not caucused on these amendments. I have a faint recollection of the gentleman giving me a copy of them, but I am not too sure. Be that as it may, I would like to ask some questions about it.

How could you have a nonprofit commission with a net income? I mean, a nonprofit corporation contemplates no profit, so how would there be any net income if the commission was a nonprofit organization?

Mr. PETROSKY. That of course would be set up by the legislation that would be necessary at the time of passing a pari-mutuel wagering bill, after this question is voted on at a referendum in the election.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well isn't that an incongruity to have it on the ballot that you would operate it with a nonprofit corporation whose net income would go to the state? Isn't that a contradiction?

Mr. PETROSKY. No, that is not a contradiction. It is a means of spelling out for the voters a question, because I find that the electorate would possibly accept by referendum this type of question where they would specifically spell out their wanting the state to operate the tracks, much in the same manner as this state operates the liquor stores and all the net incomes therefrom are deposited in the General Fund.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. What ideas do you have in mind about this commission? You say we would pass enabling legislation and set up a commission, which would be appointed by the Governor, I suppose?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is correct.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. And you contemplate an operation like our liquor stores where the state would run the horse race tracks like they were running a liquor store, is that about the idea?

Mr. PETROSKY. Well, certainly it would not be the same as the liquor stores because you are in a different operation entirely. And, of course, the loopholes would be closed. But to be specific, the voters would designate by voting on a question of this nature. They would state that these would not be owned by private enterprise and stockholders. So therefore in your enabling legislation, after the referendum, you could set it up.

Incidentally I want to say to the gentleman from McKean that about 4 years ago I worked on some parimutuel racing legislation, and it is possible to set up a good piece of legislation and close the loopholes that are today existent in other states, which we should not have when we bring racing into Pennsylvania. The experience of the other states shows us that.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, now, I take it this commission would own, operate and build the race track. In other words this commission has to go out and buy the land and build the track?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is right. It would be on a similar basis to the operation of some of the authorities we have that operate, that could float bonds and bond the thing. It would not take Commonwealth money; they could bond the thing and then amortize the bonds from the receipts.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Would you invest this commission with the power of eminent domain to go and condemn land to build these race tracks?

Mr. PETROSKY. I cannot speak for the next legislative body, but that would be entirely up to the next Legislature after the vote on this referendum.

You recognize that if we are here in session next year, then of course it would be this legislative body, the opinion, of the majority of the House and the Senate at that time as to what form that legislation would take. But the specific thing we say here is that it shall be a nonprofit commission.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Do you know of any other states that operate horse racing through a state-operated nonprofit commission?

Mr. PETROSKY. Yes. New York State adopted that several years ago, and I am given to understand that Reader's Digest has just had a tremendous article in it commending them for the type of operation they have instituted. Several years prior to that, horse racing had just about come into disrepute in New York State, and there was danger of losing the high class sport shows they hold in New York State at the present time.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. In New York State they do not levy a tax, as such, on the bets; they operate it just like a business, is that the idea?

Mr. PETROSKY. That of course is what I spoke of earlier when I said to you that just so long as we are told, or the next Legislature is told, by referendum that it is to be operated by a nonprofit commision and the monies derived therefrom will go — — —

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, there may or may not be merit to the amendments. Would it mean then that the state would hire employes, that they would be on the state payroll and be entitled to state retirement, and so forth?

Mr. PETROSKY. No. Not unless this House would pass enabling legislation bringing this nonprofit commission's operation under the retirement system, the same as you have done in passing upon the retirements for other commissions that you have formulated. You ordinarily passed upon the commission first and then in later years, due to prsesures, demands, and so on, you have passed upon retirement. As of the moment I would say to you, no. They do not need to be, and it is not indicated as such in my amendment and in the question that will be placed upon the ballot. That will be a matter that will be determined by future legislators.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Would they be entitled to unemployment compensation after the track closes?

Mr. PETROSKY. That would be a subject to be put to other legislators. I do not believe that argument fits into the picture at the present time, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, as I say, we have not taken a party position on it one way or the other, and if there is any further explanation the gentleman would like to make about how the commission would operate, he should perhaps do it. I have no idea how Members on this side of the House are going to vote on the amendment, but perhaps they might want the amendments laid on the table.

I thank the gentleman.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, yields to the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Auker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, when you are dealing with a referendum of this kind it is of very vital importance to every person in the Commonwealth. I feel with the insertion of these amendments it will greatly serve to confuse the issue of whether or not, first of all, you want to have legalized horse race gambling in Pennsylvania.

To my mind, too, the thought proposed by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky and the bill as currently on the calendar without his amendment, should be decided by the people as separate issues. If they vote for legalized horse race gambling, then to have a separate referendum, not a part of this bill, but a separate "Do you favor the Commonwealth being in the horse race gambling business?" Then you have a clean cut issue.

For these reasons, I sincerely hope the membership of the House will vote down these amendments.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The gentleman from Westmoreland yields to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell.

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, the form this bill is in at present without any amendments is the only true way that this bill can be presented to the electorate of this Commonwealth. What this House wants, and I believe what every Member of this House honestly and truly wants is a true sample. They want something to go by. They want something to judge their future actions in this Legislature. They want to know how their people back home feel on this issue.

Regardless of how some of the Members are going to vote, I know deep down in their own hearts they would like to know whether their people back home are honestly for a straight referendum bill without any frills or anything added to it. There is no way that the Members of this House can obtain an honest opinion from their people back in their districts except by a referendum of those people, whether it is in a general election or whether it is in a primary.

I would suggest to Mr. Petrosky that he is more or less getting the cart before the horse. If he wants this type of legislation, that is perfectly all right with me. I have no objection to it. But I believe he should introduce a separate bill, not to try to confuse this referendum issue.

Therefore I would ask the Members of this House to vote down the amendments. Leave the bill as it is. It is a straight referendum bill without any frills or anything added to it. There is nothing to confuse the voters. It is a simple yes or no, do you want horse racing or don't you? Let us leave the bill that way. If this House passes it let the people vote on it. Let us decide or let the people tell us what to do with subsequent legislation.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, if there are other speakers, I would not mind their taking the floor. Since I have sponsored the amendments I would like to yield to any other Member who wants to speak on the amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there any other Member who desires to speak for or against the amendments?

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, just a matter of explanation since a further explanation was asked for. I say that primarily I have been interested in horse racing because of the sport and because of my knowledge that so many Pennsylvanians enjoy the sport.

Other advocates have supported the proposal for horse racing with pari-mutuel wagering and used this public relations and propaganda on the fact that it would raise a certain amount of revenue for the Commonwealth coffer.

I submit this is not a confusing issue contained within the words of my amendments. It is a clear spelling out of the public propaganda that has been given out relative to the money that will be raised from this sport. And those monies, as demonstrated by the experience of New York State in the last several years, will be so much greater for the Treasury of the Commonwealth with this amendment in it.

Now to pass upon the question as it appears in the bill without amendment, and if the same were passed upon by the electorate, you know and I know that to have all the monies derived therefrom go into the General Fund rather than to private corporations and stockholedrs, certainly the people in another referendum would vote overwhelmingly for it.

I am an enthusiast of this sport, and I feel this amendment will aid in the passage of this referendum by the people of the Commonwealth. I submit to the Members of the House, if we are to have horse racing I say that the money derived therefrom should go into the Treasury of the Commonwealth. I ask the membership of the House to vote aye on the amendments.

And, Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. TOMPKINS. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland Mr. Petrosky.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland if it is now against the law to have horse racing in Pennsylvania?

Mr. PETROSKY. It is not.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Then you are not really submitting a question of horse racing to the people, you are submitting a question as to whether or not they can legally bet on horse racing?

Mr. PETROSKY. Legal pari-mutuel wagering, that is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. That is all, thank you.

Mr. Speaker, I am inclinded to agree with the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Maxwell, that you only confuse the issue by submitting this question to the people regarding the commission which the gentleman is proposing. The question to go to the people is not: Should we have horse racing in Pennsylvania? The question is: Should we allow gambling on horse racing in Pennsylvania?

Now when we had repeal of prohibition, we didn't have all of the systems by which you were going to administer that in case of repeal. You repealed and then took up those matters.

Let us find out first whether or not the people will approve of the gambling. It would be a great thing to have them approve the commission and disapprove the gambling portion of it. I just cannot add the two of them together. I think the amendments so far as the commission is concerned for referendum should be defeated.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, before we vote on this particular amendment, I think we ought to have some facts. I was likewise interested in the proposed amendment as submitted by Mr. Petrosky, and I obtained information from the New York Racing Commission in the belief that millions of dollars would have been obtained through a nonprofit organization.

Here are the official facts from the state of New York: In 1957 net income for the State of New York on the nonprofit feature of its race tracks was only $2.444 million. The net income reflected a considerable improvement over the $1.276 million earned for the 1956 season, and a marked contrast to the $749,000 earned for the year ended December 31, 1955. It seems as though this particular situation of having a nonprofit set-up is somewhat of a mirage. Therefore I think I would have to change my mind and vote also against this amendment.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

BUDGET

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, May 25, 1959.

Mr. Lieutenant Governor, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

On Monday next, as you well know, the Commonwealth will begin operation of the 1959-61 fiscal biennium.

We will begin those operations, however, without having enacted appropriation bills or revenue measures sufficient to pay for the operations of the government for the next two years. Instead, for the sixth time since the 1947 session of the Legislature, the State's fiscal affairs will be uncertain and indefinite at the beginning of a new biennium, and we will have resorted to stop-gap appropriations to keep the basic services in operation.

It seemed to me appropriate, therefore, to review briefly the situation as it now exists and to express to the members of the Assembly my deep concern over the inability of the government of this Commonwealth to meet its obligations fully and on time.

Those obligations, of course, are the services which the State provides, the institutions it maintains, the subsidies and the grants it disburses, the deficit which must be paid off.

It was on March 2d when I appeared before you to present my recommended budget to finance the State's operations for the 1959-61 biennium. As it pertained to program, it was not a unique document. In fact, as I pointed out at that time, "it may well be argued that this budget does not do enough for public education, for our State-aided universities and colleges, for our economic and community development programs, for mental health, for improved standards of public assistance, for many other good and necessary public services."

"But a budget," I continued, "must find its being in the art of the possible."

Since March 2d, the budget has been available for examination by the members of the Assembly and by any other interested individual or group. A subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee has held extensive hearings on the expenditure requests and the House Appropriations Committee has been following the same process. I believe members of both groups will confirm that officers of this Administration have attempted to provide the fullest possible detail about departmental operations and about their financial needs.

It was in keeping with this belief that the General Assembly should be fully informed that I advised the Legislature and the public a month ago that improved revenue yields in the present biennium had reduced the anticipated deficit from $177,678,874 to $156,332,545.

This Administration has also made available to every member of the Legislature a monthly report on the status of the various appropriations paid from the General Fund.

I am convinced that such actions are both proper and necessary.

I trust they have been helpful, also, in emphasizing that we have tried to develop an honest budget, without padding and without fat. I have said before and I repeat now that I am against spending one cent more than we legitimately need to carry out the functions which are the State's responsibility.

You have had an opportunity to form some judgment on the expenditure patterns since the budget was presented.

At the same time the budget was submitted, bills were introduced to provide the revenues to finance it.

These bills were drawn in conformity with the recommendations of the Hood-Kennedy report—the unanimous conclusion of a committee of twelve men equally divided between Republicans and Democrats and representative of business, labor and government.

I have agreed to take full political and personal responsibility for the proposals.

Now, 82 days later, we still have not been able to get agreement on the bulk of these suggested revenue measures. We still are $210,653,671 short of the funds necessary to balance the budget as I presented it.

Failure to enact two features of the recommended sales tax bill by May 1 has already cost the State $3.3 million. After June 1st, every passing day of inaction on the recommended tax measures will cost $318,000.

It hardly seems necessary to point out that our already bad financial condition will get worse if the present course continues. We have not too long to go before the spectre of real crisis—just as that which faces some of our sister states—will be hovering over us.

I find it necessary to repeat once again my belief that the recommendations of the Hood-Kennedy Committee represent the fairest and the most sensible means of raising the revenues needed to operate the State for the biennium which will soon be upon us. They represent compromise, they reflect no partisanship, they preserve a healthy business tax climate, and they distribute the burden fairly. There is no free ride for anyone at the expense of his fellow Pennsylvanians.

While it is understandable that various groups can take exception to any tax proposal, the fact remains that no one, to my knowledge, has come up with any substitute or alternate suggestion which would meet the State's needs as they would be met by adopting the report of the Hood-Kennedy group.

The fact remains, also that our schools and hospitals, our institutions for the retarded and the mentally ill, our drive for industrial development and urban rebirth, all need funds desperately.

We cannot create the kind of atmosphere which will attract new business to Pennsylvania and create new job opportunities for our citizens if we cannot resolve our State's finances realistically and on time.

Since I have been Governor, I have tried to make it clear that I am willing and anxious to work with members of both political parties in achieving the kind of program Pennsylvania must have if it is to regain its economic health and if it is to grow and prosper in full measure with national growth and prosperity.

Nothing has happened to change my views; the door is still open and will remain so.

It is the Governor's responsibility to administer the affairs of the State and to make recommendations to the Legislature.

It is the Legislature's responsibility to legislate.

It is the responsibility of all of us to find solutions to our common problems as Pennsylvanians. I urge the Legislature to use the days immediately ahead to rescue the Commonwealth from its present financial difficulties, so that we can move on to the larger problems which are ours to solve.

DAVID L. LAWRENCE.

STATEMENT BY MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, before the echo of the words of the Governor die, I think that we should have a few words with respect to his message.

It is, of course, an admonition to the House of Representatives and a polite scolding that we have not passed his tax program. For your information, to repeat, when we were in power in 1957 we started our budget hearings on the 18th of February. It took until the 18th of May before the General Appropriation bill hit the calendar. You folks on the other side set up your budget hearings to start on the first day of May. You have been running them on an assembly-line basis. How anybody can really find out what is in the budget, I do not know in this relatively short period of time.

Therefore, what the Governor has, in effect, been asking us to do, away back in March when he came up with a tax program, was sight unseen to vote taxes. Had we passed his $400 million tax program then, we would have been putting $21 million more taxes on the people than we should have because his message just said, while I told you that the deficit was $178 million when I first came into power, yet I now find that it is only $156 million, or there is a savings of $21 million. In other words, we would have over-taxed the people $21 million had we obediently passed the tax program when it first hit this session of the General Assembly.

Now, on this business of rescuing the Commonwealth from the plight that we are in, I grant you that we are probably in bad financial straits, but I would not want to say that we Republicans put you there. This budget bill says the Governor wants $77 million for over-spending or increased deficiencies, rather, by Governor Leader. Sure we have to rescue him in some way from improvident or imprudent management of our state, and we will before this session is over, after we have had an intelligent report from the budget committee who are over there studying the budget not only in the House and the Senate, and having three or four different sources reappraise the money that will come in from existing taxes.

Of course, proper administration and good husbandry and responsible government will call for us to sit down and arrive at how much is needed and what is going to be done about the proposition. But right now we have $1.650 billion in taxes on our books.

Today we concurred in two tax bills, the Corporate Net Income Tax and the other, the CIT tax, as we call it. Then tomorrow we are going to adopt a conference report on the Real Estate Transfer Tax, and when we do that there will be $1.650 billion in taxes that will come in, if we do not pass another tax program.

Too bad that is not enough money to run our Commonwealth. Maybe realistically it would be, but we are not really facing the dire situation that one would have you believe in view of the fact that we do have substantial huge tax measures on the bill at the present time.

Therefore, I think the Governor is probably right in sending us a message. Of course he is worrying about the deficit and where he is going to get the money to carry on. We are worrying about it just as much as he is.

All you have to do is walk down the streets of any small town in Pennsylvania, they will tell you what they think about taxes and about spending and what is going on down here in Harrisburg. They expect us to do what we are doing. They do not want us to close our eyes and walk blindly down that aisle, vote these taxes and pass this budget until we have all intelligently done the job that we were sent here to do.

So with that, in summary, I would say we will pass as we have already a stop-gap appropriation bill that will provide us money to run during the month of June. The time of reckoning is at hand, but until we get the figures and until these Appropriation hearings are finished, and until we know exactly what the sum is that is realistically needed, I doubt if the Members on this side of the House are going to change their position and vote taxes. I do not believe they are. We expect to caucus on that problem tomorrow. We have called a very important caucus.

But without any new information at hand and without the picture changing, I doubt if we are ready to do the job that the Governor has asked us to do in his message; the time is not quite ripe.

It is not my fault that you did not start your Appropriation hearings until the first of May, that you are going to try to cram them into the month of May and a few days in June. We did not call for that. You are the ones that have done that. Why did you not start auditing that budget back in February so that right now you could say to us, alright, here's the figure—this is what it adds up to—this is what it amounts to—let's sit down and talk business. But you are not in that position yet, and I do not think the people of Pennsylvania expect us to vote the remainder of this tax program until we all know exactly how much money is required to run the state in the next two years.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, it certainly is encouraging to hear the remarks of the Minority Leader regarding the message that the Governor has just presented to the General Assembly.

First I would like to clear a few points and clear them for the record very clearly. I personally have attended the Appropriation Committee hearings on five separate occasions on which occasions there was not a Member of this House, Republican or Democrat who could not say that he had every opportunity to ask any and every and all questions regarding any part that was at hearing that night or that day. Therefore, the hearings are not crammed or jammed.

A few days ago there was talk about cutting $25 to $40 million out of the budget. From a hearing one night in the Department of Public Instruction, and certainly we checked very carefully, I think we can agree that when we are done we will ask for more money for the schools of Pennsylvania than was in the budget submitted by the Governor.

So if we would have passed the $400 million in tax money we would not have overtaxed Pennsylvanians; we would have provided money for schools and hospitals that your people are asking you for the same as they are asking us. They are your counties and my counties that want this money. They are asking for revenue aid of $197 million in more money.

What is your position in opposition to these measures? Are you saying to us in Pennsylvania today that this is more than we need to operate Pennsylvania in the next biennium, or are you saying that not until such time as the hearings are completed will you then decide if this is sufficient money?

For many weeks there was much material gathered by the Appropriation Chairman and, as we proceed each day of the hearings, I would like to again remind the Minority Leader that they are not jammed sessions. They are operated very orderly and I would like to say that the Republican Members present each and every day at those hearings could certainly stand up and say in this House that they get an opportunity to ask any questions about any part, and if the answer is not there it is gotten immediately, as to the number of cars, the number of employes, whether they have more or less than they did two years ago. There is nothing we intend to hide.

I would like to momentarily correct this about the deficit. You say that you did not help make it? Let us look at the record a moment.

Did you appropriate the amount under Public Assistance in 1957-59, which is now Public Welfare, that was required to operate that Department in compliance with the Law? Or shall we say that you appropriated enough money under the Occupational Disease Act that would permit that which we passed by law? Or can we agree that the amount you appropriated when you were in control of the General Assembly in the 1957-59 biennium did not help to create that deficiency? Or can we blame all of the deficiency on that part of the revenue which failed to yield the amount estimated by the proper authorities due to the recession which occurred? Yes, a part of this you must admit you helped create. The record will bear it out very carefully.

The part that is our responsibility we accept. We are asking here today that we complete these hearings as soon as possible and we are going to present to this House an opportunity to vote on some tax measures by Wednesday of this week, tax measures that will not cover the entire amount of revenue needed to carry out this budget, but certainly will cover that portion that we can at least all agree, or at least the mandated amount on which none of you can disagree, can be cut from this budget.

These are items that we must face and we intend to settle down seriously about the tax measures. Yes, your position may not change, and we respect your position as a party, but we say to you that you and I both owe an obligation. There is no question that you know very well that we do not have the required constitutional majority of votes to pass individual tax measures now on the calendar. We will do everything within our power to persuade, to ask and to plead for every vote that we can get from the Democratic side of the House, but at the same time we are asking you to face this problem, for we accept it politically as our responsibility, by helping to provide the votes that will insure the passage of some of these tax measures on Wednesday of this week.

I know that it is late tonight. Momentarily I did not know that we were going to debate the Governor's message. I know that the Supreme Court dinner is already under way, but I would like to say to you that we will take point by point every statement you have made here tonight, point by point, every statement you have made in the past regarding the cuts from the budget and the amount that your Members, as well as our own question for additional money over and beyond that recommended by the Governor in the budget he presented here.

We can talk about economy and we believe in economy. We can talk that we do not want to waste the taxpayers' money and we certainly do not. If there is any fat in the budget, the Governor has said, we will cut it out. You name it; the door is open. This has been an open door, a two-way street, in which you ask the questions; we will give you the answers. All we ask is your support, for we must face this issue and face it now with the start of the new biennium in our state government.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has been informed that copies of the Governor's Message will be placed in the Members' mail boxes tomorrow morning.

PERMISSION TO ADD ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to add additional sponsors to a resolution to be introduced by him.

RESOLUTIONS

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. A. W. JOHNSON, OGILVIE, HELM, LIPPINCOTT, Mrs. HENZEL, Mrs. B. Z. MILLER, Messrs. LOPRESTI, McCANN, Mrs. VARALLO and Mr. FILO offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted by a rising vote as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 25, 1959.

Seldom has the death of one person touched the hearts of so many people of the world as has the passing of John Foster Dulles. To freedom loving persons everywhere, John Foster Dulles stood as the champion of their policies and ideals.

Knowing well that to maintain his arduous schedule was at the risk of his life, Mr. Dulles steadfastly continued to fight for the well-being of our nation. He most certainly gave his life for his country as valiantly as did any man who ever died on the field of battle. His sacrifice, however, was not in vain, for we have enjoyed, during his period of service as Secretary of State, a period of relative peace and tranquility, in an era of never-ending crisis. A man of lesser talents and principle might easily have plunged our nation into war, or appeased the enemies of freedom with concessions; but through the courage and perseverance of John Foster Dulles these tragedies have been averted.

Though there is sadness in our hearts, it is shared with a feeling of deep pride in having been so fortunate as to have John Foster Dullas as a fellow American. Though most of us never had the privilege of knowing him personally, his endeavors on our behalf made him a part of us. The personal integrity, patriotism and stern resolution of this outstanding American, so completely dedicated to the cause of peace with justice, will long live in our memories and in the annals of history, and will serve as an inspiration and guide to those who carry on his endeavors; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania expresses its eternal gratitude for the accomplishments of John Foster Dulles, and extends its deepest sympathy to his loved ones upon his death; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. John Foster Dulles.

Mr. BOWMAN offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

Mr. J. A. O'DONNELL offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

May 25, 1959.

Mr. Lieutenant Goveror, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

On Monday next, as you well know, the Commonwealth will begin operation of the 1959-61 fiscal bienium.

We will begin those operations, however, without having enacted appropriation bills or revenue measures sufficient to pay for the operations of the government for the next two years. PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHADY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, at this Session of the Legislature, I have already introduced, in cooperation with others, two bills in connection with jury reform. The first bill, you will recall, provided for the picking of jurors from the voting list and not from lists which are passed around the community in order to suggest names for jury service.

The second bill was to raise the emolument of the pay to jurors to $10 a day to justify a man leaving his work for jury service.

Mr. President, I am now about to present a third bill which will require jurors, who are excused in one term of court, to be enrolled for jury duty in the next term of court. The quality of our jurors, which is the basis of our judicial system, has deteriorated due to the fact that many people feel that they do not want to lose the time or the money by serving on a jury. As a result, the courts are hard pressed and everyone wants to be excused. It puts the courts in the position of excusing some and keeping the bare minimum necessary for jury trials.

This bill would reduce the number of people who ask to be excused because if they do not serve this term, they will serve the next term. Thus, it would remove from the court the burden of excusing someone from doing a fundamental duty which is required and necessary to keep a cross section of the community represented upon juries.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. KELLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. KELLER. Mr. President, beginning on June 2 and continuing through June 13, 1959, my home town of Newtown, Bucks County, will be celebrating its 275th anniversary, at which time there will be a series of events which we hope will bring before the citizens of our community, more especially the youth, in a practical way, the mode of living and the events of the past three centuries in order that they may better appreciate the sacrifices and contributions made by those who have given so much that we may enjoy living in this great land of ours.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am offering this resolution.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO THE CITIZENS OF NEWTOWN UPON THE CELEBRATION OF THE 275th ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR TOWN

Mr. KELLER offered the following resolution which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, May 26, 1959.

The year 1959 marks the 275th birthday anniversary of the Borough of Newtown, Bucks County, Pennsylvania. It was 275 years ago, in 1684, that Newtown was surveyed by Thomas Holme. Newtown—William Penn's home—was part of Pennsbury Manor, a vast tract of land "lying and being in the Province of Pennsylvania aforesaid beginning at a certain white oak—over against the falls of Delaware River, and so from thence up the river for 5½ miles and westward to Neshaminy Creek."

The first settlers of Newtown came from England, Ireland and Wales, influenced by Penn's desire to create "a blessed government and a virtuous, ingenious and industrious society" in the new world. From England came such prominent early settlers as William Markham, first Deputy Governor of Pennsylvania. From Ireland came James Logan, one of Penn's most trusted aides, and Thomas Holme who planned the City of Philadelphia. Shortly after, additional settlers, inspired by the political and religious freedom offered by Newtown and surrounding countryside, arrived from Germany, Holland, France, and other European countries.

Newtown and the surrounding area were destined to be the scene of vital events during the American Revolution. Newtown was the county seat of Bucks County from 1726 to 1812, and as such was an important junction during the Revolutionary War. It was here that George Washington planned his now immortal crossing of the Delaware to attack the Hessians at Trenton, and it was from Newtown that he and his troops marched to defeat the British at Princeton. During the Revolution, one of the inns, still operating today, served as a storehouse for the Quarter Master Department of Washington's army.

After the Revolution, Newtown continued to function as the center of county government until 1812. Incorporated as a borough in 1838, the first election of officers was held in that year.

From its quiet beginning in 1684, through its prosperous period as county seat and through the trying times during the American Revolution, Civil War and World Wars, when the citizens of Newtown were identified as lovers of freedom and justice and in the progressive years thereafter, the Borough of Newtown has always exemplified the thriving rural and urban Americana, the backbone of this nation's economic and agricultural stability. Small town America is the source of strength which has produced men and women of courage and ability who have both led and served this nation in peace and in war. The numerous picturesque streets of Newtown act as a living memorial to the past, while the excellent schools, modern businesses and industry represent a commitment to the future of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of the Senate are happy to share the satisfaction and pride of the citizens of Newtown in the history of their borough and extend to the people of Newtown sincere and heartfelt congratulations upon the celebration of the two hundred seventy-fifth anniversary of the town. The members of the Senate also extend congratulations to C. Robert Knipe, Burgess of the Borough of Newtown, to Thomas Lavelle, Chairman of the Newtown Anniversary Committee, and to those on this committee for their efforts in making this anniversary a successful one.

STUDENTS FROM BETHEL TOWNSHIP, DELAWARE COUNTY, PRESENTED TO SENATE

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to introduce a group of students from my county, who are here under the guidance of Miss Martha Van Dyke and the Principal of their school. They are in the eighth grade, from Bethel Township.

I also notice, sitting in the front row of the balcony, our good Representative, Clarence D. Bell. I do not know what he is doing. I think he is acting as guide. However, we are not going to give him guide's pay today; you can tell him that.

It is a real pleasure to have these young students visiting us. I met with them just a few moments ago and they wanted to know so many things that I thought were most interesting. In fact, they asked me questions that even Senator Ehrgood has never asked me. I think it is a real thing and a real help for these children. I think it is an education in itself. I wish, Mr. President, you would welcome these students to Harrisburg and the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. We are very happy to have the students from Delaware County present in our Senate. I wonder if they will rise for our usual sounds of welcome. Representative Bell, you could have risen, too, so that we would see you. We are very glad to have you, too.

An Act amending the "Fuel Use Tax Act," approved January 14, 1952 (P. L. 1965), increasing the permanent excise tax.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SILVERT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, at the last Session in 1957, Senator Ehrgood and myself introduced what was called the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority Bill. The purpose of the bill was to fill a much needed field and that is, loans to students in college which would have been self-liquidating after they went out into their professions and were able to repay the loans.

Unfortunately, that bill failed of enactment, although similar bills in Massachusetts and New York have produced most desirable results.

At this Session of the Legislature, Senator Ehrgood and myself reintroduced the same bill sometime ago, about two months ago. While the bill was in committee, we took up with the Department of Public Instruction any suggestion that they may have had with relation to this bill. We received a number of suggestions and we prepared amendments, and then thought it desirable to introduce a new bill altogether. I was surprised to read in this morning's Report on Bills Introduced, that Senator Berger yesterday introduced, under his own authorship, a bill creating a Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority.

Mr. President, this problem is so vital that neither Senator Ehrgood nor myself are going to stand on pride of authorship. If Senator Berger's bill is a more workable bill, we will be glad to vote for it. In the meantime, since we have done all this work on the preparation of a new bill, I am introducing, on behalf of Senator Ehrgood and myself, this new bill for the creation of a Pennsylvanian Higher Education Assistance Authority.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Messrs. SILVERT and EHRGOOD read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 789, entitled:

An Act creating the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Authority; defining its powers and duties; conferring powers and imposing duties on the Governor,

President pro Tempore of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Department of Banking; and making appropriations.

Which was committeed to the Committee on Education.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I have been informed by the House of Representatives that due to the death of Representative Allen M. Gibson, of Warren, Pennsylvania, the House of Representatives will adjourn without taking up any of their business today and for the rest of the week.

In conformity with their action, it was our plan to adjourn the Senate for the rest of the week. However, due to the fact that two important bills have been reported from committee, which bills must be passed on the first day of June, I intend to ask that the Senate be adjourned until tomorrow morning for the purpose only of taking up those bills.

As an explanation to my colleagues, I believe that what I have just said is sufficient to account for our action in today's Session.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, the Members on this side of the aisle wish to join with the Majority Leader in his motion for adjournment. We are also saddened by the situation which exists, the death of a Member of the House of Representatives, Mr. Allen Gibson. He was known to many Members on this side, having served here a good many years.

For that reason, Mr. President, we wish to join with the Majority Leader in his motion.

ANNOUNCEMENT CONCERNING HOLDING OF HEARINGS, PURSUANT TO SENATE RESOLUTION, SERIAL No. 11

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, relative to the two hearings that we are having in connection with the committee appointed under Senate Resolution, Serial No. 11, I want to announce to all of the Members of the Senate that on June 5th,—we will hold hearings on June 4th and June 5th—we will have special witnesses from the Department of Public Instruction, one of whom will be Doctor Morneweck. He is preparing a special report on the cost of education, during the next several bienniums, under present law. I am sure this information will be of great interest to many Members of the Senate. Also, if any of the Members wish to invite their boards of education or boards of directors, whichever the case may be, to attend that hearing, they would be most welcome.

I think that the figures which will be given to us by Doctor Morneweck and others from the Department of Public Instruction will be rather revealing. I hope, therefore, that many will attend that hearing.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Wednesday, May 27, 1959, at 8:00 o'clock, a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, MAY 26, 1959

The House met at 11:00 a. m. EST.
The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF DEATH OF HON. ALLEN M. GIBSON

The SPEAKER. The Speaker announces with profound sorrow the death on Monday, May 25, 1959, of our Minority Whip, The Honorable Allen M. Gibson, late a Member of this House representing the County of Warren.

As a mark of respect to his memory, the Chair requests that at the conclusion of the prayer we stand in silence with heads bowed until the gavel sounds.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend David R. Hoover, offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, Thou Lord of life and death, standing in Thy presence, we feel and acknowledge how frail and uncertain our own condition is; and we turn to Thee in this hour as death has claimed one of the senior Members of this House of Representatives.

The Honorable Allen M. Gibson was serving his eighth consecutive term when called from this life, but his influence will long linger within these hallowed halls. The respect and reverence in which he was held testify to his outstanding character. The office with which he was entrusted in this session bears witness to the leadership ability he possessed and exhibited. And those three-score years were filled with the understanding and need for service to others.

We bow before Thy throne of mercy as sorrow hath filled our hearts; and as we pay tribute to his memory, we humbly pray that Thou wilt bless us who are sitll in our pilgrimage through life. Bestow upon us the vision of tomorrow where darknes shall be turned to light, truth shall overcome ignorance, and life shall be victorious over death: through Him who gained for us the hope of eternity, even Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Lord. Amen.

STATEMENT BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, before we adjourn for the day, I think it is fitting and proper that we say a few words about the untimely death of our dear Representative, Allen Gibson.

His death last night has come as a terrible shock to all of us, and a great loss to the Legislature to which he had given so much of himself.

We were surprised yesterday morning to see him in Harrisburg, for he had suffered a heart attack less than three weeks ago. He had been resting at his home in Warren since then, but his devotion to the Legislature was so great that he came to Harrisburg in spite of the fact that he was a very sick man.

Allen's contribution to his party and to the House as a whole was immeasurable. In the past when others would get excited in the heat of party conflicts, Allen would remain calm. Time and again his wise counsel would help us reach solutions and compromises that were in the best interests of all.

Allen never sought the limelight. He was content to work quietly in the background.

His kindness and his good humor were an inspiration to us all. He was a man of broad sympathies and he was deeply conscious of human needs and always worked for the public good.

Allen was a successful business man and had retired in comfortable circumstances. It would have been possible for him to spend his remaining years enjoying life, just taking it easy.

But that was not Allen's way. He preferred to be active and to serve the public as a legislative leader. When ill health threatened him, he brushed his own safety aside and came back to Harrisburg. He literally died with his boots on.

We are all proud of him, proud to have worked with him, proud of his ideal of public service.

In extending our sympathy to his fine family, we can only say that his life and work will stand as a shining example of unselfish service to all of us. The Pennsylvania House of Representatives will forever be in debt to Allen Gibson, who exemplified our highest ideals and traditions.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, on this beautiful Tuesday noonday all of our hearts are saddened by the passing of one of our esteemed Members of the House of Representatives.

We on this side of the House have learned to love and respect this gentleman from Warren, who in a series of conferences has shown outstanding ability and sportsmanship in the position his party had bestowed upon him as an officer of the House of Representatives. Many times within the last few months in a series of conferences, of which Mr. Gibson was a Member, this fine gentleman from Warren very quietly listened to those of us who in our heated discussions were a mile apart in our points of view. Then in his own meticulous manner he was able to very nicely present a solution of compromise which each of us was willing to accept.

He was a man whom we have learned to respect, to admire; a man of whom we could always say, His word was his bond.

In the last few weeks in a series of conferences we were deeply disturbed as the Minority Leader, Mr. Johnson, would mention the illness of Mr. Gibson, and then see him at a conference participating in the decisions which the House must make. At the time I am sure he did not feel up to par, but through loyalty to the House he felt it was his obligation to be here to help plan decisions that would be helpful to all of Pennsylvania.

I think it is most fitting that we think of those who have preceded this gentleman from Warren, and think of the respect the people of Warren held for this great, distinguished representative, Mr. Gibson.

He was a County Chairman of the party which he represented. He had served in County elective offices. He was a business man, a church man and a family man.

I think the people of Warren County spoke their piece in beloved kindness of the man who represented them from the county of Warren.

We on this side of the House feel that we have lost an extremely close friend, a man whose wisdom and knowledge will be sadly missed, a man who has devoted a great number of years to representing the people of Warren County and a Member of this House, a man who has always been fair in his decisions and honest in his tabulations of the things which he considered right and wrong, a man who was always willing to give a helping hand, working quietly, never seeking the limelight but only assisting all.

I recall just a few weeks ago when we discussed some of the things that we hope in future years we could plan a little better, things that we talked about to help the new Members who come here for the first time. How well I can recall the wonderful words of wisdom that Mr. Gibson spoke in regard to assisting new Members, and I know that he had done that on his own many times in the past.

We on this side of the House express our deepest sympathy to the family, to the widow. I myself personally had the opportunity many times to talk to Mrs. Gibson, to dine with them, and we certainly extend our heartfelt sympathy.

The House will long remember the work and devotion of this wonderful man from Warren County.

PRAYER

The following prayer was offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. RUTH:

Our dear Heavenly Father, we come to Thee today on this beautiful day with sadness in our hearts that some of our co-laborers, who have worked with us through these many years, have heard the call and have entered into rest. In memory to them, we pray that we may realize more fully how certain the hand of death is and how uncertain our life is so that we may be found watching when Thou dost call, for Thou didst say, "That He will come in an hour and a time that you think not." May we always be ready to meet Thee face to face.

Bless the work of our hands here today, that it may be done to Thy honor and glory. We ask it in Thy holy Name, Amen.

CONGRATULATING HARVEY HADDIX UPON HAVING PITCHED A PERFECT GAME FOR TWELVE INNINGS

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, there is an old addage in America that, "There will be no joy in Mudville tonight." The same addage applies in my great hometown, the city of Pittsburgh, today.

I want the record to show for our grandchildren that a great baseball game was pitched in Milwaukee Stadium last night by Harvey Haddix, a thirty-three year old left-hander from Pittsburgh.

It has been since 1880 that a perfect nine-inning game was pitched in National League Baseball. Last night, Harvey Haddix not only pitched nine innings of perfect baseball, but he pitched twelve innings of perfect baseball. Not one Milwaukee player received a hit, with such batters as Bruton, Gilliam, Crandall, Adcock and Aaron, who is presently batting .456 to lead both leagues. However, in the thirteenth inning, as luck would have it, the Pittsburgh third baseman, who is a great ball player, had a throwing error. Then, the next man up, Eddie Mathews, who is quite a slugger, laid down a perfect sacrifice and a man moved to second base.

Just to show how every manager in National League and American League baseball likes to win the ball game, the manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates ordered his pitcher to give an intentional walk to Hank Aaron. Lo and behold, Mr. President, the next man up to bat was Joe Adcock, the first baseman of Milwaukee, and on the second pitch he hit a high slider over the fence.

There was such a mix-up among even the ball players, that Hank Aaron forgot to go around to third base and home, and he cut through the pitcher's box and ran home and went into the dugout. The announcer said, "He is now running back and going to second and third base." However, as of today, we do not know whether we lost the game by one-nothing, two-nothing, or three-nothing.

Nevertheless, I just want to say that this mighty little left-hander, all the Members of the Pennsylvania Senate salute him. We also salute National League baseball.

I am going to try and get tickets for as many as I can for the All-Star Game in Pittsburgh on July 7.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I would be awfully remiss if I left the remarks on this subject go by, because we all recognize the tremendous pitching accomplishment that Harvey Haddix performed last night. However, the newspapers said that Don Hoak, the third baseman, was the goat because he made the error.

Now Don Hoak is probably, to my mind, the best third baseman in the National League and he just does not make errors of that kind ordinarily. If I read the account of the game right, it was not Don Hoak's error that produced the run for Milwaukee, because Joe Adcock hit a home run and that run was going to come in anyway. I am taking Don Hoak off the hook because he is a third baseman among third basemen.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, this just shows that nobody is perfect, not even we Republicans.

I want to tell a little story about the Fifty-first Senator. He was playing for Reading in the International League against Baltimore. I think it was the first game which he ever batted against "Lefty" Grove, who is another left-hander. All we left-handers are good at something.

"Lefty" Grove pitched the first ball and the umpire said, "Strike." Bill was number four hitter and he played first base. He went around and put dirt on his hands and went through all that fussing, you know, that the batters go through. Then he looked at the Umpire in order to get the crowd with him. Another ball was pitched and the umpire said, "Strike." Bill went back and made more fuss. He put his bat up on his shoulder and on the third pitch, the umpire said, "Strike."

Bill turned around to the umpire and he said, "My goodness, do you have bad ears? Is your hearing bad? That third ball sounded low to me."

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. C. ARTHUR NEAL, Pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, Camp Hill, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

We pray for all the conditions of people throughout this Commonwealth and this great land. We pray that they may be devoted unto Thee, and that Thy blessings may be used for them toward the well-being of all.

Grant that we may serve them well and not ourselves. Take from us all want of selfish ambition and purify our purposes. Through our worship and understanding of Thee, help us to feel the needs and the best interests of all people. To answer those needs and serve those best interests, may we sacrifice and give ourselves even if hell's fury is brought upon us.

Bless all that we do this day and every day, that it is to Thy glory. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. WADE and Mr. BARR, further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. At this time, since there are flowers on his desk, I would ask Senator Barr to approach the rostrum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Joseph M. Barr) in the Chair.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SEYLER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, May 26th was a day when the people of Pittsburgh admitted feelings. There were feelings of pride in the exploits of their great pitcher, but there were also feelings of consternation and dismay because he lost a big ball game.

However, May 28th is a day when I think the atmosphere in Pittsburgh is one of unmixed joy and congratulations because this is the birthday, Mr. President, of one of the outstanding ciitzens of the city of Pittsburgh, and we are happy today to also have the same spirit of rejoicing in the Senate of Pennsylvania because this gentleman is also a Member of this distinguished body.

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of the entire membership of the Senate, I would like to offer this congratulatory resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would now ask the President pro tempore to preside.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS OF THE SENATE EXTENDED TO SENATOR JOSEPH M. BARR UPON THE CELEBRATION OF HIS BIRTHDAY

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SEYLER, on behalf of the entire Membership of the Senate, offered the following resolution, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, May 28, 1959.

Today, May 28, 1959, marks the birthday anniversary of Joseph M. Barr, one of the Senate's most distinguished and highly esteemed members.

Mr. Barr was born in Pittsburgh on May 28, 1906, the son of James P. and Blanch E. (Moran) Barr, and graduated from the University of Pittsburgh, School of Business Administration, in 1928.

Continually active in public and civic affairs, as well as social, political and honorary groups, Mr. Barr was first elected to the Senate in 1940 and has continuously served his District, his Party and the Commonwealth at large, with honor, sincerity and integrity.

We are, indeed, fortunate to have with us a man with the high-spirited sense of duty possessed by our distinguished colleague; therefore be it

Resolved, That each Member of this Senate takes this opportunity to extend his heartiest congratulations to Joseph M. Barr upon the celebration of his birthday; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Honorable Joseph M. Barr.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, substituting for Senator Berger, our Majority Leader, who is out of the Senate Chamber for a few minutes, I am sure every Member of the Senate present on the Republican side would like to second the motion that this resolution be adopted, and to extend to the distinguished Senator the heartiest good wishes of every Member on the Republican side of the Senate. We hope that he lives and enjoys many, many more happy birthdays.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. I think those remarks, gentlemen, were unnecessary because Senator Barr controls that side and Senator Wade controls this side. Therefore, there could not be any dissenting votes.

I do not know whether that resolution is exactly correct. You do not mean to tell me that this old gentleman here is only fifty-three years old.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, one of the gentleman's distinguishing careers, among the many careers that he has experienced, has been as President of the Young Democrats and that was not too many years ago. So, do not let those gray hairs fool you.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. You mean there is frost on top and fire underneath?

The Chair will vote, on behalf of the Senate, to unanimously approve this resolution, and we extend our heartiest congratulations to you. God bless you.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was unanimously agreed to.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair invites the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, to return to the rostrum to preside.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Joseph M. Barr) in the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The young gentleman from Allegheny thanks all of you very much.

Seriously, next week is Harvey's birthday, June 4th. He is not the only one to celebrate that day. That is my wedding anniversary. It will be ten years next week, and I'm still a young Democrat.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. CHARLES B. KETCHAM, Chaplain of Allegheny College, Meadville, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, Whom we cannot see, yet Whom we follow; Whom we cannot hear, yet Whom we obey; Whom we cannot comprehend, yet Whom we love, we praise and glorify Thee with all our being. We thank Thee for the lives Thou hast given us to lead and are grateful for the opportunities Thou hast given us to serve.

Grant unto us, we pray Thee, the courage of our convictions and the discipline of self-control that we might, with serenity of spirit, cope with a task filled with the uncertain, the unpredictable and the unsure. In all our achievements, keep us ever mindful of our dependence upon Thee and, though our work is often unapplauded, unrecognized and unknown by men, may it be pleasing in Thy sight, O Lord, Who art our strength and our redeemer. Amen.

BILL SIGNED

The President (Lieutenant-Governor John Morgan Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the following bills:

Senate Bill No. 120, Printer's No. 821.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HAYS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, on Memorial Day, May 30, 1959, a track team from The Pennsylvania State University went up to New York City and captured first honors in the IC4A Meet. This gives Pennsylvania State University the leadership in both indoor track and outdoor track.

This resolution, Mr. President, which I am about to offer, is a congratulatory resolution.

Of course, The Pennsylvania State University does not belong to any particular part of the Commonwealth, and we would call your attention to the fact that boys on this team came from the following communities: Philadelphia, Glenside, Tyrone, York, Springfield, Kane, Lemoyne, Ridley Park, Allentown, Patton and Altoona.

If there are other Senators, in addition to the Members of the Senate who have already signed this resolution, who wish to sign it, we would be happy to have them join in this resolution.

I might point out, Mr. President, that in 1960, of course, the time for another Olympics will have come around. It seems to me that it is quite likely that the basis of the United States Team, in the track and field events, in the 1960 Olympics, will be the leaders of this IC4A Meet.

The Pennsylvania State University Team, of course, is led by their great Captain, Captain Moran of Kane, Pennsylvania, who many of us will agree will be the next man to run a mile in four minutes or less.

SENATE RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATING THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE UNIVERSITY TRACK TEAM

Messrs. HAYS, SEYLER, SILVERT, VAN SANT and MALLERY offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, June 1, 1959.

Penn State's Track Team in New York City on May 30, 1959 completed sweep of the College Track Championships when they added to their Indoor Title the Outdoor IC4A title by scoring 46½ points to out-distance their nearest rival, The University of Maryland.

This is a fine culmination for Head Coach "Chick Werner" in his 26th year as Penn State's Coach and his Assistant, Norman W. Gordon.

These Penn State boys were instrumental in the success of the year, 1959:

Edward Moran, Team Captain	Charles King
Ronald Beard	Jonathan Musser
Robert Brown	Andrew Myce
Donald Davies	Dale Peters
Richard Engelbrink	Dean Rossi
John Fareira	James Schwab
Richard Hambright	William Schwab
Frederick Kerr	Robert Szeyller

The Senate of Pennsylvania joins with the people of Pennsylvania in commending this Pennsylvania State University Team for going all out to bring the Commonwealth additional prestige; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate extend its sincere congratulations to the President, Eric A. Walker, Coach Werner, Captain Moran, the student body of Penn State, and the Track Team for its outstanding record; and be it further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded to President Walker, Coach Werner and Captain Moran of Pennsylvania State University.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. WHALLEY offered the following resolution, which was read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, June 8, 1959, at TWO o'clock P. M., E. S. T. and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene on Monday, June 8, 1959, at THREE-THIRTY o'clock P. M., E. S. T.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

NAYS—0

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 221, entitled:

An Act amending the act of March 10, 1949 (P. L. 30) entitled "Public School Code of 1949" authorizing school directors to charge tuition fees for adult extension education.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Members of the Senate that this bill, even though it has been amended a number of times, basically, is what the Department, the Administration and, I believe, most of my colleagues are against.

You are placing a tax, or a premium, for adult or extension education, or education which will be given to persons who are in industry and want to better their lot. You are saying to these people, "You cannot receive this education. You cannot have these things unless you can afford to pay for them." You are also saying, "If you cannot afford to pay for them, we are closing this door on you." I believe this has not worked out well in the past in this Country. I think many a man today, who has enjoyed success, who has found a place in our community, who has bettered his economic standing, has done so because of hard work, perhaps during the day, and study and devotion to his courses in the evening. You are removing this opportunity from the wherewithal of most people when you are saying that they must pay.

Most of these men who work for a living, Mr. President, live on a limited budget. You are asking them to extend their budget or stretch their budget in order for it to fit in with the opportunity to better themselves.

Therefore, Mr. President, it is on that basis that I ask my colleagues to vote "no" on this legislation.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, of course, we debated this bill along the same lines previously and, at that time, I stated that I would prepare an amendment which would meet the major objection of the gentlemen from the other side of the aisle. I have done so and the bill has been amended in that respect. I agree that the words "capital outlay" were difficult of definition in the establishment of tuition fees for this type of extension education.

Mr. President, I again call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the fact that this bill is a "may" bill. There is no requirement and no mandate upon the school districts to charge a tutition fee for these extension classes. It provides that in cases where it is proper and reasonable to do so, they may charge a tuition fee. I am sure that no school district is going to charge a tuition fee for classes in essential subjects which are sought by people who desire to further themselves.

I again reiterate that because of the great number of subjects which are made available under this extension program through the State Council of Education, many of them should require a tuition fee because they are simply cultural or something of that sort, where the people taking them would be perfectly willing to pay a tuition fee. This bill permits the school districts to charge such a fee.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, we debated this bill before, when it appeared on the Second Reading Calendar, and I, at that time, talked with the late Russell Stoner who, as you know, passed away recently. We reviewed the budget and found that there is a Federal contribution for vocational education. It seems to me that if we would pass this legislation, we might be in trouble as far as Federal money is concerned.

Therefore, Mr. President, although the bill has some merit I do believe, I feel we should not take that chance. I, therefore, must oppose the bill on the basis that there is a Federal contribution there and there is a chance that we might lose this contribution, and Pennsylvania cannot afford to lose one penny.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not intend to belabor this matter at all, but I want to point out again that the bill is a "may" bill. If that situation should arise, the districts would not impose the tuition fees.

Also, Mr. President, as I previously explained, the bill has been amended because of the fact that we knew that tuition fees could not be used to match Federal grants, and the tuition fees are paid into the general funds of the districts. I believe that would remove that objection. However, as a further safeguard, the bill is a "may" bill and if the Commonwealth is in danger of losing any Federal money, the districts simply do not charge the tuition and the Commonwealth can receive it just the same.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. Certainly, Mr. President.

Mr. SILVERT. Senator Berger, I direct your attention to page 3 of Senate Bill No. 221, beginning with line 3, which reads as follows:

"The tuition fee herein authorized shall be commensurate in amount with the net cost of the program for administration supervision and instruction . . ."

Just what is meant by "commensurate"? Does that mean the full cost, does it mean a portion of the cost or what does it mean?

Mr. BERGER. I would say, Mr. President, that the word "commensurate," as used in this bill, would probably mean in reasonable proportion to the cost.

Mr. SILVERT. Do you not think the bill should specify what that proportion should be? Should it be the full amount, a half, a quarter or a third?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not think so. I think that is a matter entirely up to the boards. Upon the determination of the costs for administration, supervision and instruction, they would then fix the tuition upon a reasonable basis, taking those factors into consideration.

Mr. SILVERT. I think it is very indefinite, Mr. President.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia talked about the desirability of people in Philadelphia improving their techniques by having this extension education available. The other gentleman from Philadelphia, who laterally spoke, wondered why we should not spell out how much of the cost of these courses should be paid by the pupils.

I might help to answer both of them by reading a letter which I just opened two minutes ago. It is probably a personal letter. Therefore, I will not divulge the name of the writer. I do not know the Senator. It comes from Winchester Avenue, and it came in on Saturday.

> "Dear Senator Wagner:
> "The plight of the Philadelphia public schools is critical. Teachers are leaving the city to go to higher paid positions in the surrounding suburban school systems. Philadelphia needs increased revenue to stem the tide. Will you, as Chairman of the Education Committee, do what you can so that we Philadelphians may be taxed more to support our public school system?"

This is rather typical of a lot of correspondence that comes to the Education Committee, indicative of the fact that Philadelphia, like many school districts, is hard pressed and does need more revenue to operate effectively. That being the case, does it not seem basically fair that we preserve so far as possible the school funds, first, for use of the school children for whom the public school system was established?

I would suggest to Senator Silvert that since this is the financial plight of Philadelphia, they best, Senator Silvert, should determine what is a commensurate part of such instruction.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WAGNER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, would the gentleman be kind enough to tell us if he is concerned about the financial plight of the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh school systems, if I understood his remarks correctly?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I am concerned about the financial plight of all of the school districts in Pennsylvania, and so far as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are concerned, I might presume to call as witnesses Mr. Add Andersen, Business Manager of the Philadelphia School District, and Mr. John Shafer, of Pittsburgh, who has represented the Pittsburgh school interests here in the Legislature for many years prior to this Session. I think both of them would have to testify that I have always very sympathetically treated their problems. The only time I have had any difficulty with them was when they wanted more than their share of the State moneys, as set up by the subsidies and formulas that were established after careful study many years ago.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I presume that is the answer to my question. However, I will proceed anyway.

Will the gentleman tell us if he feels the formula which he just mentioned is a fair formula as far as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are concerned?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, if I should answer in one word, I would say "yes."

If I may supplement that a little bit, I might say what I said to one of Senator Weiner's colleagues the other day. There has been the implication for too long probably caused by desperation in some of the cities—that this formula was not fair; that the folks out in the sticks were running off with the money, and the city slickers were out-slicked. However, the formula has been applied, and the determination of capacity to pay has been established by the State Tax Equalization Board. For many years, there was the implication that they used sleight of hand methods; one of those now you see it, now you do not procedures.

Since it happens that the Party for which Senator Weiner is now Senate Minority Floor Leader is running the State Administration, I would say to the gentlemen that either it is right or they had better get busy and do something to change the people who are doing the estimating.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman allow himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WAGNER. I guess I am stuck, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, will the gentleman tell us in very simple terms—because as Chairman of the Committee he could tell we city slickers who have been out-slicked—how we have been out-slicked by this formula or formulae that they use to arrive at the amount of money that these cities receive?

Mr. WAGNER. Yes, they have been out-slicked because the figuring is being done by the State instead of by the cities and when the cities could not write their own figures, they were in trouble.

The formula provides that every unit of children around the State, no matter where they be located, shall be entitled to a certain amount of money to educate them, and that each local district would pay the amount per unit of pupils that the wealth behind each pupil would justify. That wealth is determined by the Tax Equalization Board and I think, Senator Weiner, that really under both Republicans and Democrats that Board has very fairly measured the local capacity to pay. If the capacity to pay is right, nobody is gypped because the difference is paid from the State Treasury.

Mr. WEINER, Mr. President, will the gentleman allow himself to be further interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. If it stays within the realm of the original question, Senator Weiner, I believe Senator Wagner will permit it.

Mr. WAGNER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I will endeavor not to get beyond the bounds of propriety that cover this bill. I am having a little difficulty getting answers. Perhaps I will state the answer to one of my questions and if I am incorrect, I know the gentleman is eminently fair and will correct me.

I know it is rather a complex subject to take up here, but it is appropos to what is going on in this bill that we talk about it for a moment.

Is it not true, Senator, that the formula or formulae is based on a per classroom rather than a per pupil unit? Is it not further true, Senator, that the number of pupils per classroom, as set up in this formula, is based on the magic number of thirty And is it not further true, Senator, that in the cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, to find a classroom with thirty pupils in it is quite the unusual thing, and not the usual, and that the number is fairly close to forty or forty-five?

If we are going to save money, Senator, and if we are going to cut a corner, why pick on education, why pick on adult education and why use this means to do it? Is this not a further cutting back and delimiting of education that some of our people in the city can take advantage of when they have an opportunity to do so in their spare time?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, Senator Weiner did not say so, but this is the first time in twenty years that anyone has even suggested that I am guilty of cutting expenses at the cost of education. That is refreshing as compared with what I am told by the politicians generally.

I do say, so far as Philadelphia and Pittsburgh are concerned, that the allocation of the subsidy is based upon the number of pupils, not the number of classrooms. If Philadelphia puts forty-five pupils in a classroom under one teacher, they should benefit more largely by the State subsidy than the other parts of the State, in so far as the money would go further in helping to pay the teachers' salaries.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I want to thank the gentleman. He has been very kind. I have never accused him of being unjust to anyone.

My understanding of this formula is that it is based on a classroom basis, with thirty being the unit of pupils in the classroom. If what the gentleman says is correct,—and I honestly and sincerely hope that it is so—we would be on the same basis as we are under the Federal setup, which is a per pupil unit. It does not necessarily have to be a city but the larger the community, the greater the stipend they are receiving. If what the gentleman says is true, inherently the formula is unfair as to what Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and other large communities are receiving, because we certainly are not receiving our fair share. I think the gentleman would agree that there are certainly more pupils in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh than there are anywhere else in this entire State. If what he says is true of the formula,—and I certainly and honestly hope that it is—then we are being cheated. I am sure he will help rectify that to see that it happens to none of we city slickers any longer.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, if we may continue to adhere strictly to this bill, I might say that there is legislation over in the House at this moment—and this will make Senator Barr shiver, as State Chairman of the Democratic Party—proposing liberalization of the subsidies to school districts throughout the State which, it seems to me if passed in its present form, would cost at least a couple hundred additional millions of dollars, for which the Governor has made no provision in his budget.

Let us not debate that at this moment, or the merits of the claim and the request. However, until we see our way clear to provide more money for classroom instruction of school age pupils, I think we are justified in going a little easy, Senator Weiner, on spending money for the adult program.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I hope that the gentleman was speaking about House Bill No. 1108, and if he was, the formula does not change; the proportion does not change. They only move a few little figures around. The cities, the groups that are getting "X" number of dollars today will be getting "X" number of dollars tomorrow. All they do is raise the basic ceiling that they have and raise some of the taxables, as it were, in their estimates. Therefore, we are allegedly getting more money. However, that is not the truth at all, because all you are doing is changing the base; the proportion remains the same. That is what we are talking about, House Bill No. 1108, and that is not an Administration-sponsoded bill.

On the other hand. Senator, I might direct to your attention that there is an Administration-sponsored bill that will change the formula, and it would also make more equal the amounts the cities and rural areas receive. We would not have to be concerned about cutting out adult education, which has been the very basis of our Democracy, and which you will be hard pressed to find in any other system of government or anywhere, where people have been able to pull themselves up by their own bootstraps. What we are doing here is cutting the bootstraps and leaving these people dangling.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, on the bill, I would like to draw your attention to the fact that free public schools have always been the keystone upon which this State grew. We are faced here with the question of whether or not we will charge adults. The avowed purpose of this bill is that, say, if twenty people or whatever the number in a school district request a certain course, they must put it on the curriculum. The way to solve that problem is not by charging for the courses, but rather going back and amending the Act, if you blame the original Act for the mistake. If you so feel it is a mistake, amend that Act and provide that only courses which are necessary and technical, and not frill courses, be included.

This is a roundabout way about the barn to kill the cat. If you do not like the cat, then amend the Act in which the original mistake was made, or in which you think the original mistake was made. Do not create a stopgap which will prevent necessary and fundamental courses from being given to our adults under a free school system.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if I just wanted to be a politician, I would sit down and let this little turkey pass, because we could use it to hammer the Republicans in the elections this fall. Nevertheless, it is too serious a matter. I feel that some may not know just what is going on here.

Mr. President, this bill is contrary to one of the primary purposes of adult extension education; namely, the upgrading of the present workers in the technical fields. We are trying to bring industry into Pennsylvania where others have closed down, and we need to train these people. Secondly, the bill legislates against the resident adult who cannot afford to pay the tuition fees. Thirdly, tuition fees will retard the Commonwealth's program for training people for specific positions created by industry's changes and growth. That, to me, is the most important thing.

Since the enactment of this bill places a school district in the position of operating a private school, I believe the legality of the establishing of tuition charges is a constitutional question.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, the last point made by Senator Barr is one which I would like to stress.

We do have set up a complete and very fine system of private vocational schools in Pennsylvania. This bill would set up competitive schools, operated by the school districts. I believe the Board of Private School Directors has gone on record against this bill. The Department of Public Instruction also has gone on record against the bill. Why we do not take their views into consideration is beyond me. If we destroy our private school system, we will not have any private system of education at all. The entire educational system will be public. I do not think that is a healthy system to have.

This bill can only be mischievous because it has no system or no plan. I notice that the words "capital outlay" are deleted from the bill. Naturally, if they take "capital outlay" out of the bill, it has to be competitive with the private school system. For that reason alone, I would say that the bill must be mischievous, as well as the other complicated problems which will be caused in the Department of Public Instruction in the allotment of funds for education by the Commonwealth and so forth.

Mr. President, I think this bill, certainly, should be defeated.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I apologize for speaking again on this bill. However, the last argument was a good deal like the antecdote told about one of the people who is frequently seen in the Senate; that the ball went by and sounded low. He did not see it.

Mr. President, how can this possibly affect private schools, when the public schools, presently, offer these courses without tuition? The fact that they are permitted to charge tuition could not in any way adversely affect the private schools. At least, I cannot understand that position. I do not believe that this bill would have any adverse effect, whatsoever, upon the very excellent private schools.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I have the feeling that the illustrious predecessor who represented Adams County,— a predecessor of the distinguished gentleman from Franklin County, Senator Elliott—Thaddeus Stevens, is more or less turning over in his grave at this time, after he, one hundred and twenty-five years ago, made this dramatic fight for public education in Pennsylvania, so that education would not be based on local option and neither would it be based upon the ability of the child to pay.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I rise not to debate this bill, but on a point of information I would ask the Chair, and the Parliamentarian, to please look at page 2 of the bill, line 10. In the previous printings of the bill, Mr. President, the original language of the bill read, on line 10, as follows:

". . . shall be commensurate in amount but not to exceed the net cost of the program."

Then the phrase "but not to exceed" was stricken out by being ruled, and the word "with" was inserted.

My question of information, Mr. President, is that it was my understanding that all corrections and changes in a bill continued to be printed throughout the course of the bill. I would like to know whether I am correct on that.

The PRESIDENT. That only applies to a House Bill.

Mr. SEYLER. Only in a House Bill. In other words, in Senate Bills, we do not continue to print the changes throughout the course of a bill.

The PRESIDENT. On Senate Bills, that is correct, Senator.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in looking up our budget here, I find that on page 98, under "Augmentation," it says: "Federal funds for Vocational Education Services (Public Law 347, 64th Congress; Public Law 586, 79th Congress). For the biennium of 1959-1961, I find that we are going to receive $594,171. That is too high a price to pay for taking any chances.

Therefore, Mr. President, I am going to vote "no" on this legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 351, Printer's No. 853, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 380, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 15, 1933 (P. L. 624) entitled as amended "Banking Code," further regulating the making of installment loans.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I would like to point out to the Members of the Senate some of the purports of this bill. In all good conscience, I feel I must tell the Members that the Department of Banking is in favor of this bill. However, I have had difficulty with the Department of Banking from time to time, and I would like to differ with them at this point for two reasons. I think we should be cognizant of what we may be doing here because some day, perhaps, some of us may be sorry for what we have done.

First of all, under this bill we are raising the amount of money which can be used for purposes of loans from $3,500 to $5,000. We are now putting these banks in competition with the loan companies. That may be a good thing or it may be a bad thing. It depends on how you feel about it. I, myself, have no strong feelings on the matter.

However, the two things which I think are troublesome are that we raise the delinquency charges from five cents on each dollar and we reduce the length of delinquency time from fifteen days to ten days. Therefore, we are constantly working against the people who must pay back these loans. We also change the maximum amount of delinquency charges from $15 on any one installment and the bank has the option of charging two per cent per month, in the case of a motor vehicle, on any installment which may be ten days in arrears. Or, it can accelerate the amount of money due them. It can also do the other part of the same thing and make a charge for an extension period of one per cent per month or a fraction over ten days. In any event, the person who is borrowing the money may have to pay twenty-four per cent in any one given year or, at the option of the bank, twelve per cent. This would occur on top of five or six per cent which he is already paying on the loan.

I think this is a little bit harsh on some person who has to go out and borrow money to initially buy whatever he needs. For a person in this category, borrowing this type of money, I think this is a harsh thing to do. For that reason, Mr. President, I bring this to your attention and ask my colleagues, who feel inclined the way I do, to vote "no."

As I said before, the Department of Banking has sent me a letter saying that they are in favor of this legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to change my vote from "aye" to "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Donolow,	Mullin,	Seyler,	Weiner,
Hays,	Murray,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye," the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 383, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the Department of Labor and Industry from promulgating and enforcing any rules or regulations affecting domestic servants or farm laborers.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, in discussing Senate Bill No. 383, I would ask the consent of the Chair, and the Senate, to make remarks also applying to Senate Bill No. 688 because the two bills are somewhat allied and, therefore, we can save time, I think, by discussing these two together.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I do not wish to interrupt the gentleman. However, I do think that I should reply to that statement.

While there is a similarity of interest generated in these two bills, I wish to point out that they are completely separate bills.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, does the gentleman raise a point of order, asking me not to debate the two bills together?

Mr. BERGER. Not at all, Mr. President. I merely want it to be indicated that we do not consider Senate Bill No. 383 and Senate Bill No. 688 as bills which are dependent upon each other. One relates to farm labor and the other relates to migrant farm labor.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I do not agree with the gentleman that they are not related, and in my discussion will attempt to show that they are very vitally related. I question the propriety of the gentleman interrupting if he was not raising a point of order. However, since he has not raised the point of order, I will continue.

Senate Bill No. 383, Mr. President, would take from the Department of Labor and Industry the right or authority to make or impose any rules or regulations on farm or domestic labor. In effect, this means migrant labor because, under existing law, the Department does not have any jurisdiction over farm labor.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding, unintentional or otherwise, with regard to Senate Bill No. 383 and Senate Bill No. 688 in this respect. We are not debating House Bill No. 1204, which would change existing law, if passed, and would give certain rights to the authority with regard to minimum wage, child labor and so forth. This bill is not involved in our discussion today. I take it that neither the opponents nor proponents of the bills in question today are in any way defending or supporting that bill.

Mr. President, we are discussing Senate Bill No. 383. Although the wording of it is broad and refers to farm and domestic labor, let us remember that for all practical purposes, it refers only to migrant labor because existing labor law does not give the right to the department to make other regulations.

Senate Bill No. 688, Mr. President, would set up a new commission, a new Migrant Farm Labor Commission, to replace the Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor.

Mr. President, what would be the effect of these bills?

In my opinion, so far as the regulation of migrant labor is concerned, this would tear out the heart and replace the cavity with a lot of baloney.

These two bills if enacted, in my opinion, would end effective regulation of migrant labor in Pennsylvania and return our State to the chaotic conditions of eight or ten years ago.

Mr. President, that migrant labor should come to Pennsylvania may seem to some people to have many undesirable traits. They come from a different culture than the people of Pennsylvania. However, on the other hand, they have been necessary and are necessary, decreasingly so I believe, but still very necessary to the proper harvesting of our seasonal crops.

I would like the Senate to know that each year, 10,000 migrant workers come into Pennsylvania and these 10,000 migrant workers assist 40,000 native Pennsylvania farm workers in harvesting our seasonal crops. In other words, migrant workers represent about one-fifth of the force which harvests our seasonal crops. Our migrant laborers pick eighty-three per cent of a $61,000,000 crop in fruit and vegetables in Pennsylvania. In one county, Mr. President, the County of Potter, eighty-eight per cent of the crop, I am told, is picked by migrant laborers. Many of these migrant laborers are Puerto Ricans; others are southern negroes who come into our State to help with these crops.

Only a few years ago Mr. President, the situation with regard to these migrant workers, while they lived in our State and did this important service for our agriculture, was deplorable. Typically, on the way they rode in vehicles which were uncomfortable, they rode without adequate stops for feeding and other purposes and when they arrived in Pennsylvania in many cases, but not in all cases,—Mr. President, the things I am saying now are not an indictment of all the farmers of Pennsylvania, not even all the farmers who employ migrant laborers, but only a small part of them—they found that they had a housing situation which was also deplorable. Although the words may offend, it is true that many of these laborer were housed in situations which were not fit for the housing of animals. Many of them, as a matter of fact, were housed in structures which had been abandoned for the purpose of housing animals. There were migrant laborers in those days, in a few cases, housed in pig pens, abandoned pig pens, abandoned stables and abandoned chicken coops. Some were housed in box cars which had been hauled to and placed on the farm for the purpose of housing.

Mr. President, I read that some people objected to the saying of these things. Anyone can say anything and it can be true or it can be not true. However, few people can deny what they see. Therefore, Mr. President, I have in my possession some pictures which I have had enlarged so that the Members of the Senate can look at some of the structures that were used for housing some of these people. I think you will agree that this is the type of structure in which you would be unwilling to place members of your family or anyone for whom you felt any affection. In fact, many farmers would be very unwilling to have farm animals which they needed in their work on a permanent basis, not as migrants, live under these conditions because I think they would be more interested in their animal's health and workability. This is an interior shot which shows you how some of these houses were.

Most of the pictures I have shown you were from Potter and other counties. The one I am showing you presently is from Lancaster County. Here is a picture of box cars which are being used for housing.

In addition to the badness of this housing, many of these people were without water facilities, so that water had to be carried for long distances. They were without toilet facilities and without the most primitive facilities which are necessary for the health of any human being.

We frequently had epidemic menaces, as a result of disease-breeding, in some of the houses among these migrant laborers.

There was the problem of law enforcement, Mr. President, which was serious regarding crimes committed by these people and frauds upon these people. In many cases, their own crew leaders were unscrupulous people, and when there was no effective effort to curb their activities, they defrauded these migrant laborers of the hard won money they earned. In some cases, twenty-five cents a loaf and fifty cents a loaf were charged for bread. In some cases, crew leaders served as distributors of narcotics among these people, with no effective check upon them.

Nothing was done for the children of these people, and these people typically come in families. There was nothing for them to do with the children but to take them to the fields along with the mothers and fathers who bent their backs and picked the crops; while in other cases, they were allowed to run wild and loose. There were no educational facilities for these children. In many cases, there was no money to go or stay. When the season was over, the money had been spent, or they had been defrauded of it, and they became a charge upon the county. This happened in my own County of York.

Mr. Edward Simmons, of our Crispus Attucks Center in York, could tell this Senate a story, a heart-rending story, of examples of these families who were stranded in our county and did not have the money to feed themselves or house themselves. They became a burden upon the county.

Mr. President, I realize these are not voters in Pennsylvania. No one is going to get any votes from these people by supporting their case and by seeing to it that they are treated as they should be. However, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, they are human beings and while they may have no call upon you as voters or as your constituents, they are human, even as you and I. They do not deserve to be exposed to conditions of this sort.

I have in my hand a copy of The Daily Intelligencer, a paper published in Doylestown, Bucks County, from Saturday afternoon, May 23, 1959. The large headline here says, "State Closes Migrant Labor Camp." The drop says, "Conditions Called A Disgrace," and it is under the by-line of Mary Jane Allen, Intelligencer Staff Writer. It reads as follows:

> "State Department of Labor and Industry inspectors closed the migrant labor camp at E. O. Mastin farm, California Road, Richland Township, north of Quakertown, yesterday."

I read this, Mr. President, to illustrate that this problem is not an academic one that used to exist, but to some extent, at least, it still exists and still requires regulation.

> "John F. Dwyer, director of the department's Bureau of Inspection, described the facilities as among the worst in the State. Another inspector called the buildings and sanitary conditions a disgrace to the American way of life.
> "It appeared that no one was living at the camp yesterday when formal notices banning the use of the camp by migrant laborers were posted by Dwyer and local State Inspector Samuel J. Thompson.
> "Inspections made by the County Health Department and by the Bureau of Inspection last March were the principal basis for the State's action." That was last March. "The closing notice carries a $10 per day fine for violation.
> "The migrant quarters may not be used until State requirements for health and safety have been met, Dwyer said. A migrant crew, said to be on the way North destined for the farm, will not be permitted to work or live on the place until improvements are completed, he added.
> "In addition to the main stone farmhouse, in which whole families have used one room to live, eat and sleep, the camp has several rows of converted chicken houses and chicken rain shelters which are used as living quarters by the 80 to 100 migrants employed during the height of the harvest season.

"An old bus body and a detached truck trailer are also used for living quarters. The bus has bunks for eight persons and the trailer contains an unconnected toilet. Both violate regulations, Dwyer said.

"The inspections in March revealed three families living in single rooms of the main house. Because water pipes were frozen, water for drinking and toilet purposes was drawn by bucket from an open well, unguarded but for a sheet of metal held in place by rocks.

"A water analysis showed serious contamination and a dead rat was removed from the well by the inspectors. Toilet facilities were found to be totally inadequate.

"At the same time, inspectors found garbage strewn about the premises and piled in an outdoor fireplace about 25 feet from the front door of the house. The wastage had been allowed to putrefy instead of being burned.

"Doors and windows on the first floor were broken and the families used unvented kerosene stove or hot plates. There was no central heating."

Mr. President, I take the time of the Senate to read that article because these conditions, while largely cleared up and greatly improved, can just as easily relapse to the type of conditions that existed before active and effective methods were taken to remedy them.

In 1952, Mr. President, Governor Fine was then our Governor and Miles Horst was his Secretary of Agriculture. Under the aegis of these two men and the Secretary of Labor, Mr. David Walker, the first Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor was set up, and the Secretary of Labor, David Walker, was named as the Chairman.

Miles Horst, then Secretary of Agriculture, deserves a great deal of credit for meeting that problem and meeting it practically. It was Miles Horst, Mr. President, who said at that time that this committee and this activity should be under the leadership of the Department of Labor and Industry of the Commonwealth, because he said that this was a labor problem. His successor, the present Secretary of Agriculture, agrees with that point of view.

Who is on this committee which effectually enforces the regulations and protects the welfare of these migrant people? There are government agencies, representatives of churches, representatives of civic agencies, farmers, canners and representatives of labor unions. Let me read some of the names of the people on this committee. In addition to the department heads and the agencies of the State, we have five State Legislators who have been serving as members of this committee: Senator Jo Hays, Senator George B. Stevenson, Assemblyman E. Gadd Snider, Assemblywoman Evelyn Glazier Henzel and Assemblyman Norman Wood. We have church groups; the Pennsylvania Council of Churches and the Catholic Apostolate for Migrants. We have civic groups; National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Pennsylvania Citizens' Committee on Migrant Labor, Pennsylvania Citizens' Association for Health and Welfare, Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Club and Pennsylvania Congress of Parents and Teachers. We have had farmers and canners on the Committee, who, of course, are the employers. The Pennsylvania Farmers Association was represented. However, lately I understand that their representative has resigned from the committee. The Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association, State Horticultural Association of Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers and the Pennsylvania Canners Association were represented.

These are the people, Mr. President, who have served as the Advisory Committee which has carried on the activity. What does this committee do? First of all, it sees to it that transportation to our State and from our State is regulated so that the trucks are safe, so that there is provision for heating en route and so that there are proper rest stops. When the migrant laborer arrives, this committee sees to it that there is proper housing, that there is ventilation and heating, toilet facilities, sterilized bedding, provisions for cooking and refrigeraton and screening. These health and welfare services are provided.

In 1958, 436 migrant children received basic welfare services from the Commonwealth. Child care is provided. Day centers are provided so that the children have a place to safely stay. Educational experiences are provided. Last summer in Potter County, there were summer schools for seventy-one children of migrant laborers, paid for, Mr. President, not by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, but in schools financed by the United Steelworkers of America, a represetative of which is a member of this committee. In the fall term, 252 children of the migrant workers were in Pennsylvania schools. Religious programs are provided. Many of these people speak Spanish. Spanish-speaking priests are available to minister to Puerto Ricans at the camps and in the local churches. The Pennsylvania Council of Churches sees to it that its Bible study facilities, Sunday schools, and counseling through local chaplains are available to these people.

The State Police is involved and the Department of Justice because, as I indicated previously, when this was unregulated, these places were often breeding places of crime. Thirty-two hundred routine visits were made by the State Police to camps. The counties of Adams, Erie and Franklin had the most frequent arrests. Potter County has made a tremendously fine improvement so that out of 1,500 migrant laborers, in 1957 there were only seventeen arrest and in 1958, only fifteen.

Prizes are awarded by the Advisory Committee for camps which meet the regulations and specifications of the committee and which do an outstanding job in making these provisions.

I am happy to say that in 1958, New Freedom, Pennsylvania, in York County, the camp of Thomas Summers, canner, was awarded one of these prizes.

All these agencies have a function. They are headed up by the Department of Labor and Industry, which has the chief responsibility. Senate Bill No. 383, Mr. President, would specifically remove that responsibility. It would rip out the organization as it is now working, and Senate Bill No. 688 would replace it with an organization which could not be anything but ineffective. The present form of Senate Bill No. 688, which is different from the original form in which it was introduced, is somewhat modeled in language and structure after the Administration bills, House Bill No. 1581 and Senate Bill No. 760, which I am not going to discuss because it would be out of order. However, there are significant differences.

On this committee there is no provision, under Senate Bill No. 688, for any representation of Legislators so that they may know what the problems are and be aware of necessary legislation. There is no provision for representation of civic groups, welfare groups and others, labor or religious groups. Instead of that, there would be nine farmers or farm representatives who would be appointed by the Governor from a list prepared by the Pennsylvania State Council of Farm Organizations.

Mr. President, I believe that farmers should be represented on the committee and under the present Advisory Committee, there are five. I do not believe that only farmers should be represented to the exclusion of other agencies because, after all, Mr. President, farmers in this instance are the employers. Agencies which are interested in the welfare, the religious well-being, the health and so on of these migrant workers who are employees, should also be represented.

Some misunderstanding—I will call it that most charitably; perhaps, it is more than misunderstanding—has arisen about the role played by the Secretary of Labor and Industry with regard to this important area. Certain charges have been made and directed at him personally. One that I heard down in my county was brought to me as a question. Does Secretary Batt say that all of we farmers keep our help in pig pens? Of course, he does not. He is on record as saying that just a small percentage ever engage in such practices. In fact, he said that the situation is greatly improved and that he believes, under the present situation, it will continue to improve. He is accused, Mr. President, of having been responsible for raising the minimum wage for migrant laborers, arbitrarily and whimsically, to seventy-five cents. The truth is that Mr. Batt took that action in order that the farmers of Pennsylvania might have the help which they needed. Otherwise, there would have been no migrant workers to help do the job because our migrant workers are secured through the cooperation of the Federal Department of Labor and with the consent of the Puerto Rican Bureau of Labor.

I have in my hand a photostatic copy of a telegram sent to Secretary Batt at the time, which proves that they charge that he raised this wage arbitrarily is not true. I read it as follows:

> "Based on our examination of the ES-223 report, we cannot accept orders for Puerto Rican workers for Pennsylvania at less than a minimum guaranteed hourly rate of $.75 an hour, and, of course, the standard contract which calls for the prevailing rate. In view of the questions that have arisen with respect to the prevailing wages for local agricultural workers, we assume that the Pennsylvania Bureau of Employment Security will make prevailing wage surveys during the farm season as necessary."

This is addressed to Secretary Batt, Mr. President, and it is from P. A. Pagan de Colon, Director of the Puerto Rican Employment Bureau, which means that had Secretary Batt not met the requirements set by the Puerto Rican Bureau and under the aegis of the Federal Department of Labor, Secretary Mitchell, no migrant laborers in that year could have come into Pennsylvania.

Another statement was made to the effect that Secretary Batt somehow is designing to extend his powers and place minimum wage and child labor restrictions on farm labor generally. Mr. President, I talked to the Secretary and I know and can tell you that this is not true. Further, do not take my word or his. If this were some hidden design of his, he has no ability to do any of this, gentlemen, without legislative action because present law prevents him from so doing. Yet, Senate Bill No. 383 and Senate Bill No. 688, taken together, would rip out this responsibility from the Secretary of Labor and Industry of seeing to it that the migrant workers are given adequate protection and place it under the leadership of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. President, the Secretary of Agriculture is a gentleman for whom I have the greatest admiration and I am sure that many in this Senate, who have had dealings with him, have a similar admiration. Mr. Henning has worked fith the Advisory Committee. He knows the situation better, I am certain, than any Senator here and better than most of the people in the Commonwealh, and he is responsible for the statement that he is in favor of the present setup and of its continuation by means of the Administration bills.

Mr. Henning has specifically stated that he does not feel that this work should be put under the Department of Agriculture. Therefore, Mr. President, we are in a position, if we pass this legislation, of placing the function in the Department of Agriculture. Both Secretary of Agriculture, William L. Henning, and the preceding Secretary of Agriculture, Miles Horst, in whom perhaps some Members of the Senate may have even more confidence than they have in Mr. Henning, are saying to you that this function does not belong in Agriculture. Let us keep the situation as we have it, under the leadership of the Department of Labor and Industry.

I have in my hand, and I am not going to take time to read it, an account of Mr. Henning's statement as it appeared in the Hanover Evening Sun, a York County paper in one of our boroughs. I also have here an editorial clip from the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, a very fine newspaper in Pittsburgh. I will read I think just a bit of the editorial clip. The editorial writer in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette says as follows, Mr. President:

> "Legislation aimed at taking supervision of migratory farm labor from the Pennsylvania Labor and Industry Department and putting it under the Department of Agriculture has suffered a well-deserved rebutt from the head of the Department of Agriculture, William L. Henning.
> "Mr. Henning rightly feels that supervision of some 10,000 migratory laborers who come into Pennsylvania to help harvest the crops is best left where it is. If, as proposed in Senate bills, it were put under a Migrant Labor Commission (stacked with farm interests) in the Agriculture Department, farmers might easily be tempted to lobby for conditions inimical to the health and welfare of defenseless migrant workers.
> "In opposing legislation to transfer control, Mr. Henning spoke in support of House Bill 1581 . . ."

I will not continue that because it goes into discussion of a bill which it would be improper to debate under the Rules.

According to Senate Bill No. 688, Mr. President, the Department of Labor and Industry's role would be limited to recruiting local labor for farmers. This probably means, as I have already indicated, that if this law were passed it would be outside the power and jurisdiction of the department to secure for Pennsylvania migrant laborers. Since in the Federal Government this function is under the Department of Labor and since our department cooperates with Secretary Mitchell in that job, I think it is safe to say that we would seriously prejudice the chances for Pennsylvania farmers to have the migrant workers they need to do the job on Pennsylvania farms in the future.

Perhaps that is the purpose of the bill. It may be that the proponents of this bill just wish to rule out migrant labor and see to it that the farmers do not have workers from outside our borders, from Puerto Rico or the southern States, to help farm the crop and harvest the crop. If this is the purpose of the bill, then the farmers and all of us should be told of it. It is a probable result of the bill, whether it is a conscious purpose or not.

In addition, Mr. President, at the present time, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania receives through the Department of Labor and from the Federal Government, a Federal grant of money for administering this program. This grant amounts to one quarter of a million dollars. It would not be possible for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to receive that grant if the jurisdiction were taken out of the Department of Labor and Industry by these bills. That is another consideration. If it is the purpose to do that, the farmers of Pennsylvania should be told the truth about it.

Senate Bill No. 688 provides, really, only inspection services. Real regulation could not be effectively made. Housing could easily go back to box cars in Lancaster County and pig pens and chicken coops elsewhere.

There is a question, also, Mr. President, about the constitutionality of Senate Bill No. 688. The Deputy Attorney General cites the cases of Holgate Brothers and Company vs. Bashore et. al., a decision of 1937 by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, and on the basis of that ruling feels that Section 1709.4 of the bill is probably unconstitutional.

That is only one section of the bill. The only problem, Mr. President, is that this is the enforcement section. Incidentally, Senator Berger, Mr. Adams' opinion from this decision is based on the fact that like the law in question, which I believe was the minimum wage law of 1937, this bill has no standards or sets no standards for enforcement. It is on that basis that he feels it would be unconstitutional.

Mr. President, we are talking here about the heart of the bill, the enforcement section of the bill. It is true that there is a severance clause which says that if any part is declared unconstitutional, the rest of the bill will stand. However, if this section is declared unconstitutional, then all the Advisory Committee could do would be to hold meetings twice a year. This would be very nice for social purposes, but it would hardly do anything for the migrant workers or the farmers of Pennsylvania.

I think on the basis of this—and I am not speaking for the Governor, but I think certainly on the basis of its unconstitutionality alone—if this bill succeeded in getting that far, a veto would certainly be requested by the Attorney General's Office.

Finally, Mr. President, just the other day we fought the battle of a hearing. I do not want to be repetitive, but I want to say in this connection that certainly if ever a bill needed further study and if ever we needed to get together the people who know most about this, it is on this kind of a bill so we can have the experience of the peoplpe who know about it. There are several bills, as I indicated. There is a Senate Bill and a House Bill, both of which deal with the problem of migrant workers. Both of those Administration bills would give Legislative status, if I may go this far in discussing them, to the present arrangement. Those bills and this present set of bills could very well be taken together and studied for the purpose of arriving at something we could all support, all of us who are interested in the welfare of our farmers and of these migrant workers who come and are our friends and helpers during the seasonal period.

It is very regretful to me that we could not prevail on the majority of this Senate to go along with the proposal to have a hearing so that we could sit down and perhaps improve some things in the present procedure. Perhaps we could have ironed out something which everyone could support.

In conclusion, Mr. President, I would ask the support of my colleagues in opposition to these two bills. I would ask the support of all Members of the Senate who are interested in the welfare of the farmers of our Commonwealth and who want to see them have adequate help during the seasonal periods of harvesting, and also those who have the interest of these rather helpless people, as they arrive here, and who come here with the intention of earning a living and of helping our farmers get in their crops.

First of all, Mr. President, these bills destroy an organization which is working well and which is doing the job.

Secondly, they set up an organization to replace it which, in my opinion, could not possibly do the job.

Thirdly, these bills disregard the rights of human beings to decent food, housing, health and to be treated like humans and not like animals, because they would prejudice the process by which these ils have been corrected.

Fourthly, Mr. President, these bills would endanger the farmer's need to have seasonal help during harvest time. They would prejudice the harvesting of our very important crops.

Fifthly, they take off of this Committee the civic groups, churches and other organizations from a position where they are interested and able to do a great deal of good in helping and improving the situation.

Sixthly, it would cause this Commonwealth to use Federal grants of a quarter of a million dollars which are necessary to help us finance this program and which, if suspended, would have to be replaced by funds raised by our own taxing procedures.

Seventhly, it is unconstitutional. At least Senate Bill No. 688, I believe, is unconstitutional and, therefore, we should not press its passage.

Finally, Mr. President, no opportunities for hearings have been given. The bills are not well understood. They are highly complicated and they are internally inconsistent.

For all these reasons, Mr. President, I would ask all the Members of the Senate to disregard any previously held feelings about this matter. I would ask them to disregard any prejudices they may have against any of the persons involved in this problem. I would ask for the Members to give up any attempt to "get" anybody in the picture and to join today in reviewing in their minds the evidence and the problem, and vote according to the needs of our people of Pennsylvania and for the welfare of these migrant workers who come with it.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. President, as my distinguished colleague, the gentleman from York, has said, there has been—as he put it, "charitably"—a good deal of misunderstanding concerning Senate Bill No. 383. He mentioned Senate Bill No. 688 and, therefore, I shall indulge on his charity and mention the same bill.

Mr. President, I would like to speak a brief word or two on behalf of the intent and purport of the sponsors of these two bills in presenting them.

I would like to first say, in a prefatory remark, that the gentleman from York, Senator Seyler, has presented very articulately and very fairly the situation of the migrant farm laborer, as he has viewed it over the years. I think all of us would admit, first, that there have been great strides made and we applaud those who have made them. We commend Senator Seyler in his sincerity, his interest and concern for these people and I think that he knows that we, too, share that interest and that concern. As a matter of fact, we have, I think, compassion for these people in the situation in which they have found themselves in the past. However, I might say that it was not until Senator Seyler's conclusion that he mentioned another group of people who are also human beings, who are good people and who are year around tax paying residents of the Commonwealth. I am speaking, of course, of the farmers. I would make it abundantly and unmistakably clear that as I speak, I am speaking not as pro-farm and anti-labor or in any other way which might be read into that. It simply happens to be the case, in this particular instance, where they are both involved and I have to take a position which happens to place me in that position, perhaps, at the time.

Mr. President, Pennsylvania is a great agricultural Commonwealth, as we all know, although it is usually thought of as an industrial State. Its 119,000 farms, their buildings, equipment, machinery, livestock and crops, in 1958, were valued at more than $3,000,000,000. This represents a larger capital investment than either mining or the manufacturing of primary metals.

Therefore, we have here, on the one hand, this concern of something less than 10,000 people and, on the other hand, this concern for 119,000 farm families, their machinery, equipment, livestock and land, representing $3,000,000,000.

Mr. President, may we for just a moment look at some of the changes in production in the agricultural industry over the last few years? The following was not prepared by a farm lobby. This was prepared for the Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor. It was prepared by an agricultural economist. This man, I think, was employed within the last three years. I believe he was employed under the term of former Governor Leader. Therefore, I would imagine that he is a part of the Administration and not predisposed or prejudiced to prepare anything which might be felt to be coming from the farm lobby.

In the beginning of the report by this Agricultural Economist, he says as follows:

> "There has been a sharp decrease in the number of acres planted to vegetable crops for processing since 1947."

Then, he goes on to talk about peas, lima beans, green beans, tomatoes, potatoes and so forth, making the point that there has been a forty-five per cent decrease in twelve years in these crops. He has graphs to go along in order to illustrate this decrease.

The report stated further:

> "The production of apples shows practically no upward or downward trend from 1947 to 1958. Notice that wide variations occur in fruit production from one year to the next. These variations are mainly caused by weather and pollination conditions.
> "The acres that have gone out of production of processing vegetable crops have gone either (1) into idle land, (2) into the production of some other crop, or (3) into pasture."

Climate, growing season and rainfall are, of course, important physical features of this decrease and decline.

Mr. President, I would like to point out that:

> "During 1957 and 1958 average labor costs on a group of Pennsylvania fruit and vegetable farms were $16,313 and $22,182, respectively. This equals 33.9 per cent of gross receipts in 1957 and 36.5 per cent of gross receipts in 1958. Labor costs ranged from 16.6 per cent to 54.9 per cent of total receipts.
> "Average realized net farm income on these farms for 1957 was minus $2,805, and for 1958 was minus $5,567."

Mr. President, I have been privileged to sit in this Chamber this Session, and last Session, and I have heard many times reference to, and have been glad to go along with proposals to help, what we have termed "sick industries" and "sick areas of economy and employment" in the Commonwealth. I think we have here a very serious problem, which is the basic problem. This is not to dismiss summarily the migrant labor at all. However, this is to point out that we have some basic and underlying principles which make the migrant laborer a collateral to the larger problem facing us, which is behind the thinking of at least one sponsor of these bills.

> "Farmers seeking alternative means to reduce labor cost, have turned to mechanical harvesting as an answer. Efforts to increase the productivity of migrant labor have not produced effective results." I am still quoting, Mr. President, from the same report. "More efficient havesting has come through mechanization, which usually eliminates the need for migrant labor.
> "For example, in 1957 a grower in Pennsylvania planted 180 acres of snap beans. To harvest this crop he used 120 migrants who picked over the 180 acres twice, at a total cost to the grower of slightly over $26,000. In 1958, one automatic bean picker, which cost $11,200, was used to harvest 225 acres, and no migrants were employed. The mechanical bean picker enabled this grower to avoid the wages of migrant labor, the cost of improving housing and facilities, and saved him the worry and time usually required to manage 120 migrants.
> "As soon as successful mechanical equipment is available, most growers will be switching from migrant labor to mechanical equipment. The small diversified family farm which is not in a position to expand fast enough to utilize automatic picking equipment is forced into a position of utilizing migrants at increased cost for housing, service, and wages, which he will have to absorb, or hire his crop picked by a custom picker, or be forced out of the growing business. The choice may well be between mechanical harvesting or not harvesting at all."

This, Mr. President, is in an agricultural industry which, for the last twelve years, has shown a steady decline.

The same report reads further as follows:

> "Although the consumer is requesting more and more fruit and vegetables in the frozen and canned form, the number of canners and processors of fruit and vegetables in Pennsylvania is on the decline. In 1946, there were 41 vegetable canners, four fruit canners and five mushroom canners in Pennsylvania. On April 1, 1954, there were 29 vegetable canners, four fruit canners, and eight mushroom canners. On April 1, 1959, there were only 13 vegetable canners, four fruit canners and 14 mushroom canners."

Mr. President, we are losing this business in our Commonwealth.

I am still quoting from the report, as follows:

> "One of the leading canning companies has moved its operation to western States, while others, unable to compete,"—due to the high costs brought about by the high charges for labor—"folded up and closed their doors. Those who remained are specializing in one or a few crops or products . . ."
> "In summary,"—and then I am finished with this report—"these trends toward fewer acres in the production of the crops requiring migrant labor, and the trend toward increased mechanization, will reduce the need for migrant labor. How long it will be before Pennsylvania can get along without the 10,000 migrants is unpredictable, but if the trend continues, as in the past, by 1970 we will have approximately 49,000 acres in the production of the six vegetable crops. With this reduction in the vegetable crop acreage and the use of the newly developed picking machines, it is probable that apples and peaches will be the only commodities requiring migrant help, and these, only in the event that local help is not available.
> "If mechanical harvesting equipment is developed more rapidly than in previous years, and this is probable with the stepped-up research program now going on, Pennsylvania may be forced to stop using migrants sooner."

I understand—and this is not quotable from an official source, such as this paper from which I have been reading Mr. President—that Potter County, last year, hired 3,800 migrant laborers. This year, I understand, the total is 700, or a decrease of 3,100 which would bring the 10,000 mark down considerably.

> Quoting further from the report:
> "While this change occurs,"—that is, Mr. President, the change over to mechanization or whatever—"the small diversified farm operation will be faced with higher labor costs and higher cost of housing and servicing the labor crew, and will have to make a decision"—this I commend to your attention—"either to get out of the business, or shift to the larger specialized farm that can utilize mechanical harvesters."

One of the problems here, Mr. President, is a cost problem, of course, and it is difficult to relate human need, human suffering, if you will, with costs. This is a difficult thing and it is a difficult position to be in. However, in addition to that, there is another problem which has not been touched on. This is the problem of representation and it is a problem, also, of the possibility of unionization, not through these bills, perhaps, which were mentioned, but in other forms which would require minimum hourly wages, minimum hours to work each week, overtime and whatnot.

I go back to February 5, 1959 and February 6, 1959, Mr. President, when a committee, called the National Advisory Committee on Farm Labor, met in Washington, D. C. I have a list of that committee, but I will not take up your time and the time of my colleagues by going through all of this. I am skipping over and trying to hit the high spots, thereby conserving time. However, among those, in addition to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Norman Thomas, and others who were members of this committee, was Mr. William S. Batt, Jr., Secretary of Labor and Industry of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I do not question Mr. Batt's being at this meeting. I would like to point out, however,—and I have this list to submit to anybody who would like to look at it—that there is not a farmer nor a farm representative on this whole committee. This committee was brought together ostensibly for hearings. I do not question whether Mr. Batt used his own personal money or taxpayers' money to go to this meeting. I think that is beside the point. I do question the fact that a government official, who is the Secretary of Labor and Industry in Pennsylvania, should attend the meeting when out of the meeting, which ostensibly was for hearings, came a program, believed to have been a national kickoff for a progrgam to organize farm workers and a legislative program to extend the right of collective bargaining, Federal wage regulation and other protective legislation to farm workers.

Mr. President, nobody questions the right of farm workers or any other workers to organize. Nobody questions their right to enter into collective bargaining agreements with the employers or with the unions. All of us would defend this. What I personally question is the right of government to be involved in this kind of procedure.

These hearings actually turned out to be a meeting, really, where large amounts of material on the farm labor situation were available. Large charts and pictures were displayed. The program included motion pictures and dramatizations, narrated by Helen Gahagan Douglas. Although stated to be a fact-finding hearing, the facts were apparently carefully pre-selected and the purpose of the hearings was, as I described them, twofold, with the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and a member of the Governor's Cabinet having a hand in these hearings. Again, this is the same objection, not to the right to organize, not to the right to enter into collective bargaining agreements, but the same thing which was involved in the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor when, on May 4, 1959, one of the members of that committee said that he felt it was the duty and obligation of government to assist in the organization of these farm workers.

I could go on with quotes from some of those members who were there, who were talking about a vital first step toward that victory—that is, the victory of organizing all farm workers—as better organization of the farm workers. "If they get together and stick together, they have a fighting chance no matter how powerful the opposition."

One of the members there pledged his support for a minimum wage law for agricultural workers and to other phases of a concrete program. He said, "The Council of State Governments is readying legislation to provide wage standards for farm workers."

I point out again, and reiterate, that there were no farm people nor farm organizations represented at such a meeting.

On the Governor's Committee for Migratory Labor, at which this one member made this statement about the government's duty and obligation to organize workers, we find that the committee is actually divided, thirty-five to five. There are five representatives, out of a total of forty, representing the farm or agricultural industry. One of the major problems that has brought about the introduction of these bills is representation, when this kind of thing, which I have mentioned rather briefly, is going on in these kind of meetings. It is for this reason that the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association came to the very hard decision, I am sure, to withdraw and resign from the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor.

I would like to quote from a letter, which was written by the Association's Secretary, to Governor David L. Lawrence. It reads as follows:

> "It is the opinion of our board that we cannot permit our organization to 'be used' as a tool to bring about conditions to which our members are opposed," the letter stated.
> It further said: "When we originally accepted Gov. Leader's invitation to serve on this committee, it was done with the understanding that the committee was to be 'advisory' to the Governor and to the Secretary of Labor and Industry.
> "Our experience has shown:
> "1. That the committee has become involved deeply in the business of lobbying, which we do not believe to be its proper function.
> "2. That the chairman of the committee, has, on occasion, refused to accept statistical evidence from the U. S. and Pennsylvania Bureau of Markets, but has chosen to use his own 'evidence.'
> "3. That the committee is comprised predominantly of executives and employes of the state government, and that agriculture is in such a great minority as to be completely ineffective."

I submit that, also, for the record.

Mr. President, we have been talking somewhat about regulations. There is a fourth point involved in the submission of these bills. During the last three or four weeks, I have heard some of my colleagues speak against what some people are calling a "fourth branch of government." This is government by bureaus. It is not the Executive Branch, the Legislative Branch nor the Juidcial Branch, but the bureau, itself, the department. I have heard, among others, Senator Lane, Senator Mullin and Senator Donolow speak on this very point. We have read in the newspapers recently that during the investigation of the Department of Public Instruction, the Bureau of Professional Licensing spoke out as to its ineffectiveness because of the way it was being dominated by the Department of Public Instruction.

I have here a quote from the Associated Press about Pennsylvania's programs for the blind, which were sharply critized before a Senate Committee which is probing the Public Welfare Department. In a statement, a representative of the Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind said as follows:

> " 'The blind of Pennsylvania appeal to the members of the Senate for relief from the unnecessary hardships and deprivations suffered because of the inefficiency and ineffectiveness of the operations of the State Council for the Blind.'
> "The council was established by a 1925 law designating a board composed of the secretaries of welfare and labor and industry, public instruction superintendent and four members named by the governor."

This, again, is one of the critcisms which has come from the agricultural industry, which is having an uphill battle to put the food on our tables at some sort of a reasonable price, without adding to unemployment, without adding to inflation and, yet, having the opportunities that are given to other people.

The kind of regulations which are in the proposal that we heard mentioned, called the Administration bill, would give statutory power to the Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor and still maintain the representation of twenty-five State people and fifteen public members. All of these representatives are appointed by the Governor and none are appointed with the advice and consent of the Senate. One would not know whether the fifteen public members would represent any of the religious or civic agencies that are on the Governor's Migrant Labor Committee now or not. One would not even know if they were to be appointed. However, some of the regulations which they have set up are: to undertake such duties as the Governor may direct; to cooperate with public and private agencies in promoting employer and worker acceptance of voluntary medical and hospital insurance plans; to make available to migrant laborers and their families, job training, home economics, child care, educational and other programs as are ordinarily provided by the Pennsylvania State University; and to provide child-care centers, foster-home care and social services for the children of migrant laborers from State and Federal funds to the extent provided.

These are regulations and services which are not provided to the children and to the people who live here, year around, and pay taxes. They are being promulaged at a point when we are reaching for more money to meet the Governor's budget, when even those people who are provided for in the Governor's budget—our mental institutions, our hospitals and our schools—are saying they do not have enough money. I would say that when there is no idea of the cost and when no one knows where the money is coming from, this kind of regulation by this kind of a bill, which is offered under the guise of humanity, is exploitation for worse than the kind which the farmer is being accused of or that the sponsors of Senate Bill No. 383 and Senate Bill No. 688 are being accused of.

I think, again here, we come down to the basic question of whether politically appointed officials of the State Government should continue to hold the power to dictate to the farmers the terms upon which they can hire farm workers. I wonder what would be the reaction of labor organizations if the rural folks maneuvered to fix their wages or labor conditions.

In summary, Mr. President, there are really three points of philosophy and principle, as I see them, involved here, beyond the admittedly important and acknowledgedly important point of the migrant farm laborer. One is that we have this $3,000,000,000 industry which is having almost a death struggle to stay in existence and to meet the conditions under which they are operating, such as weather and so forth, over which they have no control.

We have this problem of government officials and government people and members of committees stepping in and saying that it should be government's duty and obligation to assist in the organization of workers. We also have what I consider to be one of the supreme issues of the Twentieth Century, politically, morally and economically, and that is whether the government shall be the master of or the servant of the individual citizen.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I draw the Chair's attention to a rule which the Senate has observed over the past several Sessions.

In the interest of the well-being of our Members, we have agreed, on both sides, that we should not continue beyond 6:00 o'clock. Of course, we cannot interrupt the gentlemen who are speaking on these bills in order to have the rule strictly enforced. I would like to suggest, however, Mr. President, that we must, in accordance with our rule, recess the Senate at this time. However, before doing so, I would like to have an opportunity to confer with the Minority Leader.

While I am here, Mr. President, I know there are others on the other side who wish to be heard on this subject. There are others on this side who wish to be heard on the subject. I am going to make the suggestion—and if it is well received, we can follow the plan—that we call up Senate Bill No. 688 and vote on these two bills out of order, but together. Those who wish to be heard further, and place their remarks on the record, may do so after our recess.

Mr. President, may we be at ease a few moments in order for me to confer with the Minority Leader?

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECESS

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I request a recess of the Senate until 8:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any objection? The Chair hears no objection, and declares a recess of the Senate until 8:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed, the Senate will be in order.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, although we have had a lapse of some time since we were joined in discussion on this matter, I would like, at this time, to answer the arguments made by Senator Elliott. It seems to me that Senator Elliott's debate settles down into four main arguments and I would like to discuss each one of them briefly.

His first argument seems to be that agriculture is a sick industry, so let us kill it. He uses, as a basis for documenting the decline of agriculture in Pennsylvania, a document prepared by Mr. Alvin N. Saylor. He cited the fact that Mr. Saylor, at the time he wrote the ducoment, was an employee of the State Government and, therefore, said he could not be accused of being pro-farmer. I would just like to point out what Senator Elliott neglected to say, and that is that immediately prior to his accepting a position in State Government, under which office he wrote the report, Mr. Saylor had been a paid employee of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association. I only say this to suggest that if it is true that Mr. Saylor cannot be accused of being pro-farmer, certainly his immediately prior association would suggest that he would hardly be anti-farmer in the study which he made.

I am perfectly willing to accept the document written by Mr. Saylor and cited by Senator Elliott. As a matter of fact, I respect Mr. Saylor very much and he is even a citizen of York County. Senator Elliott knows, I am sure, that I am always ready to rise to the defense of any citizen of York County.

Senator Elliott pitches his argument on the topic of the farmers versus migrant labor, as to who should have our consideration. In the first place, Mr. President, I do not like the tone of that argument. I do not like the argument put in a way that we must either be for the farmers and against migrant labor or against the farmers and for migrant labor. I do not think these two elements which we are discussing are adversaries at all. I believe that the migrant laborers, whom we bring into our Commonwealth, are brought here by the request of and in the employ of the farmers of Pennsylvania; those farmers, of course, who have seasonal crops. I think we should consider the two groups, the farmers of Pennsylvania and the small number of migrant laborers who are brought in to help them, as part of one problem. We should not do anything antagonistic to either group.

Senator Elliott said there are 119,000 farmers in Pennsylvania and only 10,000 migrant laborers. First of all, I must revise his figures a little. Of the 119,000 farmers, which is a figure that comes from the 1954 census and which I accept as accurate, we find there are only 14,420 of those 119,000 farmers who hire seasonal help. In other words, only twelve per cent of the farmers hire any seasonal labor. Less than one per cent of the farmers in Pennsylvania use any significant number of migrant laborers. There were 700 migrant camps in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I would like to correct Senator Elliott's data, which he obtained from a source which he did not reveal, regarding Potter County. My information is based on statistics from the Department of Labor, the Advisory Committee, which indicates that we did not have, Mr. President, 3,800 migrant laborers in Potter County last year, but 1,250. Therefore, the decline from 3,800 to 700 would sound enormous. Actually, according to the figures I have available, which are official figures of the Advisory Committee, it is indicated that the decline was from 1,250, last year, to an estimated 1,000 workers this year.

How will these bills, which Senator Elliott is advocating, help a sick industry? Just what will these two bills do? Perhaps, they will make it impossible for farmers to obtain any migrant help. Is this likely to help our sick industry?

Senator Elliott said that we are rapidly proceeding with mechanization, and that is true. He pointed to the decrease in acreage, per se, does not indicate a decrease in productivity. We know that with the advances in agritural methods, including mechanization, productivity has actually gained, while total acreage, due the fact that marginal acreage has been allowed to lapse, has increased. Productivity has increased while the amount of acreage has decreased.

Senator Elliott predicts that by 1970, I believe, mechanization may be fairly complete and we may no longer have a need for migrant labor. That may be. However, this is quoted from Mr. Saylor's document and therefore, I do not want to argue the point. I would say, what are we going to do from now until 1970? Does the Senator propose to say that we shall return to the conditions we had before 1952? Or, does the Senator propose to say that we cannot have any migrant labor until 1970? Certainly, we have a need now for migrant labor and we have a need now for having proper regulations in order to have them humanely treated.

Senator Elliott mentioned the fact that the vegetable canners in this Commonwealth are declining. I will not argue that point, but I would say to the gentleman that I do not believe a case can be made by the fact that this Advisory Committee's activities have been responsible. If Senator Elliott does make that argument, then I would say he should refer to the Pennsylvania Canners Association, which certainly does not feel that way.

I have in my hand a letter from a citizen of York County, Mr. President. It is from Mr. Jack R. Grey, who happens to be the Executive Secretary of the Pennsylvania Canners Association. Mr. Grey, in a letter of May 28, 1959, says as follows:

> "We would like to briefly outline the progress that has been made by the Pennsylvania Canning Industry regarding establishing better conditions, particularly housing—for migrant workers, which you may wish to include in your report at this meeting."

This letter is addressed to Secretary William Batt, and reads further as follows:

> "Two issues of the 'Pennsylvania Packer' are enclosed." I have those issues in my desk. "The August (1958) issue contains the article about the Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor tour of of the migrant housing facilities in Adams County. This tour—which included a stop at every one of the Musselman Company's migrant housing units, including the recently constructed ones as well as those that had been in use for many years, served to illustrate the progress that Pennsylvania canners have made in this field.
> "The November issue of the 'Packer' contains a photo with a caption dealing with the award presented the Chas. G. Summers Company"—that is a York camp, Mr. President—"by Governor Leader, for having maintained a superior labor camp. The Summers camp has been in operation for a number of years, and have such attractive housing units that they have not had to recruit any migratory labor for several years. 'Walk-ins' have been so great, in fact, that it has been necessary to request the local Employment Security Office to asist in the placement of the surplus workers who 'walk-in' to the Summers plant.
> "Canners in general"—and this is a paragraph, Mr. President, which I think Senator Elliott should listen to—"have followed the lead of the two companies mentioned above—recognizing, we believe—that providing satisfactory and sanitary conditions for the migrant results in a better and more efficient group of employees, capable of producing more and better products."

Therefore, Mr. President, if the canning industry is declining, it is going to be hard, in the light of this testimony from a leader in that industry, to attribute it to the activities of the Advisory Committee.

The second argument, made by Senator Elliott, as I father it, is that we should be in favor of these bills because Secretary Batt is a bad boy. He proved this by saying Secretary Batt has been in bad company, sort of a guilt by association plea, and he mentioned two names who attended a conference in Washington. The two names were Eleanor Roosevelt and Norman Thomas. These two names were to indicate, I suppose, that this must have been a very radical group, indeed. Eleanor Roosevelt, of all people. However, Senator Elliott said that he would not bother nor take the time to give any other names of those who attended. He left the impression that they were all radicals, just like Eleanor and Norman.

Mr. President, I would like to give you a list of some of the people whom Senator Elliott did not feel he wanted to inflict on you and let you judge whether these people are the sort of people whom you think our Secretary of Labor and Industry should not be in company with. The list of people include the following: Doctor Frank P. Graham, former President of the University of North Carolina and, presently, President Eisenhower's appointee to the United Nations; Doctor John A. Mackay, President of the Princetón Theological Seminary, a Presbyterian outfit; Doctor Edwin T. Dahlberg, President of the National Council of Churches; Doctor L. H. Foster, President of the Tuskegee Institute; Rabbi Roland B. Gittelsohn, Temple Israel, Boston; Very Reverend-Monsignor George C. Higgins, Director of the Social Action Department, National Catholic Welfare Conference; Doctor Clark Kerr, President of the University of California; the Honorable Herbert L. Lehman; Most Reverend Robert E. Lucey, Archbishop of San Antonio; and Doctor Peter H. Odegard, University of California.

These are some of the individuals, Mr. President, who were among the radicals attending the conference, the stigma of which still hangs on Secretary Batt's shoulders. Those are the members of the National Advisory Committee who held the meeting and who are associates of Secretary Batt on that committee. However, let me read you a list of some of the people who appeared as participants. Participants in the hearing were as follows: There was that notorious radical, Ezra Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture; Senator Paul H. Douglas; George T. Dowdy, Professor of Agricultural Economics, Tuskegee Institute; Daniel L. Goldy, Assistant Commissioner of Labor and Industry, in that radical State of New Jersey; John W. Grant, Chief, Farm Placement Service, Bureau of Employment Security, in that radical State of Washington; Monsignor George G. Higgins, Director, Social Action Department, National Catholic Welfare Conference; Senator Hubert H. Humphrey; Senator John F. Kennedy; Senator Eugene McCarthy; John A. Mackay, President, Princeton Theological Seminary; H. L. Mitchell, President, National Agricultural Workers Union; James P. Mitchell, Secretary of Labor; Senator Wayne B. Morse; John M. Seabrook, President, Seabrook Farms Company, New Jersey.

Incidentally, were there not any farm representatives present? Mr. Seabrook seems to be remotely related. The list of participants also include Walter Simcich, Former Research Consultant, California Farm Research and Legislative Committee; Matt Triggs, Assistant Legislative Director, American Farm Bureau Federation. I believe the American Farm Bureau Federation is an affiliate of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association. Also included in the list was John Zuckerman, California Growers Farm Labor Committee, Stockton, California, who is also remotely connected with the farming industry.

Mr. President, I hate to burden you with this list, but the implication left by Senator Elliott was quite different, I am afraid, from the corpus of the conference, as outlined by a slightly more complete list of those people who were there. As a matter of fact, we might indict Secretary Batt as being pretty conservative in the company of some of the names which I have mentioned.

Incidentally, the inflammatory statement cited by Senator Elliott, which was made by a member of the Advisory Committee with regard to the possibility of organizing migrant farm workers, was not made by Secretary Batt. As a matter of fact, it was made by Father Kane, who is the appointee to the Advisory Committee of the Archbishop Ryan and represents the Catholic Apostolate of Migrant Workers. This is an organization which is not generally considered a wildly radical one.

The third argument advanced by Senator Elliott was that there is not adequate representation for farmers on the committee. There are five on the present Advisory Committee. That is one-third of the fifteen who are not governmentally connected. In other words, one-third of the lay group on that committee are farm representatives. I might point out to Senator Elliott that the migrants have no representation, nor am I asking for any. However, I am saying it would serve some purpose to have representation from these people from the various civic groups who are interested in the welfare of migrants. I would remind you that in Senate Bill No. 688, there is no doubt that the farmers would have adequate representation. As a matter of fact, they would have the only representation outside of the governmental people appointed to the committee.

The final argument made by Senator Elliott, as I understood it, was that all bureaucracy is bad and, therefore, this bureaucracy is bad. This is a perfect syllogism and one which even Aristotle could not argue. However, I would say to Senator Elliott that if his initial premise is true, that all bureaucracy is bad, we, perhaps, had better close up shop and all go home. I do not believe we can run a government of the size and complexity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania without having people in departments, in divisions and in bureaus to carry out the will of this Legislature, under the guidance of the Chief Executive, the Governor.

In short, Mr. President, I think the gentleman from Franklin, Senator Elliott, made a very able presentation, but a somewhat specious one. It was for that reason that I took the time to point out what I considered some of the omissions in the evidence he presented.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I revert to my original remarks which I made in connection with Senate Bill No. 383. This bill stands on its own. It is simply and nothing more than a bill transferring from the Department of Labor and Industry into the Department of Agriculture the right to make rules and regulations involving the employees of agriculture.

All the oratory and remarks which have been made about this matter have not affected the intent of this bill one iota. It is simply to put agricultural labor under the Department of Agriculture. That is all we wish to do. If there is any question in anybody's mind as to the ability or the propriety of the Secretary of Agriculture or the Department of Agriculture making rules and regulations affecting the farmers of Pennsylvania, I have yet to hear anyone tell me what it is.

Mr. President, we have heard Potter County mentioned several times in this discussion and I live in Potter County. We have no migrant labor problem whatsoever in Potter County. At one time, we did have between three and four thousand migrant laborers working in the fields. When it started, it was a new departure from the ordinary farming activity in our county. They began to raise truck crops, such as beans and peas. They raised some broccoli, some cucumbers and a few other crops, but, primarily, the beans and peas were the big crops to be harvested. They imported large numbers of migrant laborers to do the work. The growers did not know what they were getting into. They had to use makeshift facilities to house these migrant laborers and they fixed up what they had the best they could.

By the natural transition of conditions and time, we have developed some very, very fine places where they house their laborers. However, unfortunately, because of the demand to invest in these increased facilities and the costliness of them, a great many growers have gone over to mechanized means of harvesting their crops, with the result that whether you use the figure of 3,000 or whether you use the figure of 2,800, or what have you, this year there will be somewhere between 700 and 1,000 people working where there used to be over 3,000 people working in the bean and pea fields of Potter County.

Let me say to you, Mr. President, that the farmers would rather have the migrant laborers up there harvesting their crops because they do a better job. They can recover the early crop much better and the second crop much better than they can do with the one harvested by means of a mechanical harvester. However, because they were rushed into this thing and told what they must do, they have had to go to the one crop harvester, with the result that you have the difference between—let us, for the purposes of argument, say—800 people and 3,000 people who are no longer working in the fields in Potter County.

That is the long and the short of it, Mr. President. That is the complaint of the growers and it always has been. It has been nothing more and nothing less than that.

Pictures were shown around here in the Senate of deplorable places where the migrant workers stayed. Sure, they did. I have stayed in places a lot worse than that one right there (indicating to photograph) when I was on a camping trip. At the same time, it was not too uncomfortable. I am quite sure that these people who came up there enjoyed themselves. They enjoyed their work, they were happy and derived a lot out of their stay and received fairly good pay. They did not complain too much at the time when they were here. However, eventually, they came to something like this, which is one of the places that received an award for being an excellent place to house migrant labor in Potter County (indicating to photograph). This did not and could not have happened overnight.

Mr. President, the farmers of Pennsylvania are not inhumane. They do not wish to treat people like cattle. They are not the type of people who want to oppress them. They were faced with a labor problem and did the best they could. They came up, eventually, with a good answer. They provided good quarters for the migrant laborers and did all they could. They tried to provide some religious teaching for them. They did anything that any of us would have done, under similar circumstances. The farmers of Pennsylvania wanted to improve the conditions for these people and I submit to you, Mr. President, that they did so. They would have done so, willingly, without the intervention of any committee or anything else.

Now, Mr. President, passing to what has been said concerning the actual merits of the companion bill, Senate Bill No. 688, and which I presume we are discussing under one heading, it has greatly been misrepresented through the press, through letters and through propaganda that this bill would eliminate the activities of all these excellent organizations and groups which have interested themselves in migrant labor in Pennsylvania. I submit, Mr. President, it does not do any such thing. The Governor's Advisory Committee on Migrant Labor can function just as fully, just as well, just as extensively and to the same good effect as it is doing today, as it did last year in Potter County and, I hope, will do this year in Potter County.

Mr. President, I am proud of the job that was done in Potter County. The Mennonite Church in Potter County established a day-care center which I would like every man in this Senate to come up and look at. It is the cutest thing you ever saw, to see all those little people there at nap time, lying on cots and taking their naps after their lunch. They have playground facilities. The Pennsylvania State University also established a day-care center. It is a wonderful thing. We are in favor of it. We are not trying to eliminate these things. We want them to continue.

The only question here is why can the Department of Agriculture not do just as good a job as the Department of Labor and Industry, in charge of this program? There is nothing in this bill that eliminates any of these groups, which have done such good work in Potter County and all over Pennsylvania, from continuing it and accomplishing their purpose.

Mr. President, I want to point out that no later than last week I presented a bill in this Senate which proposes to establish, by law, the school which was organized and conducted up in the Borough of Lewisville, in Potter County, where the school age children of migratory workers may receive instruction. As far as I know, that is the only one in Pennsylvania. To the best of my knowledge, there is not another one in Potter County available to anybody but the children of migrant laborers. Because it is a good thing and because we want to improve conditions and do everything possible for these people, we are going just a little bit further than we would for our own people by establishing a school up there in Potter County. I have nothing but commendation for the type of instruction, the people who are in charge of the school and all of the results which came from that program.

However, Mr. President, I still go back to the fact that the Secretary of Agriculture, the Department of Agriculture and the epople who are going to constitute this Commission on Migrant Farm Labor, under Senate Bill No. 688, can do every bit as good a job as the Department of Labor and Industry. Mr. President, it belongs under the Department of Agriculture and not under the Department of Labor and Industry.

Secretary Batt talked to me about this. It has been implied that he was going to establish minimum wages for farm labor. Secretary Batt told me that he had no such intention, and I believe him. The only minimum wage that he established was for those laborers under contract with the Government of Puerto Rico. He did that at the request and requirement of the Government of Puerto Rico.

As an aside, Mr. President, I want to tell you that it was said here earlier in debate that most of these people were Puerto Ricans. As a matter of fact, in our agricultural industry, we have very few Puerto Ricans. However, I understand in the southern part of the Commonwealth they do have a great many of them. It is a very beneficial employment for those people.

Mr. President, it is not my intention to read anything out of a newspaper article, but I call your attention to a very fine factual reporting article which was printed in the Philadelphia Bulletin of Sunday, May 31, 1959. It simply states as follows:

> "One day last week three Puerto Ricans dropped in unexpectedly at Pleasant Valley, a 300-acre farm about eight miles northeast of Quakertown, Bucks County.
> "They had flown to this country from their native island looking for summer farm work.
> "'We didn't know they were coming,' said Edward Zisko, 28, who owns and operates the farm with his brother, Robert, 21. 'But in they walked, knowing darn well that we'd find work for them even if we had to make it.'
> "The men were hired on the spot. Thus they became the vanguard of some 500 migrant farm workers who will find employment on 54 Bucks County farms this summer."

The article goes on to say that they were housed in a nice house there and that this farm employed twelve, which is about average on that type of farm.

Mr. President, the implication that these people are mistreated, that their conditions are bad, that the only reason they are out of the mire and are not oppressed is because of the activities of the Department of Labor and Industry, is simply an absurdity and one which should not be even given credence, because the farmers of Pennsylvania are not that kind of people.

Mr. President, I want to say that in Potter County we want the migrant laborers; we need them. Unfortunately, we have lost what we needed. The growers cannot get their crops harvested as efficiently with mechanical means as they can with the migrant workers. The people behaved themselves and, in most instances, they were very contented. The fact that in a few places conditions existed under a situation where the grower might not have the money or be able to erect the type of structure for the housing of these people, which all of these groups and committees thought they should have, does not detract from the fact that by and large the majority of the farmers of Pennsylvania want to treat their people well and they do treat their people well.

Mr. MAHADY. Mr. President, I want to point out that we who intend to vote against this bill do not do so because we love the farmer less, but, rather, that we love all of our fellow men. When the word "farmer" is bantered around this Chamber, let me call your attention to the fact that we are not talking about the ordinary farmer. We are talking, as Senator Seyler said, about one per cent or less of the farmers in this great Commonwealth. We are talking about what you might call the industrial farmer, the farmer who can afford to hire people and bring them in from the outside.

Let us now get to the merits of this bill. It has been said that Senate Bill No. 383 stands upon its own feet. Let us examine it. It says that it applies to domestic services. Why was that icing put on the cake? It has been undisputedly said here that the Department of Labor and Industry has nothing to do with and does not have the power to affect domestic servants. To attract publicity in the newspapers, you might as well have put in the bill, "men who beat their wives." It would mean just as much and give you just as much publicity. It would have the same legal effect.

It also has been stated that this bill merely transfers to the Department of Agriculture. This bill transfers nothing. It merely prohibits the Department of Labor and Industry from issuing any regulations. Therefore, the accusations made by the good Senator, I think, must have been by a slip of the tongue. This bill does not transfer. It is Senate Bill No. 688 which transfers to the Department of Agriculture and not this bill.

We know that the poet told us, in "The Odyssey," that man's inhumanity to man has made countless thousands more. There is no question about the fact that a small handful of farmers are creating a situation in which human misery and the delegation of the individual dignity of man is torn down from what we like to conceive as a civilized level. To do this, we find the argument is dollars against human welfare.

We are told that the vegetable canners are canning less, and the figures do show that. However, what our learned Senator forgot to bring to mind was that frozen foods are taking the place of canned foods, to a large extent. In some places, frozen foods are outselling canned foods. Those figures are meaningless, without effect and without avail. The fact that counters are carrying less canned goods and frozen foods are taking their place has nothing to do with the running of a farm.

Let us go a step further, Mr. President. This bill requires that a man have a camp. A farmer must run a camp. It does not apply to the servants whom the farmer brings to stay the year around. It applies only to the migratory workers. It does not apply to the permanent help. They are bringing people in who are looking for money to make. I say to you that it is a great disillusionment for people to come to a place to work, to enjoy the sunshine and the outdoors, and to find that they have inadequate, yes, deplorable conditions.

I can remember when a group of students left our town to go to New England as migratory workers, with the promise of all these nice things, and money. We had to organize a local group from the local service clubs and we all took our cars and drove up to get the boys and girls because of the deplorable conditions. They had conditions which you and I would say were not fit to live in. It is not a hunting camp. It is a place where some of the migrant laborers even take their families.

Again I say, Mr. President, it is dollars against misery, suffering and human existence. It is the big farmer we are talking about, the so-called industrial farmer, which are a small minority and the chosen few. It is again the big people against the little people that we are deciding today.

Then, Mr. President, there is another argument and no one has mentioned this fact. What has this present board done wrong? What has it done that you did not desire? Even Senator Berger said that we are coming along. He said it was only during the first year that these conditions existed. Evidently, then, he admits that this board did function and function well. If these people can, under the board's regulation, exist and be taken care of, why do we ask for a change? Why, I ask you, is this necessary? Is this but a political gimmick to say that we are the friends of the farmers, by confusing the issues and distorting the facts?

I say, finally, Mr. President, for any plight that the farmer is in, you point to the Federal Secretary of Agriculture and not to the Department of Labor and Industry in Pennsylvania.

Mr. VAN SANT. Mr. President, as a co-sponsor of the bills under debate, I have heard many names mentioned here in the Senate tonight. I would like to point out that it was a classic list of names that has been mentioned.. However, I feel that on this occasion, I am propted to rise and talk about the Lehigh County Pennsylvania Dutchmen who, from the time of the signing of the Declaration of Independence until the present day, have been a kindly, understanding and sympathetic populous of this Commonwealth.

We, in Lehigh County, have many migrant laborers who come there each year and are well taken care of. I do not have a fancy list of names, just some historic names like the Weavers, the Crouses and the Lichtenwalters, and, oh, so many others, who will give any of the Senators or anyone else who comes into Lehigh County a welcome. They will be most welcome, well received and treated kindly.

There may be some question about my being a co-sponsor of these bills, but I felt that in view of some of the regulations that have been handed down by the Secretary of Labor, something must be done. I do not believe anyone has pointed out the fact that under the present regulations, the housing for the migratory laborer is, in many instances, better than that afforded to families, over generations, of the Pennsylvania Dutch people of Lehigh County.

I know instances where large farm families have had their children living on the third floor for generations. There has been no necessity for having fire escapes; yet, we must supply them for migratory laborers. The water from the wells, which for many years supplied the water for our families in Lehigh County, is not good enough for the migratory laborers because of a regulation handed down by the Department of Labor and Industry.

There are so many infractions upon the freedoms that have been established for all people, by regulation in the Department, that I feel they have infringed greatly upon our people.

We, in the Pennsylvania Dutch district, are kindly, sympathetic and understanding, and we will, as in all the farm districts of Pennsylvania, give to those people what they justly deserve in the way of good, good treatment. If anyone has any reason to point out injustices rendered to them in our farm district, I would like them to point it out to me.

For that reason, I would urge that these bills be passed, and that the kindness of the human heart be extended to migrant workers by the principle of people rather than by regulation of the Department of Labor and Industry.

Mr. ROONEY. Mr. President, I represent the other fifty per cent of the people in Lehigh County. Whether I say Lehigh County or the Lehigh Valley, Senator Van Sant represents half of the city of Bethlehem and I represent the other half. It is interchangeable. I represent the Fenstermachers, the Finsticks, the Rooneys and the Van Sants.

However, I want to assure you gentlemen in this Senate that every church organization, whether it be Catholic, Protestant or Jewish, is unequivocally opposed to these two bills. I would like to say right now that there is a farm labor camp in Lehigh County and the Lehigh Valley, which has had two deaths since 1943, and the Department of Labor and Industry has today subjected them to a fine, which they are appealing to the higher courts in Pennsylvania.

Members of this great Senate, these two bills will affect every migrant worker in the State of Pennsylvania and they will affect every farmer in Pennsylvania. I sincerely hope that you will all vote against these two Senate bills.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have tried to follow the debate very carefully and it is interesting to note that despite the gentlemen speaking on the same side of this bill, there are variations of the same theme and there are different shades of meaning and philosophy expressed here.

For example, one of the speakers spoke about the philosophy of this bill and the prospects of government in looking after some of these people. I would like to point out to this gentleman that a great Republican leader, Lincoln by name, stated that government must do for the people what they are not able to do for themselves.

Who are we talking about here today? Whose welfare are we interested in? We are talking about the lowest people on the economic totem pole; people who cannot do anything for themselves. Suppose all of us take one second to look around this Chamber. How many people are here to speak on behalf of the migrants? No negroes or Puerto Ricans are sitting in this room; none have spoken to any one of the Senators in this room and asked that he be heard in regard to this legislation.

Who is pushing this bill? Why are they interested in getting this bill through? Why has it become such an urgent matter of important business? I believe the gentlemen on the other side are as astute politically as I am; perhaps, in many ways, more astute. I am certain that they realize, as well as I do, that the best this bill can do is pass this Senate, go over to the House and remain there. Therefore, why this great furor? Why this anxiety, this desire, this late Session to get this bill through, to get it heard and to get it out of here?

I was very interested to hear the gentleman from Lehigh. Is this the way we take an officer of the Commonwealth, who happens to be a Member of the Cabinet, and correct some of his views? When I came here, there were Cabinet Members who were not members of my Party with whom I did not agree, but I did not enter legislation against them. I did not take the floor against them. If I had some problems with them, I took them up with the appropriate persons.

We are advised here this evening that because the Secretary of Labor and Industry has done certain things that do not meet with certain ideas of some of the Members, this is a means to take away from him or rip out from under his control certain regulations and certain things he has been placing on these different persons.

I would also like to point out to the Senate that there used to be a time in this Country when sweat shops were quite the vogue, when people lived in tenements, and when, if you had a fire in a certain area, thirty, forty or fifty people would be killed at one shot and no one said anything about that either. Is this the freedom that we are infringing upon, that people do not work in sweat shops and that people have decent places to live?

Not too long ago, a great President of these United States, who gave his life for this Country, saw a nation that was ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed. Do we want to continue on in those tracks? Have we retrogressed so badly that we sit here today and do not care about people who do not have a voice, who are not articulate, who are not educated, and who are not voters in this particular area? Is that what we want to do here this evening? These are the wheels that we are setting in motion. I am not so sure, if we continue to do this, that we can stop them.

This problem is not easy. As you can see, the men who have sponsored this bill come from an area where a great deal of pressure has been put upon them. I have even heard talk around this Chamber that this is a means of unionizing the migrant laborers. If they become unionized to solve their problem, I see nothing wrong in that I think all of you would agree that if these people can better themselves by unionizing, that is the thing for them to do. However, they cannot even do that. They do not even have the basic dues to begin organization or what it takes to organize. Instead of helping them, we are sitting here this evening, punishing them. We are going to eliminate any kind of regulation that can be had to help them or protect them.

I would like to point out to the gentleman who mentioned the problems of water, housing and other problems of that nature, that these matters do not come under the Department of Labor and Industry. They have to do either with the local area, the Department of Health or the Department of Welfare, if they deal with other areas these people might get into.

The regulation of these people belongs exactly where it is, under the Department of Labor and Industry, where it can be studied and where they are familiar with these problems. What can the Secretary of Agriculture do with these people? How can he begin to deal with them? You must ask yourself these questions, and if, in good conscience, you can answer most of these questions to your own satisfaction so that you can sleep at nights regardless of what you do to these poor, unfortunate souls, I think that you can do no worse than to vote your conscience on this bill.

I have heard also some discussion here about the migrant laborer today being better off than he has ever been before. One of the Members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet appraised the situation by saying that it is an affront to the conscience of the American people that we have people living in our communities who are mistreated, abused and treated in this manner.

I think all of us are quite aware of the fact that these people are hired by crew bosses who go around and recruit this labor, who go around and use them from area to area, who subcontract them, who deal with human beings and human misery, and we are saying tonight to these people, "go your way, do better. We will do nothing to oversee what you do and we will do nothing to bother you." If this does not smack of feudalism and the feudal overlords of years gone by, I do not know what comes close to it.

If these are the things that this Body wants to do to people because they are not articulate, because they cannot make themselves heard, because they do not dress well and come up here to the rail and annoy us, I think that it is a sad comment upon us as legislators and as people living in this Commonwealth in dealing with other people's health and welfare.

I feel that after we have had an opportunity to see the pictures of the places where some of these people have been living and heard some of the problems that face them with no possible solution—because these people have no way of bettering themselves or helping themselves other than people like yourself and myself helping them—we are certainly moving back in time and moving back in progress, and I do not feel that we want to do that. I, therefore, ask you to vote "no" on this legislation before we all make a grave error.

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I know of no migratory farm labor problem in Philadelphia. Nevertheless, I am called upon here, as a Member of the Senate, to vote on this question.

I have listened attentively to both sides and I must say that those favoring this bill have not given any real basis or any real reasons for transferring the jurisdiction over these migratory workers from the Department of Labor and Industry to the Department of Agriculture. It is true they work on farms and that might mean agriculture, but they are also laborers and, therefore, they very well fit under the Department of Labor and Industry.

Mr. MULLIN. Mr. President, on page five of this bill, Senate Bill No. 688, which we are jointly considering, the bill purports to set up a Migrant Farm Labor Commission. I am not in favor of bureaucracy. However, there are various types of bureaucracies. One bureaucracy misuses or extends its powers, but this bureaucracy is made up of nine members, who are members of State Government, and an equal number of farmers or farm representatives, or a combination thereof, appointed by the Governor from a list submitted by an association known as the Pennsylvania State Council of Farm Organizations. If I have noticed that organization, it is usually represented by a man, and if that man is going to appoint one-half of that commission, then that one man can hold up all activity and we will never have any farm regulations because unless he has his way, there will be nothing done. I do not know who that man is, but it could be the same man who is lobbying for this bill in this Senate.

Therefore, I think the passage of this bill, under those circumstances, would mean no legislation at all.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

HOUSE BILL No. 315 CALLED UP

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I call up, from page 3 of today's Third Reading Calendar, House Bill No. 315, Printer's No. 493, which went over in its order, temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 315, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 2, 1935, (P. L. 589) entitled "Milk Sanitation Law" relieving the Secretary of Health and the Advisory Health Board of certain powers and duties imposing powers and duties on the Secretary of Agriculture defining certified milk and canned milk and providing for the sale of canned milk establishing certain fees requiring additional information to be on milk and milk products when sold providing that a brucellosis test be given to certain cows permitting milk plants to be used in the preparation of certain fruit juices and milk products and extending certain provisions of the act to milk products.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would just like to call to the attention of the Members of the Senate the fact that for a period of six weeks, there were two bills on the Calendar, by number, Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117. This is practically the same thing, but under a different number. It is again the idea of taking the regulatory powers away from the Department of Health and putting them in the Department of Agriculture.

I know I should not go back to the bills that have just passed, but I want to add just one more point which was not mentioned at that time which can go in with a discussion such as this. I do not know who is steering the politics on the other side and it is none of my business. However, I think whoever has done it has fallen into the trap of a small number of industrial farmers. This small number is hurting all farmers in this State for the simple reason that we have in this State a grading law which has not been enforced since the time of the second World War. I, for one, am going to be one of those to call on the Department of Agriculture to enforce this grading law. In so enforcing the grading law, this will be done under the two bills that you have just passed and in a bill such as this.

As you know, an automatic picker, a bean picker or a cherry picker, cannot disassociate the bad bean or the bad cherry from the good bean and the good cherry. Consequently, all of them are being put in the same can and our brands in Pennsylvania are being lowered. We are doing a very great injustice to all of the farmers in the State by trying, as you are in the bills you have just passed and now including this bill, to help a selfish industrial few.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I rise also to oppose the passage of this bill. I certainly could not concur with part of the remarks of my colleague from the other side, in which he associates this bill with the last two that were just passed. Certainly, this bill is not part of any Republican policy, this House Bill No. 315.

I am opposed to the bill because I am afraid that it will transfer the control of health standards in regard to milk from the Department of Health over to the Department of Agriculture and would, therefore, lower the very high standards of health and health regulation that we have established in Allegheny County. For that reason, I would rise and ask the Members of this Senate to oppose a bill that, in my opinion, is a step backward in the safeguard of health in Pennsylvania.

For the record, I would like to read from a letter from Doctor Herbert R. Domke, Director of the County Health Unit in Allegheny County. I quote:

"I have had an opportunity to review quickly the House Bill No. 315. It would appear that this bill is similar in intent to the . . . bills pending in the Senate." That is with reference to Senate Bills Nos. 116 and 117. Again I quote: "I feel confident that the major provisions of this bill are objectionable for the identical reasons that the Allegheny County Board of Health has raised to Senate Bills 116 and 117. It is my opinion that this bill should be opposed."

In view of the health regulations in Allegheny County, which have been of the highest in the distribution of milk, I think this bill should definitely be defeated.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, Senator Fleming referred to two bills. I presume he was referring to Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117. However, neither bill has passed. I made a motion that those two bills be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

House Bill No. 315, which we are talking about today, is in no way related to Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117.

Senator Fleming and Senator Barr are alarmed about the sanitation or the purity of milk. They cannot be any more interested in it than I am. The Pittsburgh newspapers have referred to Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117 as the "Dirty Milk Bills." It is too bad that such a phrase was used to describe those two bills.

First of all, I would like to refer to Act No. 78 of the 1953 Session of the Legislature, and I would like to read Section 2 of that Act which transfers the powers and duties from the Department of Health to the Department of Agriculture. That is the present law. For some reason, there is a misunderstanding about these various bills. Let me read Section 2:

> "All powers and duties of the Department of Health, the Secretary of Health and the Advisory Health Board relating to the protection of the purity and sanitation of milk for human consumption are hereby transferred to and hereafter shall be exercised by the Department of Agriculture and the Secretary of Agriculture."

These are corrective amendments. That is all this bill does. It corrects some misunderstandings that were not corrected in the 1953 Session when this legislation was enacted. How you can talk about this bill being the same as Senate Bills Nos. 116 and 117, I do not know. Perhaps it makes for good newspaper publicity when you talk about dirty milk.

I want to say, in the presence of this Senate and the people who are here assembled, that I am just as interested in the purity of milk, the pasteurization of milk and in seeing that the consumer gets good milk as anyone else. However, I do not believe that 980 borough boards of health secretaries shall have 980 different powers of enforcement.

I do not disagree with Senator Fleming's Secretary of Health in the city of Pittsburgh. I have no argument that their secretary of health is doing a good job and wants to do a good job. However, I want you to know that in my little community of Ford City, the secretary of health happens to be a former street commissioner and he does not know any more about milk sanitation than this fellow who is sitting over here. If we have 980 different regulations about milk sanitation, I wonder where we are going.

The bill very specifically states that the duties were transferred from the Department of Health to the Secretary back in 1953.

I just want to show you what can happen. My secretary of health in the little borough of Ford City can say we are going to have milk served in purple bottles and there is nothing in the world that is going to keep us from having milk served in purple bottles. Three miles away in Kittanning, the fellow might say we are going to have it in brown bottles. It is just that simple and it is just that ridiculous. For instance, someone has cooked up a latest design for bulk milk tanks. The present tanks have a one and three-quarter inch outlet at the bottom of the tank. Some secretary, I believe it was in Pittsburgh, wants a two inch outlet. How ridiculous can you be?

That is my only argument. I think we should have uniformity. I do not even know the sponsors of these bills. I come from an area that is partly agricultural, partly industrial. However, I think that everyone should have a decent and square deal in all of this.

As I say, there are over 900 communities and political subdivisions which can have over 900 different regulations, and I do not think it is fair. The only thing this bill does is to put the communities under one head.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, first of all, I resent what Senator Pechan said about Earl Price. I think he knows more about it than that street commissioner.

Seriously, Senator Pechan, you have lost your argument. You have labeled this as a dirty milk bill. We, in Allegheny County, think dirty milk is only in bottles, but this puts the dirty milk in cans. You call it the dirty milk bill. I call it the raw milk bill, myself.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BARR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. PECHAN. Senator Barr, what do you mean by dirty milk?

Mr. BARR. You are the one who used the term "dirty milk." I said raw milk. Some may refer to it as dirty milk, but I am speaking of raw milk.

Mr. PECHAN. Well, I mean—

Mr. BARR. What did you mean by it? Pardon me, Mr. President. May I ask the gentleman? He is the one who used the term "dirty milk," not I.

Mr. PECHAN. No, your Pittsburgh papers have refered to it as dirty milk. It is raw milk.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am not the editor.

The PRESIDENT. At this point, I think we should find out who is interrogating who.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, will you let us spar for a little bit?

The PRESIDENT. I think we can arrange that.

Mr. BARR.. Would it be possible for a side bar conference on this particular problem? Mr. President, I think the gentleman should pasteurize his remarks.

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I am not talking about raw milk. There are doctors who would rather drink raw milk; there are doctors who would rather prescribe raw milk. I am not arguing about that. Any raw milk that is sold in Pennsylvania must be produced under certain rules and regulations that have been transferred from the Department of Health to the Department of Agriculture, under the Bureau of Milk Sanitation. There are certain regulations that have to be lived up to.

I am not going to talk about the merits of raw milk because I do not know that much about it. In my dental practice, I do not prescribe either raw milk or pasteurized milk. However, there are those people who say that pasteurized milk loses some of its vitamin value. I am not going into it because I do not know that much about it. I do know that no matter what kind of milk is being sold in Pennsylvania, it has to meet certain regulations.

I would like to say, Mr. President, that we have tanks of milk that come from the State of Wisconsin. It comes in tank trucks, and I want Senator Barr and the rest of the Senators to know that we do not send any inspectors to Wisconsin or the State of Ohio to see how that milk was produced before it was put into those tanks. It is brought into Pennsylvania and it is sold in bottles.

In Ford City, the secretary of health is a retired street commissioner and a very fine guy. He is a very good friend of mine. Incidentally, he is a good Republican. Practically everyone in Ford City is a Republican, and in Armstrong County, decidedly so.

Our Majority Leader says "do not scold him." I am not scolding you, Senator Barr. I am trying to bring forcibly to you the misunderstanding that you have about House Bill No. 315. ,

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if the gentleman has finished what he called a scolding, I will take it no matter what it was.

In order for him to know the difference, may I interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. President?

Mr. PECHAN. Mr. President, I thought I was still interrogating Senator Barr.

The President. That was one of the questions the Chair had in mind.

Will it be possible for the Senator from Armstrong to be interrogated?

Mr. PECHAN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Will you tell me why you made the motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117?

Mr. PECHAN. I do not think it is germane to the discussion that we have at the moment.

Mr. BARR. I thank you.

The PRESIDENT. I think the Chair would have to rule in Senator Pechan's favor on that point.

Mr. KROMER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I think we are far off House Bill No. 315.

I would like to say that I know one gentleman in the audience here tonight who would certainly make a good farmer, because I believe he is a great fellow to hang onto plums.

On House Bill No. 315, if you go back and read Act No. 78 of the 1953 Session, you will see that you did transfer this authority from the Department of Health to the Department of Agriculture. However, this bill contains some of the things which were omitted in that particular Act.

I have a lot of faith in our Department of Agriculture on the sanitation of milk, and I do not have to go any further than our good Secretary, Bill Henning.

When we go out of the State to purchase milk for any plant, it may be necessary to go to Ohio and also to Wisconsin. Many tank loads of milk are coming into Pennsylvania. Under this bill, you will find on page 6, line 9, that it gives the Secretary the authority to charge seventy-five dollars, which shall be retained by the Department of Agriculture, for making such inspections out of the State. I do not see any reason why the department should not be compensated for going out of the State of Pennsylvania if they have to do so for that particular grade of milk.

I do not see anything wrong with the bill. There is no companionship whatever with Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117, as has been mentioned. That is not to be discussed.

We have gone back from the horse and buggy days through the automobiles, trucks and we are now out into space. The milk industry, too, has tried to follow that progress. This bill, if you will read it through, gives the milk plants in-line cleaning, which is now permissible through the Department of Agriculture. That is something which has come about in the last few years. I think every plant that is modernizing its place of business is going into this in-placement sanitation.

For many years, we have bottled fruit juices. This also gives the right to bottle that fruit juice in a milk plant. Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117 never proposed that and they were never intended to do so.

Again, I say this is no companion to Senate Bill No. 116 and Senate Bill No. 117.

These containers, and all of the identification marks on them, come from the Department of Agriculture. I see no reason why, since we passed this Act in 1953, we should not go along and have faith enough in the Department of Agriculture to follow through with its duties. Or, if it is the desire of the Senate or the two legislative groups to dispense with all activities of the Department of Agriculture, perhaps we will be able to save money if they want to so act. That is my opinion.

This bill is only to clarify some of the things we enacted in 1953. Let us come to the day of advancement in the milk industry, the same as we have in all other occupations and all other industries. I ask each and everyone in the Senate to vote for House Bill No. 315 and permit the Department of Agriculture to handle what they have been handling for several years and doing a wonderful job of it.

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, I am distressed on this measure to see two men, both of whose opinion I value very very much, disagree. My father was a dentist and for that reason, and for no other, I generally try to follow my distinguished colleague, Senator Pechan. However, on this issue I think I have to agree with my equally distinguished colleague, Senator Fleming, and agree that a vote for this bill would be a step backward.

I think in a measure of this type, we have to listen to experts in the field and they are the public health doctors. The doctors with whom I have talked about this measure, who are interested and informed on public health measures, suggest a "no" vote would be the best vote for the people of Pennsylvania. All of us are concerned with the purity of our milk, and I think on that basis we have to vote "no."

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 424, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) entitled "Liquor Code" further regulating the issuance and transfer of liquor licenses.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have no desire to prolong the Session of this evening, but I do think this is a very important piece of legislation and one about which there is a great deal of misinformation. As a matter of fact, the A.F.L.-C.I.O. Bulletin, which comes to our desks, stated that they are opposed to this bill. This afternoon I spoke to their representatives here, and after discussing it with them, I found they had made an error and this was not at all what they were against and that they had changed their position. They advised me to inform the Members of this Body that they have changed their position and they are not opposing the bill; they are supporting it. With some Members, that may mean nothing at all, but with others it might.

The other phase of this bill is to prevent the concentration of tap rooms in residential areas. It also allows people who live within 500 feet of a proposed taproom to have a hearing before the Liquor Control Board.

At the present time you might know—and if you do not, I would like to bring it to your attention—that the residents living in an area next to a tap room have no standing before the Board whatsoever. The examiner does not even have to listen to any protest or remarks made by them if they come in to protest.

This bill would allow the residents living within 500 feet or 600 feet of a proposed taproom to come in and be heard. If they can present reasons why this taproom should not be granted a license or a transfer made to this area, because it might either bring down the real estate values or do harm to the people as far as their health and welfare are concerned, the Board could take that into consideration before granting the license.

I therefore, for that reason, ask the gentlemen in the Senate to please vote for this very important piece of legislation, as it is neded very badly in many areas of this State where this has become a real problem. This is not an attack on liquor or the liquor industry. It will do nothing to the taprooms that area already in existence. It will only prevent the deterioration of residential areas, because no one will protest taprooms going into a center-city area or an area which is already a business area where there are taprooms already established.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, there are a few Members of the Senate who, for what they regard as good reasons, will probably vote against this bill, the reason mainly being that they feel that it vests too much arbitrary discretion in the Liquor Control Board. However, my reply to that is that discretion must be vested in a body which is duly constituted to regulate the issuance and transfer of liquor licenses, and to that I certainly have no objection myself.

I just want to say that those of us who attended a meeting in Philadelphia on this subject were greatly impressed, I believe, by the tremendous concentration of licenses in certain areas. That is also true, I believe, in the city of Pittsburgh. This is properly known, I think, as the anti-skid row bill, and I believe that it is good legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 583, Printer's No. 172, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 643, Printer's No. 808, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 643, Printer's No. 808, has been on our Calendar for quite some time and we are prepared to vote on it tonight. However, I understand that there were to be some proposed amendments, Mr. President, for our consideration. Therefore, I have no objection to it going over, provided we may see the amendments in the very near future, Senator.

Mr. HAYS. Thank you. That was the reason for asking that the bill go over. Senator Ehrgood is not here.

The PRESIDENT. There being no objection, the bill will go over in its order.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 701, entitled:

An Act amending the act of April 29, 1937 (P. L. 526), entitled, as amended, "An act providing for and regulating joint purchases by counties (other than counties of the first class), cities of the second and third class, boroughs, towns, townships, school districts, institution districts and poor districts," increasing the amount of expenditures without bids.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I wish to ask the Chair if we are now considering Senate Bill No. 701.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, it was my intention to interrogate Senatotr Wagner as to the purpose of this bill. However, fortunately, Senator Wagner and I met with Mr. Killian, who is the Deputy Attorney General for the Department of Public Instruction, and he confirmed what has been our opinion; that the bill, in effect, in his opinion, makes no effective change in the law. In other words, the bill does nothing except to make explicit what is already in the law.

For that reason, outside of the possible waste of paper, there does not seem to be any harm done by the bill, and since it will make a clarification in the minds of lay people, we have no objection to the bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—50

Barr,	Hays,	Miller,	Shafer,
Berger,	Kalman,	Mullin,	Stevenson,

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Reverend John D. Tate, Pastor of Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, Dauphin County, Pennsylvania guest of the House Chaplain, Reverend Hoover, and the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, offered the following prayer:

Our Father in Heaven, stir up within us the vision of what we can do which is so much more exciting and meaningful than what we are doing. Create within us a deep sense of dissatisfaction that will not allow us peace until we stop evading the conflict between government as we make it and government as we would desire it.

Take steps to break up our coalition with compromise and our engagement to expediency. Make us to feel keenly the privilege to preside over the affairs of state; and to expect Thy guidance; and to seek the confidence and assurance of always standing firmly for truth and right and justice rather than being pressured into popularity through inertia.

Having just passed a few days in memory of those who lived to make us free, may we be mindful that because of them we are free to make this a great state in which to live. We acknowledge that we too easily fall into the error of believing that the freedom to govern ourselves is our own prerogative rather than Thy providential gift.

Be with us as we begin this session giving to us freely Thy guidance and Thy strength. Through Jesus Christ, Our Lord, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVAL POSTPONED

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the approval of the Journal for Monday, May 25, and Tuesday, May 26, 1959 will be postponed until printed.

The Chair hears none.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. P. J. MURPHY, MULDOWNEY, FRANK and BELL. (Concurent) RESOLUTION No. 70.

In the House of Representatives, May 25, 1959.

Recent actions and activities of The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association have not been in the best interest of furtherance of sports within this Commonwealth.

Because of activities of a few students at a recent basketball game, Chester High School, of Chester, Pennsylvania was suspended for one year by the association. This arbitrary action unquestionably was a severe blow to the school's prestige and its athletic program; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That a committee of six members of the General Assembly be created, three from the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker, and three from the Senate, to be appointed by the President pro tempore, whose duty it shall be to study and investigate the policies and operations of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, and take testimony. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman, commanding any person to appear before it and answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary. Any person who wilfully neglects or refuses to testify before the committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of their findings and recommendations for appropriate legislation to this session of the General Assembly as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. FRANK and MACHMER. RESOLUTION No. 71.

In the House of Representatives, May 25, 1959.

With the tremendous rise in population there has been a corresponding increase in the number of persons interested in achieving a college education.

Many hard-working average students who make up the bulk of the labor and administrative force cannot participate in a higher education program because they are passed over by colleges and universities who select only the "best" students for admission to their halls and campus. The crowded conditions of all our schools often force the "good" and many times "better" students to the side lines; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Reresentatives strongly recommend that colleges and universities give more consideration to admitting "average" students who are the main body of the country's practical working force.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. J. A. O'DONNELL, VERONA, Mrs. REIBMAN and Mr. PRENDERGAST. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 72.

In the House of Representatives, May 25, 1959.

The number of unemployed persons in the United States has been decreasing during the past months, yet there are still thousands of unemployed persons residing here in our great Commonwealth. While other areas of the nation have shown a great decline in the rolls of the jobless, our rolls have declined very little. A study of the unemployment situation in Pennsylvania is certainly in order; therefore be it

Resolved, (the Senate concurring) That the President pro tempore appoint four members of the Senate and the Speaker of the House appoint four members of the House who together shall form a committee for the purpose of investigating the unemployment situation in Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee make a report of its findings together with its recommendations for all measures and appropriate legislation to alleviate existing conditions to the Governor, and to the President pro tempore of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. ANDREWS. RESOLUTION No. 73.

In the House of Representatives, June 1, 1959.

The House of Representatives requires for its use comprehensive factual information concerning Capitol Police and employes of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board with respect to past, present and future practices employed and to be employed for their compensation, and the effect thereof on their efficiency and morale; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study and investigate:

(1) The practices and procedures employed by the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board in respect to compensation and salary increments granted to Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board employes, and

(2) The practices and procedures employed by the Department of Property and Supplies in respect to compensation and salary increments granted to the Capitol Police; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the House of Representatives within thirty days, its findings.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. BOWMAN. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, May 25, 1959.

On Monday, May 17, 1959, the John Harris High School here in Harrisburg was honored by receiving an American Flag which was bestowed upon the school as a good citizenship award. The honor is the Francis Bellamy Award which is given each year in a different state and is in memory of the author of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

Bellamy award schools are selected primarily on the basis of performance of duty by the principal, the achievements of the alumni, the character of training toward good citizenship and the relationship between the school and its community.

John Harris was selected for the honor on the basis of nine points which made the school stand out above the other high schools in the State. Their "College Bound Program," the outstanding work of the Parent-Teacher Association, the close relationship between school and home and the achievements of John Harris graduates, extending to all vital fields of endeavor are only a few of the points which were covered when Miss Margarette S. Miller of Portsmouth, Virginia, who is the woman responsible for the award, selected this school.

Miss Miller who is secretary to the principal at Cradock High School, Portsmouth, Virginia, is credited with having established Francis Bellamy as the real author of the famous pledge. Miss Miller was here in Harrisburg to present the award on the 103rd birthday of Bellamy who was a minister prior to his becoming a writer for Youth's Companion magazine.

Few schools can claim the honor that has been granted to John Harris. Our education and training would be further advanced than it is today if more of our schools found themselves eligible for this award. Much of the credit for the school's achievements can be given to their principal Helen Graeff; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extend its sincere congratulations to the student alumni, faculity, staff and members of the Parent-Teacher Association of John Harris High School of Harrisburg for the honor of having been awarded the National Bellamy Award; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the principal, Helen Graeff, and to Miss Margarette S. Miller of 221 N. Hatton Street, Portsmouth, Virginia, donor of the award.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. POLEN, FRANK, FLYNN and CAPANO.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, May 25, 1959.

When it comes to the best of entertainment, Mr. Perry Como has certainly earned everything wonderful, which has, on many occasions, been said about him. His consistently high quality of performance, always in the best of taste, is such household knowledge that literally millions of persons would not think of failing to watch his Saturday night shows. The former Barber from Cannonsburg, Washington County, has, through his personal life, off the television screen, achieved that ideal which everyone desires to attain. As a father and husband, as well as a famous television personality, Mr. Perry Como has exemplified those qualities which make him a credit to his Country, his profession, and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania which proudly claims him as a native son.

As proud as we of the Commonwealth are of Perry Como, we also owe him a debt of thanks—for by his actions, indeed the very things which make him beloved by his audiences, and by his kind expressions for his native State—he has publicized our great Commonwealth as few individuals could do; therefore, be it

Resolved That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extends its most sincere thanks to Perry Como for the fine public relations which he has achieved for the Commonwealth, and further to compliment him for being what he is—the best in his field of endeavor, and a truly wonderful person! and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Lucy Como, 726 West Pike Street, Houston, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. SHUPNIK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday in Luzerne County, we again witnessed one of the many unfortunate calamities that have occurred in the Anthracite fields so many times in the past.

In the borough of Forty Fort we had another mine subsidence which caused an extensive amount of damage and hardships to many families and property in that area.

I am very much concerned about the situation and what is going to happen to that area in the future. Just how long will these people have to continue to flee their homes in the face of mine settlements and cave-ins? And how long will they continue to lose their life savings which they invested in their homes and properties because of the inadequacies of our mining laws?

I realize that we cannot be responsible for laws that should have been passed 50 years ago. but what are we going to do about the future? Something must be done and has to be done to correct the situation.

There are a number of bills which have been introduced by both sides of the House which pertain to mine subsidence. When they are brought to the floor I wish you would give them your serious consideration that we may protect the lives and property of the people in these unfortunate areas.

The pressing need for this legislation is apparent especially when the recent disaster in the borough of Forty Fort was high lighted by the complete news stories reported in the Wilkes-Barre Record and the Wilkes-Barre Times Leader.

These news stories are adequate proof that a subsidence is a major threat to the life and property of all residents in the affected area.

I submit to Members of the House that we can no longer tolerate any further delay in trying to remedy this situation.

Mr. STEWART. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday in the Sunday Bulletin there was a letter printed by a patient of the Byberry State Hospital in Philadelphia.

The letter without going into its details, described conditions at Byberry in which the administrative head of that Hospital agrees. I thought a lot about this letter and I decided to see at first hand what the conditions in Byberry were.

I arrived yesterday afternoon at one o'clock, completely unannounced and toured the grounds and many of its buildings. To say that this is our shame is a very small statement.

The first thing I discovered, was a brand new psychiatric building on which three hundred thousand dollars had been spent; the latest psychiatric equipment, the newest of appointments, a beautiful cafeteria with a great big padlock on its front door.

This to me is a disgraceful condition when throughout the state there is a clamoring for more beds. This new building houses forty beds. I think the people of this Commonwealth are entitled to an explanation.

The second thing I noted was the fact that almost eleven hundred patients had one nurse. I also noted that two doctors attempted to dispense medical and psychiatric treatment to the same eleven hundred inmates. And what was more shocking was the fact that ninety per cent of the drugs that are administered to the patients of this institution are administered by laymen.

We are prepared to give the people of this Commonwealth the best service, not second best, and I think it would teach every Legislator a lesson to go through the men's wards and see the condition of those buildings that were designed to house working patients, men who are being rehabilitated now housed custodial cases.

In going around I noticed a physician on duty, and I I noticed that he was dispensing cigarettes. It reminded me of the Army overseas where each man got one cigarette. I asked the Doctor, "Are these cigarettes provided by the Institution?" He said, "Oh, no, this I do on my own." If you could ever see a group of men chewed up like the Army, receiving a handout of a cigarette! This to me was disgusting.

I could not complete my tour because Byberry is a large institution housing over six thousand people and I am sure it would take me longer than three or four hours to do it. But I saw enough to know that something has to be done.

I went into some women's buildings and I noted that three of them were nothing but fire traps, wooden floors, plaster knocked off the walls and in a condition that you wouldn't send your wife or mother to, I am sure.

I think it is time that we had an explanation of these conditions from the Majority party.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be kind enough to permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEWART. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman care to tell us why there was only one nurse for eleven hundred patients

Mr. STEWART. I think, Mr. Speaker, that Mr. McCann is in the Majority party, in control for the past four years, and I am sure that he has the answer. I am only a first termer.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman tell us why the new building is not staffed or used by the state today?

Mr. STEWART. I can only tell you what I heard as a rumor, that there was some kind of a fight between the psychiatrist and the psychologist as to what procedures to use. Maybe this is an administration problem.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman care to tell us if he inquired of those in charge what they thought should be done to make that building usable?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, there was nobody there in charge.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman care to tell us if this hospital at Philadelphia, in his tour there, if he thought from what he saw that it is entitled to more capital outlay to repair the buildings that he mentioned, the women's wards.

Mr. STEWART. I don't think there is any question about it. Those four buildings in particular, one has been renovated at a cost of a half million dollars and it would require approximately two million dollars to renovate the existing buildings. There is no question that it is needed.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman care to tell us in any other part of his tour at Byberry Hospital whether he noticed any other crowded existing conditions that he felt should be remedied?

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I toured four buildings housing men, and four buildings housing women. Of those existing buildings two of the men's buildings were designed to hold working patients, not the type of patients that were in there. The general condition of the buildings definitely needed improvements. I have already said the condition of the women's buildings.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, rather than take the time of the House, I thank the gentleman very kindly for his forthright answers to the questions that I presented to him, and ask unanimous consent of the House to say a few words regarding this subject.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I am very pleased to note that the gentleman from Philadelphia took time to examine this particular hospital, and I think now maybe it would be time to ask a couple of other questions.

As to the state money, the taxpayers' money that we invested in those new buildings, I think the answer ought to be placed right here why the building is not in use.

Perhaps we should answer why one nurse handles eleven hundred patients? Perhaps we ought to answer why we have not remodeled or taken care of those wards that the gentleman examined in his tour of Byberry Hospital this last weekend. Maybe we ought to have a little conscience clearing here and find out if we shouldn't provide the money to take and place the personnel that it takes to operate these hospitals and repair the buildings that the gentleman certainly agrees are needed in this state.

I am very thankful that the gentleman saw fit to assist us in the need of the Welfare budget request that is before this House today. I encourage all the other Members to visit their hospitals and assist us the same as this gentleman did. I am sure they will feel like voting for the tax money that is needed to properly take care of these mental hospitals.

Mr. STEWART. I note the budget for Byberry in the Governor's recommendation is $16.331 million. There is nowhere in that budget the $2 million it would cost to renovate Byberry.

I also note that Governor Lawrence's request for Byberry is $3 million less than Governor Leader's request. I also note, and I think this is very important for the record, that Governor Lawrence has removed the political activity restriction on members of State Hospitals.

Mr. BRETH offered a resolution which was read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, June 1, 1959.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 157, Printer's No. 74, entitled "An act amending the act of May 2, 1925 (P. L. 448), entitled 'An act relating to fish and amending, revising, consolidating and changing the law relating to fish in the inlands waters and the boundary lakes and boundary rivers of the Commonwealth,' authorizing artificial propagation licensees to kill frogs and tadpoles", be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 851, entitled:

An Act amending the "Pennsylvania Election Code," approved June 3, 1937 (P. L. 1333), authorizing veterans to gain residences as electors at homes for disabled and indigent soldiers and sailors.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POLASKI. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, this bill, House Bill 851, is in reality a very simple bill. It has no widespread, statewide effects as to voting privileges. It attempts to give veterans residing in any home for veterans the privilege to establish residence in the home of their confinement for voting privileges.

As you know, we have only one state soldiers and sailors' home at Erie, Pennsylvania. Therefore this bill affects only veterans in this home at Erie, Pennsylvania. We have at the present time approximately 220 veterans at the home, of which approximately 150 are from the city. It is these men from out of the city who now cannot vote because they do not fall into the classification of being hospitalized or bedridden. They are veterans who are healthy and in good physical condition, but they cannot vote because we have no absentee ballot for such situations, and since they are not residents of Erie or Erie County therefore they cannot vote.

At the present time I would say there would be anywhere from 100 to 125 men from out of the city residing at this home who would be affected by this bill. Ninety-seven of these have signed a petition, and forwarded it to me, that they would like to have the privilege of establishing residence in the home in Erie as their legal voting residence, and be able to vote at each election.

This is all the bill does. It does not open the doors wide to grant the rights for wholesale absentee voting for veterans throughout the state; only at the soldiers and sailors' home in Erie, Pennsylvania. I hope all you gentlemen on both sides of the House will see fit to support the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1260, Printer's No. 563

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1361, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 24, 1917 (P. L. 268) entitled "An act to increase the powers of courts in proceedings for desertion and non-support of wives children or aged parents * * *" further regulating the giving of security in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GAILEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, as I read this bill it would require real bail or security for personal bail in non-support cases. I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill.

Is it not correct that this act as presently existing applies only to the county of Philadelphia?

Mr. GAILEY. Under present law.

Mr. BELL. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Gailey, tell the House why he desires to have this practice extended throughout the state of Pennsylvania?

Mr. GAILEY. I would be happy to, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Will the gentleman from York then tell the House why.

Mr. GAILEY. I shall, Mr. Speaker. It seems to those of us who have sponsored this bill that what was good for Philadelphia County was also good for the rest of the state.

Mr. BELL. Will the gentleman from York tell us why?

Mr. GAILEY. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I would be happy to. This bill will extend to the rest of the Commonwealth the provisions with regard to failure to post non-compliance bonds as is now the case in Philadelphia. In other words, it would forbid a court to jail someone for failing to post a non-compliance bond in support matters with two exceptions. One, if he had assets so that he could post a bond or, two, if it appeared to the court that he was about to flee the jurisdiction, absent himself from the jurisdiction of the court.

Now, Mr. Speaker, obviously there are situations where persons without any property, without any means, is unable to secure a compliance bond in support matters and it seems to us, the sponsors of this bill, that it is manifestly unfair of the court to jail a defendant in an non-support matter, not for failure to pay support—he may still be jailed for that—but for failure to post a bond when no one will give him a bond. In other words, the failure to post a bond is a matter outside his control. If he has property the act says he has to post one; if he does not have property, how in the world will he post a bond if he does not have property to put up as bond or if he has not assets to procure one? It will not, and I repeat, Mr. Speaker, it will not prevent a court from jailing a person who is under an obligation to support and who fails to comply with the court's order.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker. Does the gentleman from York have a copy of the bill at hand?

Mr. GAILEY. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. If the gentleman from York will refer to Page 4 of the bill, line 18 and following, would the gentleman from York advise the House as to whether, if a man is about to flee the jurisdiction and is without property, it would be possible for the court to require a bond as security?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, a court can require a bond as security at any time, but it can only jail for failure to post a bond, as the act clearly states here, I think, one, if he has assets so that he is able to post a bond or, two, if he is about to flee the jurisdiction, in those circumstances the court can jail him for failure to post a bond.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman from York, answer as to a man about to flee the jurisdiction and without assets, would he, could he, be jailed?

Mr. GAILEY. Does the gentleman mean if he is under order from the court?

Mr. BELL. Under court order for support and is unable to give a bond for security.

Mr. GAILEY. Yes.

Mr. BELL. He could be jailed?

Mr. GAILEY. He could be under present law and also under the law as it is proposed to be amended here.

Mr. BELL. Now if the gentleman will refer again to line 20 on page 4 and on page 5, lines 1 and 2, will the gentleman read those lines and again consider his answer? I refer specifically to line 2 on Page 5 to the one word "and."

Mr. GAILEY. I repeat, Mr. Speaker, after reading those lines my answer is unchanged.

Mr. BELL. Will the gentleman from York, Mr. Speaker, tell the House, how the court who hears the case or who has jurisdiction is to find out whether the party defendant under the support order has assets or not?

Mr. GAILEY. Well, Mr. Speaker, I think the procedure would be much the same as in our present support proceedings where the defendants are ordered into court by court order are placed under oath and in all cases, of course, there is a moving party, usually the people to be supported with the support ordinarily of either the probation office on the district attorney's office. They have the right to make a presentation in court, and should the court find that he has assets from which a compliance bond could be posted and he is liable to dissipate it or flee the jurisdiction, then the court can jail him, notwithstanding the provisions of this act here.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from York, tell the House who would have the burden of proving that this party defendant had assets?

Mr. GAILEY. Will the gentleman repeat his question?

Mr. BELL. Will the gentleman from York advise the House as to what party, the deefndant or, let's say, the wife or on behalf of children, what party would have the burden of proving that the defendant had assets?

Mr. GAILEY. Well, of course, it would be on the moving party, Mr. Speaker, which in this case would be the Commonwealth because all of these cases are brought on behalf of the Commonwealth.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, what would happen if the defendant had what is known as hidden assets?

Mr. GAILEY. Mr. Speaker, obviously if the assets are unknown to the court, then the court cannot very well make a finding that he has assets. I do not understand the gentleman's question other than that.

Mr. BELL. I have just one more question. It is very simple. Will the gentleman from York tell the House what is the practice with respect to a man arrested for a misdeameanor who seeks to enter bond; is he required to have what is known as a real bond or real security, or is he permitted to give his own recognizance?

Mr. GAILEY. I will defer to the gentleman from Delaware who has long experience in the criminal courts, and permit him to answer for me. I am sure he has a lot more information than I.

Mr. BELL. Thank you, Mr. Gailey.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. This bill would permit a husband or party with responsibility to support children, wife or parent to not have to give bond unless he has assets, unless he is about to flee the jurisdiction, or if he is about to dissipate the assets. Now people have a very peculiar way of hiding assets. Sometimes they have a bank account in other states, or other cities and other towns.

It will put a very hard burden upon the court to determine if this man has assets. Let us take the case of a man who has been brought back into the state from elsewhere, or back into the county from elsewhere, a man who has already fled the jurisdiction. Unless it is proven very clearly that he has assets, this gentleman would be turned loose again on his own bond. And I ask you ladies and gentlemen of the House what he would do? And if he takes off, the Department of Public Welfare is going to have these folks on their shoulders.

I say this is a bad bill, and I ask everybody in the House to vote against it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken as follows:

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. CHARLES B. KETCHAM, Chaplain of Allegheny College, Meadville, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Eternal God, Whose presence knows not the bounds of space, Whose knowledge knows not the bounds of time and Whose power knows only the bounds of love, let Thy Holy Spirit so dwell with us that all of our deliberations and decisions may bear the mark of Thy creative power.

We ask Thee not for easy lives, but for the strength and wisdom to meet victoriously the problems we are asked to face. We ask Thee not for immediate resolution of all disagreement, but for the guidance and direction of Thy will. We ask Thee not for absolute perfection of mind and heart, but for integrity and humility, born of our awareness of Thy presence.

It is to Thee all hearts are open and all desires known. It is to Thee we turn to seek forgiveness. It is to Thee we pray, "Take not Thy Holy Spirit from us."

In Christ's Name we ask it, Amen.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

DIRECTING THE JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY ALL EXISTING LAWS OF THE COMMONWEALTH PERTAINING TO CONSUMER CREDIT

Messrs. BERGER and WEINER offered the following resolution (Serial No. 112), which was read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, June 2, 1959.

Consumer credit has, during the Twentieth Century, attained a position of major importance in the economy of the United States and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania specifically.

The citizens of the Commonwealth, purchasing goods and services through the use of consumer credit, are now numbered in millions and the value of such goods and services is now counted in billions of dollars.

The lending of money and the extension of credit for consumer purposes at reasonable and fair charges contributes to a higher standard of living for the citizens of Pennsylvania and promotes a strong and healthy economy and, therefore, the continued maintenance of adequate sources of consumer credit at fair and reasonable charges is of utmost importance to the economic welfare of the citizens of this Commonwealth.

The term "consumer credit" is generally recognized as encompassing all credit extended to consumers, whether in the form of a cash loan or in connection with the sale of goods or services.

The purchase of insurance, on behalf of borrowers and purchasers, by lenders and sellers of goods or services on deferred or installment payment basis is common practice in the consumer credit business and the charges for such insurance constitute a substantial part of the total charges which the consumer is required to pay.

It is the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to encourage and promote the development of adequate sources of consumer credit to meet the needs of our modern economy and, to that end, regulate and control the charges, terms and conditions for the lending of money and the extension of credit for consumer purposes in the interest of and for the protection of both borrower and lender.

With the exception of the Motor Vehicle Sales Finance Act of 1947, applying to installment sales of motor vehicles, there are no laws of the Commonwealth regulating interest and other charges that may be imposed upon buyers of goods or services by the sellers thereof.

There are many ethically conducted and honestly operated lenders and sellers dealing in consumer credit and engaging in the business of financing the sales of goods and services, and it appears that there are other persons and companies engaging in the financing of the purchase of goods and services who impose upon the consumer excessive and oppressive charges and otherwise engage in practices which are unjustifiably detrimental to the consumer and inimical to the public welfare.

New methods for making consumer loans and for financing purchases of consumer goods and prefabricated homes, sometimes called "pre-cut," "packaged" and "pre-construction" homes, on an installment basis have been devised and are used by lenders and sellers of goods which impose upon the borower or purchaser charges which appear to be unreasonable, excessive and oppressive and which are not limited or regulated under existing laws; therefore be it

RESOLVED (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study and investigate all matters connected with the operation of and conditions prevailing in the financing in this Commonwealth of the sales of goods or services and prefabricated homes which are sold or supplied on what is commonly known as the installment payment plan, for the purpose of ascertaining the equity and fairness of charges imposed on the consumers and as to any improper, burdensome or oppressive practices deemed to be inimical to the public good or which result in disadvantage or detriment to the public generally; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to study all existing laws of the Commonwealth pertaining to consumer credit extended on a cash loan basis and to investigate and explore all matters pertaining to individuals and agencies engaged in such business, the practices and methods followed in making such loans, the charges imposed therefor and the adequacy of existing sources of consumer credit; and be it further

RESOLVED, That the Joint State Government Commission report to the next regular session of the General Assembly its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect.

In the Senate, June 2, 1959.

On June 4, the grand old man of the Republican Party and our ever popular President pro tempore will celebrate his 83rd birthday although he doesn't act older than 39. His eighty-three years hasn't dampened his spirit or his vigorness. In fact, many of us here in the Senate would be proud to be able to display one-half of the stamina that Harve possesses.

Year after year, we take this opportunity to congratulate M. Harvey Taylor on reaching another milestone and we only hope that this will continue for many years to come. The way he looks today, there is no question that he will be around when many of us have stopped by the wayside.

Few people can boast of the accomplishments that Harve Taylor has made to the Commonwealth in his 83 years. Without his guiding hand, many of the great achievements of the Senate and the State would never have materialized. We are proud of his long association with the Senate of Pennsylvania; therefore be it

Resolved, That we hereby congratulate the Honorable M. Harvey Taylor on the occasion of his 83rd birthday anniversary and on his long record of accomplishments; and be it further

Resolved, That we sincerely hope that we will all be here during the 1961 Session so we can once again congratulate Harvey Taylor because we're sure he'll be here to receive our wishes for good health, continued success and many, many more Happy Birthdays.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The PRESIDENT. I can say to the Senator from Potter County that there will be no objections.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, if it were proper under the Rules of the Senate, I am sure that everyone sitting here in the Senate Chamber would have liked to sign this resolution.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I would like to amend the resolution and request that a copy be sent to the widow.

The PRESIDENT. There is too much life in the grand old man of the Republican Party. However, he happens to be the great leader of the Senate of Pennsylvania. We appreciate you very much, President Taylor. The Chair could recognize any one of the Senators, but Senator McGinnis was on his feet first. The Chair now recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am very happy to vote for this resolution. I am following Senator Taylor and, although I have not caught up with him in age yet, I may some day.

Mr. President, I have been in this Senate for twenty-one years and Senator Taylor, while he is a Republican, has been very fair to me and to every Member of the Senate on this side of the aisle.

I congratulate Senator Taylor on his great success and on what he has done for this Senate and for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. We are very happy to congratulate you, sir, indeed.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was unanimously agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. TAYLOR, SULLIVAN and KEE. RESOLUTION No. 74.

In the House of Representatives, June 1, 1959.

The industrial development in northeast Philadelphia has had a most serious effect upon living conditions in that area. The entire area is constantly blanketed by a thick layer of smoke and soot.

Through the years many industries have adopted new methods and processes intended to correct the situation and make the area more habitable. They are to be commended for their work, but the large sums of money already spent by these industries will have been wasted unless all industries in the area cooperate. The sad fact is that some industries display a callous indifference to the health, well-being and safety of their neighbors and refuse to take any action which would improve the situation.

The condition has been suffered for many years, but rapidly gathering evidence indicates that such a condition is not only one of mere inconvenience, but rather constitutes a very serious health problem. If this is true, then the condition may no longer be suffered. Human beings cannot be permitted to lose their health and die for the sake of corporate profits; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Department of Health be directed to cause an investigation into the sanitary conditions of northeast Philadelphia and to determine the effect which the smoke and fumes present there, have upon human health and giving particular attention to the smoke and fumes emitted by the Franklin Smelting Company which is generally regarded as the worst offender, and to make a report of its findings together with its recommendations for remedial legislation as soon as possible to this General Assembly; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of Health with our recommendation that he begin the investigation immediately.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. PETROSKY.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 75.

In the House of Representatives, June 1, 1959.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, contrary to all concepts of equality, equity, and uniformity, owns, operates and finances ten general medical and surgical hospitals, three of which are located in Schuylkill, two in Luzerne, and one each in Lackawanna, Northumberland, Centre, Fayette, and Tioga counties, in nine regions out of 83 regional hospital areas throughout Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, These ten State-owned general hospitals received a total appropriation of $16,942,000 from Commonwealth funds during the 1957-1959 biennium, only $1,432,648 of which represented collections made by the hospitals; and

Whereas, The Department of Public Welfare has requested a 1959-1961 appropriation of $19,526,883 for these ten hospitals; and

Whereas, That appropriation requested for the ten State-owned general hospitals represents approximately 39 percent of the total amount of $50,535,151 requested for the entire general hospital program of the entire Commonwealth, although but nine percent of the civilian population of Pennsylvania lives in these areas; and

Whereas, According to the regional hospital bed allowance ratio set forth in the regulations of the United States Public Health Service, in five of the nine regions in which the ten State-owned general hospitals are located, more than 100 percent of the hospital needs of the population are met; and

Whereas, The appropriation requested for these ten hospitals would provide an amount of $13,248 per bed as opposed to the proposed amount of $613 per bed for all other general hospitals throughout the Commonwealth, thereby favoring the nine regions where the ten general hospitals are located while penalizing all those other areas in the Commonwealth where communities are supporting their own hospitals; and

Whereas, The act of June 7, 1923 (P. L. 681) authorizes "the board of trustees of any State-owned hospital specially devoted to the reception, care and treatment of injured persons, or of any State-owned general medical and surgical hospital . . . to enter into negotiations with an incorporated hospital association representing the people of the community in which any such hospital is situate, looking to the transfer by lease or sale of the property of any such hospital to such incorporated hospital association"; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That these ten State-owned general hospitals be transferred by lease or sale to such incorporated hospital association forthwith, in the manner prescribed by the act of June 7, 1923, such transfers to be completed during the 1959-1961 biennium; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Secretary of Public Welfare and to the Governor.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. TOMPKINS, Mrs. B. Z. MILLER, Mrs. KOOKER, Mrs. KERNAGHAN, Mrs. HENZEL, Mrs. DONAHUE and Mrs. MARKLEY.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 76.

In the House of Representatives, June 1, 1959.

One of the most serious moral and social problems in the United States today is the multi-million-dollar traffic in obscenity.

Ruthless mail order merchandise in filth is violating the homes of the State and Nation in defiance of State and National Governments. They are callously dumping into the hands of our children, through our mail boxes at home, unordered lewd material, as well as samples soliciting the sale of even more objectionable pictures, slides, films and related filth.

These large defiant barons of obscenity are contributing to the alarming increase in juvenile delinquency, as many noted authorities have publicly observed on repeated occasions.

In many vicious murder and other sex crimes, with which all law enforcement agencies come into contact, it is often disclosed that criminals responsible were addicts to pornography and sadist material.

The sale of even worse material is sent unordered, or delivered into the hands of school children by salesmen who lurk in school areas.

It is well established that mailing lists have been compiled from the responses of children to apparently innocent ads offering a model airplane or auto for a dime or quarter.

Regulation in the form of an amendment to section 1461, Title 18, U. S. C. was passed by the 85th Congress and signed into law by President Eisenhower which would grant venue for purposes of prosecution at intermediate post offices and post offices of address, as well as the originating post office.

H. R. 1877; H. R. 3967 and H. Resolved, (the Senate concurring) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania memorialize the Congress of the United States to support and enact, with proper constitutional safeguards, pending legislation further defining what constitutes obscene, lewd, lascivious, indecent, filthy or vile articles, matters, things, devices or substances, and further defining venue in such matters; as well as auxiliary bills dealing with the distribution of such material; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States and to each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

Haudenshield, Moran, Thompson,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendments were concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

REVENUE BILLS ON THIRD READING

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 661 on page 30 of today's calendar, revenue bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 661, entitled:

An Act amending the act of July 15, 1897 (P. L. 292) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" increasing the rate of tax on shares of capital stock of banks and savings institutions.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, because I believe and recognize that the needs and interests of the Commonwealth and its citizens are superior to partisan advantage, I make the following statement:

We have on our calendar, on pages 29, 30 and 31, revenue bills some of which will be considered. I recognize that the needs of the Commonwealth demand more revenue. I have been advised by Mr. Polen, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, that the Appropriation hearings will be completed shortly. I am informed that the entire needs of the Commonwealth will have been summarized within a period of less than ten days, and for that reason I am withholding my vote on certain of these measures which I would have voted for had the Appropriation hearings been completed.

These measures are House Bill No. 661, Printer's No. 401, House Bill No. 660, Printer's No. 400, and House Bill No. 662, Printer's No. 402.

My withdrawal of an approval and an affirmative vote will not cost the taxpayers one cent, because these bills are on an annual basis and the reports will be filed after December 31, 1959, for 661 and 662, and so far as gross receipts are concerned, they apply the gross receipts beginning January 1, 1959.

I believe it would be more orderly that we know exactly what the needs of the Commonwealth are. I believe it would have been better for all parties concerned to suspend action for a period of ten days, and if these bills fail today, and they are called up for reconsideration after the Appropriation hearings are completed, I hereby pledge that I shall vote for these bills and for such other bills as I believe on a selective basis are required for the needs of the Commonwealth. We have a Selective Sales Tax. I shall be selective in my voting for and against the tax measures which will be presented by the administration.

Mr. RIGBY. Mr. Speaker, I too, like my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Goldstein, have intended to vote for certain parts of the Governor's revenue program, but I am going to withhold my vote today until a full and complete report has been made of the study now being made by the Appropriations Committees of both the Senate and the House. When those committees make their reports, and the evaluation is made, the needs of this Commonwealth are made known, I am going to vote for certain bills in this program, namely, 661 and 662 and maybe others that I may select.

I believe that we have been unrealistic in developing this program and I, someday, would like to see first a budget, and when these bills are brought up on the floor again I will vote for them.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to proceed and make a statement of our position generally on these tax bills that are called up for consideration and for that purpose I would like unanimous consent because I am not going to speak directly on the bill that is before us. If I can have that permission, Mr. Speaker, I would like to proceed.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman, being the Minority Floor Leader, is privileged to make a statement at his discretion at any time.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

As you know about ten days ago we received word from the Majority Leader that he intended to call up certain tax bills. A week ago he did not know what tax bills he would, for sure, call up. Last week we would have caucused on the matter but, because of the untimely death of our Minority Whip, it was put off until this week.

Yesterday, however, the Majority Leader informed us that today he intended to call up the tax doubling the tax on bank shares, putting a tax on personal property of six mills and also a tax on liquor and beer, which is on our calendar, House Bill No. 1284. I told him that we would caucus today and I would present the problem as objectively as possible to the House Republican Caucus and would bring back a message.

The message from the caucus I am delivering at this time on this floor. I want to say that the House Republican Caucus is a free and unfettered caucus and what I am saying to you now is the result of the expression of the free deliberation of our caucus and in no way an attempt to coerce anybody into a position.

May I say then what our position is. In order to do so I will again, for I do not know how many times I have so stated, review to you the situation that we find ourselves in.

The demands of Governor Lawrence, as you know, early in March or the last week in February, said to this General Assembly, I want you to provide for $400 million in new taxes. As has been said here repeatedly, it is the largest new single tax bite in all the history of Pennsylvania. It is a staggering new sum of money that we are asking the people to provide to balance our budget. I do not know whether any state in the Union, through this session of the various General Assemblies, is being called upon to raise such a huge amount of money. Therefore, it has naturally put caution in the hearts of everyone, not only on the Republican side, but the Democratic side, that we should proceed slowly and make sure that we were right and correct before we went heedlessly into the task of raising taxes.

The first item was the $178 million deficit. That too was a staggering sum of money. What is the deficit now? It has been whittled down to $143 million. Unless we Republicans had found out from some undisclosed source that there was another $13 million found, I am just wondering whether this figure would have been announced in the paper this week. I am just wondering whether it would have been. Be that as it may, the deficit now, without any special auditing of it as to whether it represents accounts payable and the various items that I have pointed out here, it is stanted to be $143 million. In other words, by our delay, shall we say, in not putting on taxes, we have in effect saved the taxpayers $35 million.

How about the budget of $1.907 billion? That too is a staggering budget. Were not we right on this side of the House, and even your people, to want to look that over carefully before we started passing taxes to make sure that that amount of money was absolutely necessary? We figured the budget of Governor Lawrence with the last budget of Governor Leader and it comes out $290 million more. I grant you $77 million of it is a repetition of the deficiency appropriations, or $232 million new money that Governor Lawrence is asking in the budget. In any event it is $290 million more than Governor Leader's budget, which of course is a pretty good increase in any budget of any state comparable to ours—$290 million.

Another thing that has happened since we have been in session, and you who read the financial magazines or even the current magazines know that they are telling what a great business year 1959 is going to be, that it will carry over into 1960, and those who are forecasting say they hope it will carry on into the fall of 1960. Of course we Republicans hope it will. We have an election that year, in which prosperity, of course, will be a tremendous issue.

For our purposes here I think the Department of Revenue can well re-estimate the case from existing taxes because of this unprecedented rise in the business index which is taking place in this session. All you have to do is take a ride on the turnpike and see all the automobile trailers going by loaded with every conceivable type of vehicle. It bespeaks a prosperity that we are tremendously proud of. All right, now I have pointed out those things to you. Now, let us say something more about that budget.

What has Governor Lawrence done to reduce his budget? What has he done to cut down on the number of state employes, to cut down on expenditures? He just kept Governor Leader's budget and added to it.

I am just wondering whether the Governor could not call in his Cabinet members and his department heads and even some of the underlings way down and say, do you need those ten or fifteen employes that you see sitting there as you go by those open doors? Do you need all those secretaries? Do you need all the other things, absolutely need them? Let us go to the Liquor Control Board up on the second or third floor of that building, see all the employes there behind hundreds of desks. Are they all necessary? Well, you say, that is a separate agency, but it is not because we are expecting a $94 million profit from that particular thing, that particular endeavor, durthe coming two-year period.

So I say, what effort has Governor Lawrence made to reduce his budget, to cut out a lot of, perhaps, unnecessary spending? We have not heard about it. Also, that bill to curtail or to do away with deficiency appropriations has not been introduced as was discussed here on the floor several weeks ago. That is a vital piece of legislation which should give this General Assembly some control over granting a deficiency appropriation, to force department heads to live within their budget except in the case of extreme emergency.

Now, let's talk about the Budget hearings. To repeat, we started our Budget hearings here in the House on or about the first of May. They are about to finish, I understand. The Senate has completed their hearings. They are now sitting down and assemblying their data. They have invited Members on the Republican side of this House to sit down with the Republican Senators and to come up with what they figure is a realistic budget figure and arrive at a sum which will provide reasonably for the needs of the people of this Commonwealth. They expect to do that over this weekend, and it will no doubt carry on into the next weekend, for it is quite a job for all of us to do after we have adjourned here on Wednesday. So you can see we have not been idle.

I have said here repeatedly, over this microphone, that we are not irresponsible on this side of the House. We intend to help balance this budget. It goes without saying that we have just as much responsibility as you people have. I think that you owe it to us to let us know exactly what the needs are. I think our demands have been fair and reasonable. We have been strung along here all session and it is not our fault that you did not start your Budget hearings until the first day of May.

The people on our side report that they have gone back home over these weekends and people stop them on the street and want to know, how about all that large sum of money that you fellows are asked to spend down there? What are you folks doing about it? The people back home are worried about inflation. If you would send a questionnaire out you would find the number one thing that the people are worried about is inflation. Therefore, we feel that we have been entirely justified in the stand that we have taken to this point in insisting upon knowing exactly how much money we need to run this state, without any frills, without any unnecessary expenditures.

But today, in the face of our admonition to you, our reasonable request to you, you are running these tax bills even though you have not finished the hearing. I say that when the session is over and the history of this session is read I cannot help but feel that the people of Pennsylvania will point the finger of scorn at you for trying to force us into voting a tax program when you cannot stand up today and tell us exactly what is needed to run the state. I think you are proceeding in a reckless way here today, particularly in view of the fact that there is $1,675 billion in taxes on the books now and this state is not in any jeopardy as far as not being able to run our institutions is concerned. We feel that we are entirely justified in the position of our caucus.

Let me get down to the caucus today. I say that it was put to the caucus as objectively as possible what the situation was. I was amazed at the firmness of our caucus in their resolve to stand pat. As I say, it is not because of any desire to be cute, or to be smart, or to play for advantage, or anything. We think it is only good government. It is husbandry. It is an intelligent thing to do to add just how much we need and then we will sit down and figure out how we are going to raise the money.

Maybe in other sessions you can do it, pass your taxes and your appropriations, but this is a different session. You are asking for $400 million in new taxes, asking $1.9 billion for a budget, and I think that it has therefore come to a situation in this state where we have to proceed slower; we have to give things more scrutiny, more auditing and a more careful and intelligent approach than we ever had in the past.

Therefore, in our caucus today we reaffirmed our position, that at this time, until we have received a full statement on the budget, what the needs are of the Commonwealth, we are not going to provide the votes for taxes at this time.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this afternoon as a special order of business we were asking the House to vote on four revenue raising measures comprising a package of three tax measures, of which the first bill has been called here this afternoon dealing with the bank shares tax would be a part of the $104.6 million estimated package.

A while back in this House the Hood-Kennedy report was presented and it was at the recommendation of the Republican leadership that the bills were divided. We on this side provided 106 votes to pass the 3.5 percent sales tax without a single bit of help from the Republican side on that measure after we had taken out two features of the bill.

Today one of these two features are here to be voted on.

It was at their suggestion that possibly there might be some help on tax measures in which there would be no disagreement that the money was needed to operate the state. Let us see if we are irresponsible.

At this point we have passed one billion and approximately 600 million of revenue which is on the books. Now let us see if we agree that the mandated amount of the budget is not approximately $85 million short at this point today. If this is correct then we could say that we are talking about approximately $20 million more than the mandated figures that you agree were part of this budget, or as I said a moment ago, we are talking about approximately $104.6 million worth of revenue measures here this afternoon.

Now if we are irresponsible, we are irresponsible because we believe in trying to provide the tax revenues to operate the entire budget which you and I may not agree as to the final figures, but only to that portion which you can not deny. Someday someone will vote to provide revenue measures to pay for that to which you agree.

Now, if that be the case we then say to you that the needs of the Commonwealth, and I have said this before, it would have been so nice if you would have helped pass $400 million worth of new revenue, for we would then have had some money to talk about the schools we want to help, over and above the amount in the budget now.

Let us think for a moment and see what we are talking about.

The budget calls for appropriations to school districts of Pennsylvania, for reimbursement, for instruction, and I have heard no single person come forward asking that this be reduced, or that this figure is adequate at this point. But I have had numerous requests, both private, by telephone call and by mail asking for additional money over and above the amount in the budget for the schools of Pennsylvania.

The estimated revenue measures that have been enacted into law in the previous session and are producing additional revenue helping to reduce the deficiency have certainly not tried to be hid in any way. I question very much the statement that if someone had not uncovered the information, for the Governor of this Commonwealth last week had available the information which was sent to every House Member the first of the week. The revenue raising measures that we are voting on today, I intended to inform you the morning of Teusday for your caucus but the untimely death of your Minority Whip, Mr. Allen Gibson changed our plans for that week. These are the same measures except for one, the gross receipts gas tax on which a conference is taking place dealing with some very legal points this week, and then it will be determined if this will be added to the package at this point for $10 million more.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the bills that we are voting on today, we have given you every opportunity not to be irresponsible, but to be responsible elected representatives helping to finance the state, on the items that you cannot disagree on, or the figures that you cannot dispute, for you have stated that these are the amounts, that there is no question that you will have to raise this revenue and then some more.

We intend this afternoon to give you that opportunity, and if it is your position not to provide any votes, that is the decision you have made. We intend to let you know that if one bill fails here by a lack of two votes, that if you want the bill back you will recall it, because it will fall and stay fallen. When one other bill falls because of the lack of three votes, that bill will fall, and that is all I ask of you peope today on each of these measures. When this opportunity presents itself here today we have given you the opportunity to join with us, for we agree that we accept the responsibility of these tax measures, and we do not deny, even though we have 106 of our Members here this afternoon, that we do not have the votes to pass those bills. We ask you to share this responsibility, to join with us in the passage of these bills which you know are a part of a revenue raising measure which will not exceed in any way, nor equal the amount, that was requested in the $400 million. This is an opportunity that all of Pennsylvania awaits, for we owe the responsibility, all of us, to first place our Commonwealth in a sound financial position.

The Budget hearings will be over in ten days. The budget hearings under the House Appropriations Committee have never denied or refused any Member—or nonmember—the privilege of asking any questions that they may care to ask regarding any subject at the Appropriation Committee hearings. Any information that was not available immediately has been furnished to the Member who requested it, and this can be a matter of record, for many Members have asked for a great deal of information and have been supplied with that information.

This afternoon I can only ask you to join with us for the few votes that we need for the passage of these three tax programs dealing with four separate revenue raising measures, and to give us an opportunity to try to help keep our state in a solvent financial position, for there is no question that at a later date, you will agree on the additional revenue. I say to you here today that when that day comes I think you will join with us in asking for more money than is in that budget now, so that we can provide the additional revenue to our schools and hospitals which will be in excess of the amount requested by the Governor.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, by the more or less veiled threat of the Majority Leader that if the bills go down they will let them down, and somebody else will have to resurrect them, of course, he is saying that, I suppose, to more or less stampede us over here to vote for the bills.

I just want to say, of course the question of how you are to resurrect bills that have been defeated once is within the power of this General Assembly. We have, of course, fixed by rule that you must do it by motion for reconsideration, but you can do it by a suspension of the Rules or in any other manner that 106 people in this House might decree. So it is not the frightening bugaboo that the Majority Leader would have you believe.

However, if it were the situation today, in face of the admonition of this side, that you deliberately run the bills and then you are going to let them die forever because of no machinery with which to resurrect them, it would be irresponsibility of the worst kind, and I am sure that Mr. McCann does not mean what he says.

To repeat, rather than passing a few taxes now to meet what he calls the mandates, which I again say is like cutting a dog's tail off inch by inch so it won't hurt so much, it is not good business. It is not good government at this point.

I would say we should figure out what we need, and what we need is just as much of a mandate as what is presently on the books. How much more sensible and how much more agreeable it would be if we could sit down and say, this is the amount that we need; let us see how we are going to raise it. But no, you are flaunting yourselves at us today and saying, take it or leave it. It is none of your business just what the total amount of the budget is or anything. We are going to roll these taxes and we are going to let them die. If that is your message to the people of Pennsylvania, we will stand on the record; we will stand before the bar of public opinion on that, because we have been trying to do business here in a frank and sincere way and if you want to go ahead the way you are trying, that is your business. But I do not think it is good government and I do not believe you mean it the way it sounds.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—3

Haudenshield,	Moran,	Thompson,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 656 on page 29 of today's calendar, revenue bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 656, entitled:

An Act reenacting and amending the "State Personal Property Tax Act" approved June 22, 1935 (P. L. 414) by reenacting and clarifying the State personal property tax increasing the rate thereof and of the corporate loans tax granting certain additional exemptions and credits and providing for the valuation of stock in certain investment companies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 656, Printer's No. 418, is the State Personal Property Tax Act.

The proposed changes here are estimated to bring in approximately $55 million in revenue in series of a package of $104.6 millians.

The State Personal Property Tax has various rates in various areas of Pennsylvania. In most of our counties it is four mills, in some it is six, in certain areas of Pennsylvania it is eight and some it is ten.

This bill guarantees to each of those that present existing rate of taxation that now exists in the various areas, and the aditional six mills would be applicable only where it would make it uniform to ten mills all over the State, or four mills where it is now six mills, or two mills where it is now eight mills. Therefore, the bill as estimated, as I repeated a moment ago, would be approximately $55 million.

Mr. Speaker, I ask if satisfactory to the Minority Leader, that we take a roll call except from those voting in the negative so that we can proceed right along with our business.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. STECKEL. Mr. Speaker, this bill, the tax preceeds of this bill would enter into the General Funds, would they not?

Mr. McCANN. They would, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STECKEL. By the rate of tax under this bill as set forth the residents of the Governor's home town of Pittsburgh would not pay one penny of tax under this bill, would they?

Mr. McCANN. Not any more than they pay now, for they now have a ten mill total in the city of Pittsburgh when you take the county, the school district, and the city.

Mr. STECKEL. But under this bill they would not pay one penny to the state General Fund, would they?

Mr. McCANN. They would not, sir.

Mr. STECKEL. And the residents of the city of Philadelphia would pay at the rate of one-third into the State Treasury, one-third of the rate that the remaining residents of the state of Pennsylvania would pay. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. I think perhaps we should correct that. I believe it is four mills in the city of Philadelphia and if I am correct in this, four mills in the school district of the city of Philadelphia or a total of eight mills, and they would be paying two mills. Is that not correct, two additional mills?

Mr. STECKEL. They would pay two mills of the State tax, is that correct, sir, but the rest of the residents of Pennsylvania would be paying six mills of this state tax. Is that correct?

Mr. McCANN. Most of the counties, such as I live in, would be paying six additional mills since we have four mills in our county. I believe though, is it not correct, that there are two other places that have two additional mills or a total of six? Therefore, they would only be paying four mills aditional to the State.

Mr. STECKEL. I can't answer that question. Some of them then, the residents of Philadelphia would be paying two mills under this six mill levy?

Mr. McCANN. Correct, sir.

Mr. STECKEL. And the residents of Pittsburgh would pay nothing under this levy?

Mr. McCANN. Correct, sir.

Mr. STECKEL. To the state. And the rest of the states' citizens would be paying six mills to the state under this levy?

Mr. McCANN. That is correct, sir.

Mr. STECKEL. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—3

Haudenshield,	Moran,	Thompson,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1284 on page 31 of today's calendar, revenue bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1284, entitled:

An Act amending the "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act" approved March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228) abolishing examption of certain food and beverages from tax and imposing tax upon the sale or use of malt and brewed beverages and spirituous and vinous liquors including mixed drinks.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 1284, Printer's No. 416, dealing with the Selective Sales and Use Tax Act, placing the tax at the source, or at the state liquor stores and beer distributors in Pennsylvania, is estimated to produce $37.6 million as a part of the $104.6 million package voted on here this atfernoon.

This bill was changed from its inception in the Hood-Kenedy Commission Report, in which the tax was placed at the retail level, or the outlet, to the present source, as amended, to the source of distribution, or the retail level, as far as liquor stores and distributors in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I ask all the Members of the House, as I have asked before, to support this measure as a part of the package. This bill will take a separate roll call.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING 3

Haudenshield,	Moran,	Thompson,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wishes to compliment the Members of the House upon the decorum and the parliamentary manner in which the proceedings up to this minute have been handled.

It has been a pleasure to preside over the House during the recent debates and the recent discussion. The Chair actually is proud of the manner in which the House has performed.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FILO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, now that the tax measures have been voted on and fallen, I just want to make a brief statement regarding the fine editorials that several Members of the opposite side of the House have gotten in the last three, four or five days. Each Member, and they know who they are, had stated in the Press they would support the tax measures that were being voted on presently.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. I presume the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Filo, knows what the papers in the city of Pittsburgh contain, and he refers, I believe, directly to certain things I stated in the public Press.

Now my position on these tax bills has been clearly stated, but his memory is quite weak. The bills I stated I would vote for at the appropriate time, the one is the gross receipts tax which was not even called up today and the bill in so far as the trade-ins are concerned was not called up today.

I have publicly stated that at the appropriate time, if the majority desires to carry on its progrgam in an orderly manner, I will vote for these bills, and I will not renege on my statement. So I think the Press in the city of Pittsburgh was quite right in giving the party now on the floor the tribute that it did.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STEVENS. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I made a commitment in our local newspapers to support House Bill 1284, the tax on malt beverages. At that time, with the bill in its original state, I would have supported it. The bill was amended, and the money that was to be raised by this bill was decreased, and that is why I changed my opinion and voted no on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The House will be in order. I hope that we will have no sessions in which prior statements made by either the Speaker, the Leaders of the Members of this House may have made in times past are recalled. Let us live in the present.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. STRAUSSER. I rise to a question of personal privileges.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. STRAUSSER. I did state that I would vote for the soft drink tax, the tobacco tax and liquor tax. Today I voted in favor of the liquor tax.

The court shall impose the cost of such proceedings upon the petitioners, or upon the school directors or upon the school district, or may apportion the same among them as it shall deem just and proper.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. GALLAGHER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this may seem a little anti-climatic; however, I think possibly we should reflect our thoughts upon these problems which I intend to speak upon.

A few weeks ago when we were in session, Mr. Johnson, the leader of the Minority Party of this House, stated, I believe, that it was very important that the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee invite representatives of the 4th Class School Districts to a public hearing here in Harrisburg on the school crisis in Pennsylvania.

Mr. Johnson said, I believe, that these school districts had a right to be heard, a right to tell us in their own way what they need to survive, to continue to operate our school systems, and then, I believe, Mr. Johnson stated that all the Members on his side of the House, of his Party had been called in by their school boards and informed of their desperate needs. If this be true, I think that all the Members of the other side of this House should be well versed in the school problems, regardless of whether or not the 4th class school districts appeared here in Harrisburg with their problems and their recommendations to solve these problems.

Mr. Speaker, I believe that Mr. Johnson also stated that we should appoint a committee or a commission to study these problems and come up with an answer to the problems and come up with an answer to the problems of the very complex school system of this Commonwealth.

I can agree with this proposal, however, the school board members of the 4th, 3rd, 2nd, and 1st class school districts need, and very emphatically, not a study commission at this time; they need financial help right now.

I feel that I know their problems very well, for before this session began I went to the school directors, the school administrators, the civic groups in my county and sat down with them to discuss our problems in education to try and find the possible solution with them to this crisis in education in our county and Commonwealth. I have acted according to their wishes and to their very necessary requests. I have introduced bills that I feel, and that they feel, will give them the needed relief now, and I mean now; no next year nor the year after, but right now.

We have heard mention that we should invite the Pennsylvania State Education Association, the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association to a hearing and have them give their recommendations to this Committee. I believe that they have already made their recommendations in the form of a bill that I was happy to cosponsor, House Bill No. 1108. I believe that each of us has received information from these various groups, giving the reasons why they support this bill, pointing out the urgency of its passage.

However, the estimated cost of this bill is in the neighborhood of $197 million. That means that we have a problem, a problem of raising this money, and the only way that we can raise such money is through taxes. We must provide this Commonwealth with enough money so that we can pass it along to the various school districts, so that we can help pay for the high cost of education throughout this state.

Now we can do this at the state level, or we can shirk our duty and pass this burden to the school board level. Well, I, for one, say that the participation at the local level has reached its peak and then some. I can speak with authority on this subject, for I happen to come from a school district in my home township where I believe that they have the highest tax rate for a school district of the third class in this Commonwealth, most certainly in the county of Bucks.

And do you know what that tax rate is, ladies and gentlemen? It is 76 mills now with a newly passed increase to meet the normal costs of operation for the year 1959-60 of 9 more mills, making a total of 85 mills school tax, plus a $15 head tax. Now, you couple this with a 16 mill township tax and 8 mill county tax, and you come up with 109 mills, plus a $15 head tax.

I think, and I think that you will agree with me, that they are paying their fair share on the local level and then some. They have done a commendable job in maintaining the school system, now they need help and need it badly. And while I have given you an example of the extreme, I am sure, from the letters that I have received from almost every school district in this Commonwealth, that the situation is the same, only at this time not as acute, as the tax problem in Bristol township, Bucks county.

And so, ladies and gentlemen, now is the time for action; now is the time to do something about this problem that confronts us everywhere we turn; now is the time to stop playing games with our tax measures and get down to business. We must not be partisan in our deliberations on these tax problems, for the welfare of our youth and the future leaders of this Commonwealth and our nation depend upon our forthright actions.

I say we do need a restudy of the educational system of this Commonwealth, but we need, and right now, ample relief to all of the school districts of this great Commonwealth, if we are to continue our present system of education.

So, Mr. Speaker, I say, let's pull together, pass the necessary measures to permit our school districts to continue to function, and then, by all means, appoint this commission to make sure, or at least to try to make sure, that this crisis does not appear before this House in the future.

And so, Mr. Johnson, I say to you, rally your party around this cause, and I am sure that my party, under the very able leadership of Mr. McCann in this House, will lead the way to an immediate solution for the many thousand school districts in this Commonwealth.

INTERROGATION

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate Mr. Gallagher.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman tell us whether the school board in the township of Bristol, in Bucks county, is Republican or Democratic?

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman knows very well of what party the school board is. It is Democratic.

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to reflect upon a previous conversation I had the other day with the gentleman from Bucks, Mr. A. D. Wililams, in regard to the party of the school board and the school problem in Bristol Township, Bucks County, informing him of the new tax rate that was recently proposed since last week. We discussed this problem and he admitted to me that regardless of what party was in power in that school district that that situation would have occurred anyhow.

STUDENTS OF GATE OF HEAVEN SCHOOL WELCOMED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair at this time would like to welcome to the Hall of the House, students of the "Gate of Heaven School" in Dallas, Luzerne County, who are here under the supervision of Father Kane. They are the guests of the gentleman from Luzerne County, Mr. Shupnick.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. TAYLOR.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 438, entitled:

An Act compelling common carriers by railroad to man locomotives trains and other self-propelled engines or machines with competent employes providing for the minimum number and qualifications of men so employed and providing penalties.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, in the state of Pennsylvania they have this law and rule with a minimum crew bill. There is only one exception to it, which is the Pennsylvania Railroad. These others have these contracts going between railroad labor and railroad organizations. So I do not see why there should be any objection, just for one railroad, in going along with this bill.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak briefly in opposition to this bill.

I should like to direct the attention of the Members of the House to certain positions in certain sections of this legislation. I am speaking now for the information of the House on House Bill 438, Printer's number 255. Page 5 of the bill, I quote from Section 1,

> "It shall be unlawful for any carrier to operate any freight train consisting of less than fifty cars without a crew of competent employes consisting of not less than one engineer, one fireman, one conductor, one flagman, and one brakeman."

Then in Section 3 of the bill the language is as follows, in part,

> "It shall be unlawful for any carrier to use, operate or permit any locomotive to be used or operated in any railroad car from one railroad to another unless it shall be manned by a crew of employes which shall consist of not less"

And notice this it is speaking now of a locomotive,

> "not less than one engineer, one fireman, one yardman, conductor or fireman, and two brakemen or helpers."

And then in Section 4 of the bill the language reads as follows,

> "It shall be unlawful for any carrier to operate or permit to be operated on its main track, any single locomotive, unless that locomotive is managed by a crew of competent employes, which crew shall consist of not less than one engineer, one fireman, one conductor or flagman."

Now, Mr. Speaker, in the Commonwealth of Pennsyl there are approximately 25 or 27 shortline railroads. The great majority of these railroads operate over track mileage extending from 3½ miles to 50 miles. Most of these short-line roads serve the economy of a particular locality. They keep the industry of that particular locality going. Most of them are owned by representative industries in their particular area. Without them those industries might very well be gone, because they rely almost entirely upon the railroads for heavy traffic. If this bill should become law, those short-line railroads would face insolvency.

It is absolutely impossible with the small amount of profit under which these roads operate for them to carry this type of a heavy personnel employment cost. So when we consider this bill we are considering destroying the economy of certain localities; we are considering destroying industries in certain localities, and we are going to throw many of these short-line railroads into bankruptcy.

For that reason, therefore, I call upon the Members of this House, who represent the areas where these railroads are situated—they know where those areas are—to vote against this legislation.

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, as you will recall, this bill was debated somewhat at length about a month ago and I will not do anything more than briefly summarize my points as I presented them previously.

I would first call to the attention of this House that similar legislation, the Act of 1937, was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. We have before us today a bill similar in content to that bill, or that Act rather, that was declared unconstitutional. I do not think that this House should properly present, consider and pass a bill which, in my opinion, and the opinion of the Supreme Court with respect to the former legislation, was declared unconstitutional.

Secondly, the strange part about this bill is that it does not provide for minimum crews or full crews with respect to passenger trains or with respect to freight trains over 50 cars in length. It is a strange thing to me that if this legislation is being presented to us in the name of safety that the safety of passenger trains is not as important as the safety of yard locomotives and shifting locomotives. It is equally strange that large freight trains are not subjected to this bill. If safety is a factor, it certainly is a factor with respect to passenger trains and freight trains of over 50 cars in length.

And, finally, we have heard much about industrial climate for business. Certainly the railroads are businesses. We have heard much about how we are helping the industrial climate for business. The railroads I do not think will consider this kind of legislation anythig but the deep freeze with respect to their industrial climate.

Mr. STEWART. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Taylor.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman consent to be interrogated?

Mr. TAYLOR. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEWART. Did I understand the gentleman to say that other railroads already have this provision?

Mr. TAYLOR. Each and every railroad in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with exception of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mr. STEWART. Would the gentleman tell me how the unions obtained this right?

Mr. TAYLOR. The union signed a contract that was drawn up some years ago before the repeal of the Full Crew Bill. It has been in existence since that time.

Mr. STEWART. In other words the unions, through collective bargaining, obtained this right. Is that correct?

Mr. TAYLOR. No. It was issued in a law here in this House, and repealed back in 1928.

Mr. STEWART. Does the gentleman believe that the subject matter of this legislation should be a matter of collective bargaining?

Mr. TAYLOR. Being a practical railroad man all of my life, I know just exactly what they need and what they mean.

Mr. STEWART. I do not think you answered my question. Do you think the subject matter of this bill is a matter for collective bargaining?

Mr. TAYLOR. Well, I do not want to answer that question. That is strictly between the Railroad Brotherhood and the railroad. In other words, that is their contract. All the rest of the railroads in the state of Pennsylvania have those contracts.

Mr. STEWART. I thank the gentleman. I would like to make a brief statement.

Mr. Speaker, when there were a number of railroad bills on the calendar a few weeks ago, I voted for those labor bills which I felt were responsible.

The subject matter of this bill is clearly a matter for collective bargaining; a question of give and take around the collective bargaining table between management and unions.

I believe this is an irresponsible bill, that the unions are attempting to force this Legislature to collectively bargain their demands. It is my belief that this is a bad bill, and I ask the Members of this House to vote no.

Mr. A. M. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise merely to second a number of the remarks that have been made in opposition to this legislation.

This bill is one of a package, and I had quite a bit to say about the overall package at the time the first bill was debated. I do not intend to go over that ground again. I would just like to emphasize something that the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Bowman, pointed out, and that is the question of the industrial climate in Pennsylvania.

The railroad industry is in financial difficulties. We see it in the newspapers, and I have figures that show that in the last 13 years, I believe, the net capital assets of American railroads have declined from $1.6 billion to something less than $400 million at the present time.

There are areas in the state of Pennsylvania where there is chronic unemployment in the face of new energy and new life in the economic system of the country, but nonetheless we are faced with this problem of chronic unemployment.

This Legislature has created the Pennsylvania Industrial Authority. We are pouring millions of dollars into an effort to attract business and industry to the state of Pennsylvania, and we are coming to the realization that business and industry in our state really means nothing more than jobs and payrolls. That is what we want for the people of Pennsylvania. We are advertising the improved tax climate as far as industry is concerned in Pennsylvania throughout the length and breadth of the Nation in an effort to attract new business and industry.

But there is more to a good business climate than just taxes. It is also the attitude of the state toward business. And I would just like to say, Mr. Speaker, especially to the Members of the majority party that if we pass legislation of this particular type, we are going to give Pennsylvania a black eye throughout the whole United States, and discourage business and industry from coming here, because if we do something like this to an employer in the state who employes almost 100,000 workers, what would we do to other people who might be attracted here to build their plants and to bring their jobs and payrolls to us?

I ask all of the Members of the House to vote against this legislation.

Mr. SCHWARTZ. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, first of all the gentleman from Dauphin County raised the point that this bill presently before us only protected freight and not passengers. Well, he may be right, and I publicly state that I would be very happy to co-sponsor such a bill with him. I feel as he does that passengers should be protected as well as freight.

We heard a lot of talk about the industrial climate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I agree with that also. But I have in my hand a brief in the latest case brought by the Pennsylvania Railroad in opposition to the so-called Full Crew Bill. By the way, the bill before us now is not a Full Crew Bill but a Minimum Crew Bill. The attorneys for the Pennsylvania Railroad said, and I read from their own briefs, on page 48, section 31:

> "If this Court were to impose these requirements upon the railroads in response to the defendant's petition, The Pennsylvania Railroad Company would be forced to undergo an unnecessary additional annual expense of approximately $300,000. The many other railroads in the state would be similarly burdened with unnecessary expense."

I therefore call to your attention that we are not talking about $3 million, because I believe the last time this bill was debated that was the figure that was given on the floor, but we are talking about $300,000. I do not think that is such a terribly large amount, when you balance it against the safety of the employes, cargo, passengers and crew involved.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. Speaker, I am a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. The Brotherhood, or the union, which you call it, have me insured. They have all their employes who belong to that union insured, those who work on the Pennsylvania Railroad. They are much interested in saving revenue, the same as everybody else. That is the reason they are interested in safety of employees, the safety of men on the railroads. These men are schooled, and they have to know the rules. These rules were inaugurated by the railroad companies themselves, before I ever became a railroad man. Some 45 years ago they were in existence. Of course, at the prsent time they are trying to get back to a point where they believe they are saving money. They are not saving any money; they are losing their money. The sooner they straighten themselves out and get themselves organized, then they will start to make money.

Mr. A. D. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, on April 14 we considered what was then a package of five bills having to do with railroads. We voted on four of them, and this bill before us, House bill No. 438, was laid aside.

At that time there were many interested parties in the House who appealed to me, among other persons on this side of the House, to apply the test of common sense, safety and logic to these measures. These measures are, obviously, sponsored and backed by organized labor. I applied those tests to the four bills that we voted upon and I batted 500.

I found myself able to vote for House Bill No. 628, the weekly pay bill; I found myself able to vote for House Bill No. 406, which put additional types of lights on the rear of trains. The weekly pay bill made sense to me from a common sense standpoint. The lights on the rear of trains were a safety measure so far as I can see it.

I have gone over the voting on those four bills, and I find a solid block on one side of the House and deflections from a solid block on the other side of the House, which I attribute to common sense and sound reasoning.

However, I think this, once again as in the bi-partisan speeches and appeals that we have heard, has got to work both ways, and I ask the Members on the left side of the House to apply the same tests to this bill, common sense, logic, does it make for good management of the railroads of Pennsylvania, which we know are already appealing for funds or subsidies of some sort so that they can maintain passenger service which apparently loses money constantly.

In my opinion House Bill No. 438 would impose tremendous financial burdens on railroads, which are in a bad state at the present time.

Second, these burdens are not justified as a matter of public safety. If I felt they were, perhaps I could vote for such a bill.

Third, these burdens do not relate to any operating nenessity, but merely make work proposals that are known as "feather bedding." I ask a few of my friends on the left to apply the test of common sense and vote down this bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair reminds the last speaker that it is not the left side of the House, but the Majority side.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BELL filed the following reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 438.

House Bill 438, Printer's number 255, is what is known as a featherbedding bill, so called because it would injure statutory requirement of unnecessary employes. Featherbedding is an unsound economic practice. When superimposed upon an already sick railroad industry, featherbedding threatens the economy of Pennsylvanians.

Railroading is a sick industry. Competition comes from bus, truck, airplane, private automobile and now the St. Lawrence Seaway. A visit to any railroad terminal will reveal old equipment, Need of paint, and other visual evidence that the railroad industry is not making money.

Delaware County has recently witnessed the end of passenger service on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad because the B & O could no longer sustain the losses from its passenger traffic.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has been prominently featured in the newspapers because of its "ghost trains"—trains between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh—formerly crack flyers. The Pennsylvania Railroad sought to discontinue the service because of mounting losses. The PUC refused. Thus the "ghost trains" with a minimum of services.

Curtailment of railroad services results in inconvenience to the public and, of more importance, loss of jobs to railroaders.

Pennsylvania has witnessed the dire effects of a sick industry. In the Coal industry, coal was priced out of competition by oil and natural gas. Today—thousands of hard working citizens of our Commonwealth, the coal miners, are out of work. Formerly prosperous communities face the spectre of mass unemployment. This Capitol Building was built in a large part by taxes on corporate profits on King Coal. Yet today, sick coal has disrupted the families of much of the heartland of Pennsylvania.

Recently we saw the example of what can happen, where private enterprise collapsed, in the urban bus industry. Altoona and other municipalities heard the bus company say "we cannot make money, so we quit" and they did quit. Recently we passed a bill authorizing a third class city to contract with a municipal transportation authority. In other words, where essential public transportation becomes uneconomical to be operated by private enterprise, it could become a taxpayers' obligation to maintain such public transit facilities.

In 1957—we granted lower license fees to the sick urban bus industry. In 1959, we are asked to lower gasoline taxes for the same sick urban bus industry.

If we continue to legislate increased costs to railroads in the nature of unnecessary featherbedding—it could be the straw that breaks the camel's back.

We do not want to see the day when railroads say, "we cannot make money—so we quit—unless the Commonwealth furnishes us with subsidies.

If statutory featherbedding is permitted, we could see the day when new taxes would have to be imposed to support our railroads.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire the privilege of making a brief statement from this seat of power.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection the gentleman will proceed. The Chair hears no objections.

Mr. ANDREWS. Speaking as Speaker I desire to say that if and when the Republican Minority, or Majority as the case may be, in its wisdom decides that more funds are needed to finance the affairs of the Commonwealth than are presently in sight or available, the Chair will be glad to appoint a committee to confer with a similar committee representing this side of the House to ascertain, first, definitely what amount of money the leaders on this side of the House, and those who agree with them, believe is needed, and also ascertain their views from what sources in their opinion the money needed should be secured. I can see no other basis than conference at the legislative level whereby the questions that have concerned us today can be speedily, I hope, and sensibly resolved. The Chair thanks the temporary Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair at this time would ask the Speaker of the House to return to the Chair.

THE SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair certainly thanks the gentleman from Allegheny for filling the Chair so ably.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 1119 on page 25 of today's calendar bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1119, entitled:

An Act requiring attendants at certain railroad grade crossings and imposing a duty on the Public Utility Commission

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BOWMAN. Mr. Speaker, this is the last of the series of the so-called railroad bills which this House has before it. This bill would require attendants at all railroad grade crossings with the exception of three enumerated crossings which are set forth in the bill.

Now, I am quite sure that what I have to say concerning this bill will not persuade anyone to vote other than they did on the proceding bill; however, I feel I am impelled to call to the attention of the House that this bill again will have deleterious effects on the railroad industry.

I am not going to repeat the financial problems. We have heard several times about the railroad industry. However, I would point out that there are over five thousand grade crossings in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Some of those crossings are presently electrically controlled. That is, the crossing bars are electrically controlled, completely electrified, notwithstanding, an electrified crossing bar which automatically goes down upon the approach of a train. This bill would require an attendant even at these particular crossings.

Now, in the name of safety, I do not understand under any circumstances how this Legislature, this House of Representatives, could ask the railroad, which already has electrically controlled crossing bars, to require an attendant at such crossings, and yet that is one of the effects of this legislation.

Secondly, the phraseology of the exceptions with respect to the number of pedestrains crossing a crossing during a twenty-four hour period, to my mind, is not reasonable or logical and requires a P.U.C. determination whether the railroad can be required or not to have a crossing guard at such crossings.

Members of the House, in my opinion, this is another example of a make-work program with very little logic or reason and certainly without any reference to safety, particularly with reference to those crossings which are already electrically guarded. I ask your consideration and your vote against this bill.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NOT VOTING—12

Boris,	Haudenshield,	Stoner,	Willaredt,

Cooper,	Moran,	Ujobai,	Zimmerman,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was in the determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 584 on page 23 of today's calendar, bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 584, entitled as follows:

An Act amending the act of May 18, 1937 (P. L. 654) entitled as amended "An act to provide for the safety and to protect the health and morals of persons while employed * * *" increasing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, here we have another bill on the calendar of this House, as was stated by the Minority Leader some weeks ago, that seems to be for the purpose of harassing business.

I rise to oppose this bill, House Bill 584. It seems to many of us that we are becoming increasingly a bureaucratic form of government, a government in this state that is run by the departments of the state.

This act that the bill is an amendment to covers any room, building or place within the Commonwealth where persons are employed; in other words, all businesses. It includes buildings owned by school districts and by municipalities. It gives the Department of Labor and Industry, the act does, tremendous power to issue rules and regulations and on-the-spot orders covering these different businesses and how local buildings are to be constructed.

Numerous orders have already been issued covering nursing homes. You have read about those, requiring expensive alterations. Maybe some of them are worthwhile and necessary. We are not saying they are not, but we say that the nursing homes, in one instance, are being harassed by orders and regulations from the Department of Labor and Industry.

Under this original act they can be ordered to make changes that suit the Department. For example, changes in lighting, changes in water supply, changes in aisle space, changes in the type of machinery, the type of heating, and all of these, of course, can be covered by orders of the Deaprtment of Labor and Industry.

The Department has power to go into any room or building and make on-the-spot instruction to the manager in charge. The Department has power to control all labor camps in the Commonwealth. More recently, as we all know, the Department has issued many orders concerning our school districts. The changes recommended by the Department are supposed to cost in the neighborhood of $8 million throughout the Commonwealth.

Now what does House Bill 584 do? This bill provides that any person who shall violate any of these rules or regulations or orders can be subject to a penalty that is increased by this bill from $100 to $300 maximum for a first offense. In other words, the penalties are tripled. For a second offense, the penalty is raised from $200 to $500. Of course each violation is a separate offense. The terms of imprisonment are doubled. It is a misdemeanor on the third offense, which, of course, subjects the person to a criminal record.

We want to know what the crisis is that is requiring the tripling of the penalties. We have not heard of any wholesale prosecutions. Is this really a bill to further control, regulate and harass business? Is it a bill to punish the local school directors for failing to comply with these orders that are being issued? We do not know. We feel that the Department of Labor and Industry has enough power without being given an additional right to penalize and fine businessmen and other people in the Commonwealth.

We think this is an unwarranted extension of bureaucratic power and we ask all the Members to vote against this bill.

Mr. J. P. O'DONNELL. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Lippincott gave you a pretty good resume of the Department of Labor and Industry, but that really has nothing to do with the text of this bill. The text of this bill just raises the penalties. Will Mr. Lippincott recall what happened in Delaware County in a few cave-ins? This is not stuff like that.

If they prosecuted the people, the employers that is, where people are killed, in those cases the state could get a conviction on the first offenses, $50. Just recently in the city of Philadelphia where two people were killed the most the municipal hospital could get was $150.

Now do you price life in dollars and cents or do you price life in the morals of the people? That's all I ask.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 3 on page 23 of today's calendar, bills on third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 3, entitled:

An Act providing for a referendum to determine the will of the electorate in regard to horse racing with legal wagering within the State with the moneys derived therefrom by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be deposited in the General Fund.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agreed to the motion?

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I do not agree with the motion to recommit. However, the motion having been made I have no choice in this matter except to abide by the will of the House.

Mr. FILO. Division, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit. I believe, Mr. Speaker, that this legislative proposal has been on the calendar for some time and it should stand or fall on its merits here before the House in final consideration. There is not anything that we could consider on the recommittal of this motion and I believe the Membership of the House would want to decide want to vote one way or the other on the proposal before us.

Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call vote and ask the Membership of the House to vote against the motion to recommit so that the bill can be acted upon finally here before the Membership.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, if I am correct I believe that I asked for a division before the request was made by the gentleman for a roll call.

The SPEAKER. A roll call takes precedence over the gentleman's request for a division.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE POSTPONED

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 114 on page 22 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McCann.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 114, entitled:

An Act amending the "Liquor Code" approved April 12, 1951 (P. L. 90) authorizing issuance of special temporary permits for the retail sale of malt or brewed beverages at baseball parks under certain circumstances in cities of the first class.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. This bill, Mr. Speaker, has been languishing on the calendar for a considerable time, and in the interests of bringing this Session to a close, I suggest that it be brought up today. Now I am appealing for votes. It was defeated once by a few votes, and I need the help of both sides for this bill.

I am not always on the side of sin, I voted to recommit the last bill.

Mr. Speaker, I am appealing to you for votes for two reasons. This bill as you know would permit the Philadelphia Phillies to sell beer in Connie Mack stadium in paper containers on six days of the week when games are played. It excludes Sunday.

There are two reasons. One, there is a police problem there, and frankly that is not the most important problem; nevertheless there is a police problem due to the fact that people come into the ball park from all over Pennsylvania, and they buy cans and bottles of beer, and when they are finished with them they throw them all over the park.

The second reason is that the Phillies are probably going to move to New Jersey. Recently Bob Carpenter purchased a tract of land in Delaware Township, in New Jersey, and though he said it was not going to be used for a stadium—I believe he said it was for speculative purposes—there are people, a considerable number of them, who believe it is for other purposes.

But we feel so long as the beer is allowed to be brought into the park, the Phillies, who suffer from a lack of revenue, admittedly, would derive some revenue. There are estimates that they could make from $100,000 to $150,000 in a season by virtue of this bill being passed.

Immediately that gives rise to all kinds of speculation, and it is fraught with possibilities. They might be able to buy a couple of good pitchers, a couple of good players, with the money. We might even get up to fourth place, like Pittsburgh, if we had additional revenue. So for these reasons I ask you to give me a little hope, and vote "Aye" for the bill.

Mr. FOERSTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose House Bill No. 114, Printer's No. 230. I feel if a bill like this was passed it would make open air saloons or taverns out of the ball parks. I realize it doesn't affect Pittsburgh, but I feel it is wrong for Pittsburgh and it is wrong for Philadelphia.

Also, at a meeting held when this bill first appeared on the calendar, the Allegheny Little Leagues, of which I am President, at such a time it would have affected Pittsburgh, unanimously voted to oppose such a bill, and asked me to carry out their instructions here.

I would vote for this bill if the ball park would agree not to sell tickets to minors. I do not think it is right that children 12, 13 or 14 years of age should be allowed in a park where they are selling beer. I have nothing against beer. I go into saloons myself. I am a drinker myself, but I do not think that beer should be sold in a ball park where minors are allowed to attend these games.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCORMACK. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, if this bill should become law, where in the Phillies ball park, and under what conditions, would this beverage be dispensed?

Mr. McCORMACK. Well, Mr. Speaker, of course the bill makes no provisions as to the mechanics of the sale of beer, and therefore, I can only give you my opinion based upon the present practice of concessionaries in the various stadiums. It is dispensed at booths or stands where they have soft drinks, hot dogs and other refreshments.

Mr. ISAACS. Under the present law, Mr. Speaker, could it be hawked throughout the stadium?

Mr. McCORMACK. My colleague, Mr. Bell from Delaware, says no, but I would be less than truthful if I said no. I really do not know, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. I think that is a rather important question to be answered, Mr. Speaker. It might make a difference in some votes here, whether it is dispensed in paper containers throughout the seats where the patrons are sitting, or whether they have to go to some enclosure where minors would not be allowed, to dispense this beverage. I think that is a rather important question.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, if I might clarify the last answer, and say that it is the intention of the sponsors of the bill that the beer be dispensed at the refreshment stands, and certainly no minors would be able to purchase it, which they cannot do under the present liquor laws of Pennsylvania. Nor would minors be allowed to sell it because of the specific provisions of the Pennsylvania liquor laws.

Mr. ISAACS. If minors were allowed to frequent the enclosures, Mr. Speaker, that I believe is against the present law.

If I may make a statement before I further interrogate the gentleman. I voted for this fill the last time it was on the floor of the House. I was criticized for it particularly on the issue of the question I raised here, and I certainly wish the gentleman could answer it.

Mr. McCORMACK. I will yield, Mr. Speaker, if I may, to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, in answer to these two questions, at the time of the last vote on this bill I made a study of the malt beverage law of Pennsylvania.

There are two portions that are specific on this question, one, it is against the law in Pennsylvania to hawk or peddle beer, second it is against the law in Pennsylvania for minors to frequent a place where beer is sold unless accompanied by their parents or guardians.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, under those conditions I thank the gentleman for his answers, and if that is the present law and the intent of the House, I will support the bill.

Mr. STROUP. Just a brief statement Mr. Speaker, on this bill, from the debate here and from inspections that have been made by many of us in the House, this bill is fraught with many potentialities, not only that, it is special legislation and for that alone it should not be recognized by this House. Moreover, here we have the nose of the camel getting into the tent, soon it will be its four feet and then the hump, and the tent will fall. As a consequence, if we vote for this legislation we have every right in futurue legislation of the same type to grant that right to other ball parks. The Pirates should have that right. Maybe they do not need the beer as much as the Phillies but probably they should have that right. So you see what is going to happen and for that reason I ask you to vote this measure down. Thank you.

Mr. BELL. I wish to make a brief statement in support of this bill. I have in my possession a clipping from the April 30, 1959, sports page of the Evening Bulletin. It shows a photograph where a ball game was temporarily suspended until the Phillies' ground crew could clear the outfield of trash thrown by fans during the game. This picture shows the beer cans that were thrown. If this bill becomes law it will do away with the beer cans in the Phillies' ball park

I said in answer to interrogation, since minors would not be permitted in the portion of the park where beer is sold, I think it would also be good for the Commonwealth. I have heard reports that under present conditions, many, many truck loads of cans of beer are delivered to tap rooms immediately adjacent to the ball park, and that when certain fans enter the ball park they carry with them carriers of six cans of beer. I say this is a controller measure and there will be less drinking, it will do away with the objectionable feature of throwing cans at the umpire, and I urge others in the House to vote for the bill.

Mr. DOUGHERTY. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I rise in support of House Bill 114, due to the fact that it is badly needed to keep that Philadelphia ball club in Philadelphia.

Personally I have not had a drink of beer or liquor in over 24 years, so I am as dry as any man in this House. Although I do not care to indulge I will fight for your right to do so if you so desire. There is a report in Allegheny County that the bartenders' union are opposing this measure, I do not know why they are worried about it out in Allegheny County because Pittsburgh is not in this bill. I want to serve notice on you that Philadelphia Bartenders' union is not opposed to it for the simple reason that if the Phillies go, the bartenders go.

So, therefore I ask you to vote for this bill as it is badly needed for Philadelphia.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, we have heard something about carrying in the beer and that is true, but there is nothing in the bill as presently written that will not permit them to carry in the cans of beer.

I see no additional reasons now for voting for this bill that did not exist when we voted it down. There is no reason to believe that it will not offend more people than it will please in favor of coming to see the Phillies play.

As was said by Representative Stroup, you let the foot in the door, it could not only extend to other baseball contests throughout the state, but they would have an argument that if you give it to the Phillies then you should give it to all baseball contests. Then it could extend to all athletic contests and I think we are opening wide the door.

I see no reason for voting for this bill in its present form. I remind the gentleman in regard to Pittsburgh, they have a good team, that is why they are winning, and they are not selling beer either. It is a sad state of affairs if we have to let beer support baseball.

Mr. FOERSTER. Mr. Speaker, one of Mr. Bell's main points in favor of this bill is that it would prevent beer cans from being brought into the ball park. I agree with him that they are very serious hazards, they are thrown at some of the players, umpires and fans, but this too is wrong bringing the beer in. That is my opinion. I think the ball parks right now have enough power to prevent these beer cans and cases of beer from coming into the ball parks.

On the question, recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. AGNEW and SNIDER. RESOLUTION No. 79.

In the House of Representatives, June 2, 1959.

Whereas, the laws of this Commonwealth relating to agriculture and its related fields are numerous. Many of them are obsolete since we have entered into the era of modern farming and animal husbandry; and

Whereas, Local governmental agencies and other law enforcement agencies are unaware of existing statutes and in many cases duplicate ordinances or ordinances in conflict with existing state laws are sometimes enacted, and

Whereas, Inquiries are always being presented in reference to the laws relating to agriculture and many times there is misunderstanding and confusion which results in unnecessary expenditures of the tax payers money; and

Whereas, There is no codification of the agriculture laws and the acts dealing with farms and farming; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission be directed to study the laws relating to agriculture and its related fields; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission revise and modernize the existing laws and draft a proposed codification and report to the next regular session of the General Assembly as to its findings and recommendations.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. ASHTON, UJOBAI and BROWN.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BELL filed the following reasons for voting for House Bill No. 632.

Although I concur that metered invoices should be furnished with fuel oil deliveries, I do not feel that a fuel oil invoice should be required to be delivered at delivery if the consumer is at home.

Fuel oil deliveries are often made late at night. It would be an imposition on the consumer to be awakened to receive the invoice.

Several responsible fuel oil distributors meter the delivery by a meter on the oil truck. The invoice is then processed through the office and the price of the oil entered thereon. This results in correct prices on the delivery. The invoice is then mailed to the consumer.

I approve of this practice as good business. Hence I oppose this legislation.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1350, Printer's No. 600 and

House Bill No. 1351, Printer's No. 601

were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair requests the Speaker to return to the rostrum.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Armstrong for presiding. The gentleman is a strong Speaker.

STATEMENT BY THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. On behalf of the Democratic House Caucus, and with the approval of the Democratic Leadership, the Chair appoints as members of a special Conference Committee: Messrs: McCann, Polen, Lopresti, Wheeler.

This committee will confer with a similar committee representing the Republican House caucus, concerning legislative fiscal policies, if such a committee is created.

The chair submits for the record, and for the information of the public, an accompanying statement of policy.

The Special Committee which the Speaker will create is not only one of the arms through which the Democratic House caucus can function more effectively, but it is also a symbol.

It is a symbol of the willingness upon the part of the majority of the Democratice members of the house to discuss in candid fashion the financial problems which now confront the Commonwealth and, through conferences at the House leadership level, arrive at binding agreements and commitments concerning legislative policy.

The committee is also the agency through which the Democratic house caucus can inform the general public concerning Democratic house caucus intent.

The Democratic house caucus has presented various proposals concerning which the caucus and the administration were in agreement—proposals relating to tax policies—for the consideration of the House.

These proposals failed to secure support on the Republican side of the House. The Republican leadership took the position that it was not prepared to act.

The committee which the chair will appoint, speaking to the Republican leadership in the House, will have these questions to ask the Republican leaders in the House:

Will you inform the Democratic House caucus and the public, through such responsible agencies as you may establish, when the Republican leadership is prepared to attack the Commonwealth's financial problems in forthright fasion?

And will you also inform the public and the Democratic caucus what taxes you prefer in the event the administration's tax program is deemed objectionable?

It may be, it is true, that "those also serve who only stand and wait," but there comes a time when a policy of "wait" must give place to a policy based upon action.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. Well, Mr. Speaker, I heard about your committee just about 15 minutes ago. Inasmuch as the House Republicans will caucus shortly, your proposition will be submitted to the House Republican Caucus and we will try to give you an early decision.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. EILBERG. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday on the floor of this House a speech was made concerning an institution which is in my legislative district. I might say that my district is represented by Representative Pashley, Representative McKeever and myself. I am referring to the State Hospital at Byberry.

It seems to me that the statement made yesterday was a purely political statement. This statement, was given very wide publicity, and I hope to set the records straight today, in the hope that some publicity will be given to the facts which I am about to present. I might say further that the facts which I am going to present were presented by the institution itself. There has been no reference up to this point about any political motivation on the part of the administration at Byberry, and I hope that it will be received in that sense by the Members of this House.

According to the information which has been made available to me we have about 6,500 resident patients at Byberry, which number has remained fairly constant over the last four years. We have now approximately 1,200 additional patients on furlough, which is about double that which existed a few years ago.

Getting into the question of personnel at Byberry. In January of 1955 there were 1,576 personnel; June 1957, 1,660; April 1, 1959 going down to 1,424 and as recently as May 22, 1959 going down to 1,394. So that while the population at Byberry has at least remained constant, with additional patients being added on furlough, the personnel at Byberry has gone down from 1,660 on June 1, 1957 to 1,394 as recently as a week or two ago.

Let us break these figures down a bit. On June 1, 1957 there were 31 doctors at Byberry. A few weeks ago this number had been reduced to 27, a decrease of 4.

I might say, Mr. Speaker, that the date of June 1, 1957, is significant because it was by this date that the impact of the appropriation of the 1955-1956 Session began to be felt at Byberry. A program was starting to develop at that time.

On June 1, 1957 we had 148 nurses at Byberry, on May 15, 1959 this number was reduced to 77, a decrease of 71—a decrease of 50 percent of the nurses at Byberry from the period of June 1957 to May 1959.

Attendants at Byberry: On June 1, 1957 there were 755 attendants. This number was reduced by May 15, 1959 to 666, a decrease of 89.

In the area of maintenance and repair, about which reference was made yesterday, on June 1, 1957 there were 178 personnel devoted to this particular operation. On May 15, 1959 this number was 98, a decrease of 80. These figures, I think, are extremely significant.

Now let us go into the fiscal picture. In the biennium 1955-1957 the expenditures at Byberry were $15.468 million, or a per capita expenditure of $3.03. The 1957-1959 allocation was $15.867 million, somewhat more than the earlier biennium, but of this amount $990,000 was transferred to Mercy-Douglas Hospital, leaving a total available for the period 1957-1959 of $14.877 million, a per capita of $3.13, or approximately $500,000 less this biennium than the last biennium.

By this time, Mr. Speaker, Pennsylvania was rising in the Nation as a state that was beginning to care for its mentally ill. The operation on the level of June 1, 1957 would have required an allocation of approximately $17.5 million for this biennium, instead of the $14.877 million which was available. This would not have included any expansion program or increased costs in any area.

The institution informs me they were therefore forced to save approximately $2.5 million during this biennium. The only way to do it was to cut their personnel, as I indicated earlier, plus eliminating all capital expenditures, which averages about $700,000 each biennium, and deferring partically all repair and maintenance work.

Now, Mr. Speaker, for this coming biennium a modest request has been made for $16.331 million less $750,000 for capital repairs and replacements, leaving $15.581 million for the operation of the hospital, which would mean $3.28 per capita.

I understand many of the state hospitals throughout the state have as high as $4 per patient, and I cannot understand why there should be discrimination against our local hospital at Byberry, the largest in the state.

Taking this $15.581 million and subtracting $6 million for operating expenses, there is left a balance of about $9.5 million for salaries. This $9.5 million would be for the present number of employes, approximately 1,400—just covering the number of employes we now have down there, without increasing the number of employes in any way. Therefore there would be nothing available for filling vacancies or improving the personnel situation.

Further, Mr. Speaker, for the 1957-59 biennium there will be a deficiency of from $200,000 to $300,000. Unless this is cared for separately it will of course come out of the 1959-61 appropriation, and further cut the funds available for the next biennium.

These are the facts. They speak for themselves. This is not a political statement, and I hope these facts will be presented to the citizens of this Commonwealth.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STEWART asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the facts that Mr. Eilberg just gave this House are true. I think he should admit that the facts I gave from the floor of this House were also true. Indeed, the Administrator of the hospital admitted that everything I said was true.

I am not trying to take political advantage of the situation. I reported what I saw. I noted that the $16 million requested by Governor Lawrence for Byberry was not enough, and I asked, and will ask, for $2.5 million more for this institution. I noted that Governor Leader asked for $19 million. I noted that this House gave Byberry some $15 million in round figures. I feel that Governor Lawrence's request for this institution is inadequate. I brought this to the attention of the House, and I am sure they will restore $2.5 million to bring Byberry up to a level where I can say it is not a shameful and disgraceful condition.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCORMACK asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, first of all I want to commend the people who are bringing the serious plight of the mental patients in Byberry to the attention of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I think it is a good thing, and I think that political capital should not be made of it; too long the mental patients in Pennsylvania have been treated as political footballs and I am indicting both sides. The truth is that we have shamefully neglected a wonderful opportunity to restore to health and human decency those poor souls who are suffering in these institutions. I know that Secretary of Welfare Shapiro, when he was in, instituted a program that was designed not along custodial lines, but to give the patients in the institutions treatment so they could be discharged in the shortest possible time.

I do not know how we can dramatize this enough. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Stewart, brought it to the attention of the House on Monday, and as a result of that there was a fine editorial in the paper this morning inviting the Members of this Legislature to visit these institutions and see for themselves the deplorable conditions that exist in them by virtue of the pausity of money they receive from this state. How in the name of human decency can we vote to increase the salaries and expenses of governmental officials, including Members of the Legislature, when we have this shameful condition existing?

The best way I can possibly dramatize it at the present time is to bring to the Members' attention a letter that was written in the Sunday edition of a Philadelphia paper. It is a letter from an inmate at the State hospital. I would ask your indulgence that I may read it to you in the hope that somebody, or most of us, will be more sympathetic than we have been in the past, and give that institution, which has done such a remarkable job, the opportunity to restore these children of God to their rightful place in society.

The story, as I say, is told by a patient, and I quote as follows:

> I am ugly, of meager education, poor voice, no home, wife and family, rejected by kin, have little money, no livelihood, no freedom and independence, no normal life.
> I am nothing, except in the eyes of God.
> I must make do with what I have—an able mind and the knowledge of suffering.
>
> But I do not want to be among the vast majority of the damned who'll be buried in Byberry because Harrisburg has no moral responsibility.
> Pennsylvania, like most other states, find it convenient and "economical" to stand still in the crucial field of mental health.
> The plight of patients in state mental hospitals is oppressive and is becoming increasingly worse —and this despite "modern" buildings and the elaborate trappings of mid-20th Century phsychiatry.
> The fact that some of the mentally ill benefit from the state mental hospital system ought not to blind us to its evils.
> What are these evils?
> Let us first start with the attitude of the public.
> The public is complacent. How else could politicians talk continually about cutting mental health funds?
> "Mental illness?" a lot of people say with a shrug, "It happens to others, but it won't ever happen to me." Unless they have kin or friends who are ill, they feel it is no concern to them. They have no conscience as members of society.
> Now come behind the brick and stone of Byberry, a modern "hospital."
> One sees, as I have seen, an elderly patient drop dead upon the floor amid the stench and din of a roach-ridden ward.
> One sees patients succumb after weeks, months or years of debilitating ailments. . .
> I have seen levity or cynicism expressed over such events.
> But the doctors and personnel try to do their best under the most horrible strains.
> Some of them are:
> Lack of time or interest to devote to individual cases, causing an "assembly line" method of treatment.
> Neglect or inadequate consideration for the really seriously ill in favor of the more convenient cases.
> Overdependence on electro-shock treatment, insulin and "miracle" drugs.
> Intermingling of improved patients with dubious cases and with the physically afflicted, such as the senile, the blind, the epileptic and the tubercular.
> My own case is a typical example of one who has received "institutional custody"—a polite phrase for being treated as a statistic.
> I have been here since October, 1956. At the outset, antagonism quickly developed between me this cumbersome hospital.
> Nevertheless, although I may still seem bitter, I have tried to hard to show goodwill to the doctors and other personnel.
> But what have I found? It seems to be the hospital's policy to keep a patient in the dark concerning his case, to keep him helpless and dependent.
> They tighten an iron grip on the patient, and once they regard him as completely mindless, he and his life become institutional property.
> They will indeed "take care" of him—whether he needs to be taken care of or not.
> The patient comes to feel that he is living a deadening humdrum routine.
> He resents the dreary sights, smells, noises, disorders and the hostile, unpredictable multitude.
> Those who haven't experience it can't imagine the misery within the grimly efficient-looking buildings.
> Often a man or woman who has the potential to become a useful citizen again is made sick by the institutional tomb.
> He becomes sick of the antipathy of overworked attendants, sick of the evasion, deception and outrageous paternalism.
> Sick of the lost freedom and independence.
> Sick of having lost his identity as a person.
> Sick of lost maturity, self-respect and dignity.
> Sick of being bewildered, frustrated and hurt.
> Sick of one's self and life.
> The few interviews I have managed to get from the busy doctors have led nowhere—and I am, I think, one of the fortunate ones.
> My attempts to bridge the gulf between us are continually rebuffed.
> So hard-pressed are the doctors with their heavy quotas of patients that they are not interested in my past life.
> In spite of all this, I believe that I've recovered from the emotional disturbance which assailed me in the spring of 1956 and caused me to flee to Virginia out of fear of being put away.
> But I've never received any treatments whatever. I get little more than the casual inquiry, "How do you feel and how are you getting along?"
> I may be lonely and unhappy here, but I feel there is hope for our mental hospitals.
>
> The Topeka State Hospital in Kansas, for example, has set an impressive example. There the federal, state and local governments all work together cooperatively and harmoniously in one integrated unit.
> The public must be aroused to move politicians who seem to be more interested in building superhighways than in rebuilding people.

Now, Mr. Speaker, there was a reply given by Dr. Eugene L. Sielke to this letter, which appears next to this letter in the paper. The reply is short. I do not like to trespass upon your time, but I feel that Dr. Sielke's answer as Superintendent of Byberry should also be read into the record to complement this letter. Dr. Sielke's letter is as follows:

Who could do anything but agree with the patient?

In general, he has not exaggerated. Most of his criticism is well-founded.

In fact, the patient has touched only a part of the situation at Byberry.

Here we are at the end of this biennium, and we are in the red by about $200,000.

It is the first time there has been a deficit since I came here in 1940.

What does this mean in terms of patients? Well, it means, say, 25 active doctors among 6,500 patients. Simple arithmetic will tell you how little attention the individual patient can get.

We have made progress—but in spurts. It takes something like a national scandal, such as we had in 1946, to move forward.

As long as there are no incidents, no one is interested in Byberry. But it's vital for the public to be interested in Byberry all the time.

As the patient has brought out, this is a field in which financial economies persistently are being made.

You can only cut down so much. The payroll is the only place you can save any large amount, and you can't cut enough to break even.

About two years ago, we had 1,660 on the payroll and not as many patients as we have today. Now we're allowed 1,447, but we are down to 1,394.

Only 100 people actually were laid off. The rest just went by attrition. We just couldn't replace them.

We've lost 75 nurses in the last two years. The nurse's pay is comparable to other hospitals' salaries. But, of course, the work is not as attractive as in a general hospital.

And the responsibilities are much greater. Every nurse is a supervisory individual. There are times when one nurse is responsible for 300 patients on several floors.

Is Byberry a hell-hole? I don't think so. I think it compares favorably with hospitals in any state.

But its problems are enormous. We've had 118 admissions this month. Our normal rate is 50 to 55 a month.

And despite our serious deficiencies, outside national agencies have rated us quite well.

We have asked for around $18.5 million for the coming biennium. The governor's request cut it down to roughly $16.3 million. Even if we get it all, the increase in costs won't allow us to go much farther than we are now.

We are trying to pull up Byberry by its bootstraps, so to speak. Without its nucleus of dedicated people, I shudder to think what this institution might become.

That is the end of Dr. Sielke's answer to the letter from the mental patient.

I say to you in all sincerity, Mr. Speaker, that I will vote for every tax program that we now have because we need the money so desperately, and I am going to see that Byberry gets a fair share of the funds for its mentally ill patients.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we have made a change in plans. On page 6 one bill, House Bill 1015, Printer's No. 623, was not called. Mr. Johnson and the various sponsors have informed me the bill can be called and moved to third reading. So I would like, before I make an announcement, that this bill be moved to third reading.

The SPEAKER. Without objection we will return to the second reading calendar, page 6, House Bill 1015, Printer's No. 623. The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1015, entitled:

An Act amending "The Penal Code" approved June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872) prohibiting the use of fire extinguishers containing carbon tetrachloride in school buildings and school buses and providing penalties.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, to be transcribed for third reading.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WALSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, and Members of the House, I listened with a great lot of interest to the two gentleman from Philadelphia about the plight of Byberry. What is true of Byberry is true of Woodville in Allegheny County. At the invitation of Dr. Ramik, my colleague, William McLaughlin, and I spent an entire day at Woodville.

They need money in these mental hospitals. They need it very badly. I have never been accused by anyone of being a spendthrift. Like my colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack, I am voting for every one of these tax measures, if for no other reason than to see that our mental program is carried out. It is heart rending to go down there and see these poor unfortunates, sitting and rocking for fourteen to eighteen hours a day.

Talking about salaries, Dr. Ramik, a professional man, very capable, gets $10,000 a year. Out of that he pays his food and his lodging.

What is true of Byberry is true there. They cannot get the nurses. We do not pay them enough. I feel it is the duty of every Member of this Assembly to see that we do something to bring up the standard to what is required at these mental hospitals.

You can rest assured that any time there is a tax measure that will bring money to help these hospitals, my vote will be there.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, other people are asking for the floor. I was going to make a motion for a recess, so if they desire to speak before the recess, I would yield to Mr. Isaacs, the gentleman from Delaware.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ISAACS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I do not believe any one can find any fault with what has been said here this morning concerning our mental hospitals. However, the longer I sit here sometimes the more I become confused. About every department we hear from is understaffed—we do not have enough personnel, we do not have enough money. I think the administration could clarify the air here a little. We heard the date of 1955 mentioned here by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Eilberg. If we can believe the figures we hear, today we have some 13,000 more state employes than we had in the year 1955, yet I do not know where they are. I do not know if anyone in this House knows where they are. We are being asked for more taxes, for more money, for bigger staffs in practically every department. I think the administration should give us the jobs that have been created that constitute these 13,000 employes in rough numbers, who they are, where they are and what they are being paid, so the Members of this General Assembly could look around where they live, find out if they are doing a job and whether they are necessary.

I think it would clarify the air. Maybe every one of them is necessary. I do not know. But the situation as it exists today is creating a lot of confusion which I believe this Administration should clear up.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, some of the other gentlemen wish to speak before we recess for one hour for the purpose of a caucus. The Republican membership has asked for a caucus of one hour to complete their calendar, but Mr. Polen and Mr. Reidenbach have requested to speak before we recess, for just one minute.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, and for all Members of this House, the Governor's office has made available to the House Committee on Appropriations a comparative statement of the employes on the state payroll, broken into departments, by months, for the years 1951 to March, 1959, inclusive.

That information is available and any Member who desires to do so can inspect this report which is very complete.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. REIDENBACH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on May 21st I received a letter from a citizen of our county, Paul Edwards, in regards to our Hillside State Hospital.

"Dear Mr. Reidenbach:

Today I am writing to you, a member if the House Appropriations Committee and a Representative from Lackawanna County, to ask you to give great consideration to the needs of Clarks Summit State Hospital when you begin your work on appropriations.

Clarks Summit State Hospital is truly the hub of the mental health program of our area and if it doesn't receive an adequate operating budget our people, your constituents, will be the ones to suffer. Under the enlightened direction of Dr. Ralph Archer, Clarks Summit State Hospital has made phenomenal progress within the past year, and in the light of the new knowledge possessed through increased emphasis on research, we must not halt progress at Clarks Summit. We must move ahead in line with the times.

Never again must it be said that he or she has been put away at Hillside Home—we must have a fully accredited hospital in every sense of the word for our people, and this will take money.

Dr. Archer gave an honest appraisal when he said we need $5,577,219 to provide an adequate treatment program at the hospital and in the community for this biennium. Governor Lawrence, in his recommendation, saw fit to reduce this amount to $4,947,366. This latter amount will greatly reduce the mental health program that is urgently needed here, and the figure should be restored to the original amount set by Dr. Archer.

By moving into an active treatment program in in the community, Dr. Archer will reduce the resident population at Clarks Summit State Hospital by over 40 percent. In other words, in the long run this will save the taxpayers money by reducing the amount spent for food, lodging, clothing, plus bricks and mortar to meet the ever increasing number of admissions.

Clarks Summit State Hospital is leading the way in the new philosophy of treatment for the mentally ill, and if it can prove itself through an adequate operating budget for this biennium, it will be the death knell to the outmoded custodial routine that prevails in most of the institutions throughout the State."

DEMOCRAT AND REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House recess for a period of one hour for the purpose of a caucus, reconvening at fifteen minutes before one Eastern Daylight Saving time, or fifteen minutes before twelve, Eastern Standard time.

I ask that all the Democratic Members report immediately to the new House caucus room and bring their House calendars with them.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. The reason for the hour and a half recess is that we feel it will take us one hour to caucus and that will allow one-half hour for lunch, if that is agreeable. I realize that there are those who would like to get away to go to commencements and things like that. I think that is what the Majority Leader has in mind.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I, of course, will have to go along with the hour and a half. We have some Members who want to get out of here because their children are graduating. Commencement is tonight and they wanted to leave in time to be present. So I hope that when we come back here we can have a roll call very early and move along with some bills.

Therefore, I will ask the Democratic Members to take the first 30 minutes for lunch and our caucus will be 30 minutes later.

RECESS

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the Chair will declare a recess of one and one-half hours.

The Chair hears none.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR.

STATEMENT BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Greene, Mr. McCann, the Majority Leader.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, we are now going to begin on the regular Third Reading Calendar and, after a discussion with the Minority Leader on some of the bills that some of the Members have indicated in his caucus they requested be passed over, we have marked them as being passed over. On some of the bills he tells me that may not have been cleared, we will, if we call the bill up, ask if any of the Members object or request that such a bill be passed over in a series of bills dealing with the administrative boards. We would like to try to clear here today and pass as many bills as possible this afternoon that are agreed upon. We are prepared to explain any of the bills if it would meet with the approval of those objecting.

I would like to ask that we begin now on the regular Third Reading calendar on House Bill No. 45 and proceed in order clear through the Calendar.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 650, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 19, 1897 (P. L. 67) entitled "An act regulating the practice of bail costs and fees on appeals to the Supreme Court and Superior Court" changing and making uniform the time within which appeals may be allowed from courts of inferior jurisdiction and from administrative agencies.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I want to interrogate one of the sponsors of the bill, Mr. Lippincott.

The SPEAKER. pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Lippincott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know the reason for the change to 45 days on the appeal from a judgment.

Mr. LIPPINCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to make uniform the time within which all appeals should be filed with the Supreme and Superior Courts.

The recommendation of the Joint State Government Commission Task Force and Advisory Committee was that the period should be 30 days. However I understand the Judiciary Committee thought that a more reasonable period would be 45 days. Presently some appeals are filed in 30 days, some in 45, and some in three calendar months. The 45 days was felt to be the proper compromise by that committee. The 30 days was the recommendation by the Joint State Government Commission, also of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, also of the Appellate Courts. However, I understand that in some PUC cases that was not enough time to determine whether or not an appeal should be taken so the 45 days was the compromise reached by that committee.

Mr. McCORMACK. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 810, entitled:

An Act amending "The Second Class Township Code," approved May 1, 1933 (P. L. 103), authorizing the establishment of a Shade Tree Commission and providing for its personnel powers and duties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors of this bill, preferably Mr. Wheeler.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Wheeler, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WHEELER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, Will the gentleman from Fayette state whether or not it is a fact that this bill would permit, in Second Class Townships, the township supervisors to plant shade trees along any township road without the approval of the adjacent property owners?

Mr. WHEELER. I have to assume that is true. I do not have a copy of the bill, but it sets up a Shade Tree Commission and that would be their duty.

Mr. BELL. Who would pay for the planting of the trees in these rural townships?

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I would say that the township would pay for it.

Mr. BELL. I think the act says that the cost of the shade tree planting would be assessed on the adjacent property owner. Is that correct?

Mr. WHEELER. I have not looked at a copy of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman would agree I could yield to Mr. Hocker, who is one of the sponsors of the bill, from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Hocker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I will accept that.

Mr. WHEELER. I see that Mr. Hocker has someone sitting beside him who can help him.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOCKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin state whether I am correct?

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Bell, I think that you are correct.

Mr. BELL. Thank you, Mr. Hocker. That is all, Mr. Hocker.

Mr. Speaker, I oppose this bill insofar as many of our rural townships giving the board of supervisors the power to appoint a Shade Tree Commission which could select portions of the highway upon which to plant trees and then put the costs on the adjacent property owners. I think that is too much of a burden on our rural townships.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I know it is not proper to discuss anything except the roll when the roll call has come up, but I would like to say that the Shade Tree Commission bill is what we have done for every single municipal form of government, borough, first class townships and now second class townships.

This has been pretty well agreed to. This is agreed to by the local government conference, the Association of Township officers, the Second Class Township officers all favor this legislation and I would like to ask you, if at all possible, to vote in the affirmative to support this bill. This is something that second class townships want. They have areas in which they have absolute need for Shade Tree Commission operation. I know that they also have many rural areas in second class townships that would not use this Shade Tree Commission. So, if at all possible, Mr. Speaker, I ask an affirmative vote in support of this bill.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Greene, I respect his position very much, but unfortunately there are a lot of citizens of second class townships who do not belong to the associations that were named.

Of course, the supervisors are responsible officers. I agree to that. But the Shade Tree Commission would be appointed by the supervisors, and I can envision a person having a farm on a country road with the Shade Tree Commission coming in, planting trees along his land and then making him pay for them.

Therefore, I oppose this bill.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to clarify my position on this bill. I did not want to bring a particular community into the legislative halls, but I see that I have to.

We have in Dauphin County what we consider a model town and I am sure that all of you are familiar with it, the town of Hershey. I agree with Mr. Bell as to the costs, but we felt that a town of this type, which happens to be in a second class township, the township commissioner should have the right to appoint a Shade Tree Commission to help make this community more beautiful than it is. It is a beautiful town but they do everything on a planned basis and that is the reason for my interest in the bill.

I agree with Mr. Bell that the cost could be placed on the property owners, but I cannot quite see township supervisors, who are so close to their people in a second class township, doing anything like planting rows of trees and then assessing farmers for them. I just cannot see that.

I ask you to support the bill.

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, I think it only proper that we have a little better understanding of this bill and some of the things that may occur as a result of its being passed. Some of the highway right-of-ways throughout the various sections of this state are much wider than are being used for highways.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield?

The Chair requests the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti, to preside.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

Mr. FARABAUGH. Mr. Speaker, there are some sections of the state where there is a highway right-of-way much wider than is being used by the highway. In a lot of incidents it is presently being kept clear of rubbish and so on by being used for farming by farmers. It is possible, and I find that a lot of people are very much concerned today about beautifying our highways and I have read various articles of suggested plans to plant trees along the highways and so on for the sake of beautifying the highway, which would be a hinderance rather than a help to the people owning that property.

This bill, as I understand it, would be passed and could put the expense also on the property owner. I would like to say to you folks especially, who are in rural areas, that might be very detrimental to your constituents, and I think you should think of it very carefully.

If there are special cases where this would be desirable, then I think they should be selected and not put that type of a possible burden on the entire state.

Mr. LIGHT. Mr. Speaker, Members of the House, if you will turn to page 5 of the bill, Section 1908-B, you will find > Landholders Liability for Costs. The cost of planting, transplanting or removing any shade trees in the streets or highways of the township of the necessary and suitable guards curbing or grading for the protection thereof and of the replacing of any pavement or sidewalk necessarily disturbed in the execution of such work shall be paid by the owner of the real estate in front of whose property the work is done.

I would like to point out that in many of the second class townships of this state, the township supervisors have appointed planning commissions. We have them in all sections, and these planning commissions work for the interest of these people who want additional things. I would think that the township commissioners in the Hershey area of the second class township, could see their planning commission, plan, and have planted whatever trees they would want in that township.

I think we are fearful of this and this bill should be opposed. It puts too much power into the hands of the supervisors to compel people who have property along the highways in a large expanse of territory, and in the final analysis it may turn out just the same as Mr. Farabaugh suggests. There may come a time when these trees might become a nuisance and a disturbance in that particular locality in the case of relocation.

I would ask the House to be against this bill.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if it would be possible to recind the order of having had this bill called up and pass this bill over. Maybe we can get together with some of these people and iron something out, rather than defeat this bill which I think probably is good in some communities and could be bad in others. We may be able to iron something out here that will help all of us.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman wish to make a motion to place this bill on the final passage postponed calendar?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 888, entitled:

An Act amending "The Administrative Code of 1929" approved April 9, 1929 (P. L. 177) authorizing expenditures for aviation training.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. I would like to interrogate one of the sponsors just for a few brief questions.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BELL. I will try to, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. I will ask the gentleman, what fund the money will be taken from for this training?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I can not give a factual answer but I can tell you what I think. Otherwise I will have to refer you to the Appropriations Committee. It is my understanding that the money goes to the Aeronautics Commission from the tax collected on the sale of gasoline to airplanes within the Commonwealth and this is giving then another way for which this money can be spent, namely, for aviation safety training, such as, giving courses to keep our Pennsylvania flyers current in things as blind flying and in bringing them up to date in using modern methods of flying and apparatus. Does that answer it?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I am not debating the merits of the bill. I merely wanted to know what fund was going to pay for it. I feel that it should come out of the tax on aviation gasoline. If you are sure that is where it is coming from I would raise no objection to the bill.

Mr. BELL. That is my understanding.

Mr. AUKER. Can I interrogate the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman if he heard my question to Mr. Bell and if he can answer it.

Mr. POLEN. I heard it generally, but I would appreciate if the gentleman would repeat it.

Mr. AUKER. Does the money for this training program provided for by these two bills come out of the tax on aviation gas?

Mr. POLEN. The greater part of it does but as I recall we do have a $30,000 item in the general appropriation bill as contributions from the general fund.

Mr. AUKER. Then there is part of $30,000 out of the general fund money to be used for this?

Mr. POLEN. I believe I am correct. To be absolutely certain I would have to go to my office, but that we do have an appropriation.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I have been asked that this bill be passed over until Monday, until we can get this information and get it straightened out.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will entertain a motion to put the bill on the final passage postponed calendar if the gentleman so desires.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I have just been informed that they desire the administration bills to go over even though I wanted to explain the whole series. So pass over from 1079, the entire list of administrative bills, down to 1098.

Mr. A. W. JOHNSON. I believe in advance of our caucus on Monday we would appreciate that explanation now that the Majority Leader was going to give on the bills so that we could intelligently approach them on Monday.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker. If I may, I would be glad to do so.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, beginning with House Bill 1079 to House Bill 1098, inclusive, is a series of bills dealing with the Administrative Code, pertaining to the various commissions and state boards. The present law provides for $15.00 per day for the members of the board and commissions who are serving in this capacity in various duties when they have meetings and other functions pertaining to their responsibilities as members of the boards and commissions. These entire series of bills would change from $15 to $30 the amount that each member would receive for each day while he is in attendance at a meeting, plus travel expenses.

In the past, members of the boards and commissions have been paid when they have completed or done certain activities or work. This would provide only for payment while they are in attendance at meetings and the expenses. Now let us see what this would cost since this has been to the Appropriations Committee and has been checked very carefully.

The estimated figure dealing with the entire series of bills would be approximately $40,000 in revenue that it would take to pay the expenses of all the boards and commissions. The increase in fees dealing with this same group would be over $50,000 that had been passed, and these bills would take care of changing to a proper figure the expenses and salaries they would receive for attending these meetings. We now pay them $15 per day. We believe that it should be $30 a day which is proper and that all of them should be uniform, which is exactly what the series of bills does.

I hope that we can have a complete breakdown of the figures from the Appropriations Chairman and I believe we will have it ready to send over to the Republicans so that they may have it for their caucus for next Monday if that is what they desire, prior to voting on these bills.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, in order to more clearly clarify this series of bills, as I understand it, the fees have been raised by which the members of these various organizations pay in in the form of license fees to take care of these increased expeditures. Is that correct? So that there will be nothing to come out of the general fund other than what has been raised additionally by additional fees received from the members belonging to these organizations?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Auker, if I may clear it, all the fees that they pay go into the general fund, sir. The appropriation from the general fund is made to the bureau of Professional Licensure covering all of these boards. They, of course, do pay all of this but, so there is no misunderstanding, we appropriate the money from the general fund. These go into the general fund that they do pay, sir.

Mr. AUKER. But the fees have been increased?

Mr. McCANN. The fees are being increased, yes, and we are reducing the administrative costs by issuing biennium licenses once every two years to cut the administrative costs of it being done each year.

Mr. AUKER. So that in reality there will be no extra tax against the general fund other than what is paid in by these fees by member organizations.

Mr. McCANN. In fact, if I could clear the point, I think the entire program covering everything takes $1 million three hundred thousand odd dollars to operate the entire division, and at the present time, as it was in 1957-59, I believe they produced one million six hundred and some odd thousand dollars, and they do pay for their keep and costs entirely.

Mr. AUKER. Then there would be no extra burden on the taxpayers in general in Pennsylvania to pass these bills?

Mr. McCANN. There would be no extra cost to taxpayers; only to those who receive the licenses.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1359, entitled:

An Act amending the "Selective Sales and Use Tax Act," approved March 6, 1956 (P. L. 1228), exempting food and beverage from the tax when the purchase price therefor is fifty cents or less.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I am right again. I told you not to start a tax on meals at ten cents in my remarks on March 19, 1959, at the midnight session in the House of Representatives. Do you recall that? If you do not recall it, I ask the Majority Leader to open the Legislative Journal and refresh his memory. But the Majority Leader did not listen to me.

I knew that tax would not work. I knew it was a "soak the poor" program. I told you so. But still you were determined to soak the poor, tax the working people and worry the restaurants.

Now that the people will not stand for a tax on meals starting at ten cents you are willing to back down to the very small sum of fifty cents exemption on meals.

I say to the Members of the House, let's pass this bill by unanimous vote and finally do something for the people who eat in restaurants in Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. I would appear to the Chair that the gentleman has the wisdom of King Solomon.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, this gentleman from Adams County who has this wonderful foresight to look into the future and determine what is really needed in the form of taxation, should probably next week enlighten the House as to what taxes the people of Pennsylvania want. It will pay for the services in the schools and the hospitals because I am sure both sides of this House will certainly acknowledge that he has the foresight that not a single one of us has been able to get, to see or to accomplish over the years, long before I came here and long before some who have been here for over thirty years as Members of this House.

I compliment him on his foresight and I hope that he will give to us that bit of wisdom we all seem to lack or can't seem to see for we certainly need his help.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL PASSED OVER

There being no objection,

House Bill No. 1380, Printer's No. 599,

was passed over at the request of the SPEAKER pro tempore.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1389, entitled:

An Act amending "The Insurance Company Law of 1921," approved May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682), changing provisions relating to non-forfeiture benefits and cash surrender values required in life insurance policies and providing for an age set-back in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask that this bill go over. It is a pretty technical bill. We have not had any explanation of it in our caucus. I think we are due for some and I would like to have it go over.

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if we gave the gentleman an explanation, that may not have been given in your caucus, would you be satisfied with the situation?

House Bill 1389, as we understand it, from the gentleman in charge of the Insurance Committee, Mr. Hamilton, I believe he has an explanation of the bill dealing with the age set back in certain cases, and if it will meet with the gentleman's approval, we would like to clean as many of these off the calendar as possible.

I would ask Mr. Hamilton to explain 1389 for you at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Blair yield to the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Hamilton?

Mr. AUKER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, House Bills 1389 and 1390 are two bills to be considered together. They are to allow the insurance commissioner to take the mortality tables of 1941 and set them back so that our age of 65 will be moved forward to age 72. In this way all our life insurance policies will be of a lower premium cost.

Several states, I would say something like 17 states in the United States, have already amended their laws and there is no reason why the domestic life insurance companies of Pennsylvania should not enjoy the same privileges these other states have, and there is no reason for us to compete on the mortality table of age 65 when we can use the table that would increase the age to 72.

I agree that these bills are very technical and are set up by men who spend their time as actuaries, and the advantages that would accrue to Pennsylvania corporations, I feel, are so important that we should do something about it at this time.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Hamilton very briefly.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I note in bill 1389, page 5, it says, line 15 and 16: "and the rate of interest not exceeding three and one-half per centum per annum specified in the policy," is that new material or is that already in the current law?

Mr. HAMILTON. That already appears in our law.

Mr. AUKER. I am satisfied, Mr. Speaker. I thank the gentleman very much.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Haudenshield,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1685, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (Act No 32) extending the term "workmen" to include public utility employees when working on the highways.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, would I be in order at this time to ask that this bill be passed over?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, if I could quickly give the explanation, would the gentleman consent to the explanation and then if he wants to pass it over all right.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, would the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader consent to be interrogated?

Mr. McCANN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, this bill extends certain privileges to pubilc utilities. Does this public utility phrase include municipal authorities such as a water authority that is doing construction work in the bed of a highway? I could see that it would clearly cover it if it were a private water company, but would this bill cover a municipal authority which is laying a water main and is using markers in the bed of a public highway?

Mr. McCANN. Mr. Speaker, I think I would have to be most fair and say to the gentleman that it would not in the definition of public utility employes cover those. This was intended to cover all the others.

Is that the resaon you are holding it over then?

Mr. BELL. That is the reason, so that I could prepare amendments and submit them to both the Majority and Minority Leaders.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection this bill will be passed over.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1686, entitled:

An Act amending "The Vehicle Code" approved April 29, 1959 (Act No. 32) by making registration plates of all vehicles and tractors prima facie evidence as to ownership of such vehicles or tractors.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.
